Shipped Many Fine Apples

Hon. E. M. Pollard, one of the largest and most successful growers of fine apples in the state of Nebraska, has just completed the gathering and marketing of the present year's apple crop. Mr. Pollard has given the matter of growing good apples much thought and study and the success which has come to him has justified the care and expense which he has bestowed upon the orchards. Mr. Pollard has shipped sixteen car loads of extra fine fruit and sold about 1,500 bushels to those who came in trucks and autos for them. He also has two cars or about 1,000 bushels for making cider. This makes the production of his orchards for the year fully twenty cars of approximately 500 bushels each.

CITY TEAM LOSES TO GLENWOOD SUNDAY

Hard Fought Game Goes to the Iowa Players; Score, 10 to 0—Score in Third Quarter.

From Monday's Daily—Yesterday afternoon at Glenwood the Plattsmouth city football team was defeated by the score of 10 to 0 in a hard fought battle that up until the last quarter was scoreless and for the greater part of the game seemed doomed to be a tie until the good boot of Harry Hanks planted a drop kick from the twenty-five yard line for the first score of the game.

The local team found a very unsportsmanlike treatment at the hands of the Glenwood team and the rules used resembled more the far famed Marquis of Queensberry code rather than the recognized football rules and the Iowans were able to get away with a great deal of unnecessarily rough tactics which would have earned the Plattsmouth team a penalty.

Harry Hanks was the most important and outstanding feature of the game and was the gentleman responsible to a great extent for the success of the Glenwood outfit as he played a great game and has not diminished in his work as a star on the Glenwood high school team of a few years ago.

The two teams were well balanced and played a fine game throughout, the locals doing some very good work in the aerial department and Wintersteen dividing honors with Hanks as a ground gainer, with his forty-five yard run, while Fulton on the line was a bright outstanding figure for Plattsmouth and Krejci also did some good tackling for the local team.

In the first quarter both teams used the line smashing tactics and battled to an even break, the period ending with the ball on the Glenwood thirty yard line.

The second quarter saw McClintic relieving Harvey on the Plattsmouth line and in this quarter the Iowa team gained advantage over the locals on a bad fumble which cost Plattsmouth an advantage of the Glenwood twenty yard line. The stonewall defense of Plattsmouth and the tackling of Fulton and Krejci checked the visitors from gaining any great ground and the half ended with the ball on Plattsmouth's forty yard line.

It was in this quarter that one of the institute city's players saw visions of the squared arena around him and slugged Henry of the Plattsmouth team and was allowed to remain in the game.

In the opening of the third quarter the ball was returned twenty yards by Plattsmouth and some very heavy line smashes by both teams failed to gain ground and the third period ended with the ball in the center of the field.

The last final quarter opened with an electrifying end run by Wintersteen for forty-five yards which was one of the most brilliant plays of the game. The gain, however, was without fruit as the ball was later punted back into the center of the field and on a very costly fumble by the locals the Glenwood team was brought down into the Nebraska territory territory and on the downs the first score was made when Hanks dropped kicked from the twenty-five yard line for three points.

The touchdown of Glenwood occurred in the last four minutes of play when Hanks broke from the ranks of his team and tore through Plattsmouth on an end run for the coveted touchdown, the locals apparently being unable to check him and to this player was also given the honor of making the goal kick.

There was a very large attendance from this city at the game and for an hour after the game the highway was filled with the cars of Plattsmouth people returning which kept Jack Richardson and the ferry on the go for the remainder of the afternoon.

SUCH IS FAME

From Wednesday's Daily—Officer William Heinrichsen of the night police force now realizes how fleeting is the fame of man as the result of a rather amusing mistake in identity made by the ladies of the Woman's club.

Mr. Heinrichsen, who, with Officer Detlef, does the patrolling of the streets during the night, was rather surprised to receive a message by phone announcing that the committee of the Woman's club which had in charge the raising of funds for the paving of the cemetery road was ready to start out and desired to know just what was desired of them and how to proceed with the work that the city council had asked them to perform. The officer was rather puzzled to know why he had been called upon as his business with the cemetery has not been very extensive, but thinking perhaps that there might be some matters requiring the police services at the cemetery he responded to the invitation to attend the meeting of the committee. He arrived while the ladies were discussing the matter and quietly seated himself until the members of the committee asked what he desired in the way of co-operation on their part, that they as members of the Woman's club, felt that he as chairman of the committee should have the directing power in the work. Bill hurriedly ran over in his mind committees on which he had served in the past but could recall none relating to cemetery work, although in his time he had been chairman of the board of directors of the Haymakers. He spared for time to try and get straightened out and then confessed to the ladies that he was at sea as to what committee they had reference to. Finally it was announced that they as members of the committee of the cemetery committee of the city council, and then a great light broke on both the ladies and the policeman and it was announced by Mr. Heinrichsen that this honor belonged to Councilman James Henderson of the fifth ward and Officer William Heinrichsen and all of the participants in the conference had a hearty laugh over the mistake and the ladies vowed that they would secure the right man the next time.

RAIL CHIEFS OPPOSE COOLIDGE RATE PLAN

Committee on Way to Tell President Freight Cut Won't Increase Exports or Help Farmer.

New York, Oct. 30.—Presidents and executives of 100 railroads with lines ramifying throughout the country, called together today to hear a statement by Samuel Rea, president of the Pennsylvania railroad, of President Coolidge's views on revision of freight rates on coal and grain, drafted their reply to the president's suggestions and sent it to Washington. It was unofficially learned from a reliable source this afternoon.

The reply, it was stated, was entrusted to a committee which was sent to Washington. It was believed it would be placed in the hands of President Coolidge by Thursday.

The railwaymen, it was understood, took the stand that a reduction in freight rates on grain for export would not increase the demand for grain in Europe and would not help the American farmers get rid of their surplus.
