Marshall Neilan, Lloyd Hamilton, Together Again

Comedian's First Silent and First Talkie Made by Same Director;—At the Parmele.

Two old timers are together for the first time in years in the all-talking picture "Black Waters," a melodrama in evening dress, which will be shown at the Parmele theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday. These two veterans, who have not been associated since the early days of the screen are Marshall Neilan, the director, and Lloyd Hamilton, the popular comedian.

Hamilton, always known as a fellow of infinite jest, has been identified with his own comedies for so long, few persons remember that away back when Charley Chaplin was just starting out, Lloyd was a principal comedian in several feature pictures, his first chance being given to him by Neilan.

It is a coincidence that his first appearance in silent pictures and his role in talking pictures should have been under the same director with many years separating the two parts.

If all the good reports heard in advance are true, Hamilton seems to have made as big a hit in his first talkie as he did in his first silent production. They do say that he and James Kirkwood, who plays the lead, give the best performance of their career and have proven to be stand-out talkie artists.

Mr. Hamilton is a versatile player and his droll characterizations have won him countless "fans." In "Black Waters," he is playing an important role in a mystery play by John Williard who wrote the famous "Cat and the Canary." Mary Brian, who created the screen "Peter Pan" has the leading feminine role and there is a splendid company of international screen favorites.

The scenes are laid along the San Francisco waterfront.

Grass Seed Cars Cause Trouble for the Authorities

Unlicensed Cars are Held at Nebraska City by Authorities—Here Ten Days Ago

From Monday's Daily—The city authorities at Nebraska City have in their possession six old Ford cars which were picked up there Friday when the cars were driven into that city by a force of men who had been using the cars in harvesting grass seed in different parts of the state.

The cars came from Auburn where their owner, A. G. Storms is located and the matter will be threshed out today in the Cass county capitol as a complaint has been filed by City Attorney Tom Dunbar, charging the men with operating cars without the proper licenses. The owner of the cars stated to the city attorney that he had been informed by a county treasurer in the western part of the state that a license was unnecessary for the cars and therefore none had been procured.

A similar case occurred here ten days ago when several cars belonging to the Nebraska Seed Co., were picked up here without licenses and held for a short time by the city county authorities and later allowed to go onto Omaha their headquarters. At that time it was claimed by the car owners that it was not necessary to have a license for the cars which were used for agricultural purposes. Here it was stated that a permit was granted by the state department of public works but which was denied at Lincoln by the department on a message from the office of Sheriff Bert Reed.

In speaking of the situation at Nebraska City the News-Press has the following: "The crew was on its way to Auburn from Holt county where it had harvested more than 10,000 bushels of seed. They started out in the southern part of the state and had followed the harvest along."

"Operation of the cars harvesters was explained to the police by the men. When they arrive at the scene of operations, the two rear wheels are removed and a special harvester is attached. This cuts the grass and threshes the seed in one operation moving about eight or ten miles an hour at full speed. The seed is threshed in a revolving drum which is lined with nails. The seed is sacked and shipped to the company headquarters by train.

They admitted that the cars had caused considerable trouble along the roads and when one car was put out of commission the whole crew stopped until it was repaired. The cars traveled according to number, they said, and it was the intention of the company to stack them in the 'junk yard' when they reached home.

"During the six weeks the harvesters were out they said they had harvested nearly 30,000 bushels of blue grass seed.

"This method of harvesting blue grass has proved a big success this season and Mr. Storms is planning on having 50 cars engaged in the business next season," one of the men said.

C. A. Baldwin and Wife of Weeping Water Leave That City After 50-Year Residence.

C. A. Baldwin who has been a resident of Weeping Water for the past half century, and who was for many years identified with the business interests of the city with his wife loaded a car with their goods which they shipped to Colorado Springs, where but a short time since they purchased a modern bungalow, where they will make their home in their declining years.

