Miss Marie Doud was a visitor in Omaha with friends on last Monday and enjoyed the visit very much.

A. F. Weibke has a new phone placed in his residence number 46 and with the one at the store which is 26 will enable anyone to get them at any time.

Arthur Stuart just completed the work on the water system which has been installed by O. F. Peters at his home and which makes the home modern now in all its appointments. To eliminate the disturbing element in his make up and to get away from the annoyance of tooth ache Arthur Stuart has had a number of the obstreperous teeth removed.

Miss Vera Anderson accepted a position in Omaha as cashier of a large market at that place and we are certain she will make an excellent cashier for the institution in the big city.

The lowering of the rates on the electric light juice has also enabled Mathews and Peterson to lower their charges for the charging of batteries. You will see their ad in this issue of the Journal announcing the same.

Everett Cope who has been in poor health for some time and was not able to work for a portion of the time was over to Lincoln one day last week and had a number of his teeth extracted as he was advised that they were the cause of the trouble is now hoping that he may have better health.

Ward from Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Landon who are visiting in the south is to the effect that they are at Dallas, Texas, and visited on their way there at Fort Worth. They are liking the country down that way very well but would not trade an acre of Nebraska land for two acres of the soil down that way.

A number of the members of the Canton of the I. O. O. F., were over to Lincoln where they were rehearsing for the putting on of the work at the meeting of the Grand Lodge which convenes here on October 15th and which the Lincoln Canton has a portion of the work and there being many members residing in Greenwood.

Flowers for funerals and other functions. See us, Weibke Cafe.

Pastor to Crab Orchard.

The Rev. E. M. Caldwell, pastor of the Greenwood Methodist church for the past year and who has worked hard for the success of the church and made a very fine service with every recurring Sunday, was by the conference which recently closed, stationed at Crab Orchard, and last week departed for that place where he will minister for this year.

Entertained the Kensington.

Mrs. Phil L. Hall entertained the Greenwood Generals Kensington at her home in Greenwood on last Thursday, and at which time the ladies did most good work for the cause for which they stand in Greenwood. A social hour also made the meeting the more pleasant and the very fine luncheon which was served by the genial hostess added much to the very enjoyable afternoon.

Enjoyed Day at Louisvile.

Robert Mathews and family and E. F. Smith and family were over to Louisvile on last Sunday where they went with well filled baskets and a determination to have a good time and by the way they had it too. They visited the new cement works and camped at the lake across the river where the fishing, boating and swimming was the best. All enjoyed the days outing to the full.

The New Paved Road.

The highway from Omaha to Lincoln and the west passing through Greenwood is progressing nicely at this time, and the paving is completed to within a few miles of Greenwood. Work of grading the new route which follows the Burlington tracks has been in operation for some time and the moving of the buildings in Greenwood for the new route has been done and the route will soon be so that the paving can be placed when the workmen get in readiness.

Wm. Hoffman Some Better.

Wm. Hoffman, father of Fred Hoffman who has been spending several weeks here this fall from his home in California, has been for some time afflicted with a very severe carbuncle on the nape of his neck which has caused an endless amount of suffering, and was so severe that he went to the hospital at Lincoln for treatment. He is, however, some improved at this time and is hoping to be all right soon.

Attended Funeral at Elmwood.

Herman Brunow and wife and George Bucknell and wife were over to Elmwood last Sunday where they were attending the funeral of the late Mrs. W. F. Rosenow of that place.

Mrs. Wm. Wilkin Very Sick.

Henry Wilkins received word of the very serious illness of his mother Mrs. Wilkins who is well advanced in years and who has been sick for some time and Henry immediately went to her home at Elmwood, where he with the remainder of the children are giving all attention to her care.

Greenwood Transfer Line

We do a general business—make trips regularly to Omaha on Monday and Thursday, also to Lincoln Tuesday and Friday. Pick up loads on these trips. Full loads at any time. FRED HOFFMAN.

The Lone Eagle Home.

Phillip Reese, the lone eagle who went for his vacation with his "Lone-some" returned home early last week after having visited in Kansas, Oklahoma and Western Nebraska enjoying every minute of the time he was away.

Have Bridge Removed.

The bridge across Salt Creek which is known as the Charles Bastes bridge and which was vacated some time since was torn down and the lumber removed and the evidence of the bridge having once been there will soon be entirely erased.

Showing Improvement.

Mrs. E. L. McDonald who was in the hospital for so long at Lincoln and whose condition was so serious for so long, after having returned to her home here is showing some improvement though it seems slow. She is able to walk about the room; a few steps at a time but still remains very weak from the long illness. Her many friends are hoping she may soon be in her former strength again and able to enjoy herself again. They are looking hopefully to the future as they have been able to get along without the services of the nurse, Miss Hazel Tubbs, who returned to her home at Lincoln last week.

Will Move the Home.

