

Murray

Thomas Tilson shelled and delivered corn to the Murray elevators on Tuesday of this week.

Many of the fields of corn in the vicinity of Murray is showing a yield of over sixty bushels to the acre.

The Murray Transfer company were unloading a car of sand for the Nickles Lumber yard on Tuesday of this week.

J. F. Hild purchased a car load of Herford's heifers which he will use for breeding and also for sale to such as wish them.

Mr. William (Curley) Reeves is building a porch on his home which is adding much to its appearance and also convenience as well.

George Nickles has received a new car of the celebrated Illinois coal which he is unloading and also selling from the cars at a very liberal figure.

Miss Bertha Nickles and Mrs. Wm. Sporer were over to Omaha on last Tuesday where they were visiting with friends and looking after some shopping.

George Nickles was out to the farm of Mrs. Henry C. Long where he was looking after the construction of a crib, which is being made by Henry Heebner.

Everett Spangler was a visitor in Plattsmouth for a short time on last Monday morning delivering a load of chickens and cream to the Farmers Co-operative creamery.

Stephen Goldrick who lived near Johnson was a visitor in Murray on last Monday and was visiting for a short time with his friend, Wilbur Hewitt, while on his way to Omaha.

Some one is going to get a good lamp, which will be greatly worth while on November 16th. Drop in and see Harry Nelson or Lucean Carpenter about it. They will thoroughly explain.

Homer Campbell was shelling and delivering new corn to the Murray elevators the first of this week. Many are shelling now to make crib room as the crop is averaging better than expected.

M. G. Churchill and Will Creamer has been constructing a crib on the Fred Range place where Earnest Shumaker lives and the crib room in place was not sufficient for the crop.

Vaclav Michluskey and son were over to Omaha for over the week end and hastened back as there was work waiting for them on the opening of the blacksmith shop on Monday morning.

Phillip Schaffer received a car load of very fine cattle from Omaha, which he purchased recently for the stocking of his feed yards, and which he will return to that market when they are fattened.

Don Noell was a good portion of the time in Weeping Water where he was called on account of the illness of his mother of that place, who is well along in years and in very poor health. The mother died in Weeping Water Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Baise Meisinger and wife were visiting in Springfield for over the week end where they enjoyed the day with a brother of Mr. Meisinger but Mister what a time they had getting there and back.

Gussie Brubacher and family were enjoying a visit for the week end at the home of the parents of Mrs. Brubacher at Auburn they driving over to the hustling sister town in their car for the day on Sunday.

Aubrey Hopkins has been having a tussle with the influenza, and which has been giving this excellent gentleman a hard tussle. However, Aubrey who is a good fighter is winning out for he is much better at this time.

Verlie Smith was in last Monday getting some lumber to construct throw boards to use in the picking of corn, the fields were wet and he could not well get in the field, so he profitably employed the time in the making of the throw boards.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Brendel, Jeff and Francis entertained for Sunday and had for dinner for the occasion, Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Brendel and their son, Richard, as well as Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Seyboth, where all enjoyed the day most delightfully.

Kelly Rhoden was in town on last Monday for cribbing for the farm as he has to get after the crop and get it out, for many reasons he wants the corn picked and also he wants the use of the pasture as well. He has 70 acres and it keeps one man hustling.

Will S. Smith and wife and Miss Beatrice Rawls were over to Omaha on last Sunday, where they went to see C. A. Rawls who is at this time recovering from a double operation which he has undergone at Omaha but recently and is getting along nicely at this time.

J. Hallas and the family were enjoying a visit at Omaha on last Monday where they celebrated Armistice day with the family of A. J. Hallas and Miss Mary Hallas who make their home in the big city.

They drove over to Omaha in their car, returning late in the evening. J. A. Scotten, George Park, James Gruber and Fred L. Hild have been kept pretty busy constructing a house for John Knabe near Weeping Water and while the weather has been some against them still they have been very industrious and will soon have the building out of the way for cold weather.

