

Every Day a Dollar

Remember, a community prospers in the highest degree when every member co-operates to the benefit of all. You cannot expect the best unless you contribute all you can for the general prosperity. THE FARMERS CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERY is here to prosper and to contribute to the prosperity of this community. It is up to you, Mr. Producer, to do your part to make this enterprise the success it deserves to be. Bring your Cream to us WEDNESDAY and every other day throughout the year, and you will enjoy prosperity and help us to achieve greater success. Casco Butter is being marketed in the large cities of the east and we can handle all the cream you bring us. We trust you read our ad of last week regarding prices and will give it serious consideration. It takes all working together to make lasting success—and that is what we're all striving for.

Well Known Dies at Sioux City Monday

Mrs. John Leis Well Known in Cass County Laid to Last Rest at Wabash Wednesday.

Mrs. John Leis passed away at a hospital at Sioux City on last Monday at the age of 56 years. The funeral was held from the church in Murdock on Wednesday, the Rev. H. P. Knosp officiating, and the interment made at the beautiful Wabash cemetery, where the remains repose beside those of the husband, John Leis, who preceded the wife by some fifteen years.

Miss Mary Creamer was born January 13th, 1873, and was united in marriage with John Leis about forty years ago, they having made their home in the northern portion of the state during the greater part of their married life. Their home was at Jackson for some sixteen years, and there was born to this couple, one daughter, Mrs. Etta Thompson, of Hubbard, Neb., and three sons, Ralph, George and Frank Leis, of Waterbury, Nebraska, where all are farmers. She also leaves two brothers and two sisters of Centralia, Washington, two brothers of the husband, Charles Leis of South Dakota, and S. P. Leis of Murdock.

Mrs. Leis has been in good health for some time and was taken to the hospital at Sioux City where she passed away.

The funeral cortege following a short service at Sioux City, was taken to Murdock, where services were held at the Murdock church, and the interment made at the Wabash cemetery.

Wheat Harvest is Retarded by Rainy Season

Yield Will Not Be As Heavy as Anticipated in This Section—Corn Looks Much Improved

From Friday's Daily—

The rains of the past week has served to retard to some extent the harvesting of the wheat and oats crop of this locality and while the larger part of these crops have been cut over Cass county the threshing of the wheat and oats has not started.

Those who are familiar with the conditions over the county state that while the wheat is fine looking in the field it is thought that the yield will not be as heavy as was anticipated in the early spring season. The wheat shows a very heavy straw but not as heavy production. The estimate of the wheat yield in the county runs from 12 to 20 bushels over this part of Cass county, estimated from observation of scattering wheat shocks over this area.

The corn prospects are fine, those who are familiar with the farm conditions state, and despite the fact that the late season retarded the farmers getting their crop into the ground. The stand is fine and while the rains have retarded the harvest they have been helpful in the corn and with the warm days has brought the corn out in fine shape. Through this section the corn is the staple crop and the promise of the crop is for a fine yield unless some unforeseen circumstance causes the damage of the crop.

One of the largest crops of hay in the record of the county is reported from this section and the yield is almost twice that of any season in the recent years with the best quality of hay being reported from the various farms over the county.

TEACHERS ON WESTERN TOUR

Miss Velma Russell of Fairbury, Miss Virginia Harris of Union, teachers in the Madrid schools for the past year and also for the coming year and their friend Miss Gwen Irwin, of Hubbard, have sent back the report of a most wonderful time on their tour which will cover the western half of the United States when completed. Friends of the girls will be glad to learn that they had the courage and grit to conquer Pike's Peak on foot via the cog-rail, which is 18 miles up and back, Pike's Peak being 14,109 ft. in altitude. The trio of teachers started out at 4:30 in the afternoon with four others in their party. Before they were half way up, their number dwindled to four, the three girls and the father of another girl in the party. As they neared the summit they took on more hikers and reached their goal at 3:55 the next morning, very tired but happy. They were rewarded by a most beautiful sunrise, a sight which is seldom surpassed and has to be seen to be appreciated to the fullest extent. The girls did both and stated that the Pike's Peak hike gave them their greatest "kick" of their trip so far.

They are in Spokane, Washington, after having visited the coast states, Catalina Island, Old Mexico and Canada. The girls have reported no trouble with their Ford roadster which has made the mountain passes on "high." There are plenty of us that envy them and also wish them "bon voyage" on the remainder of their trip.—Madrid Herald.

SUSTAINS SEVERE INJURY

Mrs. Joicing, who is the mother of Mrs. John Stroy of near Murdock, and who makes her home with her daughter at Lincoln, has, during the time that her daughter and husband, John Stroy and wife, have been making a trip to the west, been making her home at C. E. Stroy and wife, northeast of Murdock, and enjoying the visit very much, met with a very sad accident on last Wednesday afternoon, while about the home, Mrs. Joicing, who is past 88 years of age sustained a severe fall, which fractured one of her hip bones and rendered her helpless. An ambulance was telephoned for from Elmwood and the aged lady taken to the Lincoln General hospital at Lincoln, where she is being cared for. With the advanced years and the severity of the injury it makes it come very hard on her and this causing her to suffer greatly.

All possible is being done for the unfortunate lady, and the many friends are hoping she may soon be able to be about again.

Vacation Days Proving Lure to City Dwellers

Many Plattsmouth People Are Heeding the Call of the Great Outdoors for Summer

The summer vacation period is now here and the residents of this city and vicinity whose occupations or circumstances will permit, are seeking some favored spot in the great outdoors where they may play for a few weeks and forget the usual grind of activities.

The growth of the auto trade has stimulated the vacation lure and made possible for many to enjoy trips that otherwise would be impossible to attain, allowing the entire family to be transported for a small amount to some natural wonderland or in strange scenes for a short sojourn that will give renewed vitality for the tasks of the everyday life.

The Plattsmouth vacationist have largely felt the urge of the northern woods and lakes and a very large number of those from this locality when they sally forth in their auto tours take their way northward to where the lakes of the Minnesota country carry in their lure the possibilities of the fishing opportunities as well as the cool and invigorating northern breezes and sylvan retreats along the lakes.

Another of the favorite spots for local vacationists is that of the Black Hills of the Dakotas as well as the great natural beauty of the Yellowstone Park, the Black Hills having greatly grown in popularity with the public since the time President Coolidge selected this section of the country for his vacation in 1927 and which has since attracted thousands each summer to the mountains and ideal fishing and camping spots along the train. The Yellowstone is also being made a part of the tour of many from here and affords a wonderful and strange exposition of nature and which the government has wisely preserved for all time to the people of the nation.

A few from this section find their way eastward and to the old world for a trip or outing but largely the spots nearby in the west and southwest with a few going to the west coast are the most popular as they can be reached by auto and with a great deal less expense.