Fred W. Ethrege was over to Lincoln on last Tuesday where he had a conference with the state officials regarding the new road, which caused the removal of his home to get it out of the way of the new road and agreed with them on the removal, and returning secured Frank Rouse to make the changes, which includes the house, the barn and garage, as well as disposing his garden, grape vines, berry bushes and entirely changed the whole home. Years ago, Mr. Ethrege purchased the home and after paying taxes on same for thirty years was notified by the Burlington that they had sixty feet of his grounds and now the coming of the new highway is crowding him over more and leaving him but a fraction of the former home grounds. He is yielding though for the public good.

Died in Lincoln Last Week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Grady, and their son, Bernard and wife were called to Lincoln on last Wednesday to attend the funeral of the late J. C. Griffiths who was a brother of Mrs. Grady and who had died there on last Monday. Mr. Griffiths was past 69 years of age and leaves a wife and four children, they all being grown and married.

CALIFORNIA MAN HAS BROKEN BONE RECORD

Red Bluff, Cal., Sept. 27.—Charles Burrill, pioneer rancher, claims to be California's "broken bone" champion. His right arm was broken for the second time today. This revealed a long record of other breaks—six to his left arm, left foot broken twice, right ankle fractured once, and broken ribs on 11 occasions.

Borah Says Hoover Must Go Over Bill

Holds Him Obligated to Speak Out on All Parts of the Tariff Measure.

Washington, Sept. 26.—Party lines crossed in the senate today and made the issue so close over retention of the flexible principle in the pending tariff bill as to set party leaders feverishly to work in an effort to round up the "doubtfuls."

Senator Borah (Idaho), a campaigner for President Hoover last year, raged against the policy as an unwarranted delegation of congressional power. He demanded that the president, now that he has entered the tariff dispute on the side of the flexible clause, "go through to the end and assume full responsibility" for other sections of the republican measure.

Borah asserted he would not criticize the president for issuing his statement urging retention of the flexible tariff policy adopted seven years ago, but now that Mr. Hoover has entered the controversy it was his duty to say whether he approved other parts of the bill.

"It is the duty of the president," he added, "to advise this body and the country in the same plain and specific way whether the industrial schedules in this bill meet with his approval."

An opponent of the flexible principle, Borah, who campaigned for Hoover in the last election campaign, said that if the chief executive had established a precedent by issuing his statement on the tariff, the action would be condemned by him.

"It is not my idea of the division of the duties of the various branches of government under the constitution," the senator said. "Instead of being flexible and reducing in a reduction of duties, Borah said the provision had been inflexible and had worked principally in the direction of upward revision."

Attacks Flexible Principle.

"I take the position that not a single reduction of any moment whatever has been made or recommended to the tariff commission under this provision," the Idahoan continued. He said that under the flexible principle "we are asked to turn over to a commission practical rate-making power and inside of whose chamber the public seldom is permitted to look."

The best evidence that the flexible tariff had not accomplished what it was intended, he said, was the fact that the last campaign was fought on the need of adjusting inequalities of the tariff between agriculture and industry.

Borah asserted the question "which will be fought out here until the snows fall" is whether the industrial rates are justified. "Does the president approve of them?" he asked. "Does he approve of the duties on cement, pig iron and those products which will increase the profits of the steel companies? Is he satisfied with the agricultural duties, and finally, is he satisfied that this bill meets the promises of the last campaign?"

Discussing the farm rates, Borah said the agricultural interest of the country "want to know whether they comply with the campaign pledges."

FLUNKS TEST FOR DRUNKS

Omaha—Captured in the railroad yards Wednesday night after his auto had struck four other machines in various parts of the city, Frank Roach, Omaha, underwent a physical examination the first official physical examination for suspected drivers, as decreed by Chief Pisanowski. Dr. Frank Casey reached a speedy verdict of guilty.

The examination was more oral than physical. After whiffing Roach's breath and making him walk a straight line in the bull-pen, Dr. Casey said: "Now repeat this word after me—Schneetady."

Roach stumbled on the first syllable. "Say," he protested, "what is this—a civil service examination or a spelling bee?"

His examiner continued, intoning slowly "Cincinnati." Ogallala and Wahoo were next offered him but he fared little better.

MOTHER IS FOUND GUILTY

Belair, Md.—Mrs. Hattie Stone, forty year old Havre de Grace widow, was found guilty in the second degree murder of her fifteen year old son George, by a jury in circuit court which deliberated less than one hour. The verdict carried a maximum sentence of eighteen years with the minimum left to the discretion of Judge Walter W. Preston who presided at the four day trial.

Mrs. Stone, who has sat stony faced and calm through the trial, seemed dazed for a moment and then her head resting on the counsel table broke down and wept bitterly with her head resting on the counsel table.