Frank Ozburn, who worked at the Murray garage in the summer of 1928 and who is employed in a garage at Adel, Iowa, was a visitor in Murray for a short time on last Monday morning and was greeting his many friends here. Mr. Ozburn was accompanied by his father E. E. Ozburn, and sister Miss Elsie Ozburn of Waukeo, Iowa, and Miss Helen Frazier of Perry, Iowa, they visiting here for a short time, having spent Sunday and Armistice day with Mr. Ozburn's sister, Mrs. M. S. Briggs of Plattsmouth.

Will Urge Roll Call.
Messdames Will S. Smith and G. H. Gilmore, received the supplies for the taking of the roll call for the Red Cross, and have had the advertising posted and are ready for the receiving of the dollar and the issuance of the buttons and cards for the year. You who are interested in this work and who know of the excellent work which this organization is doing need not be urged to come and enroll your names, and help the work along. These women do not get any remuneration for their work, which is all free and you should walk right up and enroll between Armistice day, Nov. 11th and Thanksgiving day, Nov. 28th. There is much need for the dollar which you can spare and it will do much good. Do not make it necessary for the ladies to have to come around and see you about the matter. It is the part of all in Rock Bluffs precinct to come in and attend to the matter the first time in town and if you are not going to be in town for some time remember and send the dollar in to either one and they will return your receipt and button.

Road Open Next Week.
The highway from Union to Murray has as yet not been completed long enough to have ripened sufficiently for heavy use, but many people when the watchmen are not looking steal through the barricades and travel the road any way. Only another week and it will be all right for travel. Why not wait and give the road a chance to get properly hardened before it is used.

The Home Circle Club.
The Home Circle club convened at the home of Mrs. Fred Meisinger on Tuesday, November 5th.

A helpful lesson on "Linen for the Lining Room" was administered by the two very competent project leaders. Some beautiful pieces were displayed by one of the leaders. A very large number of beneficial lesson leaves was given out.

As a result of the business meeting the club voted to send a gift to Mrs. Carl Warlick. The president appointed a flower committee, consisting of Mrs. Clifton Meisinger and Mrs. John Davis. The club resolved to have one hundred per cent record for this year's work.

The next meeting will assemble at the home of Mrs. Miller Christenson, November 21st. All members are urged to be present. Another interesting lesson is anticipated. Guests are always welcome at the Home Circle club.

At the close of the afternoon the hostess served a two-course lunch, that was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

NO BANNERS WAVING HERE
Bridgeport, Nov. 12. — Banner county, of which Harrisburg is the county seat, and with which Morrill county is seeking intercourse by means of better highways and encouragement for building a railroad up Pumpkin creek valley, is unique in many ways.

It has but one incorporated town, Harrisburg; but one newspaper, no barber shop, no railroad, no manufacturing plant, one high school, but has one of the largest Knights of Pythias lodges in the state, and some of the largest wheat fields. It has never furnished a state officer nor a congressional candidate.

Bible School Lesson Study!

Sunday, November 17th C-8 By M. S. BRIGGS

Our Place in the World.

Ruth said to her mother-in-law, Naomi, "Where thou goest I will go. Thy people shall be my people, thy God shall be my God, and where thou diest, I shall die, and there be buried." This was a strong proposition, but she meant it and made good on it as well. The story goes Elimelech, and Naomi, husband and wife, with their two sons, Mahlon and Chilion, when crops were poor and times were hard in Canaan, went to Moab, where they resided for a number of years, and where the sons married, Mahlon to Ruth, and Chilion to Orpha. Time went on, Elimelech sickened and died, likewise also Mahlon and Chilion, leaving Naomi, Ruth and Orpha bereft of their husbands. Plenteous crops and good times returned in Canaan, and a homesickness came over Naomi, she longed to return to her native land. She so announced and both daughters-in-law wept sore, and Ruth and Orpha said they would return with Naomi. She pleaded with them not to leave their native land and we have what Ruth said, as above. Orpha was persuaded, but not Ruth, she had decided to go with her mother-in-law and die. When they arrived at Bethlehem she adapted herself to the surroundings and gleaned in the fields of Boaz, and finally became his wife, and was a great grandmother of Jesus, but many generations away.

