Attends Church at Omaha.
 This pilgrim took to the road last Sunday and landed in Omaha, arriving in good season, for morning worship, enroute St. Barnabas Episcopal church, to spend an hour with God and his people, in meditation, contemplation and spiritual uplift.

The sermon was based on the 12th Chap. of 1st Cor., and dealt with the "Church." Under three divisions: (1) The church militant; (2) the church expectant, and (3) the church triumphant. In a masterful manner the pastor drew a picture of the church's development. We could easily subscribe to every word that was said, until the speaker referred to the "Communion of Saints."

There we could not go with him, when he developed the idea of us praying for those in purgatory, which condition he said, was man's second chance, and after deliberate reflection, purgatory, they would in turn would pray for us. We could not help but think why Episcopal and Catholic should not worship together, as they are one in ceremonial and doctrine. It was a profitable day for this pilgrim.

The following observation we would recommend to other churches: (a) the absolute quiet, no hand-shaking on entering, no talking, whispering or laughing; (b) the dire reverence observed in the house of God; (c) the worshipful attitude of the people; in bowing the knee on entering the pew, facing the altar, kneeling and offering a silent prayer, before taking their seat. Surely a fine example for others to follow and imitate.

L. NEITZEL.

The Misses Mildred, Ruth and Lily Schroeder of Clay Center, Neb., teachers in the rural schools of Clay county, who have been attending the District Teachers convention at Lincoln, were visitors in the Rev. H. R. Knosp and Aug. Oelberking homes Friday evening and Saturday morning. These ladies are nieces of Rev. H. Knosp.

The church was filled to its full capacity and the offering for missions was $37.07.

STORM DAMAGE IS HEAVY

Winnipeg—Under a blanket of nearly five inches of snow, Winnipeg Friday checked up the damage wrecked in Thursday night's storm. Direct telegraphic communication with the west was still impossible at noon.

During the night Winnipeg was virtually isolated from the outside world. Only a strand of wire running south to St. Paul afforded the Manitoba Capitol an opportunity to glean the news of the world or to tell of the city's predicament. Wire communication with the east was re-established Friday. Four persons were in hospitals as a result of motor car accidents on slippery streets. Street car service was being brought back to normal.

Telephone and telegraph companies reported hundreds of poles down on lines extending west. The damage was centered in an area close to Winnipeg.

Weather officials estimated the snowfall had extended from Brandon, 130 miles west of Molson, 55 miles east.

Mrs. W. E. Dull received recently a letter from her sister, Mrs. Frank Banker, telling of the condition of another sister, Mrs. U. A. Hanna of Grove City, Pa., who some time since suffered a stroke of paralysis, and still remains in a very helpless condition, and who is being cared for by Mrs. Banker.

Twenty-Nine Co-operatives to Form National Association to Deal With Packers

Chicago—The farmers' power to control his product and to bargain collectively took a long step forward when the formation of a national livestock marketing agency was agreed upon here under the guidance of the Federal Farm Board. It will be one of the major co-operating institutions of the state of Nebraska.

Organized farmers will be enabled to deal as a unit with packers. Huge aggregations of capital, represented in the packing plants will be matched on the markets with the vast resources of united farmers. Buying and selling will no longer according to the plans, be a transaction for the most part between great packer and small farmer, but between giants on both sides.

To achieve this result farmers had to lay aside differences, abandon prejudices and give up some of their co-operative machinery already functioning for the sake of the broader program. Farm Board a unity in co-operative marketing has been accomplished which hitherto has been entirely out of reach.

No untried field of co-operative effort is this, but one in which farmers have operated successfully for a number of years. What was principally needed, it appeared, was not so much a new method as greater cooperation, a single national organization instead of separate ones working independently and sometimes in competition.

Out of this individualism was brought a new superstructure, which is called the National Livestock Marketing Association. Its capital stock is $1,000,000. General plans, financing and operation were determined. An organization committee of nine chapters, and at once set to work upon articles of incorporation and by-laws. These will be submitted for final approval.