Waggoner is Arraigned; Says 'Not Guilty'

Trial of Telluride Bank President on Fraud Charge Set for October 4; Unable to Give Bail.

New York, Sept. 27.—Charles D. Waggoner, president of the Bank of Telluride, Colo., pleaded not guilty today in federal court to an indictment charging mail fraud. His trial was set for Friday of next week.

Waggoner was arraigned before Federal Judge Kennedy of Cheyenne, Wyo., who temporarily is sitting in this jurisdiction. Bail was continued at $100,000 which he could not immediately furnish.

The indictment against the Colorado banker was returned in a federal investigation of the manipulations by which he defrauded six New York financial houses of a half million dollars. He arrived here Wednesday from Wyoming where he was arrested.

Waggoner was accompanied by two attorneys.

Charles H. Tuttle, United States district attorney, told the court that he was anxious to bring Waggoner to trial as early as possible and asked that next Tuesday be selected as the starting date.

Campbell entered an objection, stating that he was "a stranger, as yet, to many facts of the case," and needed time to prepare for trial.

Judge Kennedy set the case for trial on October 4, and advised Waggoner's attorneys that if a postponement should prove necessary, application might be made at that time.

LIVINGSTON IN SURRENDER

Omaha—Gene Livingston, alleged Omaha "alcohol baron" who has been a fugitive from justice since July 1, surrendered to federal authorities here Thursday.

Livingston was accompanied by his attorney, Eugene O'Sullivan and a bondsman. He was able to put up bond in the Howard street still and another case for which he was awaiting trial at time of his disappearance.

Asked why he did not surrender before, Livingston replied that he did not know he was wanted. He refused to discuss his whereabouts during the time he was absent from the city.

Report Twenty Dead in Nassau Hurricane

No Buiding Escapes Damage—Miami Struck by 58-Mile Squall—Storm Moves West.

Miami, Fla., Sept. 27.—Twenty deaths a result of the hurricane at Nassau were reported to the Miami Herald late tonight in a dispatch received here by the Tropical Radio station.

The dispatch stated the storm damage was "worse collectively than ever before" and that no building escaped damage.

Nassau is flooded and in darkness, with telephones out of commission, the dispatch states. The water system, however, remains intact. Several islands of the group are still isolated, and it is feared deaths and property loss may be heavy there.

Miami and vicinity were struck by a 58-mile squall tonight, during which the barometer dropped to 29.65, the lowest reading here off the Florida west coast several days ago.

Miami Beach Dark.

Miami Beach was thrown into total darkness when power lines there were blown down. Electric light service in many sections of Miami also was disrupted.

The storm at Nassau began Wednesday night and continued until Friday morning. The sea wall was broken in several places by the force of the wind-lashed sea which also wrecked virtually all small vessels anchored inside. Grantstown suffered severely with many houses unroofed and wrecked.

The dispatch continued that "vegetation is whipped to shreds. The governor's house is badly damaged as are all churches. The Baptist church on Shirley street is levelled with the cathedral least damaged."

Nassau's famous hotels were reported not to be damaged to any great extent. The dispatch ends with the statement, "we have had no communication with the outside world since Wednesday."

Part of Ship Crew Saved.

The Princess Montagu, freighter and passenger ship, is aground on Tony Rock near Nassau. Part of the crew of 23 men was rescued on a lifeline after others from the ship had made their way to shore in a boat.

Upon advices from Washington the government bureau at Key West broadcast a warning to residents of the exposed islands among the Florida keys that the storm is moving slowly westward from the position it had occupied near the eastern end of the Florida straits.

BUDGET FIGURES REVEALED

Washington—First budget estimates for 1931 showing that expenditures for the executive and independent establishments totaling $656,571,000 had been approved were made public Friday at the white house.

This represents a decrease of less than $1,000,000 as compared with 1930, excluding an appropriation for the federal farm board of $151,500,000 which brought the expenditures for the current fiscal year to $808,659,123. The total left available for other independent establishments was $657,189,000.

An excess for the current year over the amount spent in 1929 of approximately $6,000,000 was attributed to an increase in expenditures of the veterans bureau. The budget did not include the expenses of the farm board in its estimates for next year because the board has been unable to determine how much money it will need. It still has approximately $350,000,000 already authorized by congress but not yet appropriated.

The independent establishments include thirty-one commissions, boards and bureaus, not attached to any department. Estimates for these were the first approved by the budget bureau which now is preparing the 1931 budget for submission to the next regular session of congress in December.

SCHOOL CONTESTS MAY GO

Fort Collins, Colo.—A committee of ten will determine whether class day contests will be continued at the Colorado Agricultural college here, it was decided Wednesday at a meeting of the student and faculty councils. The question of continuing the contests arose over the death of Leo J. Green of Gordon, Neb., who died as the result of injuries suffered in the class tug of war this year.