Forty-six years ago, Mr. Baldwin, who was a wagon maker, and had a business in Weeping Water, quietly slipped away to Ohio, where he had left sweetheart a few years before, and with whom he had kept in close communication, and in the eastern state they were united in marriage, bringing the bride to Weeping Water, where a cottage had been prepared for their home. Here they lived and in this happy home built a host of friends in both business and social circles, whom they have ever retained and who at this time are sorry to see them depart. Continuing in the wagon business Mr. Baldwin also engaged in the implement business, and took on the international line of farming machinery which he handled for many years.

Some twenty years ago he accepted an offer to travel and sell this line which he has done until recently when he was put on an annuity, for the good service of the past. Having accumulated quite a sum of money, in his retirement, he and the good wife have a competence to spend the remaining days.

Their many friends are extending the wish that they may enjoy in their beautiful home in the west that time which is still theirs, and well know that whatever years they may be, that they will go to make some one happy and all with whom they come in contact the better.

SHOWER FOR MISS TOMPKINS

From Wednesday's Daily—

Last evening the members of the Women's Home Missionary society of the Methodist church met at the parsonage as the guests of Mrs. H. E. Saylor and joining in a shower in honor of Miss Dorothy Tompkins, who is soon to leave for the National Training school at Kansas City where she will take up deaconess work in the Methodist church and make this her chosen vocation. Miss Tompkins is a member of the class of 1929 of the high school and her choice of life work will carry her into the mission field of the Methodist church. The guest of honor was presented with a very large number of useful and attractive gifts that she will have to remind her of the many friends in this city who are appreciating her dedication of her life to this line of the church work.

A short and interesting program was enjoyed by the members of the party and at the conclusion of which dainty refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. W. L. Heinrich, Mrs. C. L. Carlson, Mrs. James Rishel and Mrs. Harry White.

JOINS NATIONAL SOCIETY

A new Cass county member has been accepted by the Percheron Society of America. The name of E. R. Straub, of Avoca, appears on the list just announced by Secretary Ellis McFarland of the Society's Chicago office.

Careful registration of purebreds, the awarding of prizes at fairs, and a study of the best type of horse for efficiency in farm work are among the activities of the Percheron organization. The Percheron Society of America is the largest draft horse record association in the world. There are other Percheron societies in France, home of the big drafters, in England and in Canada.

Considerable interest in quality horses is indicated for this vicinity by the total of 13 members enrolled in the Percheron Society from Cass county. Mr. Straub joins a national group of 14,000 persons working for the production of superior draft horses.

STARTING STEEL WORK

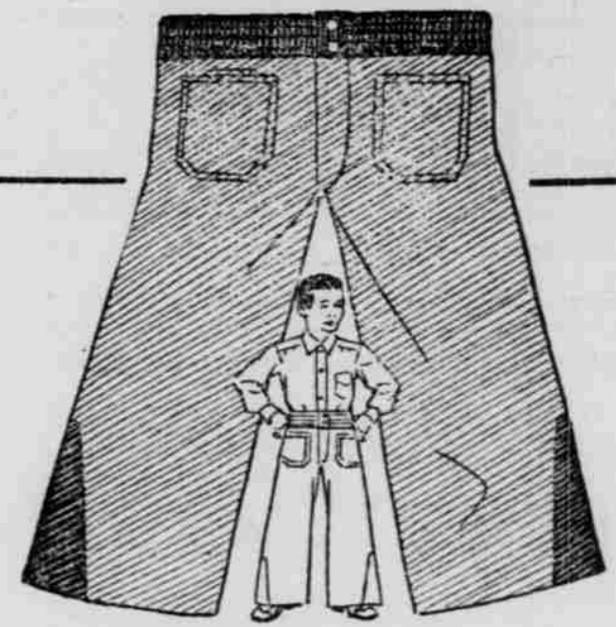

From Wednesday's Daily—The steel work on the new Missouri river traffic bridge is getting under way and the work of organizing the workmen for the job is being looked after by the foreman in charge. The work will require experienced riveters and steel workers as the construction is under way and at this time of the year there is a shortage of the workmen in this line as a great many of them are engaged in Omaha in structural work on new buildings and making necessary a roundup of the available men in the nearby territory for the work. There are a number here who have had experience in the steel work and who will be sought to aid in the construction work if possible.

