

Nehawka

Robert, Charles and Wm. Troop were over to Omaha on last Monday looking to purchase some feeders for their feed yards.

Charles Hansen is almost in a class by himself as he completed the picking of his corn and now has it all in the crib, and is not worrying.

A card from Mrs. Albert Wolfe who is visiting in California tells of the weather being fine there and that the entire party are enjoying their trip.

Leo Switzer was a visitor in Nebraska City for the day on last Tuesday and found the Jubilee which is on there for a week attracting large crowds.

Mrs. W. O. Troop, son George, and daughter, Edith, are spending last week end with relatives in Plattsmouth, returning home Saturday evening.

Walter Whitehead who has been picking corn here for some time past was looking after some business matters in Nebraska City on last Tuesday evening.

Parr Young and wife were over to Lincoln on last Sunday to see Cliff Jewel who had the misfortune to shoot himself accidentally while working on his gun last Tuesday.

Paul Zamo, who has been picking corn at the home of C. W. Fleischman for the past two weeks, was a visitor with some of his friends in Plattsmouth for last Tuesday evening and Wednesday.

Mrs. A. B. Taylor of Plattsmouth who is staying for the winter at the home of her sister, Mrs. Z. W. Shrader, is reported as feeling much improved and is so she is up and around and gaining with each day.

Robert, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Wunderlich, has been very ill with diphtheria and every care and the best medical treatment is being given that the disease may be over come. Robert is reported as being out of danger.

Ed Woods who is having a difficult time in getting the home of A. J. Ross and wife painted, on account of the very brackish water which has been the rule not the exception during the past few weeks, Ed is also suffering from a very sore throat.

No one can blame Delbert Switzer from feeling rather happy and smiling at any given time, for the storm brought to Lincoln a very fine grandson, and son of their daughter, Mrs. Floyd Mayer, which arrived a few days since. The mother and son are getting along very nicely.

The babe of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Drennon who was so seriously ill with diphtheria and who was reported as having died is getting along very nicely at this time. The epidemic of this disease is getting somewhat curbed which is very pleasing to the community. Robert Wunderlich is reported as getting along nicely at this time.

Undergoes Operation in Omaha. Mrs. Lewis Ross, who has been troubled of late by repeated attacks of appendicitis, was so serious that she was taken to Omaha on last Monday where on Tuesday she underwent an operation for relief from the malady. She was accompanied by her husband, Louis Ross, and her brother, Albert Anderson, and following the operation at the Clarkson hospital, is resting as well as could be looked for.

Dies at Nebraska City. Francis, the little three year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Waldo, who was taken to the hospital at Nebraska City on account of the severe attack of diphtheria, passed away and the funeral was held from the hospital and interment made at the Mt. Pleasant cemetery. The school was closed on account of the prevalent diphtheria which has been causing much apprehension. The show and the churches were also closed in order that the disease might be checked.

Ladies Will Organize to Boost Band. Mothers who have children in the newly organized Nehawka juvenile band and other ladies of the community who wish to see the band succeed will hold a meeting at the Auditorium Monday afternoon at 8 o'clock.

Boost the Band. The ladies will organize and it will endeavor to do all they can in various ways that will prove beneficial for our new musical organization. There is much assistance that an organization of this kind can be to a band and every lady in the community interested is requested to call at the Auditorium at the designated time.

A Family Reunion. On November 3rd at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Klausens was held a very pleasant gathering taking the shape of a family reunion. A most pleasant time was had and old times talked over and friendships renewed. A very enjoyable dinner was had. There were there for the occasion and to assist in the good time the following members of the family: Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Klausens, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Klausens and son, Glen of Menlo, Kansas. Messrs and Mesdames Perry Nickles, Bud Nickles, Glen Todd and Mrs. Rose Cogdill of Murray, Nebraska. Mr. Addie Jane Frans of Union; Mrs. Leona M. For several years I suffered so with constipation, took a purgative nearly every night. Then I commenced to have acid stomach and indigestion and I could hardly eat anything.

