PROMINENT LOUISVILLE FOLKS ESCAPE SERIOUS INJURIES

Drove Car Into Ditch to Avoid Being Struck by Train at Crossing—Were Only Shaken Up.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Nichols and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson are receiving the congratulations of their friends upon their narrow escape from serious injury or perhaps death, when their car went into a ditch near Chalco on Sunday afternoon, November 18th. They had been to Omaha and were returning late in the afternoon.

Mr. Nichols' brakes on his Studebaker were not working very good and as they were coming down the sloping hill that leads to the railroad track east of Chalco, his attention was given entirely to the brakes and he did not see an approaching train. Mr. Johnson was the first to see the train and exclaimed quickly, which gave Mr. Nichols time to decide promptly to take the ditch in preference to being hit by the train as he was unable to stop the car soon enough.

The car was overturned and the two men were thrown out. Mrs. Johnson, who was in the back seat with Mrs. Nichols was thrown over the front seat, but was able to get out without assistance. Mrs. Nichols was thrown to one side of the seat and covered with almost everything that was in the car, including the chains and was taken out with considerable difficulty.

After recovering somewhat from the fright and shock, they took an inventory of their damages and found no broken bones or dislocations. All were more or less shaken up and suffered greatly from the shock, but not seriously hurt.

A great many cars passing by had stopped to offer assistance and willing hands pulled the car out of the ditch and righted it, and it was found that with the exception of the top, which was torn to pieces, the car was all right and they were able to continue their trip home without assistance.—Louisville Courier.

CHILD WELFARE PLANS FORMED BY IOWA COMMISSION

Efforts to be Made to Bring Child Legislation to Standard of Other States.

Des Moines, Ia., Nov. 29.—Plans for codification of Iowa child legislation, to bring it abreast with that of other states and to bring about needed reforms in that field, were made yesterday at the organization meeting of the Iowa child welfare commission appointed last week by Governor N. E. Kendall.

The commission named J. B. Weaver of Des Moines, chairman; Miss Caroline Forgrave, Perry, vice chairman; Mrs. Frances E. Whitney, Webster City, secretary, and Wesley Johnson, Dayton, treasurer.

The commission adopted a budget calling for $3,980 with which to carry on the first year's work. Five hundred dollars was put at the commission's disposal today by the Iowa conference of social work.

The remainder will be raised by private subscription.

Views of organizations and individuals interested in child welfare will be sought by the commission, after which a public meeting will be held, at which reforms and new legislation will be discussed.

One of the reforms that will be urged upon the legislature by the commission is revision of the state adoption laws. Iowa and Texas are the only two states, it was said, in which a child may be adopted without judicial procedure.

In a letter to the commission, Governor Kendall declared that the duty of that body is to draft essential child legislation, "proposed because of definite and positive need," and promised that the state would not be recalcitrant in putting forth while measures into its statutes.
