Mr. Stevens has no hope of being re-elected. Rev. Mr. Stevens has opposed the majority of the board since the faculty was discharged en masse May 11 and the student staged an egg and rock riot in protest.

Wheat in State Shows Gain Over Last June Report

Wet Spring Has Favored Small Grain—Corn Is Slower Than Last Year, Says Report

The heavy spring rainfall, which retarded corn planting and necessitated some replanting, particularly in the southeast counties, has given Nebraska a good reserve of moisture, placed winter wheat in a condition 4.5 points above June 15th last year, and promised good yields of other small grains and hays. The forecast of wheat yield, as reported by bankers to the State and Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics, in their Mid-Month report, is 3 bushels per acre higher than the forecast of this date last year.

The weather has been favorable to wheat and small grains with a resulting heavy growing and perhaps a slightly later maturity and harvest date than last year. Bankers give the condition of winter wheat as 87.8% of normal as compared with 83.3% last June and 86% reported by farmers on June 1, this year. A year ago, bankers estimated the wheat yield at 17.8 bushels per acre. The final yield was 19.1 bushels per acre. At present bankers are estimating the yield as 20.8 bushels per acre.

Condition of oats is reported as 94%, varying from 88% in the south central counties to 98% in the central and northeast. The oat condition in last year's June Mid-Month report was 78% of normal. Barley is in a very good position, being rated at 97% of normal.

Corn is slower and has not grown as rapidly as last year but almost the same proportion of bankers' acreage was planted on June 1 as a year ago. Rains have held up the cultivation after planting in many counties and considerable replanting has been done but, generally, the color is good and no setback, appreciable at harvest time, is to be expected. Bankers give the condition of corn as 88% of normal.

Prices of both corn and wheat are given lower than a year ago and stocks of grain on farms are liberally estimated. According to bankers' estimates, 119% of last year's corn crop, 12% of the oats and 9.6% of the wheat produced was still in the hands of farmers, on June 15th.

IMPROVE SECONDARY ROADS

The vast sums of money collected from automobile licenses, gasoline taxes and bond issues for road construction, have been spent largely for building trunk highways.

The result has been great development along these roads, towns have built up and property values have increased out of all proportion to the growth that has been enjoyed by communities lying back from the main highways.

Smaller places not on the trunk roads have been almost wiped out of existence and farms which are left off the main routes have not improved in value. It is estimated that 74 per cent of rural mail deliveries are on more or less unimproved roads.

Our system of building main highways has been to parallel railroads rather than to strike off through new country. Thus we have added to traffic congestion in centers which are already badly congested. It is time to broaden our highway program and improve rural, or secondary roads which reach country not now developed as it should be.

It is stated that Ohio farmers, for example, pay 27 per cent of Ohio road costs but receive only 11 per cent of road construction in rural districts.

A farmer may haul one or two loads a day to town over a mud road. If this road was improved to an extent sufficient to serve rural needs, he could probably make five trips or more heavy with a bigger load.

It has been found that with expenditures of from $1500 to $5,000 a mile roads which are now a liability can be turned into an asset of incalculable value. This has been proved in many states by the judicious use of gravel, crushed rock, oil and asphaltic materials. A definite program should be adopted to improve five to 10 miles of secondary road for every mile of trunk highway in the majority of our states.

Wheat Estimate Cut 5 Per Cent

World Supply Is Expected to About Equal Last Year With Large Holdover.

Washington—Using condition reports received from all over the world, the department of agriculture announced Thursday that exclusive of Russia and China a world wheat crop 5 per cent smaller than last year was to be expected for the 1929-1930 season.

This reduction, the department added, would probably more than offset the 1928-1929 carryover and "it therefore seems likely that world market prices for wheat thru the 1929-1930 season will average somewhat higher than they have thru the 1928-1929 season."

The department's summary of prospects was made up from seeding, winter killing and areas remaining for harvest up to June 12. The area to be harvested was expected to remain approximately the same as that of the past year, but higher crop forecasts reported to date were expected to be more than offset by lower yields in Canada, Argentina and some European countries.

The carryover, the department said, would likely be about 150,000,000 bushels in excess of the stocks on hand July 1 last year. In the United States the carryover may be as low as 325,000,000 or as high as 270,000,000 bushels by July 1, depending on how much will have disappeared as feed or in other ways not accounted for. The year began with an estimated crop of 903,000,000 bushels and a carryover of 129,000,000, making the domestic supply

BROKEN VALVE CAUSES STIR

Two hundred passengers, mostly women and children on the steamer Ossian Bedell, bound from this city to Erie Beach, Ont., were thrown into momentary excitement Wednesday afternoon and two of the crew were slightly injured as a blowoff valve in the engine room burst under heavy pressure of steam. Passengers were removed later in safety.

The vessel was about 1,000 feet off the Erie Beach dock at the time, Captain Fontaine said, and started to drift down into the swift Niagara river. He succeeded in anchoring not far from the Peace bridge.

A cloud of steam which enveloped the boat caused watchers on Canadian and American shores to spread the report that a fire had broken out, and every available craft in the vicinity was dispatched to the Bedell's assistance.

The injured men were Engineer Robert Greiner and Fireman Daniel Bossner, of Buffalo. They were the only occupants of the engine room at the time the valve let go.

TO THE FARMERS

Can you afford to raise a part crop, soft corn or none, when for a few cents per acre you can grow a crop of mature corn if planted by the last of June? Ask about my proposition of sound crop or free seed.
