Dix Color Film New Screen Epic

Love Theme Enacted Against Brilliant Background of Scenic Southwest at Union Theatre.

A love theme as tender as the story of Romeo and Juliet, enacted against the majestic background of the little-known American Southwest, with all the brilliant coloring and beauty of the country revealed on the screen, will be shown at the Union Theatre Saturday, Sept. 7th. It is Richard Dix's new epic of the American Indian, "Redskin."

"Redskin" is the drama of a race of people, clinging to old traditions yet seeking to adapt themselves to the new. It is the struggle of youth against the caution of age; of youth seeking release from the chains of tribal custom. It is the romance of a boy and a girl of rival tribes, separated by generations of ill-feeling between their ancestors, who learn to love and rise above the restrictions of their environment.

Richard Dix plays the leading role, with beautiful Gladys Belmont, a new-comer to leading parts, opposite him. Dix has a dramatic role and the picture is a perfect vehicle for him. Hundreds of Indians appear in the picture and some of them play small parts. The cast contains many well known names such as that of Tully Marshall.

The color effects are marvelously real and beautiful. The scenic backgrounds are inspiring and the gripping drama is well conceived and particularly well acted. It is a new epic of the American screen.

Ends a Half Year as Nation's Chief Executive

President Starts Term by Making Many Steps in Nature of Governmental Reform

Washington—A half year will have passed into history on Wednesday since Herbert Hoover on that rainy afternoon of March 4 was inducted into the presidency.

A retrospect shows that for him it has been a busy six months. After the selection of a cabinet and the reorganization, in part at least, of all of the ten big governmental departments, he initiated a number of new projects and in the carrying forward of these his work in many respects has just begun.

This work has kept the president close to his desk in the executive offices at the white house. During the summer while millions of his fellow citizens have been frolicking at seashore or mountain resorts or traveling abroad, he has confined his recreation to short week end trips to a fishing camp on the head waters of the Rapidan river in Virginia.

General Reorganization

By so doing the chief executive in addition to looking after the general run of the nation's business has placed more than a half dozen commissioners at work of studying at many different questions. One of the first to be appointed was the commission on law enforcement. To this he assigned the duty of studying enforcement of all laws, including the statutes dealing with prohibition.

A start at reorganizing the diplomatic corps also has been made. His first appointments in the field, Charles G. Dawes, no sooner was accredited an ambassador in London than he began conferences with Premier MacDonald looking to further naval armament reductions.

Decision to appoint two other commissioners already has been announced. One of these will study power developments in California while the other will take up vexing problems connected with the proposal to bridge San Francisco bay.

Steps are Numerous

Further the army has been asked to examine its expense account and eliminate unnecessary items. Steps have been taken to relieve congestion in federal prisons and plans made to ask congress for $5,000,000 for additional prison facilities.

Transfer of the prohibition enforcement from the treasury to the justice department also has been considered and congress was requested to select a committee to study the proposal.

Radicalism of the Mediterranean found a way in Florida has been undertaken and $26,000,000 will be sought to carry this work. A new program in administration of Indian affairs is being developed. At the same time a study of child welfare needs is under way. The federal farm board, meanwhile, has been organized and begun to function.

The senate Wednesday will take up the tariff. This promises to develop many perplexing questions. The extra session is expected to run almost to the convening day of at which time a new budget the regular session in December must be placed before the legislators.—State Journal.

MUTINY ABOARD TANKER

Mobile, Ala.—Tales of a short lived mutiny aboard the American oil tanker Paulsboro while the vessel was ablaze on the night of Aug. 27, about 300 miles southeast of Mobile, were recited here Tuesday by members of the crew following arrival of the vessel to undergo extensive repairs as a result of fire which swept the engine room.

While enroute to the Paulsboro first charred the mutiny was at a time the two hour fire was at its height, Capt. John T. Pearson, located the offices of the harbor inspector making a report of the blaze, said he instructed a boat load of seamen preparing to leave the vessel to stay aboard. At the time he had an automatic pistol in his hand, Captain Pearson said, but he did not shoot.

Captain Pearson said he was forced to leave the vessel loaded with sailors to visit the opposite deck of the ship where more men were preparing to leave. He charged that while he was on the opposite side, the first boat loaded with thirteen sailors left the vessel.
