Has An Ideal Farm. We are informed by a friend of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Leonard, who recently visited the Leonard home of the plan which these people followed in the conduct of their farm. They have not taken anything for a certainty until they have applied a strict bookkeeping account against every venture and animal which they have in their herd, their hogs and their sheep; also applying this to the poultry. One cow, a holstein, which on the first day of April weighed 1100 pounds in that month which contained thirty days produced 1,485 pounds of milk. During the interim from March 1st 1929 to October 1st 1929, this cow paid her pasture and feed which was charged against her, and netted her owners $149.87. Now this cow is going to remain the property of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard. Another very fine locking cow was charged with her pasture, her feed, and this she paid, but in the entire seven months she only yielded a profit of $1.62 for all the work which her owners bestowed on her. She will go to the butchers block.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard have a flock of some fifteen sheep, which are paying institutions. Their hogs also are abundantly and with some fruit and forty-three acres of corn which they were able to give the very best attention is looking fine and our friend tells us he is sure that this will yield about sixty bushels the acre. Mr. Leonard thinks that book-keeping is well worth while on the farm. He is engaged in what would be known as diversified farming. To those who believe that farming will not pay go see how they do it.

Pullets and Cockerels. I have from 200 to 300 leghorn pullets at one dollar each, also a large number of barred rock cockerels at $1.20 and pullets from 50 cents up according to size.

BIBLE LESSON STUDY

By M. S. BRIGGS
Lesson Text: Ex 34-9, John 5-17; 9-4, Acts 20, 33-352 Thees 3, 6-12.
Leading Thought: "Do Your Part Freely."

October 20th, 1929.
Six Days Shalt Thou Labor.

God in his wisdom knew best, and when he made the Garden of Eden he put man in it to dress it and keep it, for he knew that man must work to save himself after having been given an opportunity. So God put man to work at some useful work, and the great thing in the fall was that man must earn his bread by the sweat of his brow. Man has a way of putting off things for some more auspicious time, and thus idles his life and the Gift of God, man's opportunities away.

Christ Came to Work.
For did he not say "My Father works and until now I have not been at work." Christ came on this earth to do the work of the Father who sent him, and when he chose his disciples they were workers, Peter, James and John as well as Andrew were fishermen, and when one thinks that is not a laborious occupation let us think of Christ expected the disciples to work, and he came to work, and was willing to do it.

Man Is Expected to Do His Part.
While Christ was a boy he learned to build house for people to live in here and with the greater thought in view of building a home in heaven he yielded a profit of $1.62 for all the work which her owners bestowed on her. She will go to the butchers block.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard have a flock of some fifteen sheep, which are paying institutions. Their hogs also are abundantly and with some fruit and forty-three acres of corn which they were able to give the very best attention is looking fine and our friend tells us he is sure that this will yield about sixty bushels the acre. Mr. Leonard thinks that book-keeping is well worth while on the farm. He is engaged in what would be known as diversified farming. To those who believe that farming will not pay go see how they do it.

Have a High Aim Each Day.
The fourth commandment says that labor thou shalt keep the Sabbath day holy, for as the Sabbath day is a day of rest, man should have worked before he is entitled to rest. This thought goes through the mind of the worker who should work the night cometh when the day before; for the night cometh when no man can work. Do not get the idea that we are not to work during our night, for we are, and the day in which we are, and the time the night cometh when the opportunity is gone. Our work has to be done by us, no other one can do it, they have to look after the work allotted to them, and so do not let any day close in which you have not done that which is your part to do.

Cast Your Net On the Right Side.
The disciples had been fishing all night, and they had not had any luck, they had returned to the shore of the sea of Galilee, and were cleaning their nets, when the master came and on the right side of the ship, Peter said we have toiled all the night and nothing have we taken, still at thy command we will let down the net. This they did and encircled so many fish that the net was breaking and another ship had to be called to help them land so large a catch. The disciples were discouraged, and were ready to give up. Still at the command of the Master they let down their net with the above results. Many is the time when for some reason and for some reason we seem to give up and are ready to give over the struggle and quit.

But do you think that the Lord wants us to be a quitter, not much. Success is just around the corner, and many has been the time when we could ease down if we had only pushed on. Did not Columbus have the right idea, when there was liable to be a mutiny in his band of navigators, and he asked them to try it another day, for he had in his mind and on his feet and the next night, 43 years ago last Saturday a week, he discovered America. The great blessing which this intrepid navigator brought to the world.

