Miss Jessie Carroll, of Lincoln, was a visitor in Murdock for the week end last Sunday and was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elza Winget.

Henry Amwert and wife were over to Lincoln on last Wednesday, where they were looking after some business matters for a short time and also were attending the state fair as well.

Andy Zoz and the family were enjoying a visit at the state fair on Thursday of last week and enjoyed seeing the many fine exhibits, which surely speak well for the great state of Nebraska.

A very interesting ball game was held on last Sunday at South Bend, between the team of that place and a team from Elmwood, in which the visitors shut out the home team by a score of 9 to 0.

Miss Lillian Ringenberg and Miss Mary Wiseman, both of Eustis are visiting at the home of Henry Bornemeier for some two weeks and are enjoying their visit here with the old friends very much.

Fred Klemme and family departed early last week for Redfield, Minnesota, where they will visit for some ten days at the home of the parents of Mrs. Klemme. They are driving and are enjoying the trip very nicely.

Miss Ona Graves, of Plattsmouth, is to teach the Zoz school this year and will open the school on Sept. 9th. Miss Graves comes very well recommended as a fine teacher and we are sure she will give the very best service as an instructor.

Frank Zoz and the family were attending the state fair on Friday of last week, driving over in their auto for the occasion and remaining for the fireworks and evening's entertainment, which were a very striking feature of the big show.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stroy, who have been making their home in the western portion of Cherry county, at Merriman, arrived in Murdock last week and are visiting for a time at the home of Charles Stroy and family and with other friends and relatives.

Mrs. George Vanderberg has been feeling very poorly for some time past and Mrs. Ed Norton, of Weeping Water has been caring for her. She is reported as being slightly improved at this time and her many friends are wishing for her a speedy and permanent recovery.

Fred Stock and wife, Harry Stock and Martin Strelch departed early last week for Marion, South Dakota, where they took an outing and at the same time Fred was consulting a noted physician at Marion in regard to his health. They enjoyed their trip over the northern country very much.

Charles Radke and wife, who have been visiting here for some time with friends and relatives, went over to Lincoln, where they are to visit for a time before returning to their home in the south. They resided here some twenty years ago, and Mrs. Radke has not been here for some twelve years.

William Stander, who lived in this section for many years, and who has been making his home at Orange, California for a number of years, accompanied by Mrs. Stander, is visiting many places in Cass county and will remain here for some two months. They are well acquainted and have many friends whom they wish to visit.

Mrs. H. L. Fisher and two daughters, Misses Mildred and Margaret, have been visiting for a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Tool. The young ladies will attend Doane college at Crest for the coming year. They, in company with Mrs. Tool, were also visiting for a few days last week at Omaha and Meadames City with Messrs. and Medames. Will Meyer and George Work.

A very handsome young woman, with emphasis on the young, made her appearance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kupke on last Sunday morning, fifteen minutes after the arrival of September 1st. Had the stork hurried a little, the young lady would have been an August child. She and the mother are getting along nicely and the father is doing as well as could be looked for. Grandpa Charles Kupke—well, he sure smiles.

The enrollment of the Murdock high school is 64, which makes a very good array of young people who are seeking a higher education and who are to make their impress on civilization in the years which are to come. With the good facilities which the Murdock school offers these young people can be fitted for any position in life to which they may aspire, for they have the ability and the school provides the way to receive the necessary training for any position.

Mrs. Floyd Koon Dies
 Mrs. Floyd Koon, formerly Miss Anna Brunkow, was born near Elmwood in 1895, and attended the public schools here during her girlhood, making her home near Elmwood. When a young girl she was confirmed in the Lutheran church, and remained a faithful member, but during the past few years, while not residing where there was a church of her choice, she worked with such religious organizations as were in the vicinity of her home.

In 1920 she was united in marriage to Floyd Koon, of near Elmwood, they going to Farmington, Texas, where they resided since that time.

Mrs. Koon had been in poor health for some time and died last week at the late home in the south. The funeral occurred there Sunday, and the body was laid to rest in a southern cemetery.

Her father, August Brunkow, and David Picton and wife, the latter a sister of Mrs. Koon, all of Ipswich, Minn., were visiting with the family prior to the death of Mrs. Koon, having driven down there some six weeks ago, when the health of Mrs. Koon became so poor.

Mrs. Koon leaves, besides her husband, three small children, and is survived by Ferdinand Brunkow of near Murdock.