Living With Other People.

Children and young people who come from a foreign country to become American citizens by adoption, may more readily take up the customs and the entire life of this country far more readily than do older people who have become thoroughly imbued with the ideas, practices and the very life of the country from which they came. In order to get anywhere in this world we must know the lives of the people with whom we mingle, and also have an interest in the things which interest them, this was the case of Ruth. To make best citizens we must have an interest in the things which make best citizens. We must be truly American and we must be truly Christian.

America the Melting Pot.

Such has this country been called, and in truth it is so, for to our shores have during the past century been coming peoples from all portions of the world. Our forefathers came here to establish a country where they could enjoy freedom, and a great portion of that freedom, to worship God according to the dictates of their own conscience and according to truth of the Bible. America has a big problem on her hands. We are now receiving a half million people from other countries. We are to make Christian Americans of them. The way we shall do this determines just how good Christian Americans we are. We receive now, in that half million people, Bohemians, Moravians, Montegrans, Chinese, Slavonians, Cubans, Dalmatians, Dutch, Flemish, Polish, Irish, Poles, Italians, Koreans, Magars, Mexicans, Portuguese, Spanish, Russians, Norwegians, Swedes, Danes, Scotch, Syrians, Turks and an almost endless list. What are we to do with them? It is up to us to make of them Americans for if we fail, then our nation also fails, and we are to make Christians of them or else our nation and humanity will fail. We see how great a problem is now at the door of America. America has always measured up to the problem which was given her and let us hope we may in this instance.

True to God and Loyal to Country.

This we must be and, this we must teach all new citizens, of this great, free country, whether they are born here of come knocking at our doors for admission. Humanity says we cannot turn those who come with the intent of being true American Christians away.

It has been our misfortune to have dumped on our shores many who were not good citizens of the country from which they came, and with the problem before us of making this the home of the very best people on earth we cannot afford to allow criminals and lawless elements pushed on us, who are not good people coming with high motives. We must be discriminating in order to maintain the high standard of Christian Americanism. We have to live with other people, and to live our true lives is the very best way to succeed in making the other people the best. Reject the lawless, and make the better element better. As some one has said, when we are true to God, true to ourselves, we cannot be false to any man.

Nebraska Crop Shows Corn is Giving Big Yield

Both Corn and Potatoes Are Above the Average for the 1928 Figures Report Shows

Corn yields are slightly above those of last year averaging 25.8 bu. per acre, and the production is 232,871,000 bu. The yield of potatoes is 92 bu. Both corn and potatoes are exceeding earlier expectations, says the State and Federal Division of Agr. Statistics. Average test weights on all small grains except oats are light. The sugar beet and flax crop are the highest on record.

The preliminary estimate of yield of corn is 25.8 bu. as compared with 23.8 bu. last year. The estimate of total production is 232,871,000 bu. against 212,701,000 bu. last year and the 1924-28 average of 214,381,000 bu. The quality of corn is 91.2%. About 3% of 6,381,000 bu. of the old crop is on farms.

It appears that corn will turn out slightly better than an average crop. Not over half a dozen counties have yields below 15 bu., the lowest yield being 7 bu. About 54% of the corn acreage is east of a north and south line drawn through Grand Island and the north half of this portion of the state has an excellent corn crop, several counties approximating record yields. The balance of the state has yields ranging from fair to poor.