At the meeting Wednesday neither council would take definite action, but agreed to entrust the matter to a committee for study and suggestion. President Charles A. Lory of the college will name five members of the committee and the student body president will select the other five.

Wide Irrigation to Give Russia Big Cotton Crops

Project, Largest of Kind in Modern Times, Will Transform Steppes

Moscow—Convinced that only by adoption of modern American irrigation methods can Russia produce sufficient cotton for its own needs, the Soviet Government has decided upon a plan which is expected to make the Russian Turkestan.

The project will entail a total expenditure of 500,000,000 rubles (about $250,000,000). Arthur Powell Davis, formerly head of the United States Reclamation Service, was designated by the Government to supervise this work, which will extend over a period of five years. It is expected to make fertile an arid section as large as the State of Massachusetts.

This is one of the largest single irrigation enterprises afoot today and when finished is expected to make the Soviet Union independent of the United States and Egypt for raw cotton supplies. Sixty per cent of the irrigated land will be devoted to cotton culture and the balance to production of wheat, other cereals, fruit and vegetables.

To irrigate the vast sandy plains and parched plateaus of the unending Golodnaya Steppes, which means "hungry desert," Davis and his assistants will flood millions of acres of land with water from the 1,500-mile long Amudaria River, the largest stream in Asia. Russia, which the natives call "The Strewer of Life" because it bears the same relation to them that the Nile does to Egypt. The Sirdaria River, which the inhabitants call "The River of Gold" also will be utilized.

Mr. Davis, who is now in Moscow consulting the government engineers, told newspaper men:

"The project covers almost every square mile of arid area in Turkestan down to the Arghanistan boundary and northward to the forty-second parallel, which is at the mouth of the Amudaria River, and includes the great plains over which Tamerlane, Alexander the Great and other warriors marched their conquering hordes."

"The Russian Imperial Government of other days set out to conquer Turkestan by military exploits but the Soviet regime is wisely using more peaceful and productive methods of conquest by making the rivers give refreshment to thousands of square miles for new human habitation, hundreds of thousands of cattle and camels, and millions of acres of agricultural products."

"By this vast system of irrigation the Soviet Government by its decision will probably make the greatest single contribution to human civilization in this remote and dreaded part of middle Asia since Russia was founded 1000 years ago."

"In some parts of the Great Kizil Kum Desert cotton was cultivated 10,000 B. C., but these plantations have long since been obliterated by the shifting sands. With expert help the Soviet Government intends to make the rivers in Turkestan do what the rivers of California and other states have done for American waste lands."

NEW EARTHQUAKE FEARED

Hilo, Island of Hawaii—From Kohala thru Kona, the people of the western side of this island waited Thursday in fear last another earthquake follow upon the severe shock of late Wednesday, which caused damage to buildings, and highways estimated at $100,000.

Reports from Kealahou, heart of the sleepy-climated Kona district which is the home of the Hawaiian coffee growing industry, said residents along the coast were near panic, particularly since Dr. Thomas Jaggar, Jr., director of the Kilauwa volcano laboratory and internationally known volcanologist, asserted Thursday that the long quiet Hualalai volcano might prove the center for further severe earth vibrations.

NOSE CUT OFF; TRY GRAFTING IT BACK ON

Sparta, Wis., Sept. 25.—An attempt is being made here to graft the severed nose of Doris Graw, 8. A kitchen cupboard in the home of the child's grandparents tipped over Monday and glass for the door cut off the nose. The nose, intact, was found later in the broken glass under the cupboard.

Youth Admits to Holdup at Crab Orchard

Caught After Theater Robbery at Fremont; Sold Guns There and at Lincoln

Lincoln, Sept. 26.—Robert Pritchard, who with George Zakem was captured at Blair Wednesday morning after robbing the Empress theater at Fremont the previous night, has now confessed to further depredations, State Sheriff W. C. Condit said Thursday morning.

Condit found that guns in the possession of the two Fremont bandits were stolen at Crab Orchard, and now Pritchard has confessed to the robbery of the Crab Orchard store, the state sheriff stated. Several of the guns had been sold in Fremont and Lincoln and only part of them have been recovered.

While Pritchard has confessed to the Crab Orchard robbery, Condit says, Zakem maintains that he doesn't know anything about it and didn't even know the guns were in the car. It was also discovered, Condit added, that the owner of the hardware store was a distant relative of Zakem.

The pair pleaded guilty to the Fremont theater robbery Wednesday evening and were to be sentenced this morning at Fremont.

RESERVE PASSING OF SENTENCES

Fremont, Sept. 26.—Sentencing of Robert Pritchard and George Zakem, Lincoln youths, on charges of robbing the Empress theater here of $367 Tuesday night, has been postponed until Friday. District Judge Fred L. Speak wants additional time to decide which sentence the statutes will allow him to pass on Zakem, who is only 15 years old.—Omaha Bee-News.