GUERNSEY BULL FOR SALE
 Guernsey Bull for Sale
 I have a very fine 18-month-old Guernsey bull, a very fine individual, which I am offering for sale. Come, see him, or telephone me.
 VERL BRUNKOW,
 s9-3sw. Murdock, Nebraska.

Will Care for the Kiddies
 The gentlemen who are to look after the carrying of the students of the Murdock schools to and from their school and home, are all well equipped with proper conveyances, as W. O. Gillespie, Al Bornemeier and Albert Theil all have secured wagons with new and comfortable tops and fully enclosed which will make good conveyances. The boys are all very careful drivers and will look after the welfare of the students.

Buy Manv Fine Cows
 Gust Stock and the family and Louis Bornemeier and family combined business with pleasure last week when they went to southern Missouri and visited as wild a section of the country as lays out of doors, along the White river in the rugged Ozark mountains. They were at the town of Branson, where Mr. Stock says it is a wonder that anything grows, but for picturesque beauty, the place is unsurpassed by any in the west. They enjoyed their trip some time there and also were at Springfield, where they purchased a car load of very fine springing Jersey heifers. These were shipped to Murdock in care of Louis Bornemeier, who was one of the party and cared for the stock on their way home.

Classes Enjoy Party
 Mrs. Otto Miller has a class of boys in the Bible school and Mrs. Roy Gorthey a class of girls of the same school. The ladies combined classes as well as energies and both classes were entertained at the home of Mrs. Roy Gorthey, with the ladies both entertaining, on last Thursday evening, and a delightful evening was spent with a program which consisted of games and other numbers. Ice cream and cake were served and all voted that they had enjoyed the occasion very much.

Lincoln and Omaha Banks Ask Hearing

Oppose Court's Rule Governing Deposit of Public Funds in Buffalo County Case.

Eight Omaha and two Lincoln banks have asked and received permission to file briefs and submit argument as friends of the court on the motion for a rehearing of the case of County Treasurer Shambaugh of Buffalo county vs. the City Bank of Elm Creek, a suit involving banking practices and customs. They have been granted until Sept. 20 by Chief Justice Goss to file briefs and argument.

The Omaha banks applying for this permission are the First National, United States National, Stockyards National, Packers National, Livestock National, Union State bank and the State Bank of Omaha. The Lincoln banks applying are the First National and Continental National.

The applicants allege that the opinion of the court establishes rules relating to dealings of banks with county treasurers which modify and change the relations of these parties established by custom and usage for many years, and so construes the laws as to make it impossible or at least extremely hazardous for banks to have any dealings whatever with county treasurers with respect to public funds. The banks signing the motion say they are not interested in the outcome of this litigation but are vitally interested in the rules of law established.

The suit was one by the county board of Bualo to hold the City bank of Elm Creek responsible for a $5,000 deposit which the county treasurer is alleged to have intended to make by issuing a check May 11, 1927. It was drawn upon the Farmers State bank of Kearney, a county depository, in favor of the Elm Creek bank, also a depository, and there were ample funds in the bank upon which it was drawn to pay and cover the amount.

DODGING THE ISSUE
 The automobile has brought much pleasure to the American people. But it has also brought one of our most serious problems. Every year thousands of people are killed and maimed in automobile accidents of various sorts. The majority of the casualties result from carelessness and incompetence. There are few unavoidable accidents.

It would seem a simple matter to enforce adequate driving laws, and when tried, it has proven that this reduces the accident rate. It would seem equally simple to withhold operating licenses from persons too ignorant or too incompetent to drive a car with ordinary ability. Yet we go out of the way for our cures and produce such legislative boomerangs as compulsory liability insurance. And in the meantime, while such panaceas dismally fail, the death record mounts.

We are a careless people in many ways. And our lack of safety consciousness causes untold waste in lives and property. Until we follow the obvious course and teach prevention, modernize traffic laws and bar the reckless and incompetent from the highways, the toll of automobile deaths will mount.

BUCKETSHOPS ARE RAIDED
 Chicago—Raiding of two reputed bucketshops by state's attorneys forces Thursday was described by Chief Investigator Patrick Roche as the start of a campaign to rid Chicago of mushroom "brokerage" firms, based on unsuspecting investors. The places raided were J. F. Dowd & Co. and Hamilton, King & Co. At the latter, Roche said, officers found "sucker lists" composed of persons within a 100 mile radius outside the city, who were described as "worth more than $5,000." Numerous prominent persons were included.