The average yield of potatoes is 92 bu. The production is 8,648,000 bu. as compared with 10,080,000 bu. last year and the 5-year average of 7,671,000 bu. The quality of potatoes is 88%. The crop is better than expected except in southern counties. The early commercial crop was excellent and the late commercial crop is satisfactory. The farm crop is fairly good except in southern counties. A total of 3,608 cars have been shipped to date as compared with 4,691 cars last year and the 5-year average of 4,250 cars.

The average weight per measured bushel of small grains is running low except for oats. The average test of winter is 58.7 lbs., spring wheat, 57.9 lbs., oats, 32.0 lbs., and barley, 46.5 lbs.

The average yield of flax is 7 bu. and the production 161,000 bu. as compared with 64,000 bu. last year and the 5-year average of 61,000 bu. The yield of buckwheat is 11.5 bu. and the production 11,000 bu. against 10,000 bu. last year. The average yield of grain sorghum is 17.5 bu. and the production, 386,000 bu., against 485,000 bu. last year.

Estimates of minor crops are as follows: sweet sorghum, 11,000 tons; sorghum strip, 50 gallons; sweet potatoes, 102 bu.; alfalfa seed, 3.3 bu.; red clover seed, 1.5 bu.; sweet clover seed, 4.3 bu.; timothy seed, 4 bu.

The average yield of sugar beets is 12.2 tons and the production, 686,000 tons as compared with 1, 021,000 tons last year and the 5-year average of 934,000 tons. This is the highest production to date.

The average yield of beans is 9 bu. and the production 1,000 bu. against 87,000 bu. last year. About 52% of the crop is white navy beans, 33% is pintos and 15% other varieties.

The total production of apples is 869,000 bu. against 470,000 bu. last year, and 2,621,451,000 and 2,826,278,000 bu. old crop, 76,868,000 and 53,939,000 bu.; potatoes, 353,577,000 and 464,483,000 bu.; total apples, 1,069,900 and 185,782,000 bu.; commercial apples, 28,519,000 bbls. and 35,268,000 bbls. The average yield of corn is 26.7 and the quality 80.2%.

WOODMEN FILE ANSWER TO SUIT

Lincoln, Nov. 12.—The Woodmen Building Corp., present owner of the old headquarters of the Woodmen of the World at Omaha, filed a statement with the supreme court Tuesday setting out its claims and interest in the suit brought by W. B. Price and others to set aside the sale by the officers of the order. The attorneys representing it asserted that the record shows, without conflict, that there was no fraud in the transaction, that the sale and purchase were made in good faith and that the order received full value.

They say that H. M. Bylesby & Co. of Chicago has invested $1,600,000 in this property and that obligations in excess of that amount have been issued, which it stands responsible. Nobody charges, they say, that the purchasers were guilty of any fraud.

New Inspection Plan Justified

Bank Supervision Efficiency Said to Warrant Higher Cost—Abolish Examination Fees

Nebraska's enlarged and intensified program of state bank supervision and examinations, together with the work that is being done to rehabilitate failed banks through composition settlements with their depositors, is costing more than twice as much as the independent banking administration formerly in vogue; but the results being obtained under the new plan of operation seem to justify this increased expenditure.

The state treasury will contribute only $20,000 more to pay the cost of overseeing banks and related activities than was spent in the previous biennium. The remainder of the added expense will be met by the proceeds of special assessments levied upon the banks themselves, as provided by one of the last legislature's enactments.

These assessments for the year 1929 amount to a little more than $80,000, which indicates that $160,000 will be available from that source of the biennial period beginning July 1 last and ending June 30, 1931.

Direct appropriations totalling $190,000 were made by the legislature for the use of the state commerce department and its banking bureau. Thus in the aggregate, there will be $350,000 at the command of the banking authorities for carrying on their work.

In the preceding biennium the grand total for banking and departmental administration, including $30,000 for the guaranty fund commission, was $170,000. All of this sum came out of the state treasury.

