DAVID'S THANKS TO GOD

Thou hast enlarged my steps under me; so that my feet did not slip.—II Samuel xxii, 37.

Looks as if the backbone of summer is about broken.

The price of hogs has dropped, but pork comes from packers.

There is a modern tendency to think well fed means well bred.

Hunters climbing fences with loaded guns are hunting accidents.

The race horse My Own will race the horse My Dear. Oh! my goodness!

There is always one vehicle you can call your own. The water wagon.

Modern girls are accomplished in the use of the needle. They know how to put it in the phonograph.

No doubt the Japanese diet is a very dignified parliamentary body, but a mention of it makes most folks think of rice.

The 70 per cent of said-to-be safe motor car drivers would be safe if it wasn't for having to dodge the other 30 per cent.

The next hardest thing to raising money to pay for an automobile is selling it after you have discovered that you cannot afford to own it.

The republican national convention may not meet in Chicago, it is threatened, unless the town promises not to overcharge it. But what does the convention think Chicago wants it to come there for?

Einstein says that the principle that a straight line is the shortest distance between two points is only "relatively" true. Doubtless Herr Einstein was thinking of the detours on a main traveled highway under repair.

Up at Omaha the other day a divorced wife was jailed for whipping her ex-husband. Served her right. Women must be made to understand that when they divorce their husbands they no longer have the right to whip them.

Keep Armistice day in mind and make your plans so you can help celebrate it. The valor and heroism of the American soldier in the World war should be forever kept fresh in the minds of the citizens of the United States and the sacrifices made by our boys perpetuated.

We are guided by mysterious forces. One of these is revealed by the government report that, since the war, there has been a decided increase in the number of boy babies born as compared with the smaller number of girl babies. This tendency has been noticed in England as well as America. It supports an ancient theory that wars and epidemics are followed by increases in births of males. Behold nature, replacing the soldier killed in battle.

In California they dig up skeletons of gorilla like men who are believed to have lived long before the Indians. Unfortunately they left no written records. Things will be different when scientists thousands of years from now excavate the ruins of our civilization. They'll probably decide that we left too many records instead of not enough. The Carnegie endowment for international peace says a shelf 200 miles long would be required for all the books and documents needed to make the history of the world war complete.

No one regrets the demise of Judge W. D. Oldham more than the editor of the Journal. We have known him for a quarter of a century and our intimacy grew more steadfast as time went on. He was a democrat, dyed-in-the-wool, and never faltered in his duty for the cause of the party. As an orator he had no peers. As a social gentleman he made friends wherever he went, and every one he met was his friend. We loved him for his candor and honesty of heart. No one had more friends in Nebraska than Judge Oldham. A long, long farwell old friend, and peace to the ashes of a noble man.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

There are some people who cannot have a good time unless it be at another's expense.

Another bargain day is coming soon. Look out for bargains.

Time to go Christmas shopping and avoid the rush, a little later.

People seem to get awfully behind with their riding by the time Sunday comes.

Nothing is calculated to give the self made man such a jolt as a bill of fare in French.

A very successful way of making a husband stay home at night is to stay home with him.

While the public is in the mood for spending money, why not erect a monument to pumpkin pie.

Whenever some folks buy anything they always expect to be cheated, and are surprised when they get their money's worth.

A man in Boston made his wife sit down on a red hot stove. Well, maybe she had been making it hot for him also, and turn about is only fair play.

It has just been learned that only 49 per cent of those eligible voted in 1920. If everybody had voted then, would a two-party contest be possible next year?

When a dairy reaches that plane of enlightenment where they set their own standards of purity very high, then indeed is the community served by them to be congratulated.

The New York man who was awarded one dollar for heart balm in a breach of promise suit now has some idea of the difference in value between male and female unrequited affection.

Japan is emerging from her disaster in an entirely dignified manner. If Europe could stop squawking long enough to look in that direction she might learn how to arouse real sympathy in the hearts of the world.

Lloyd George is evidently a keen student of history and a good judge of military genius. In an address at Richmond he eulogized Gen. Stonewall Jackson and Gen. Robert E. Lee, declaring that their equals as military leaders were not produced by the world war.

A child of 4 requires 12 hours' sleep. Ages 5 to 7 need 11 to 12 hours. These figures are quoted in a government circular dealing with children's health. If a child isn't gaining weight or doing well in school, the reason often is insufficient sleep. Incidentally, the stupidity or dullness of many grown-ups is merely a reflection of cellular exhaustion resulting from not enough sleep.

Dame Fashion wields a tremendous power and in the background one business gains while another loses. Twenty thousand gingham looms are idle in the New England states. King Tut's influence, reaching out over the centuries paralyzed gingham sales. Time will bring the gingham back. Meantime you reflect what a pitiful thing it is that mighty King Tut's only influence on the world today is a brief change of fashion. So passes the glory of the world.

A doctor tells us that autopsies reveal four people out of five have had a struggle with tuberculosis at some time or other during life. This is shown by scars in the lungs, indicating that the dread disease had been overcome by the body's own power of resistance. Keep the general health in good shape and there aren't many diseases that a person need worry about. Exposure to bad weather, strain, over-work, lack of sleep and overeating—these are the chief things that lower the body's power of resistance.

RAILROADS AS THE GOAT

It is always a safe rule in national politics to make the railroads the goat in any trying situation of large conflicting interests with many votes. So President Coolidge gently suggests to President Rea of the Pennsylvania system that the railroads make themselves the goat of the administration's political wheat and coal crisis.

