MANY ARE IN ON WRONG AUTO NUMBER CHARGE

Others Gathered in Charged With Operating Cars Without Numbers as Required by Law.

From Saturday's Daily— This morning the office of County Attorney A. G. Cole resembled a meeting of the auto owners' association as there were a large number of the residents from out in the county present to answer to charges preferred for violations of the law covering the number plates on cars, who were gathered in by F. A. Holmes of University Place, who is here in the interests of the state sheriff's office and William Grebe of this city who has been assisting Mr. Holmes.

Fred J. Klepper, one of the well known young men of the vicinity of Weeping Water was charged with operating his car on numbers purchased other than in the county of his residence. Mr. Klepper stated to Justice William Weber that he had been at Lincoln at the time of the issuance of the numbers and had been there for some two weeks and purchased a Lancaster county number, being at the time of the intention of locating in Lincoln and later had returned to his home in Cass county and not being aware of the fact that the numbers were not good here had continued to use them. The court gave him a fine of $1 and costs which amounted to $15.80.

Another of those who were here was R. H. Norris of Eagle who was charged with operating a car without number plates and also was fined $1 and costs which amounted to $17. Ole Long of near Elmwood was also present charged with operating a car without the proper numbers and fined $1 and costs which he paid and was allowed to go his way. Mr. Long stated that he was engaged in the auto business and had been driving cars which were being tested out for trouble which probably were without the numbers required by law.

Frank Lanning and Ralph Ransford of Eagle and vicinity were also present in court charged with having operated cars without the proper numbers displayed thereon "contrary to the peace and dignity of the people of the state of Nebraska" and for which the two young men were fined $1 and costs by Justice William Weber. The costs in each case amounted to $18.10.

SOUTH SIDERS WIN FAST GAME FROM CREIGHTON

Packers Down Prep School by a Score of 14 to 7—Too Much Sutter and Graham for Blue.

From Saturday's Daily— The football fans of this city yesterday showed almost as great an interest in the outcome of the South Omaha-Creighton Prep game as in the Plattsmouth-Ashland battle and the winner of the two Omaha teams was anxiously awaited here. The result was a triumph for the South Siders by the score of 14 to 7.

This result had been the general hope here where the South Side team a few weeks ago as they displayed real championship form and have undoubtedly one of the very best high school teams in the state. As was the case here, Captain Sutter and "Bus" Graham were the undoing of Creighton with the excellent offensive work of their team mates and both of these players are strong contenders for the all state high school eleven.

The Creighton team scored a touchdown in the first quarter when Captain Monaghan ran seventy-five yards and was downed in four yards from the South Side goal by Graham. This run seemed to stun the Packers and it was not until they had been scored on that they got into action and thereafter were able to push back the Prep school for losses and gained very much on their aerial attacks against Creighton. While both sides did much intercepting of passes the Packers made their passes count. The South Siders did their scoring in the third quarter when Graham passed on the twenty-four yard line of Creighton to Captain Sutter who carried the ball over and also incidentally Graham booted for a goal.

The second touchdown of South Side was an almost exact duplication of the first, Prucka intercepting a pass on Creighton's forty-yard line and Graham tossing thirty yards to Sutter who raced over with the ball and carried several Prep men with him who were unable to check the onslaught of the husky Packer. Graham kicked off goal.

MR. B. O. TUCKER SUC-CUMBS TO HEART TROUBLE

From Saturday's Daily— The residents of this village were dumfounded and grief stricken when they awoke this Thursday morning to learn of the death of Mr. B. O. Tucker, which was supposed to have occurred about six o'clock. Mrs. Tucker arose this morning and going immediately to the kitchen, found Mr. Tucker sitting in a chair with a covering around him. Dr. J. W. Thomas was immediately summoned and upon his arrival it was found Mr. Tucker had been dead only a short time as his body still retained some warmth.

At this writing nothing definite can be said regarding the time of the funeral. Relatives have been notified and it may take until Saturday for some to arrive.—Nehawka Enterprise.

HIKE TO CAMP

From Saturday's Daily— The Boy Scouts of the city enjoyed a night hike to their camp at the Shopp farm southeast of the city and the boys carried with them their equipment for sleeping and camping and spent the night in camp out in the open. The members of the two troops greatly miss the advantages of a permanent shelter at the camp which would allow them a great deal more comfort and which they hope to have prepared for their use next spring.

Frank Toman was among those going to Omaha this morning to spend a few hours attending to some matters of business.

PLATTSMOUTH HIGH DEFEATED BY ASHLAND ELEVEN

Frank Godwin Stars for Locals With a Ninety Yard Dash for Touchdown in First Quarter.