Bank Investigation Extra.
Forecasting figures take no account of the $150,000 appropriation made by the legislature for an investigation and audit of nearly 300 failed state banks. That work is being done by an entirely different organization which operates independently of the banking bureau and the commerce department and has no connection with them. The investigation was ordered in response to a widespread demand to have the facts ascertained and made public in regard to the causes of these failures and the degree to which they were due to mismanagement or criminal acts of bank officers and lax supervision by the state.

While the guaranty fund commission was in existence, it expended a large amount of money each year in the receipt of receiverships and disbursements were charged against moneys derived from the receiverships and assets and did not constitute any burden upon the state treasury. All receiverships are now in the hands of the state commerce department, and its expense in handling them is met in the same way.

The additional money realized from special assessments on banks, under the new law, has enabled the banking bureau to enlarge its force of examiners and also employ assistants to do the regular examinations in making periodic checks on all going banks. Present supervision is much more thorough and complete than ever before.

Besides a dozen bank examiners and their assistants, the trade and finance department has had examiners looking after building and loan associations and trust companies and three special auditors doing such work as may be assigned them from time to time.

Examination Fees Abolished.

Under the practice that used to be followed, when an examiner visited a bank and checked over its accounts, notes, and records, he presented a bill to the institution for his time at a specified rate per day plus hotel and traveling expenses. In that way every bank paid directly for its own examination fees.

Now the system is different. The examiners make their rounds and inspect one bank after another, but no statements of per diem and expenses are submitted. Instead, the state commerce department figures how much money it will need to support its activities for the whole year, and then levies a percentage assessment on the deposits of all banks to raise that amount. When a bank has paid its assessment, it is through. The examiners and helpers get their salaries out of this fund.

For 1929, bank assessments have yielded $82,000 for the purpose of carrying on the supervisory work, and a like amount is anticipated for 1930. This compares with only $65,845 collected as examination fees in the whole previous fiscal biennium. The annual revenue for that purpose has thereby been increased considerably more than 100 per cent.

The trade and finance department has also collected $26,500 this year in special fees assessed against building and loan associations and trust companies, which will likewise defray the most of their examinations and supervision.

How Appropriations Compare.

Aside from the revenue that comes to the state commerce department directly from banks and other concerns under its jurisdiction, it gets the following amounts from the state treasury: Departmental salaries and wages, $25,000 for this biennium, compared with $5,400 in the previous one. Departmental maintenance, $15,000; previous biennium, $1,000. Secretary's salary, $15,000; previous biennium, $10,000. Banking bureau — Salaries and wages, $30,000; previous biennium, $85,000. Maintenance, $15,000; previous biennium, $49,000. Organization and administration of bank receiverships, $100,000, pre-

A BOX SUPPER

Last Friday night Nov. 8, a box social and plate supper was held at the Cedar Creek school in Dist. 31.

Everybody enjoyed the program which was given by the school children, except one play in which the older boys and girls of the community took part.

After the program the boxes were sold. Then they had a contest on the most popular girl which Helga Jarl won the prize. It was box of candy. Then they had a corn husking contest for the men which John Buechler won. The prize being a half dozen corn husking mittens.

The school took in $68 from the boxes, etc., including the plate lunch, and felt quite pleased as that is the most ever made at a social held at the school.

The pupils also are to be commended on the fine spirit shown in preparing for the event as Lucille Stivers wrote to the Earl E. May broadcasting station and had them announce it over the radio.

ORE DUTY LOST IN SENATE VOTE

Washington, Nov. 11. — Vice President Curtis' presence in Chicago Monday prevented the breaking of a 31-to-31 vote in the senate and resulted in the defeat of a Republican finance committee amendment to the tariff bill to restore the existing duty of 45 cents a pound on tungsten ore, a steel making raw material.

Senator McNary of Oregon presiding, had voted when his name was called on the ballot. This prevented him from casting a ballot as presiding officer.

Defeat of the amendment permitted an increase in the rate to 50 cents as proposed by the house, to stand.
