

GREENWOOD

N. O. Coleman, while splitting wood for the kitchen stove had the misfortune to have a piece of the wood fly and strike him on the nose, making a very sore spot.

Uncle Sam Aarons, who has been sick and could not work for a time, is again back on the job and thus has relieved Fred Ethrege, who was carrying the mail during the time when he was sick.

Carl Stander, Sr., believing in getting the best, last week made the purchase from an Ashland house of a new Chevrolet truck, which he will use for the heavy hauling, both on the farm and on the road.

Harold Bell who has heretofore had an International truck, and was well pleased with the excellent service it gave him, has traded the old one in and gotten one of the very latest models of this excellent gas wagon.

Mrs. Henry Wilkins was a visitor at Palmyra, where she was a guest of former neighbors for a number of days during the past week. The family formerly resided between Palmyra and Douglas and had many close friends in that neighborhood.

Mrs. A. W. Hudson has been kept from the store and a good portion of the time in bed as the result of a very severe attack of the grippe, but during the latter portion of last week was reported as being much improved and was hoping soon to be able to be out again.

O. F. Peters and son, Glen, will depart for California this week, where they expect to remain for a time and enjoy the spring like weather. Mr. O. F. Peters was a visitor there, accompanied by the wife, for the most part of last winter and enjoyed their stay there very much. It looks like Uncle Otto likes the genial climate of California.

W. E. Pailling, S. S. Petersen and Fred Ethrege were over to Lincoln one night last week, where they were visiting with friends and remained for the celebration of decorating one of the older members of the order with the badge of honor of the Canton Millitant, of which all are members. The boys tell of having an oyster supper in connection with the meeting which added much to the excellent time.

E. M. Jumper and family moved last week to Ashland, where they will make their home for the present, they having had a sale on last Tuesday and moved from the farm. Merton Gray will farm the place the coming year and in moving to the farm at this time will be in position to get a lot of work done before the coming of the spring rush. Merton is a good farmer and will make a hustler to care for the farm.

Greenwood Transfer Line

We do a general business—make trips regularly to Omaha on Monday and Thursday, also to Lincoln Tuesday and Friday. Pick up loads on these trips. Full loads at any time. FRED HOFFMAN.

Five Generations Meet

On Christmas day at the home of Mrs. Dora Leesley, there were gathered as per the usual arrangements, the families of Mrs. Dora Leesley and her son, W. H. Leesley, who always celebrate the Christmas day together, but on this occasion there were others added to the list, which extended the gathering to cover other generations. Uncle Ben Coffin, the father of Mrs. Leesley, who makes his home in Greenwood, was the oldest, being 88 years of age. Then came his daughter, Mrs. Dora Leesley, who is 68 years of age, and her son, W. H. Leesley, who is 46 years of age, his daughter, Mrs. George Leaver, who is 20, and their daughter, little Joann, who is six months of age. All enjoyed the gathering and had their picture taken in the open.

Had Excellent Time

The ladies card club of Greenwood, held at the I. O. O. F. hall a very pleasing evening on last Tuesday evening, when they entertained their husbands at pinocle and also furnished them good eats as well. The luck seemed to be with Ivan Asterson and wife, as they won the first prize while the other went to good natured George Bucknell, who smiled his grandest when he was awarded the other prize. However, all enjoyed an excellent time.

Measles Mostly Over

The epidemic of measles which has prevailed in and about Greenwood for some time past, and which has in a measure interfered with the schools and other matters has in a degree subsided and but few are now having them and they are getting along nicely and it is hoped that all will soon be well that have had them.

Selling Excellent Cars

Matthews and Peterson, the hustling garage men, and by the way, fine men as well as workmen, are always on the spot to look after work.

Stock Hauling

I have a station at Greenwood for Hauling by Truck service. We will give special attention to your needs day or night. Very careful handling of Stock and Goods. Call Phone 40, Greenwood, or Murdock, for best of service. Your patronage appreciated.

when there is any offered. They have the agency for the Erskine car, one of which they have on their floor ready for a demonstration of the excellence of this auto. If you are needing a new car drop around and have one of the boys take you for a ride in the new model and see just how it is to ride in one of the very latest of automobiles.