From Saturday's Daily— Yesterday afternoon the Plattsmouth high school football team and the Ashland high warriors met on the gridiron of the latter city and as a result of the battle the Ashland team won by the score of 14 to 7 in a hard fought contest that showed decided improvement in the work of the local team and their benefit of experience gained in the hard games with South High and Creighton Prep.

In the opening quarter Plattsmouth registered on the Saunders county boys after a sensational run by Frank Godwin, half back of the Plattsmouth team. The Ashland team attempted a pass that was intercepted by Godwin who raced down the field ninety yards for a touchdown, the only score of the game for the locals. The goal kick was made by Krejci and made the total of the Plattsmouth team 7 to 0.

The second quarter was a period of several tries for touchdowns on the part of both teams and the Plattsmouth team broke up and intercepted a large number of attempted passes for Ashland and neither side was able to score.

In the opening of the second half of the game the Ashland team put the ball over for the coveted touchdown on a fake play that took the locals by surprise and allowed the Ashland warriors to push over for the touchdown and the goal kick that tied the count.

The second touchdown of the Ashland team also occurred in the third quarter and was a case of straight football in which the heavier line of the Ashland team by line smashes opened the way for the backfield and before which the Plattsmouth defense was powerless.

The fourth quarter was hotly contested by both sides but in their defensive play the two teams were able to prevent each other scoring. The Plattsmouth high school will play at home on next Friday afternoon with Weeping Water high school and on the week following Fremont will be here for a game on which occasion the local high school will stage their rally and parade preceding the game and the city generally will join in the observance of the day.

USE OF FRANK WAS A BLUNDER, SAYS M'LAUGHLIN

Congressman in Letter to World-Herald Says He Knew Nothing of Sales Letters.

From Saturday's Daily— Congressman M. O. McLaughlin has written to the World-Herald explaining his position in reference to the alleged use of franked envelopes for mailing stock-selling letters of the Lever Lock Rim company, of which he is president.

The letter follows: "Wahoo, Neb., Oct. 18, 1923. "Editor of the World-Herald: "Your paper carried a statement this morning to the effect that letters of the Lever Lock Rim company of New York, of which company I am president, were mailed in envelopes bearing my frank. Telegrams from New York last evening contained the first information I had concerning this matter. I immediately wired the New York office asking for particulars, and gave instructions that if any clerk in the office had made the unpardonable blunder of using my stationery in mailing company letters, to immediately pay the postoffice department first class postage on any and all such letters mailed.

"I have been in Nebraska conducting a service campaign in the Fourth district, spending from one to two weeks in each county, since early this summer. It had nothing to do with the drafting of the letter in question, was not consulted as to its contents, and neither myself nor my secretary signed nor authorized any one else to sign the letters.

"No one in congress is more particular about the use of the franking privilege than I am. Only letters pertaining to government business are mailed in frank envelopes, and my secretary is as particular as myself to see that this rule is observed.

"During congressional recesses I sometimes spend from ten days to two weeks in New York assisting in the direction of the Lever Lock Rim company and occasionally spend the week end at the New York office. For this reason there is usually a small amount of my stationery in my desk at the Lever Lock Rim office, and it is evident that some clerk in the office used some of this stationery by mistake.

"It is clear to any thinking person that inasmuch as your report carries the information that 150 of these letters were mailed, which would mean first class postage amounting to $3.00, that no person or company in the world would be so small as to attempt purposely to save $3.00 in a fraudulent manner. (Signed) "M. O. M'LAUGHLIN."—World-Herald.

SPIRITUAL MEDIUM LENDS AID TO SEARCH

Mrs. A. Mitchell, Brought Here From Omaha by Son of Mrs. Miller, Fails to Locate Body.

From Saturday's Daily— After an eight days' search for the body of a woman found after the floodwaters subsided, the search was given up by the people of Louisville and the neighboring towns, everyone feeling that nothing more could be done, as every foot of ground had been gone over and the creek bed had been thoroughly combed.

Virgil Miller of Rock Falls, Illinois, who had been here to assist in the search for the body of his mother, Mrs. Lou Miller, had departed for his home, also despairing of ever locating his mother's body. However, he came in touch with a spiritualist and he was led to believe that the mediumship of a spiritualist, if true, could be found and he returned to Omaha, where he consulted Mrs. A. Mitchell, an ordained medium who resides at 4412 Ruggles street in that city.

Mrs. Mitchell has been in Omaha the past twenty-five years and in conversation with a Courier representative stated that she had been very successful in her undertakings and she felt almost certain that she had located the spot where the body was hidden. She believed that she came on down to look over the situation and declared that when she saw the winding creek, it looked just as it had appeared to her in her trance. However, searching parties exerted themselves in their efforts, even digging the way for the creek and flushing the creek bed with the city hose to stir up the muddy bottom, working frantically for two days but with no result.