"Boost the Band" will undoubtedly be the slogan of the new organization and those who are interested are hoping there will be large number of "boosters" present when the organization will take place. The band is showing remarkable progress and much enthusiasm is being shown on the part of the members. The organization to be formed will undoubtedly start with a good membership and, if we have Mrs. Nehawka, they will receive the co-operation of the community in general.—Enterprise.

Without bloating and suffering hours afterwards, I went on a liquid diet. But this didn't seem to do any good. My whole system was run down. I took so many medicines trying to get relief my room looked like a drug store. It was the most remarkable thing I ever saw the way Sargol helped me. Now I have a keen appetite, every trace of stomach trouble is gone, I am strong, and alert, and my whole system is strengthened. I feel like a different man.

Sargol Pills regulated me perfectly and I never have to take a laxative now. I have been in practically every country on the face of the globe, but I have never seen a medicine that can compare with the Sargol treatment.—John Rundberg, 1308 Dodge street, Omaha. Weyrich & Hadraba, Agents.

NOT TO FLY THE ATLANTIC

New York—Semyon A. Shestakov, chief pilot of the Russian plane Land of the Soviets, which flew from Moscow to New York, Monday announced that the Osoaviakhim, Soviet aviation society, had refused to endorse his proposal to fly across the Atlantic ocean on the homeward trip.

He made public a telegram from J. S. Unschlicht, vice chairman of the Osoaviakhim which said: "The president of the Osoaviakhim, while greeting your readiness to fly across the Atlantic, cannot accept your proposal in view of the particularly difficult meteorological conditions prevailing at the present time of the year."

"We consider our flight completed," Shestakov said.

Farm Yields Better Than Was Expected

Nebraska Follows Iowa and Illinois in Production of Corn—All Crops Are Good.

Washington—Yields of corn, potatoes, sweet potatoes, rice, beans, peas and sugar beets all ran substantially above earlier expectations in the department of agriculture report Monday of conditions as of Nov. 1, chiefly because October weather was more favorable than usual for late crops.

Combining all crops, the department said, prospects averaged about 1-1/2 per cent better than they were a month ago but chiefly on account of dry weather during the summer, crop yields averaged 5.8 per cent and 2.6 per cent below the average yields of the previous two years.

The preliminary estimate of corn production was 2,621,000,000 bushels or 3.7 per cent over the Oct. 1 forecast. Practically all of the important crop producing states showed an increase over October but the most instances to more favorable than average weather conditions for maturing the crop. The 1929 corn crop was, however, the department said, a relatively short one, being 7.7 per cent below the 1928 crop.

The buckwheat crop, estimated at 11,896,000 bushels, is the smallest since 1916. Last year's crop was 13,148,000 bushels. The wheat crop for this year was due, the department said, to drought and frost in New York and Pennsylvania, the leading producing states.

The flaxseed crop also was classed by the department as a short one. An estimated 16,960,000 bushels will be the smallest crop since 1922.

The potato crop, estimated at 353,977,000 bushels is about 9,000,000 bushels more than the estimate of a month ago but about 23.8 per cent less than the 1928 crop.

The tobacco crop was estimated at 1,480,965,000 pounds compared with 1,378,139,000 pounds in 1928, or an increase of approximately 103,000,000 pounds.—State Journal.

Omaha Girl is Loser on the Stock Market

Margaret Shotwell, "Tobacco Heiress" Loses $1,000,000, in the Recent Stock Crash

Miss Margaret Shotwell, the Omaha "tobacco heiress" whose wealth has been a factor in her success as a concert pianist, has lost all her money, stated to be about a million dollars, in the stock market, and hereafter, according to her mother, may be known as the "poor little rich girl."

Margaret's first fling in the market ended in disaster, her mother said today. She bought stock on margin heavily only short time before the crash a week ago that wiped out speculators in droves.

Must Make Living Now. As a result of her loss, Miss Shotwell has moved from the suite of rooms she occupied in a New York hotel and is now in a single room. "But she can't stay there," her mother said, "unless she gets special rates."

Music has been Miss Shotwell's diversion in the past, but is now must become her entire support, Mrs. Shotwell said. The 22-year-old Omaha girl has made a considerable success as a concert pianist, and has played, before distinguished audiences here and abroad, but her mode of living has not been that of a struggling young pianist. She has obtained world-renowned instructors here and in Europe, she has lived at the best hotels, and she has traveled much.

