Very Pretty Home Wedding at Weeping Water

Miss Doris Ambler United in Marriage to Mr. Thomas F. Coppingman of Lincoln

Last Saturday evening at the pleasant home of Stephen J. Ambler and wife was celebrated the wedding of their daughter, Miss Doris Ambler and Mr. Thomas F. Coppingman of Lincoln. The wedding march was played as the bridal couple entered the room where their troth was pledged during the playing of "To a Wild Rose" by Miss Alice Leone Ambler, sister of the bride. The ceremony was said by the Rev. S. T. Hanford, pastor of the Congregational church of Lincoln and former pastor of the same church in Weeping Water many years ago. In fact this is the pastor who united the parents of the bride Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Ambler, years ago. The wedding was very simple without attendants, and with the single ring ceremony. The bride was gowned in pale green silk chiffon, while the groom was attired in a neat fitting grey suit of English tweed. Following the wedding and the very fine dinner which was served by the parents of the bride they departed for Omaha where they visited for the evening with friends and from there the following day went to Lincoln where they had a home prepared and they began housekeeping. The bride was a graduate of the Weeping Water high school and the state university and has been a teacher, teaching at Lagrange, Colorado, and also at Ulica, this state. The groom is employed with the Union Wall Paper and Paint company of Lincoln. The Journal joins with the many friends of both bride and groom in extending best wishes for a happy and prosperous future.

Farmers Make Start on Work of Harvesting

Wheat Yield in County and State Not as High as First Anticipated—Other Crops Good

From Wednesday's Daily—The threshing outfits are getting busy in all sections of the county as the wheat crop is being threshed and made ready for market or storage and the next two weeks will be very busy times for the operators of the threshing outfits as they clean up the various fields.

The Cass county wheat crop like that of other sections of the state will be much smaller than was at first anticipated and the yield will represent a decided loss compared with that of last year in the yield per acre but will command a good price as there is a general world shortage of wheat. Estimates of wheat range from twelve to eighteen bushels per acre, experienced farmers state.

The wheat crop is one of the smallest in many years in the country as well and King Corn, the staple Nebraska crop is looking up in great shape and promises a yield that will more than make up for any loss in the wheat yield. The farmers are generally all through with their laying by the corn save in a few instances where farmers are just winding up this work and the stand and general indications look good for a real yield of the corn in all parts of Cass county. The farmers are generally all through with their laying by the corn save in a few instances where farmers are just winding up this work and the stand and general indications look good for a real yield of the corn in all parts of Cass county. WILL ATTEND BRIDGE OPENING

A number from this city are planning on attending the opening of the Abraham Lincoln bridge at Blair on Saturday and among these will be Mayor John P. Sattler, H. A. Schneider, president of the Plattsouth Bridge Co., C. C. Wescott, president of the local Chamber of Commerce and George K. Petring, member of the local good roads committee. The members of the Plattsouth delegation have received special invitations to attend the opening and will be honor guests of the occasion at which there will be present Governor Arthur J. Weaver of Nebraska and Governor John Hammill of Iowa.

EAGLES HAVE A FINE TIME

From Wednesday's Daily—Last evening the members of Plattsouth aerle No. 365 of the Fraternal Order of Eagles had the pleasure of having with them a large number of the officers and members of North Omaha aerle and while the visitors were here they took part in the initiation work of the evening and conferred on the two candidates the degrees of the order.

There were a number of the North Omaha auxiliary present and who enjoyed a fine visit with the Plattsouth ladies during the course of the evening.

At the close of the lodge session the members enjoyed the fine lunch that the committee in charge had arranged for them and which completed a very fine evening and one that all enjoyed to the utmost.

SURVEYING ALONG MISSOURI

A force of civil engineers operating under the U. S. government are starting in to work along the Missouri river out of this city and while not discussing the purpose of their observations and findings it is understood that they are engaged in the surveys made along the line of future improvement of the Missouri river for navigation and which will be tried out in the next few years on the upper Missouri river.

The engineering force are equipped with a large skill carrying a motor and the members of the party will camp along the river as they carry on their surveying work and arrange the lines of the river's course through this section.

The party made their first trip out into the river today, having the skill hauled down to the river and unloaded and starting in on the work of gathering the data of the river course and the land along the banks of the stream.

THE WEEPING WATER BAKERY

The Weeping Water bakery, which was established last winter by Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Williams, who came here from Bonesteel, South Dakota, has been doing a very fine business and with every day making gains and as one of the stores who has their bills of goods ready for the country showed that of the bread which was to be sent out, contained fifteen loaves of the Weeping Water bread and only two loaves of the Omaha bread. This is fine and we are pleased to know that the people of both Weeping Water and the country are realizing the superior quality of the Weeping Water bread besides the wisdom of spending their money at home instead of away.
