U. P. Thrifty says

This bank is thankful for the many friendships it has made during its existence as a financial institution.

As we review the growth and development of our surrounding community we are indeed thankful that we have been able to be one of the active factors in this great advancement.

And again we are thankful that the coming years will bring new friendships in addition to the old, and an even greater desire to carry on our share of the active duties that make us singly better citizens, and collectively a better commonwealth.

Roy Craig of Mynard was a visitor in Murray last Tuesday afternoon and was looking after some business matters in the line of the disposal of some of his brushes which he is selling. Mr. Craig says the brushes are so good they actually sell themselves.

Dinner and supper will be served at bazaar Dec. 8.

Otto Puls received two car loads of cattle last Friday from Omaha which he is putting in his feed yards for feeding and will return when finished on Saturday.

The double quartet which gave the excellent numbers of the radio program on Tuesday evening was one which created the admiration of the lovers of music over the entire western states and brought many notices of appreciation. Those who were members of the quartet were Mrs. Mae Laughridge Smith, Mrs. Pearl Peterson, Miss Gessie LaRue, and O. A. Davis, repr. W. H. Graham, tenors; S. G. Latta, L. D. Hiatt, basses.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lancaster and Mrs. Charles Atkinson were at Omaha last Sunday, driving over in the car of Mr. Lancaster where they went to see the daughter of Mrs. Lancaster who has been in the hospital at Omaha for some time where she underwent a few days since an operation for appendicitis. They found the young lady doing nicely and very glad to see the folks from home.

Some of the ladies living in and near Murray think they should be lighter and are accordingly endeavoring to reduce in weight. Uncle J. W. Edmunds is very accommodating and weighs them all who may come on Saturday evenings. Of course Uncle John wants to give as much as possible when he makes purchases of cream and therefore it was a matter of disappointment when the scales also showed that instead of losing the ladies had been gaining.

Mr. and Mrs. David E. Eaton were blessed last Tuesday with the present from the stork, a fine baby boy which was received with open arms and which also brought joy to the household and the smile which irradiated the genial countenance of Grandfather E. Eaton would have caused the observer to this the sun was arising on a beautiful September morn. However, all are getting along nicely. Dr. J. F. Brendel reports the arrival.

James Hall of Plattsmouth was a business visitor in Murray last Tuesday going to sell his corn or purchase lumber for a crib. He was figuring which would be the best as he was sure that the corn would eventually sell higher than it is at the present time.

Will L. Seyboldt who has been rustling in getting out his corn crop was fortunate in that he got his cribs filled before he had gotten the corn all in and has been hauling a few loads to the elevator of J. D. Pitman in Murray that the cribs would not hold at home.

We hope to see you at the bazaar Dec. 8. Come for dinner and stay until after supper.

A Gansmer and the family, Wm. Paul and wife and John Lutz and family of Plattsmouth were guests on last Sunday at the home of Fred Lutz and family west of Murray where all enjoyed a good visit and an excellent dinner due to the good cooking of Mrs. Lutz.

Mrs. Mary Smith living east of Murray near the old town site of Rock Bluffs has been very sick for some time past and while showing some improvement is still very poorly but is receiving the best of care and medical attention. Dr. G. H. Gilmore is his physician.

Morton Bartlett has purchased himself a new car from the Ford dealer in Union. Mr. A. W. Propst and will receive it the latter part of this week. The car is a new style Ford coupe and will serve this gentleman and his family well as a pleasure car and one for service as well.

Buy your aprons at the bazaar Dec. 8.

G. W. McCracken and family departed last Tuesday evening for Omaha where they were visiting at the home of a sister of Mr. McCracken and also looking after some business matters for a short time on Wednesday. Uncle B. A. Root was in charge of the drug store during their absence.

Will Lintner and sister, Miss Grace were in Omaha last Tuesday where they took part in the radio program which was broadcast from WQAW at Omaha.

"Amid the Odor of Roses" as given by Mrs. Elbert Wiles and Mrs. Ray Cole was one of the very pleasing features of the radio program at WQAW last Tuesday.

Miss Margaret Spangler was winning the applause of the entire country when she acted as pianist at the community club program for she was listened to by people in every state.