Money Left by John Neal. Miss Shotwell's money came from an inheritance nine years ago. John Neal, a stockholder in the R. J. Reynolds tobacco company and a district manager for the company, left her 75 thousand dollars worth of Reynolds stock when he died about 10 years ago. He was a friend of Margaret's father, Franklin Shotwell, and he had heard Margaret play when he was entertained at the Shotwell home.

The value of this stock had increased enormously. She thought she would surprise her mother, Mrs. Shotwell said. "Everyone in New York plays the market and she was given advice on certain stocks. She had plenty of money—all she needed—but she thought she'd make millions and millions, so she could buy a country home near New York and a yacht, I guess."

Phoned for Help. "The first I knew was a week ago when she began phoning me frantically. I did all I could, but it wasn't enough. I wouldn't risk everything, because we, at least must have a house to live in. It's frightful."

She thought she was smart and could make money. I can hardly blame her, for everyone has been playing the market—even shop girls.

"I don't know just what she was playing, for I don't know anything about the market. She had some amusement stock that was supposed to make her billions, but the merger didn't go through. Then there was something like 'Tin Can.' And she thought she couldn't lose."

Fears Effect on Career. Mrs. Shotwell was worried about how Margaret might react to the catastrophe. "She was terribly low over it," she said. "Then it may affect her career. All her contracts are signed for this year, but next year, I'm afraid, without the glamour that attaches to a wealthy girl, she may not do so well."

But she still retained her sense of humor, Mrs. Shotwell said. She told her mother over the phone, "It's luck I'm dieting, because may be I won't eat very much from now on."

Margaret will be home at Thanksgiving, Mrs. Shotwell said, so discuss the bad news.

Miss Shotwell will play a concert at Town Hall in New York and then be soloist with the Omaha Symphony orchestra January 16. Later she will go to the west coast to be featured on programs with Gigli, the tenor.

WEEPING WATER

Wm. M. Wither formerly of Weeping Water, but who had left this city some twenty years ago, and has been making his home at Seattle, Wash., where he has been the general manager of the state wide plant in the mercantile line, and who has been looking after some business matters for some time in the east, stopped while on his way home to visit with his cousin, Chris J. Elgaard of Weeping Water, remaining for but one day.

Ralph Binger was a visitor in Lincoln on last Monday, Armistice day, and was meeting a few of his many friends in that place. He drove over in his car for the occasion.

County Agent D. D. Wainwright was a visitor at Eagle for the day on last Tuesday where he was looking after the membership and workings of the 4-H clubs in that portion of the county.

Miss Jessie Baldwin, assistant county agent, was a visitor in Elmwood on last Tuesday afternoon where she was giving instructions to the project leaders of that portion of the county.

Mr. V. J. Vesley of Bennett, who is interested in the store at Weeping Water, was a visitor here on Tuesday, having driven over to see about some business matters.

Charles Wied, the representative of the house that is handling household supplies, is also handling the Davis & Co. paints of Kansas City, and is selling large quantities, and is hoping to win a Chevrolet six sedan and he is keeping hustling until the contest ends which will be in the very near future. We are hoping he may succeed.

A. J. Patterson who has been manager of the grocery department of the store which was formerly V. J. Vesley's, but which was purchased by Rudolph Bergman some time since, has resigned the position, the same being passed to Mrs. Nellie Stoner, who is also manager of the drygoods department for Mr. Vesley.

C. W. Johnson was called to Omaha on last Tuesday where he was looking after some business matters for the day connected with the cafe which they conduct here.

Elmer Michaelson and wife were over to Omaha for the afternoon on last Monday, called there to look after some business at the wholesale houses of that place in connection with the purchase of goods for their store in Weeping Water.

Mr. W. A. Shephard, who makes his home with his daughters, Mrs. Walter Rixford, was surprised on last Sunday, when his daughter had prepared a most beautiful and appetizing dinner in his honor, as it was his birthday celebration, the birthday coming on Saturday, November 9th and marked the passage of his sixty-ninth birthday anniversary.