Our Part in the Plan.
The Father has given the broad, fertile fields the balmy winds, the copious rains and the glorious sun, furnishing all, and has required man only to plant the seed, cultivate the crops and harvest the grain.

Now in the sowing the seed of the Kingdom, he expects man to sow the seed of Christ as an act of faith and to cultivate the fields the world, that is teach the gospel, by word of mouth by our own lives by the things we do, but keep working. Paul said I have coveted no man's silver, gold or apparel, but with my own hands have I supplied our necessities, and thus he is teaching all men to do so. Who would not do their part in the regeneration of the world and we have the opportunity, let us do our part and to the very best.

Stage Marvel Proves Worthy of High Praise

Comedy-Drama "Innocents of Paris," at the Parmele Theatre Sunday.

When Maurice Chevalier made his debut at the Ziegfeld Follies in New York in February the critics of the metropolis were as one in sounding his praises. They said that he was Will Rogers, Charlie Chaplin and Al Jolson all under one straw hat, and they predicted that the film he had just finished making in Hollywood, his first for the moving picture public, would be a great success.

That film, "Innocents of Paris," will be presented at the Parmele theatre Sunday. It is difficult to describe the intangible quality of mimic art which this idol of the French stage wields over his audiences. Young and old take him to their hearts as soon as they glimpse his all-persuasive smile. His is a genius with something of the divine spark that made La Bernhardt immortal.

"Innocents of Paris" deals with the rise of a pushcart-peddler and singer, who gets his chance, and makes good on the stage. The scenes are laid in the French capital. The supporting cast is excellent in spite of the fact that Chevalier is the kind of star who doesn't need support.

To sum up—no man, woman or child should fail to see this king of minstrelsy and pantomime, Maurice Chevalier.

Farm Incomes in Northwest Surge Upward

Diversification and New Methods Bringing Prosperity to Grain Area

Minneapolis—Doubling one's income within a decade is no mean achievement, but the farmer of the Northwest probably will have accomplished just that by 1932 at least.

Figures given out recently by the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis indicate that the agriculturist in the northwestern district is already well along the road toward that goal.

They show that where the average net income of the northwest farmer was $1287 in 1922, it has increased to $21,035 by 1928. They show, too, that the gross receipts per average farm from live stock and live-stock products have increased from $1527 in 1922 to $2314 in 1928. The influences which have made these gains possible are still at work.

Factors which have helped to cause this new agricultural wealth are, broadly speaking, crop diversification, dairying, and proper methods. Getting down to cases, what is known as the cow-sown-ben triumvirate is responsible for a very good share of the wealth.

What is no longer king in the Northwest, about three-fourths of the northwest farmer's gross income is derived from live stock and live-stock products. The dairy cow has not only increased tremendously in numbers, but is becoming an efficient producer. The economic waste of keeping "broader cows"—animals which cannot even return the cost of their feed—has been driven home to the farmer from every side. So, too, has the value of the pure-bred sire.

The dairy cow has not been the only factor in the rehabilitation of northwest agriculture. The farmer has many sources of income, and all of them surer and more certain than any that existed in the hazardous days of "one-cropism."

Hogs and poultry are providing him with a steady and a generous source of income. Mutton and beef, wool and honey are bringing new wealth to him. Alfalfa and sweet clover are helping to restore fertility to the soil, as well as adding dollars to the farmer's income, and sugar beets represent another source of wealth-not to be ignored.

Doubling of the northwest farm income and of the northwest farmer's income within the decade between 1922 and 1932 seems almost inevitable as a result of such forces as those which have been put into play in recent years, authorities agree. The newspapers of the Northwest are largely "sold" on intelligent diversification and on dairying.

The agricultural colleges of the Northwest are busy bringing the best natural scientific methods to the farm. The county agent is proving a powerful factor in this new era of agricultural enlightenment, and the 4-H clubs are helping to train the alert and progressive farmers and farmers' wives of the future.

Banker, retailer, wholesaler, manufacturer and farmer are all rather thoroughly convinced that the economic salvation of the Northwest rests on just such a sound and constructive program as that which is already under way, and that each has a definite stake in the success of that program.

FARES ARE TO BE PROBED

Hint McDonald to Reveal New British Position

Announcement at Ottawa May Deal With Naval Bases in Canada; May Dismantle Bases.