Ray Frans of Union and Miss Margie Walker of Murray and Mrs. Mae Laughridge Smith were a party who drove to Omaha Tuesday to be present at the giving of the Murray community club program.

Miss Gladys Mrasek was accompanist to Will Lintner in the program which was broadcast from Omaha on Tuesday and made an excellent accompanist as well as Will himself doing very proud in his number.

Uncle S. G. Latta was a visitor in Omaha being the oldest of the numbers on the radio program which was given by the Murray community club last Tuesday and went on the afternoon train to the metropolis.

The three minute address by Everett Spangler of the Murray community club not alone placed Murray before the world as a hustling village with plenty of real talent but introduced him as a man in love with his native town and was willing to tell the world about this thriving and working city.

The Murray orchestra which was brought to its present excellence by the work of Mr. L. D. Hiatt the manager and the entire personnel working to the end of making it a success the ones who have materially contributed to the success of the orchestra are Misses Margaret Spangler, Grace Lintner, Gladys Mrasek, Clair Ferris and Messrs. L. D. Hiatt, Chester Sporer, Will Lintner and Everett Spangler.

On Tuesday evening the arrangements for the show and the receiving of the Murray community program had been completed and with the installation of the Kellogg loud speaker by Mr. Bakke the arrangements were completed. This made the Murray people very busy as a portion of them had to go to Omaha while others had to remain to look after the show here but they were rewarded as they both had an excellent showing. The entertainment here with "Over the Border" and the program as it came from Omaha was a well worth while show itself. Those who were present were well paid for their trouble in attending as they got two shows in one.

Mr. and Mrs. David E. Eaton were blessed last Tuesday with the present from the stork, a fine baby boy which was received with open arms and which also brought joy to the household and the smile which irradiated the genial countenance of Grandfather E. Eaton would have caused the observer to this the sun was arising on a beautiful September morn. However, all are getting along nicely. Dr. J. F. Brendel reports the arrival.

MURRAY RADIO PROGRAM VERY PLEASING

All those who listened in on Murray's radio program last night from Station WQAW, Omaha, are loud in their praise of the second offering from our neighboring town to the south. The numbers were all very pleasing and the orchestra selections are seldom discounted by the larger city orchestras. Instrumental and vocal solos and a double mixed quartet comprised the remainder of the program. Miss Effie Patterson, of Rock Bluff, and a former Plattsmouth high school student, read two numbers that were of the same high class as the remainder of the program.

At Murray some 160 persons were gathered at the Peterson hall for the Community club movie and the radio program, which was amplified to such an extent that everyone in the hall could hear it plainly. It was a great treat to those present to hear their friends and neighbors and to realize that they were being heard by the largest audience in the history of the world prior to the advent of radio.

President Spangler of the Murray Community club told his listeners of the many things Murray has to offer in a short and snappy address.

If the standard of community programs is held as high as the Murray one last night, there will never be any occasion for the expression "Let's keep the home" talent at home and not force it on the rest of the world," which some of the programs of this nature recently broadcast from the Omaha station have provoked among radio editors.

Our hats are off to Murray and its splendid program. And incidentally, we want to say that the director of the orchestra is none other than our own L. D. (Demmy) Hiatt, who recently came here from Murray to manage the H. M. Soennichsen company store in the Dovey buildings.

NEBRASKA CORN NOT IN DANGER

Prof. Kieselbach of State Agricultural College Denies Moisture Menace in Corn Crop.

Lincoln, Nov. 25.—Reports that Nebraska's corn crop would fall far short of early fall estimates because of its high moisture content were vigorously denied here today by Prof. Theodore Kieselbach of the state college of agriculture.

Prof. Kieselbach has been running a series of experiments on this year's crop with a view to determining its moisture content and rapidity of drying, and declares that very few bushels will be lost because of moisture.

"Conditions in Nebraska were more favorable from the standpoint of frost damage in corn with a high moisture content than in some eastern states that reported damage last October," Prof. Kieselbach said. "In certain sections of Iowa, Illinois and Michigan there was some reduction in the yield through frost before the corn was made, which has resulted in slow drying and in some instances in rotting."

"However, in Nebraska farmers have to a great extent avoided the possibility of corn spoiling in the crib by delaying husking until the moisture content was 30 per cent or less.