Sixty-six representatives of 20 co-operatives combined to effect this decision. These official delegates came from livestock sections throughout the United States. Action was unanimous and the American Farm Bureau Federation and the Master of the National Grange participated. Alexander Legge, chairman, James C. Stone, vice-chairman, and C. B. Denman, livestock representative, represented the Federal Farm Board.

The local sales agencies, that is, the co-operative commission houses it organized on principal markets, will, however, continue.

The program adopted was brought to the co-operative delegates by the Federal Farm Board. Changes made in the program, he pointed out, were minor. In working out the plans the board had the assistance of the former president of the National Livestock Producers' Association, Mr. Denman, now one of its own members.

How much the plans for the new co-operative had been patterned on lines that had already proved effective was commented on by delegates. Mr. Legge, chairman of the Federal Farm Board, remarked after the meeting that the livestock marketing group had gone through its work more rapidly than any of the previous farm groups. He attributed this to the larger experience in this field. "We have made as rapid progress as we had any right to expect," he observed.

NOT GOING TO RUN—MCKELVIE
 Washington, Oct. 30.—Samuel R. McKelvie, whom Senator Norris of Nebraska had named as a probable candidate to oppose him in the Republican primaries of that state, said Wednesday he was "out of politics" and was "indulging in no political activity whatsoever."

"Such a thing has not been discussed with me by President Hoover or anyone else," he added. "I don't know anything about the administration bringing out a candidate. I have seen President Hoover but once since I came here and that was when I paid my respects after my appointment."

McKelvie said the only thing he had heard about there being an administration candidate for senator in Nebraska at the next election came from Senator Norris and a few of his followers.

SPANISH CARDINAL TAKES OATH OF POST

WARNS CUSTOMS OFFICERS

Detroit—The Detroit Free Press Wednesday will say customs officials have been instructed in writing to search no persons returning from Canada to Detroit "unless there are very obvious grounds to suspect them of smuggling." Other new instructions, according to the paper, include: "Agents must not use their guns unless their lives are threatened, even to shoot in the air or water as warning."

"Small boats visiting Canada need not report to a customs office on returning to the United States unless carrying merchandise." "Boat operators and owners no longer will be required to show certificates of titles."

Doctors Testify St. Clair Hoped to 'Save' Wife

Defense Rests After Testimony Killer Long Mentally Defective; Defendant Is Grilled

North Platte, Neb., Oct. 30.—The defense in the trial of George St. Clair, 22-year-old ice house employe, charged with murder of his young wife, rested its case late today following testimony of two doctors that the defendant was mentally defective.

Two hours of cross-examination by R. H. Beatty and V. H. Halligan, special prosecutors, failed to shake the testimony of doctors. During the cross-examination, Halligan and Defense Attorney James T. Keefe engaged in a heated argument and District Judge J. J. Nisley threatened to fine them for contempt.

"Always Thinking He Was Bad." Dr. O. R. Platt of North Platte said he believes St. Clair has been mentally defective since youth.

"Before he was married," the doctor said, "when he was bad," the doctor said, "when he was bad he probably led a better life than the average boy. He attended church to gain forgiveness for his fancied sins, and was always trying to find a place of salvation. He imagined the world was bad, so he shunned people."

"I know it was wrong to kill my wife," he said, "and that I would probably burn in hell. However, I knew that God was forgiving and if I repented I would be saved."

Dr. C. F. Helder of North Platte testified that St. Clair shows signs of paranoia or dementia praecox and "had delusions of being persecuted."

Defendant Is Grilled.
 A bitter cross-examination by Prosecutor R. H. Beatty constituted the state's attempt this morning to break down St. Clair's story that he was highly religious and that he killed his young wife because he believed he would be sending her to heaven.

The cross-examination was directed mostly at the question of whether St. Clair knew right from wrong. "I knew it was wrong to kill my wife," he said, "and that I would probably burn in hell. However, I knew that God was forgiving and if I repented I would be saved."