J. F. Dowd, head of one of the firms, said that he had formerly been employed by Hamilton, King & Co., but that the situation there had "begun to look bad" and he had been advanced $1,000 to open a new office. He estimated Hamilton, King & Co. had profited $125,000 in the four months it had operated.

The two companies operated extensively in Illinois, Indiana and Michigan, not overlooking even the smallest community where some one or two $5,000 or more might live, Roche asserted.

SON OF BILLY SUNDAY IS SUED FOR DIVORCE
 Los Angeles—Billy Sunday, jr., son of the evangelist, was sued for divorce in superior court Thursday by Julia Mae Sunday on grounds of extreme cruelty. The Sundays were married at Yuma, Ariz., April 8, 1928. Mrs. Sunday charged that within eight months after their marriage her husband "became tired" of her and began sending her alone on week end trips and remaining away from their home for periods as long as two weeks. He refused to explain the absence, she said. The marriage was Sunday's second.

SMITH SAYS SURPRISED
 New York, Sept. 5.—Former Governor Alfred E. Smith today greeted a persistent report that he might succeed Dr. Royal S. Copeland as United States senator, with these words:

"I know nothing about it. First I heard of it.

According to the report, Dr. Copeland will resign his office to head the sanitation commission and Mr. Smith will once more return to politics. That the former governor is "retired" from public life is denied by no less an authority than Mr. Smith himself.

Reports from Washington, however, indicate that Dr. Copeland, who is now in Europe, has no thought of relinquishing his senatorial toga, especially in favor of the former governor.

ARMY LIEUTENANT KILLED

Lemon, S. D.—Lieut. John M. Winefordner, Sioux City, Ia., of the Ninety-fourth pursuit squadron, Selfridge Field, Mich., was killed here late Thursday when his Curtiss pursuit plane crashed as he was taking off on his return flight to Selfridge field, Winefordner, with two companions, Lieut. A. H. Johnson and R. S. Hudy, flew here from Selfridge field to take part in the dedication ceremonies of the Lemon municipal airport.

Following the ceremonies they took off for Sioux Falls, S. D., where they planned to spend the night. As they did so Winefordner's ship rose to a height of about 300 feet and crashed to the ground.

School League of Texas Links Many Activities
 Literary and Athletic Contests Decided in Finals at State Capital.

Austin, Tex.—Printing presses have been busy grinding out more than 1,000,000 pieces of literature this summer for distribution among high schools and lower schools of Texas. There are spelling bulletins, constitutions and rules, debate bulletins and others relating to music, art and arithmetic.

This gives just an inkling of the enormous task the University of Texas Interscholastic League with headquarters at Austin undertakes in correlating interscholastic activities of 250,000 school children. The huge-ness of the task is in keeping with the broad expanse of the Lone Star State.

Under the guidance of Roy Bedichek, director, who took charge in 1917, the league has attained its place of great usefulness. Formed in 1911, as a debating league with 28 member schools, the organization had enrolled 5258 schools in the varied competitions of 1928-29. It merged with the Interscholastic Association of Texas in 1913. Today it runs the whole gamut of school activities, from oratory to athletics, and is the pivot of the university's extension division.

Travel Expense Equalized.
 Literary competition is promoted all over the State in planned contests, such as debate, extemporaneous speech, essay writing, declamation, spelling, music memory, arithmetic, and art memory.

A second large division of activities is athletics, supervised by Roy Hadden, athletic director. Football, tennis, and track contests are staged yearly in large and small classes. Final winners are recognized as official State champions.

Each county sets up its separate organization at the teachers' institute meeting each fall. A county interscholastic league organization is formed which is affiliated with the State organization. Each school pays $1 to $8 membership fee, depending on the size of the institution.

This money is sent to the Austin office where it placed in a rebate fund, to reimburse athletes who come to various State contests. This largely equalizes traveling expenses and distances, and is chiefly responsible for the success of the league. The rebate fund idea is regarded as one of Mr. Bedichek's noteworthy accomplishments.

Community Interest Keen.
 District meets are held in April and winners are sent to the big state meeting in Austin, held early in May. Annually more than 700 athletes and 400 literary event winners assemble here for final state champion contest, the contenders weeded out from thousands of school children through the long series of elimination contests.

"The Interscholastic League is the greatest agency in Texas for community-wide gatherings," Mr. Bedichek says. Crowds of 10,000 to 15,000 yearly congregate in some of the larger Texas counties for the two days of events.

A state press meeting is held yearly, also an annual typing contest. Each month, the league publishes the Interscholastic Leaguer, a newspaper of 16,000 circulation which blankets the State.