"Due to late ripening caused by this year's climatic conditions, the 1923 crop contained as much water October 25 as last year's crop contained early in September, and corn should not have been husked in Nebraska until November 1, whereas October 1, 1922, found corn dry enuf for husking."

Many Nebraska farmers have learned the value of arranging for simple ventilators to be placed in the crib as it is being filled, Prof. Kieselbach said, and well ventilated cribs will mean rapidly dried corn.

Farmers have also learned the danger of mixing good and bad ears in their cribs," he continued, "and the majority of them are not picking bad ears or else are throwing them away when husking, although in some instances there are farmers who are piling up for fuel."

No Shortage of Seed Tests run on corn that was husked as early as October 26, show that it is drying very rapidly. Corn that contained 35 per cent moisture October 26 has now dried so that the moisture content is only 17 per cent. Corn that was immature due to late planting and contained 45 per cent water has dried in a little more than a month to where the moisture runs 28 per cent, or low enough to crib without danger of rotting, 30 per cent being estimated as the danger line.

Early estimates that there might be shortages next year of good seed corn have been reversed by further examination and developments, Prof. Kieselbach said, and the indications now point to an ample supply of seed.

"I think you may safely say," Prof. Kieselbach concluded, "that the only corn we will lose in Nebraska thru high moisture content is that that was husked too early. The rest is either dry enough now to crib with safety or will be shortly."

DR. ALBERT IS NEW CHANCELLOR OF GERMANY

Former Fiscal Agent at Washington Heads New Cabinet; Nonpartisan Group is Planned.

Berlin, Nov. 25.—Dr. Heinrich F. Albert, former German fiscal agent at Washington, was appointed chancellor of Germany tonight by President Ebert.

The president entrusted Albert with the difficult task of forming a super-party government, namely, a nonpartisan cabinet that will stand above political parties and which is to be free from the fetters of factions.

That, in fact, was Albert's own condition, and he accepted the post with the understanding and with the provision that he can get a government together whose one and only interest is to be for the country and not for any party.

Ebert sent for Albert at 7 tonight after working the entire Sunday trying to find a man on whom the parties in the reichstag could agree.

Albert Accepts Post Albert yesterday declined because Ebert was not then ready to grant the preliminary condition that he be free from party influences in selecting a cabinet.

Albert had part of his cabinet made up tonight and he expressed the hope that he would succeed in completing it not later than tomorrow noon.

In a letter to Albert, President Ebert said:

"Under the present conditions in Germany it is impossible to form a coalition government under a satisfactory parliament basis, the situation however, is so serious that the formation of a constitutional government can no longer be postponed.

Tried Men Needed "The only chance is to form a cabinet of tried men, who, putting aside personal concerns, will devote themselves to patriotic duty.

"I appreciate your objections but in this grave hour I appeal to you to set aside your objections. Albert thereupon accepted. Ministers Gausler of the reichswehr, Brauns of labor and Warres of the interior were taken into the new government.

Stresemann, who was proposed as minister of foreign affairs, is apparently unwilling to assume the task. The place has been offered to Count Ulrich K. Brockdorff Rantzau, formerly head of the German peace delegation at Versailles and now ambassador to Russia.

MANY WOMEN SEEK SEATS IN COMMONS

Parliamentary Election Brings Out Forty or More Candidates From Fair Sex.

London, Nov. 25.—Forty or more women candidates are expected to contest seats in the coming general elections. The nominations have not yet been made, but eighteen women candidates have already been announced. The list is headed by Lady Astor, the present conservative candidate for Plymouth, and Mrs. Wintlingham, Liberal.

The list contains many other prominent names, including the Duchess of Atholl, who is expected to be conservative candidate for Kinross. Lady Irene Curzon, daughter of the secretary of foreign affairs, and Lady Barlow, wife of Sir Montague Barlow, the minister of health, both prominent in feminine activities, are expected to become candidates.

Miss Margaret Ponfield, recently elected chairman of the trades union congress, will again appear as a labor candidate and the labor party has definitely decided to place seven other women candidates in the field. The Liberals have thus far chosen eight women.

A grab bag will be in evidence at St. Mary's Christmas shop December 5th at M. W. A. hall. Come early, and see the fun.