SEE REVENGE PLOT IN FIRE
 Fremont—A revenge plot is believed by Sheriff Johnson of Dodge county to have been the motive of persons who early Wednesday set fire to the farm home and hog houses of William Ferguson, prominent livestock breeder near Webster, causing a $12,000 loss of which only $4,000 was covered by insurance.

Ferguson was unable to give an alarm because telephone wires had been cut and he was compelled to stand by and watch his buildings burn. Only a few articles of clothing were saved. A ladder which had been used in the cutting of the telephone wires was found near the house. Alone in the house, Ferguson escaped after flames reached his porch and awakened him.

Sheriff Johnson said the speed with which the fire spread indicated gasoline had been used.

Mrs. Ferguson was in Fremont visiting friends. A son, Glen, and his wife live in another house near the father's farm. Their home was not molested.

THREE GIRLS ARE BURNED
 Chicago—Three small girls were burned to death Tuesday night and their mother and brother were severely burned when fire destroyed their home at Hodgkins, a western suburb. The dead are Virginia, Gertrude and Mary Matevich.

The fire resulted from explosion of gasoline, poured into the kitchen stove, presumably in the belief it was kerosene. Mrs. Matevich and a six year old son were able to climb out a window.

NEBRASKA PAYS 20 BILLIONS IN LAST 75 YEARS

Products Worth 300 Times Cost of Entire Louisiana Purchase; Output Growing.

Nebraska's Diamond jubilee, celebration of which will begin this week marks the 75th year since Nebraska territory was carved out of the great Louisiana purchase.

When created, Nebraska territory included most of Colorado, all of North and South Dakota excepting a narrow strip along the eastern edge, all of Wyoming and Montana and some of Idaho and Utah.

All this vast territory was virtually uninhabited. Agriculture was almost unknown. Fur traders, trappers and gold hunters made up the white population.

Nebraska Pays 20 Billions in Last 75 Years

Products Worth 300 Times Cost of Entire Louisiana Purchase; Output Growing.

Nebraska's Diamond jubilee, celebration of which will begin this week marks the 75th year since Nebraska territory was carved out of the great Louisiana purchase.

When created, Nebraska territory included most of Colorado, all of North and South Dakota excepting a narrow strip along the eastern edge, all of Wyoming and Montana and some of Idaho and Utah.

All this vast territory was virtually uninhabited. Agriculture was almost unknown. Fur traders, trappers and gold hunters made up the white population.

State Now Pre-Eminent. That was 75 years ago. Today the wilderness that was Nebraska territory in 1854 is one of the greatest agricultural and livestock producing regions in the world.

The richest and most productive portion of that immense territory is now included within the boundaries of the state of Nebraska.

Growing steadily and surely, although depending solely upon the products of the earth, Nebraska has reached a position of pre-eminence among the states of the union.

Not only in material ways, but along educational, religious, political and cultural lines, Nebraska has out-distanced many older states.

$470,000,000 This Year.
 Carved out of a raw prairie, where savage and wild animals roamed three-quarters of a century ago, Nebraska now stands as one of the great states of the union.

Considered solely in a material way, the development of this state has been amazing and unsurpassed in the history of the world.

This year the total value of farm products and livestock of the state will total approximately $470,000,000. It is safe to say that figure will be surpassed by few states.

3 1/2 Billion in 9 Years.
 During the last nine years the total value of Nebraska farm products and livestock has been in excess of three and one-half billion dollars, a staggering sum.

But if that is staggering, what about the figures for the last 20 years. During the score of years from 1909 to 1929 inclusive the value of the farm products exclusive of livestock, passed the seven billion dollar mark.

Figures on individual crops show how much Nebraska has done toward feeding a hungry world.

7 Billions in Crops.
 During the past 20 years Nebraska farmers have produced in leading crop values:

Corn ----- $2,500,000,000
 Wheat ----- 1,150,000,000
 Hay ----- 1,100,000,000
 Alfalfa ----- 600,000,000
 Oats ----- 500,000,000
 Dairy products ----- 450,000,000
 Eggs ----- 300,000,000
 Poultry ----- 250,000,000
 Potatoes ----- 150,000,000
 Sugar beets ----- 100,000,000
 Total ----- $7,100,000,000

The foregoing figures do not include the value of miscellaneous and minor crops nor the value of the livestock produced within the same period.

