The time was spent in the playing of games of all kinds that added to the enjoyment of the party and in honor of the birthday Mary Alice was presented with a large number of very attractive gifts. At a suitable hour dainty and delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Ohlschlager, assisted by Mrs. Bert Coleman and Mrs. N. P. Schulz of Omaha and it was late in the afternoon when the little folks departed, wishing the guest of honor many more such happy occasions in the future.

Fifteen Hundred Witness Closing Exercises at Fort Crook Camp—Praised by Hagood. Before a crowd of 1,500 people, including corps area officers, civic representatives and the new commander, Major General Johnson Hagood, the entire cadet army at the C. M. T. C. at Fort Crook paraded and passed in review Wednesday afternoon as a part of the annual Omaha and Parents' day.

Following the military exercise nearly one hundred awards were presented to the students for disciplinary, educational and athletic proficiency, all made during the 30-day stay at the post which winds up today. The 552 cadets start for home Friday morning.

R. E. Stanfield of Council Bluffs was adjudged the most proficient soldier in the camp and was awarded a medal donated by the war department. The presentation was made by Colonel C. A. Trott, Seventeenth Infantry commander. He was also given a prize of $25 in gold by the Nebraska State American Legion auxiliary, presented by Mrs. J. Barlow Reynolds, and a medal from the Veterans of Foreign Wars, presented by Colonel F. D. Eager.

Vierling is Honored. The $20 gold prize was given by Isaac Sadler chapter D. A. R. for the best showing made by a Central High school pupil at the camp went to F. Robert Vierling, lieutenant colonel in command of the school battalion. It was presented by Mrs. Kenneth Finlayson.

Dwight C. Benbow was chosen as the best drilled Oamahan and won the $20 prize offered by the Omaha chapter of the D. A. R. J. Urbanski of Omaha won the Creighton university scholarship for a one year course in the college of arts and sciences. Benbow also received a silver cup as captain of the best drilled company.

Never Saw Finer Camp. In a brief address General Hagood complimented the students on the fine showing they had made while at camp. "I have never seen a finer parade at any C. M. T. C. anywhere than I saw this afternoon," the general said. "I urge you to come back again to camp next year and bring at least one companion with you."

Colonel Trott thanked the cadets for the spirit of co-operation they had shown. "I particularly congratulate you on remaining well," he said. "We started the camp with 555 men and are finishing with 552. We have had very little sickness."

Colonel Trott was presented with a framed picture at the conclusion of the exercise by Cadet Major Howard W. Nixon of Omaha, on behalf of the students.

An outdoor supper was served the visitors on the parade grounds at 6 o'clock. In the evening several boxing matches preceded the final dance of the camp.

WORKERS ARE BUSY. At the present time there is very little unemployment in the city as the large amount of road work as well as the increasing demands at the sand and gravel pits have taken up the greater amount of extra labor that is in the city. The Burlington and BREX shops also have taken on additional men that has added to the reduction of idle men in the city and nearby community. The sand and gravel pits are running day and night shifts and which has afforded a large number work in the past few weeks.

The grading, graveling and paving work on the highways near this city has brought a large force of men here and which has made the business of hotels, rooming houses and restaurants much better in the last three weeks as all of these forces are largely making this city their headquarters, altho a part of the paving workers have been quartered at their camp south of this city but as the work is extended north it will be possible for many to make their headquarters here in this city.

GIVEN A SURPRISE. A surprise party was arranged Wednesday evening in honor of Mr. Melvin Farabee's birthday. Mrs. Farabee arranged the party having selected a group of Mr. Farabee's friends on hand for the surprise when he reached home. After the first shock was over, various games were played by the guests. Delicious refreshments were served at a suitable hour and the guests departed for home feeling that they had enjoyed an evening of real entertainment.
