On last Monday the Commercial club met with the American Legion in a joint consultation on the matter of the three days picnic which will be held at Greenwood on Aug. 8th, 9th and 10th. Committees were appointed, consisting of a full complement for both the Commercial club as well as the American Legion, and the special days have been assigned as follows: Old Settlers' day, August 8th; Farmers' day, August 9th; and American Legion or Soldiers' and Sailors' day, August 10th. Do not forget the day and be there early, so as not to miss any of the attractions.

Eighty Years and Going Uncle Samuel Aaron, the carrier of the mail from the Burlington station in Greenwood to the post office, both ways and who has been a faithful worker always on the job and very courteous and careful of the work, has made his home in Greenwood for the past thirty-five years. He was born in LaSalle county, Illinois, on July 3rd, 1849. Just about the time when the excitement of the discovery of gold in California was rife, Uncle Samuel came to Nebraska from his native state more than forty years ago, and farmed for two years near Alvo, then again ateward as well as at Valparaiso, before coming here. Mr. Aaron is considered one of the best citizens of Greenwood and carries the honor and respect of all citizens for his upright character and many years of good service. He has faithfully carried the mail here for eleven years.

Very Accommodating Firm The firm of White & Bucknell, which does a good business in Greenwood and the surrounding territory, kept the store open on last Thursday, the Fourth of July, not for the paltry dollar, but that they might accommodate their patrons, who are at this time very busy in the fields and would be greatly inconvenienced in case the store was closed when they were needing some minor article and made a trip to town especially to get it in the pressing of the work on the farm during the very busy season. The firm is looking at the question in the right way.

Makes Excellent Showing The Greenwood State Bank, in the closing of their half year's business on July 1st, were well pleased with the findings from their report, for the report, which they have to make, shows that most of the borrowers have reduced their notes which the bank has been carrying and are in much better condition than at the beginning of the year. With the excellent condition of the crop of small grain and also the good prospect for the corn which now exists, it is reasonable expected that by the end of the year another and even more favorable report will be made. Conservative management of the bank, and its being conducted on sound business principles accounts for the showing as much as any other cause.

Were Holding the Fort When the representative of the Journal was in Greenwood during the past week, he noticed a swarm of bees had pre-empted the cross arm, connecting box, telegraph and other electric lines in the Burlington yards and were still holding the fort notwithstanding that there had been offered made of a neat sum for their dislodgement. The workmen assayed to do some work on the box, which is some thirty feet from the ground, but the colony of lively workers said "No."

Seek Change in Highway That the heavy traffic may be diverted from the main street of Greenwood, where it congests everything very much, a way to solve the problem has been talked and it was thought that a good way would be to pass along the railroad west of the business portion, but this was after discussion dropped and surveys have been working on a plan to pass the highway on the east and south of town, which is now being considered. Just what will be done regarding the matter has not as yet been fully determined.

Visited in Chicago Mr. and Mrs. Glen Peters accompanied by Ray Friedrichs departed on last Wednesday for Chicago, where they were visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. VESSELS COME TO CRASH Santa Barbara, Calif.—Three vessels came to grief on the rugged California coast in a dense fog early Tuesday and one of them, the steamship Anne Hanify, with its crew of about thirty aboard, was still on the rocks off surf, opposite Point Arguello Tuesday afternoon. The ship is owned by the Hanify Lumber and Shipping company.

At about the time the Anne Hanify piled up on the rocks two steamers, the oil tanker District of Columbia and the dimon freighter Pacific Oak, collided off Point Conception. Both vessels proceeded to Los Angeles after clearing from the crash.

The Anne Hanify lost one-third of a heavy deck cargo of lumber but was believed only slightly damaged. The sea was smooth and some observers predicted the cargo could be refloated. The steam schooner commanded by Capt. Frank Zabbart was en route to San Pedro from the Columbia river. Several vessels were standing by.

The grounding was within a half mile of the point where seven destroyers went ashore several years ago.

Greenwood is Preparing for Summer Festival

Three Day Event Will Include the District Convention of the American Legion

The citizens of the enterprising little city of Greenwood in the west part of Cass county are preparing for a real time at the annual summer festival, which will be held at that place on August 8, 9 and 10, and which promises to be a far greater success than even the very successful event last year.

The opening day will be designated as Old Settlers' day and at which time the old residents of that section of Cass and Lancaster counties will gather to enjoy the day in the many pleasant reunions and the renewal of the associations of the past years.

Friday, August 9th, will be designated as Farmers' day, when the residents of the farming community will be given the keys of the city and the festival placed at their disposal and for their entertainment.

Saturday, August 10th, the committee has designated as Soldiers' and Sailors' day, at which time the convention of the American Legion for this district will be held and which will be known as the twelfth district convention instead of the formation, as was heretofore the case.

Many fine events are being arranged for the day, one of which will be the Army vs. Navy baseball game, Earl Jardine being the head of the army forces, while Dewey Headley will look after the gobs' side of the battle.

The committees appointed by the city of Greenwood are as follows: Finance, Dr. N. D. Talcott; Advertising, R. E. Matthews; Dance, Warren Boucher; Stunts, Vern Sheffer; Grounds, John Keil; Entertainment, Watson Howard.