New York, Oct. 15.—Before sailing for home next week, Ramsay MacDonald, Great Britain's prime minister, is expected to make an announcement of another important step in the negotiations with President Hoover looking to a better Anglo-American understanding.

Naturally the nature of the pronouncement is carefully guarded, but since it is to be made in Canada after conference there with Prime Minister Mackenzie King and other dominion officials, speculation is that it will deal with a matter in negotiations which is of interest to Canada.

Unofficial information here tonight was that Mr. MacDonald would make the statement at Ottawa next Thursday, but whether it would take the form of a written document or be embodied in the address he is to make that night at a dinner to be given by the government in the parliament building is left to conjecture.

The British statesman will arrive at Ottawa early Thursday and will spend the afternoon alone with Mr. King on a visit to the prime minister's country property at Kingsmead. The official dinner will be at 8 p. m. in the evening after the two officials return to Ottawa.

In his final statement before leaving Washington, Prime Minister MacDonald said some of the matters which he and President Hoover had discussed would be studied by sections of the British foreign office. And that others would be taken up with the dominions as soon as might be.

It is no secret now that during the conversation at Washington the matter of British fortified naval bases in Canada and the West Indies came in for discussion.

There was a suggestion by the president that these be dismantled and naturally Canada would be consulted before the British government took any step with regard to the base at Halifax.

Although he has been kept fairly busy with official and unofficial engagements since his arrival in New York last Thursday, Mr. MacDonald has given time to official government affairs and it may well be that he already has set in motion the distant machinery which is to deal with subjects discussed with Mr. Hoover.

CAUGHT IN GEAR OF PLANE

Curtis Field—A tractor driver engaged in planting grass seed was fatally injured Monday by an airplane which knocked him from his seat and crashed on top of him. The pilot, a seventeen year old student flyer, escaped injury. The tractor driver, Steve Kosoko of Inwood, N. Y., was caught in the landing gear of the plane as it swooped down. He was carried fifty feet and crushed as the plane struck the ground, smashing its right wing and landing gear. Kosoko was huried to a hospital, where he soon died.

The pilot, L. H. Green of Yonkers, told police he did not see the tractor before the crash. He was given a subpoena to appear before the district attorney for an investigation.

Always something of interest in the Journal Want Ad department.

Washington—Extra fares paid by train passengers for luxuries are to be investigated by the interstate commerce commission.

Contending that the practice of railroads in charging fares in addition to those for train and Pullman tickets on their crack trains is in violation of the interstate commerce act, the commission announced Tuesday it would conduct an inquiry on its own initiative. Many of the major trunk lines have adopted the practice of assessing these extra fares, holding that the better equipped trains and faster time schedules justify the higher rate.

The law provides that the three fare shall not be greater than the aggregate of intermediate fares or rates. Last summer commission representatives notified the railway charging extra rates that they were believed to be doing so in violation of the commerce act. The carriers may file applications asking for what is technically termed "fourth section relief." This, if granted, would permit the carriers to deviate from their requirements in certain instances.

CHRISTIAN GENERAL HELD

Nanking—General Chao Tai-wei, Nanking representative of Governor Yen Hsi-shan of Szechuan, in a statement Tuesday said the governor had made a prisoner of Feng Yu-hsiang; in order to preserve peace.

Altho Feng, sometimes known as the Christian general, was the guest of Governor Yen, the latter sent part of his body guard Monday night to surround the residence of Feng and confined him to his quarters. It was reported here Tuesday that President Chiang Kai-shek, against whom the present revolt has been said to be personally directed, expected to go to Hankow soon to take direct control of the operations against Kuomintang troops.

The other major difficulty of the nationalist government at the present time, the dispute with Russia over the Chinese eastern railway in Manchuria, had a more encouraging tone. An official telegram from Mukden said negotiations with soviet representatives had been resumed and it was hoped that the dispute would be satisfactorily settled.

LINCOLN SCHOOL TAX HIKE URGED

Lincoln, Oct. 15.—Increased taxes offer the only solution to the financial problem of the Lincoln school system declared board of education members at their meeting Tuesday. A campaign for a bond issue next August was suggested.

"The schools will be in bad shape if we can't get money in the next two years," said Dr. B. F. Bailey, president of the board. "The board will have to ask $1,000,000 to $2,000,000 bond issue."

Mrs. Fred C. Morgan was a visitor in Omaha today where she was called to spend a few hours attending to some matters of business and visiting with friends.