Stock Brings $5,000,000,000
 With the worth of livestock sold during the past 20 years added, the value of corn, hay, alfalfa and oats would have to be reduced, because much of the corn, hay, alfalfa and oats is fed to the livestock.

Deducting the value of grain and hay fed to livestock from the foregoing table and adding the value of cattle, hogs and sheep produced in the past 20 years gives the almost unbelievable sum of $9,000,000,000 as the worth of Nebraska farm production in 20 years.

The value of the livestock produced in the state during the last score of years is approximately $5,000,000,000.

Repay Cost 300 Times.
 The price paid for the Louisiana Purchase, which included a great portion of the entire country west of the Mississippi, was approximately $17,000,000. With interest and all costs, the amount did not exceed $30,000,000.

Nebraska farms in 20 years have turned out products worth 300 times the entire cost of the great Louisiana Purchase.

Statistics for the earlier years of Nebraska territory agricultural development are not very reliable. Up to 50 years ago the crop and livestock values were comparatively small.

Total Output 20 Billion.
 It has been estimated, however, that, taking into consideration the bonanza years of the western Nebraska cattle industry, Nebraska has produced in the past 75 years products valued at almost $20,000,000,000.

When it is considered that the state does not produce cotton, tobacco or lumber, the productiveness of Nebraska soil may be more clearly realized.

B. & O. SUBSIDIARY WILL ISSUE BONDS
 Washington, Nov. 1.—Fifteen subsidiaries of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad were authorized Friday by the interstate commerce commission to issue bonds totaling $9,469,000 for impartial repayment to the parent road of advances made.

TWO LOSE LIVES IN UPSET

Burwell, Neb.—The bodies of Anton Tuma, thirty, and Anton Mach, fifty, farmers, were found pinned under their overturned car near here late Thursday. The men had left Wednesday night on a jackrabbit hunt.

Tuma had tried to cut his way out from under the wreckage with a pocket knife which was found in his hand. The men had been dead for more than twelve hours, physicians said. A shotgun which had been thrown from the car was found buried half its length in the mud.

The sheriff and county attorney made an investigation and announced that no inquest would be held.

Penalty Fixed for Taking Bribe from E. L. Doheny

Former Secretary of Interior Given But One-Third of the Maximum — Is 68 Years Old.

Washington, Nov. 1.—Albert B. Fall, former cabinet officer convicted of receiving a 100 thousand dollar bribe, today was sentenced to one year in jail and fined 100 thousand dollars after a motion for a new trial had been denied by Justice Hitz in the District of Columbia supreme court.

The sentence is exactly one-third the maximum with respect both to prison term and amount of fine.

Fall, found guilty last week of receiving a bribe from Edward L. Doheny, oil operator, was granted bond pending an appeal.

Mr. Fall, who is 68, has for years been in poor health.

The court let defense counsel understand that if the appeal were dropped he would suspend jail sentence as long as Fall's physical condition was such as it is now.

Justice Hitz said had Fall been in good physical condition he would have imposed full sentence but that in view of his health he would have suspended sentence if it were to take effect at once.

Fall showed no signs of emotion. Mrs. Fall sat beside him and his two daughters were among the spectators. Mrs. Fall leaned forward over her husband's right shoulder and talked with him and patted him on the left shoulder.

Fall said he had no statement to make. He waited for 15 minutes for his new bond of five thousand dollars to be prepared for his signature. It was signed by the National Surety company.

While waiting for his daughters, Mrs. C. C. Chase and Mrs. Joutett Elliott, stepped to his side and Mrs. Chase, sitting on the arm of his chair threw her arms around his shoulders.

Hogan in his plea for a new trial merely outlined the ground on which he based his motion and