The steel work of the bridge will be carried out by the Omaha Steel Co., and the work performed by union labor on the job.

New Signs for City Streets are Designated

Locations Picked for Street Designations and Preparations for Installing Made

From Wednesday's Daily—

The placing of street signs in various parts of the city will soon be undertaken by the city and making ready for the compliance of the request of the postoffice department for the suitable markings of the streets in order that the city mail delivery can be further extended to sections that now have no delivery system.

Postmaster J. W. Holmes with Chairman Kunsman and Councilman Hayes of the streets, alleys and bridges committee were out last evening and arranged the location of the street signs over the city and which will make the matters of the mail delivery extension the matter of only a short time.

The decision as to the placing of the high class metal signs for use on the more prominent streets where they may be needed and have a large number made here in this city for placement over the streets in the outlying resident sections where they will serve very nicely in guiding the mail carriers and the public in the location of the streets.

With the extension of the mail delivery system there will probably be the necessity of an additional carrier on the city delivery system and a general adjustment of the various carrier routes to provide for the additional territory served.

FLOOD DAMAGES LINKS

The recent high water that prevailed in the Nemaha river valley near Auburn has done a great deal of damage to the golf course at that place, rated as one of the finest in southeastern Nebraska and the scene of the Southeast tournament for several years. The course is very sportsy and the lower and more level portions of the course that lie in the valley and lowland has suffered from the overflowing of the river and creeks to the extent that mud and debris have washed onto the course and covered the fine turf to a great extent in the lower portions of the course.

The Plattsmouth golf enthusiasts have often enjoyed playing on the course at Auburn and will regret to learn that this popular spot for the golfers has been damaged and are hopeful that the damage can soon be repaired and the course be back in its former fine shape.

IN CALIFORNIA HOSPITAL

The many old time friends here of Lambert Lister, resident here for a number of years, will regret to learn that Mr. Lister is at the hospital at Burbank, California, where he was operated on several days ago and his condition at the last reports was not as promising as had been hoped for. Mr. Lister has been troubled for several years with rupture and which became so serious that an operation was deemed necessary and from the effects of which the patient has not rallied as rapidly as had been hoped for. Mr. Lister is the father of Mrs. Elmer J. Rummel of near Mynard.

Reparation to Depositors is New Proposal

Shallenberger Favors It as Measure of Equity After Preference Shown Some.

Lincoln, July 8.—Should the guaranty fund probe disclose that preferential payments were made to state bank depositors after institutions had entered receiverships, A. C. Shallenberger, chief of the audit, Monday declared he would favor legislation providing reparations to depositors not favored.

"I do not know this was the case to the extent of several million dollars, as some have believed, but if it was done at all I believe the legislature provide for payment of those who were left out," Mr. Shallenberger declared.

In certain instances, he said, it had been disclosed that preferred payments had been made certain depositors almost in full on their accounts.

Possibly, he added, those who received preferential payments should be compelled to "toss them back into the pot."

"I realize, however, that this would be a difficult thing to do," he declared.

Mr. Shallenberger said that only in certain instances would he attempt to hold hearings out in the state in connection with affairs of individual closed banks.

To do so, he said, would only precipitate a flood of unfounded rumors for the hearing to consider.—Omaha Bee-News.

ASKS ADVICE IN McHUGH CASE

Lincoln, July 8.—A complaint registered with Governor Weaver by Harry K. Easton of Omaha, relative to William D. McHugh, Douglas county election commissioner, embarking into private business, was referred Monday to the state insurance department, the governor said.

Easton complained that McHugh, paid $4,500 a year in his official capacity, should not be permitted to engage in a private enterprise.

The governor said the state department would possibly determine whether McHugh's insurance adventure was contrary to law.

"If any legal technicality arises," he added, "I will, of course, ask the attorney general's opinion."