Farm organizations are demanding lower freight rates on wheat for export. Therefore let the railroads lower their rates on wheat for export. Residents near the Canadian border complain of having to pay more for American coal than Canadians farther away. Hence the railroads should equalize their haulage rates on coal as between domestic and foreign consumers.

If rate discrimination exists in favor of coal going to Canada it should be corrected, and President Coolidge so far stands on firm ground. But when the president in the same breath demands discriminating rates against domestic consumers of wheat in favor of foreign consumers, what is his explanation to free himself of a charge of glaring inconsistency?

Whatever may be the precise situation as to coal rates, one thing is certain about the president's wheat rate proposal. The railroads would lose. But the farmers would gain practically nothing. Liverpool governs the selling price of wheat, whether for home or foreign consumption and by as much as reduced railroad rates on wheat for export alone lowered the foreign Liverpool prices by so much in the long run would they operate to lower the home prices.

It is no solution of the problem before the president. It is only a pretense of helping the farmer at the expense of the railroads. That is a good way to make administration votes out west, but how much more wheat will it sell abroad when abroad is barred by high tariff taxes from being able to pay for more wheat?

MUST BE REGULATED

The number of pedestrians being so large that some measures seem necessary to protect automobile drivers from them, these suggestions to solve the problem are offered in the spirit in which they will be accepted. All pedestrians shall be required to:

- Take out a license.
- Wear a front and rear bumper.
- Be equipped with front and rear lights properly focused.
- Have bell or horn attached and sound same when starting to cross street.
- Look before they stop.
- Wear long skirts (if women) so as not to distract attention of drivers from their driving.
- After being run down by automobile must get on sidewalk before expressing opinion of driver.
- Bear number in place conspicuous so motorist may read as he runs over victim.
- Not stop in middle of street to admire passing style show.
- Pass examination showing they are qualified to be pedestrians.
- Not park longer than five minutes on any street crossing.

MUST BE UPHELD

A man is presumed to intend the inevitable consequence of his act. Lawlessness always follows, in fact, is a part of treatment as a common strikebreaker on the part of union labor. Union labor must learn that it has no rights not vouchsafed to non-union labor.

The constitution guarantees to the meanest citizen life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Representative government cannot long exist except by the control of the majority, and it is the supreme duty of government to preserve itself by protecting its citizens in their constitutional rights.

This applies not only to union labor, but likewise to organizations that attempt to set up government within the government.

There can be no Americanism promoted by the agencies that seek to operate outside the pale of the law, or that deliberately take the law into their own hands.

TOO MUCH CAMERA EMOTION

Madame Nazimova, a foreign born emotional actress, is out with a declaration that she believes in "equal rights, for it means some day a world where men and women, hand in hand, can carve out their mutual destinies and together direct the life of society." But is Russian birth and residence, to womanhood, plus several years of stage life and absorption in the making of moving pictures at Hollywood and elsewhere, the best sort of background to qualify one for deancing on woman's legal and social status in the United States?

There are remaining inequalities before the law in some of the states. But these are in process of rectification, and in many states the law knows no distinction between the sexes, other than statutes enacted with a chivalric purpose to give to women a special measure of protection not extended to man.

Come off the movie lot, Madame Nazimova, rub your soulful eyes and look around you to see a beautiful world right now, a real, not a make believe world, "where men and women hand in hand carve out their mutual destinies and together direct the life of society."

BIG MOVIE NEWS

A battle apparently starts to reduce the high cost of making movies, especially the fabulous salaries paid to movie stars. Adolph Zukor announced that the eastern and western Famous Players-Lasky film studios will shut down, halting 15 companies of movie actors.

Some of the stars affected by the shut down are Pola Negri, Bebe Daniels, William Hart, Gloria Swanson and Thomas Meighan.

Production cost is too high, in addition to over production, says Zukor. He says he's aiming for a lowering of movie salaries, cost of staging and mechanical expenses.

The making of movies is only secondarily an art. Primarily it is a business, as much so as selling sausages or hardware or groceries. The public knows this, and it naturally must be surprised that producers find the costs of making pictures too high in view of what the public pays to see the films.

It is quite possible, and probable, that Zukor's shut down will mean an end of "super films" and a return to simplicity.

The theatre met the same sort of crisis years ago. Shows had been running to the extremely spectacular. Production costs had become almost prohibitive. Then Eugene Walter wrote "Paid in Full," starting an epidemic of plays with small casts. Producers naturally liked the small cast idea: few actors to pay, few scenery changes. A show could be "tried out on the dog" without gambling much money.

The small cast injected real art into the American theater.

This bit of history may be repeated in the movies.

FAIRVIEW NEWS ITEMS

A number of friends of Mrs. Alexes gathered at her home on last Tuesday afternoon to spend a few hours with her. The affair was in the nature of a surprise. ### Corn Plots

The corn plots for yield on the farms of H. J. Livingston, Ray Norris, Weeping Water and Guy Ward, Avoca, are being shucked out. Watch for the results as there are many surprising ones.

Achievement Day

The Priscilla club held its Achievement day program at the home of Viola Sogard. A very interesting program of music and readings and talks was given. Nellie Schwab gave an interesting demonstration on cotton. Ruth Morse and Edith Ranney showed how to make attractive dresses for children and we all felt that we knew more about the selection of materials suitable for children's clothing when the girls had finished the demonstration. Myrtle Olson is leader of this club and under her efficient direction the girls have done very fine work. The club finished 100 per cent. The K. K. A. club and the Jolly Farm Girls and their leaders, Stella Spangler and Mrs. J. M. Ranney were guests of the evening. The parents of the girls were also invited. A social time was enjoyed and at the close of the evening delicious refreshments were served.