It is the general opinion that the bodies of Mrs. Miller and Little Clarence Morgan will not be found, some holding the theory that they were washed to the river and more, he saw that they are buried in the mud that has caved in from the banks. Time, the great revealer, may yet bring to light the resting place of these two unfortunates, and their families are receiving the great sympathy of the entire community and of everyone who has knowledge of this sad affair.—Louisville Courier.

You don't buy just any kind of milk

You don't buy just any kind of tobacco

— then WHY buy just any kind of GASOLINE

Even if you don't know the difference, your motor does

Motorists used to think: "Oh well, gas is gas; they're all alike." But that idea has been outgrown for a long time. And it is out-of-date more than ever now that a finely balanced gasoline has been perfected.

You motorists who have been driving cars for twelve years or so know the big difference that finer balancing has made in automobiles. Most of the improvements in automobiles have been in that direction. You notice the difference in the car you're now driving. And your motor notices the big difference in gasolines—the unbalanced, slow-burning ones; the average; ordinary kinds; and the quick-starting, quick-burning and full-powered BALANCED Gasoline.

That's the secret of Red Crown Gasoline, the Balanced Gasoline—its quick, clean, complete burning. And it's as different from average, slow-burning gasoline as a thoroughbred is from a delivery-wagon horse. Better starting, better pick-up, better power, smoother running, better mileage, better in every way—always!

Why not buy the best regularly? Might as well—it pays. You can get it everywhere. There is a difference.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF NEBRASKA

STATE SUBMITS ITS SIDE OF CASE

Asks Supreme Court to Reverse Opinion Oil Inspection Fee Law—Argument is Heard.

From Saturday's Daily— The suit of oil companies to recover $62,000 in fees paid under the state inspection law was submitted to the supreme court Friday afternoon on a second appeal. The argument was heard by Chief Justice Morrissey, Judges Rose, Denn, Good and District Judge Fred Shephard of Lancaster county. The fees were collected by the state department of agriculture between the time this litigation started last spring and the date when the new inspection law went into effect in July. That act reduced the fee from 6 cents a barrel to 3 cents a barrel. Governor Bryan, who is head of the department of agriculture, is a party to the suit.

The oil companies, represented by W. H. Herdman and other attorneys contend that the accumulated fees should be turned over to the state because the court has held that the 6 cent fee law was unconstitutional because a larger amount of revenue accrued to the state under its operation than was necessary to pay the cost of inspection.

W. C. Dorsey for the state asked the court to correct its former opinion which held the 6 cent fee law unconstitutional. He said it was never too late to correct a mistake. He argued that the court by implication held it to be such and therefore in conflict with the constitution. He said it was not a property tax but an excise or indirect tax which the consumer pays and that it was proved that the oil companies added the fee to the selling price. Not being a property tax the law is not unconstitutional, the legislature having authority to impose a sales tax or an excise tax and can tax occupations and the right to do business if it desires to do so. The consumers pay about one-tenth of one mill on the gallon under the law. They are not asking for recovery, and the oil companies have no right to possession of the accumulated fund. He contended that the courts cannot hold an act unconstitutional because its operation results in the accumulation of a fund in excess of the cost of inspection unless the tax in question is a property tax. In the event the court does not care to change its decision on the constitutionality of the law it is asked in this case to give the state at least enough of the fund to pay actual costs of inspection.

Mr. Herdman for the oil companies refused to discuss the constitutionality of the 6 cent fee or the former law imposing a fee of 10 cents a barrel which was declared void in 1917. He said that matter had been passed upon three times and is the law in all subsequent proceedings in this case. He told the court the state had no right to collect a cent of the fees in question because the court had declared the law void and no fee law existed when the fees were collected. Having no right to collect the fees the state has no right to turn them into the state treasury.

The collection of a fee of 3 cents a barrel under the act of the legislature is not involved in this litigation.

YOUNG FOOTBALL STARS

From Saturday's Daily— While the interest of the football fans is largely centered on the playing of the local teams and the contests that are held in this immediate section of the state there has been no little pride felt here in the excellent showing made in the state gridiron circles by a Plattsmouth young man and one that formerly played with the high school. These are Carl Schneider, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Schneider of this city, who is playing left tackle on the Hastings college team which yesterday defeated Cotner university 38 to 0 in its third straight victory of the year, and Alfred Calvert, formerly a resident here when his parents, the Rev. and Mrs. John Calvert were in charge of the Methodist church in this city. Alfred is left half back of the York high school and was the star yesterday in the game against University Place when York won the game, 14 to 0.