Forty states in the Union have organizations similar to Texas Interscholastic League, though none perhaps, are on so comprehensive a scale.

REMANO ST. LIBORY BANKER
 St. Paul, Neb.—Edward Buhman, cashier of the defunct St. Libory State bank, was remanded to the Howard county jail here Friday at the request of bondsmen, when further discrepancies in the record of the bank were revealed. Buhman was released from jail several weeks ago under $10,000 bond, provided by Howard county residents.

Following his release, Buhman moved to Grand Island where, it is said, he was employed at manual labor. Since going to Grand Island he has changed his residence three or four times and this, it is said, caused some suspicion among bondsmen.

Further check up of accounts disclosed a $2,000 deposit Buhman had marked paid but which had never been paid. He admitted guilt. This brings his shortage up to about $54,000. Unless he can obtain bond, which appears unlikely, Buhman will be retained in jail here until fall jury term begins Oct. 28.

NO DRUNKS Jailed AT LINCOLN FAIR
 Lincoln, Sept. 6.—Not a single state fair visitor has been jailed in the Lancaster county lockup this year.

Turnkey C. F. Jackson declares this is not unusual, but to a dozen drunks and a few persons under investigation usually are held there during the exposition period.

Tourists Find Eighth Wonder Made of Salt

Huge Wieliczka Mines in Galicia Yield 70,000 Tons of Salt Annually

Wieliczka, Galicia—The English language made a sudden descent on this little Galician town one day this summer and for a brief space shared the honors with Polish almost on a 50-50 basis.

The explanation? A large party of Polish-Americans, carrying miniature Stars and Stripes, had come on pleasure bent to see the famous salt mines here. It so happened that their arrival coincided with the visit of a party of journalists, among them a representative of The Christian Science Monitor, touring Poland as the guests of the Polish Government. So the party of exploration became a cosmopolitan one.

The Wieliczka salt mines are one of the sights of Europe. They have been the property of the State for at least 700 years. Most of the galleries on the lower levels have long been closed, but today some 75,000 tons of salt are mined yearly in its 350 miles of corridors, while 1600 workmen find employment there. The main business of the mine, however, is the tourist industry. Thousands of people each year pay out money to see it.

Carved From Salt
 Entrance to the mine is by a kind of double cage, each half lighted by a single candle. A dozen persons may handily crowd into the upper part of the cage, another dozen may be ejected into the lower. The doors are clamped there in a sudden rush of hot air that grows cooler and cooler, darkness crowds in, the candle goes out, and the next thing the tourist knows he is some 600 feet lower than when he started, and the journey is only begun.

At the bottom of the shaft waits a little chapel with altars and a pulpit—all sculptured in salt. It has been there since 1691, and still looks as fresh as if it was carved yesterday.

A turn or two along the winding salt-flanked corridors, high enough for a man to stand upright, and a strain of distant music catches the ear. The music grows louder and louder, and then suddenly the visitor looks down on the eighth wonder of the world.

He is in a narrow gallery at one end of a huge vaulted hall. On a platform 30 feet below in midair is a brass band blowing into space. Suspended from the room are great candelabra, bearing countless electric globes. More globes of many colors cluster round the walls. On the right, a long staircase filled with an unending stream of people, goes unendingly down into a gray mist difficult to penetrate.

Filled With Sightseers
 Presently the eye discovers that the hall is a chapel packed with a slowly ebbing crowd of sightseers. The colored lights round the sides broken little shrines. Once a year on Christmas Eve a service is held there. Candelabra, shrines, altars, carvings, are all of salt, some transparent, some glass, some cloudy like white amber. Every point throws back a sparkle.

Next the visitor comes to a subterranean lake, Przykos by name, one of 6 which disappear into blackness alongside the well-lighted corridors. One is another huge hall supported by a great pillar of salt; in another place is an arch of salt which may be used as a bridge. More music by the same band heard in the chapel. Further on still more music is heard, no less than a jazz band. On the door in front of it and in a room hollowed out of solid salt, hundreds of couples join in the dance.

Further on, visitors are taken to the part of the mine where work actually goes on today. In olden times the salt was secured by means of quaint wooden tools, some of which have been preserved; but today pneumatic drills are employed.

The party picked up souvenirs of its visit and made its way back to the mouth of the shaft. Much squeezing into the cages, more clamping of doors, and then a rush of cool darkness that grew hotter, lessinky and brighter, until with a jerk the explorers were disgorged into the glare of day.