The American Legion committees will consist of the following: Concessions, Carl Emlund; Parade, Dr. H. W. McFadden; Grounds, Dewey Headley; Police, George Trunkenholz; Eats, M. E. Peterson; 40 & 5, George Bucknell; Registration, Jess Dilldine; Finance, E. O. Miller; Baseball, Earl Jardine and Dewey Headley.

President Calls Relief Board to Convene July 15

Hopes to Have Rest of the Posts Occupied by That Time; Meeting Place Not Named.

Washington—The federal farm board created by congress to stabilize the agricultural industry has been called by President Hoover to hold its first meeting Monday, July 15.

Also only six of the board's nine members have been announced, appointments have not yet been made for the other posts and the president expects acceptances in time for the board to start functioning by the middle of the month. He hopes to announce the complete personnel after his return from the week end trip to his Virginia fishing camp.

Also the location of the first meeting was not named, it was generally assumed in interest of circles that the board would gather at the white house before noon Monday. President Hoover is to motor to Baltimore later to review the parade of the Rainbow division. He is expected to welcome the farm board to its task and emphasize to the members the importance of its work.

Three Names to be Given. The three members still to be named are to represent the dairying and wheat industries and possibly banking and finance, also there is some doubt about the latter selection.

The president has asked that a man versed in major financial operations would be named to the board to give the benefit of his experience in handling the $500,000,000 to be made available to the board. Since the selection of Alexander H. Legge, however, there has been a question whether he is to represent both finance and business and a second representative of cotton or wheat appointed.

Mr. Legge is to serve as chairman for the first year, at least. Of the other four members appointed, James C. Stone of Kentucky will represent the tobacco growers and serve as vice chairman; Carl Williams of Oklahoma City is to represent cotton; C. B. Denman of Farmington, Mo., livestock; and C. C. Teague of Los Angeles, the fruit growers.

Secretary Hyde, the ninth member, is to serve ex officio.—State Journal.

INFORMATION ON CURRENCY Washington—Some first hand information will be given the country by the new small sized paper money Saturday night by the treasury.

Mr. Mills plans to tell the people why the currency is being changed, the methods of distribution, future plans of the issue and some of the details connected with its manufacture.

The first of the smaller new bills will be available at banks July 10.

CHICAGO—Teachers should not be kept in fear of losing their jobs because bobbed hair, dancing, smoking, short skirts, card playing, the movies, and even matrimony are frowned upon by many boards the American Federation of Teachers asserted Friday in reaffirming their stand on academic freedom, before adjourning the annual convention.

Just because women elect to teach the three "R's" is no reason why they should be subjected to restrictions in their personal lives not imposed upon women in other professions, the federation maintained.

Declaring that "the power trust of America is seeking to use the public schools to spread its propaganda against public ownership of public utilities," the federation went on record as "being unalterably opposed to propaganda in the public schools or to censor texts to its advantage."

Poor Quality Food for Vets is Good's Finding

Washington, July 4.—An amazing condition in the quality and quantity of food served disabled veterans at Walter Reed hospital, the largest and most important service medical center in the country, was revealed Wednesday by Secretary of War Good, in a letter to Senator Reed (R., of Pennsylvania).

The investigation was begun last May, after Reed, the chairman of the senate military affairs committee, had brought numerous complaints of veterans as to the mess and their treatment at the hands of the military personnel of the hospital to the attention of Surgeon General Ireland. The inquiry was conducted under the direction of Major General Rivers, inspector general.

Plans Quick Action Conditions listed as unsatisfactory in the complaints submitted by Reed included: That the food served them is insufficient.

That the food is of poor quality, monotonous and poorly prepared.

That they say they get "slum," under some other name, three times a week.

That they do not get fresh milk, eggs and green vegetables except when on a special diet, and that milk, which is one of the thin, tubercular patients should have, is given only to bed patients.

Fruits Said Wormy That one group described the fruits that they get as "wormy."

That patients who do complain are either "ridden" by the hospital personnel or invited to leave.

There are many occasions when the men not only go hungry because of the inadequacy of the food but because the quantity provided for the mess is insufficient to go around.

That nurses and hospital attaches openly make insulting remarks about world war veterans.

That theater tickets intended for hospital patients are given instead to hospital personnel.

That hospital attendants are permitted to attend theater parties arranged for patients.

Tickets Held Out That approximately 100 tickets for the presidential inaugural supplied for patients through the courtesy of the Vice President found their way into the hands of hospital personnel.

That the individuals in charge of the distribution of tickets in the two preceding paragraphs; and that, in general, the veterans receive little consideration in this connection as compared with that accorded hospital personnel.

That veterans are told occasionally that limited appropriations are responsible in part for the quantity and quality of the food served.

That one veteran, I. T. Josephs, was threatened with expulsion for failure to consent to an operation when reasonable notice of the operation had not been given him.

No Water on Tables Inspector General Rivers in his report concluded that criticism of the mess was warranted for the following reasons: Water was not served in the dining room.
