CANCER REMEDY SHOWN. Boston.—Discovery of a new compound to dissolve and apparently cures cancer in animals in a few days was announced at the thirteenth international physiological convention at Harvard Medical school Wednesday. It is injected hypodermically into the cancer and its effect is quite literally to cause the malignant cells to breathe themselves to death. Scientifically the process is named Oxidation, and it means that the abnormal cells get more oxygen than normally filters thru to them from breathing thru the lungs.

The president of the congress, Dr. W. H. Howell of Johns Hopkins university in reply to a few days said he considers the method important, but that no prediction can be made as to whether the compound ultimately will be useful to human being, upon whom it has not yet been tried.

The discovery is the work of a young Russian, Doris Sokoloff, professor of experimental medicine of the Russian university of Prague, Czecho-Slovakia, at present working as a guest with the institute of cancer research of Columbia university.

TO PROTECT FLYING PUBLIC. Washington.—New regulations to protect the flying public against incompetent aviators will be put into effect Sept. 1 by the department of commerce. Clarence M. Young, the new assistant secretary for aeronautics, announced Thursday that the new regulations will permit a transport pilot to carry passengers only in the type of plane in which he has passed an examination.

"Existing regulations which were promulgated in 1926," Secretary Young said, "authorized pilots holding the government's transport license to operate any type or size of aircraft. In consequence, it was possible for an airman to obtain full authorization to pilot any type of licensed airplane by demonstrating his competency in flying a single type, for at that time commercial aircraft were of more or less similar type. Aircraft in general use at the present time differ widely from the types operating a few years ago and therefore require a greater degree of specialization in the flying of particular types."