Misses Cassie Williams and Leona Browne of Omaha were guests for the day on last Sunday at the home of the parents of the former Mr. and Mrs. John S. Williams, where all enjoyed the occasion very much. The young ladies returned home Sunday evening.

John S. Williams, the baker, was called to Nebraska City on last Tuesday morning to look after some business matters as well as to secure a load of flour for the bakery.

L. P. Woolton and wife were enjoying a very pleasant visit at Nevada, Mo. last week when they drove over to the neighboring state for a visit of a few days with their daughter, Miss Betty, who is attending school there. They report a very pleasant trip, and a delightful visit with the daughter.

Rinos Anderson, one of the players on the Weeping Water football team and who played in the game at Elmwood on last Monday is reported as having received a fracture of his arm, but since having the fracture reduced is getting along nicely. It is reported also that one of the members of the Elmwood team also had received a fracture.

Mark the Passing Year. Mrs. John Fitzpatrick, who seeks to make their home a most pleasant one, does not forget the passing of the birthday anniversary of Mr. Fitzpatrick, and as the date of his thirty-second birthday was on Armistice day, the celebration had a double significance, the celebration of the world war ending and the birthday of Mr. Fitzpatrick. A most pleasant evening was had and the many friends who were present were entertained by Mrs. Fitzpatrick with a very delightful luncheon, and with their departure extended to John the wish that he might enjoy many more happy occasions.

Jibes of Moses Fall Lightly on Western Group

Independent Republicans in the Senate Declare That They Do Not Mind It.

Washington—Taking stock of the menacing rift in the senate republican ranks, administration representatives found the bloc of westerners still indifferent Monday and still very independent of the republican regulars on the tariff program.

Claudius Huston, intimate of President Hoover and the new chairman of the republican national committee, visited the senate wing of the capitol and had an opportunity to determine what damage, if any, had resulted from the last explosion of the party—the characterization of the western independents by Senator Moses of New Hampshire, as the "sons of wild jackasses."

He was told by the western independents that the Moses jibe was immaterial to them. He learned from the republican regulars, however, of some discontent among those who are up for reelection in doubtful states and in some of the midwest states against Moses as chairman of the republican senatorial campaign committee.

No Action Against Moses. Nevertheless, no action is expected pro tem of the senate. Moves in both directions were threatened. Republican regulars up for reelection are understood to be demanding that Moses do more convincing and less speckmaking during the next few months when the political campaigns are in the delicate stages.

Coincidentally, reports went around the capitol Monday that the president wanted it understood that he did not select Senator Moses as chairman of the senatorial campaign committee; that the selection was that of Senator Watson, of Indiana, the republican leader. Some of Senator Moses' friends had understood he was serving at the specific request of the president as well as of Senator Watson.

Hoover Shows Interest. The apparently complete indifference and independence of the western bolters to the Hoover farm reform and tariff programs is drawing the attention of the chief executive. While holding their silence, the party independents who have combined with the southern debaters in the tariff and farm fights are known to be gunning the possibility of such an alignment in future political campaigns. An alignment of the west and south, they calculate, could be a serious political potentiality.

SERVICES AT WILSON TOMB

Washington—Standing before Woodrow Wilson's tomb in the fifth annual Armistice day service, Bishop Freeman, of Washington cathedral, hailed the chief events of the past year as triumphs of Wilson's principles.

"In the past year, events have moved significantly fast in the direction of Woodrow Wilson's leadership," said Bishop Freeman. He named the Kellogg pact signed by fifty-eight sovereign states as a document "bringing back startlingly" the utterances of Wilson. The visit of Premier MacDonald is mentioned also as furthering the Wilson ideal to peace.

Events which have followed Wilson's death still eddy about him as central figure, the bishop said, hastening the day when "warring nations must give way to the saner method of arbitration."

For the first time, the Wilson commemoration service was broadcast nationally. The chapel in which the tomb is located, was crowded to capacity.

Music of the services consisted of hymns of peace, sung at the funeral of the war president. The prayer was by his pastor at Central Presbyterian church, Dr. James Taylor. Three wreaths were laid upon the tomb, one from the Woodrow Wilson foundation, one from the American Legion, and one from the group of personal friends and relatives who originated the service.