A Progressive Institution

Several years since George Bucknell was sent to Greenwood by the Searle Chapin Lumber company, as their manager, and conducted the institution here in excellent manner. After having remained here for some time, he with Mr. W. A. White became associated together and purchased the W. A. Anderson hardware store. They immediately rearranged the business and found a good field for operation in the hardware and furniture line and after having conducted the business in the old stand at the east end of the street on the south side, they had an opportunity to secure the I. O. O. F. building, on the closing out of the store which was there, and after the building was placed in excellent condition, they moved their stock into this place, where they have remained since. They had a very nice business when they moved to the new location and since then by good business practices and an endless amount of hustling, looking always to the best interests of their clientele, they have increased their business in every line, and the past year has been the very best and by a good margin over any year since they have been engaged in business. They are looking to the present year as one which will be even better for they are in a way better prepared to give better service than in the past, and service and the best goods are what counts in the long run. They extend an invitation to come and see them when needing anything in their line as well as to just drop in and visit with them at any time.

Sells Excellent Radio

A. R. Birdsall, the caterer and radio dealer sold last week one of the famous Majestic radios of the console pattern, with eight tubes and capable of getting news from "Dark-est Africa." Dr. L. D. Lee, of Murdock, was the purchaser, and the new machine was taken over a few days ago and installed and is now working in fine order.

Cafe and Ticket Office

The Interstate bus lines, which have been stopping going one way at one of the restaurants and going the other way at the other restaurant, have arranged to have their ticket office with A. R. Birdsall and tickets can be purchased from this office at any point covered by the Interstate lines.

Think to Organize Club

It might be only just thinking, but one cannot tell, they may even do it. There are fourteen men in Greenwood by the name of Bert, and they are contemplating the organizing of a "Bert" club. Bert Birdsall and Bert McElwain are as much interested as any, but such a club might be the means of having a pretty good time once in a while.

Injured in Kansas City

While driving in Kansas City a short time since, Mrs. John Schulling was injured in an auto accident. Just how and to what extent were unable to find out, but our informant said she was more or less injured. The Schullings on leaving here went to Beaver Crossing, where they are still making their home.

Will Join Louisville and Plattsmouth

The Odd Fellows of Greenwood will this evening join with the two lodges of the order at Louisville with the Louisville lodge and the one from Plattsmouth in their installation of officers. They are expecting to have a good time at the meeting, and they will surely have some good eats following the celebration of the event of inducting the newly elected officers into their respective offices.

Delivering Much Corn

The farmers near Greenwood have been very liberal in the picking of the corn crop on making deliveries. And especially is this true with those who were compelled to pile any amount of corn on the ground. The corn is in excellent condition with the exception of their being considerable moisture in the corn, which prevents the obtaining of the best prices.

FILE BANKRUPTCY

Omaha—The Byrne & Hammer dry goods company of Omaha filed a voluntary bankruptcy petition in federal court Thursday afternoon. The wholesale house recited in a brief petition that the company owes debts which it is unable to pay; that it is willing to surrender all its property for the benefit of creditors except such as is exempt by law, and that it will file a schedule of property and lists of creditors within ten days. It asks immediate adjudication of bankruptcy.

It was learned on good authority that assets of the company will be found to exceed the liabilities by $100,000. The voluntary action, it was explained, will make possible the greatest saving to stockholders.

Heavy checks for broilers should be ordered now. Heavy breeds. 14¢ a chick.—Brink Hatchery, Phone 631-W, Plattsmouth, Neb.

Nothing is more disappointing to a man than coming home feeling as overworked as a henpecked man's ears, and having his wife treat him as if he wasn't any more overworked than a fly swatter in January.

W. L. Nelson Heard in Plea for River Ports

'Square Deal for Farmers,' Is Theme at Last Session of Organized Agriculture

Lincoln, Jan. 9.—Congressman William L. Nelson of Missouri, in an address before the closing session of organized agriculture here Thursday afternoon, advocated a government aid for construction of terminals at river ports.

If the nation is willing to spend $50,000,000 on opening a stream for navigation, he urged, surely it should be willing to make the shipping facilities of some use.

A Democrat, a farmer and a newspaper man, Congressman Nelson spoke on "A Square Deal for the Farmer." He is now a member of the house agriculture committee and formerly served on the flood control committee.

Had the same amount of effort been spent in the last eight years in helping the farmer as has been spent in trying to convince him of posterity, Nelson asserted, much might have been done by now towards creating a real prosperity.

Changes Needed Now that the farm board is in existence, the only thing to do is to aid it. If it proves inadequate, the law can be wiped off and one with teeth in it substituted.

But many other changes than those available through the farm board, he said, must be made. Either the farmer must get more tariff protection, or industries must have less. He advocated the development of Muscle Shoals and declared that branch banking must not be encouraged.

"Produce more efficiently" was the advice given by President M. D. Munn of the national dairy council to members of the Nebraska Dairy Development society.

Dairymen cannot expect the public to keep increasing its consumption of their products, he said, at the prices set by inefficient methods.

Addresses 18,000 Carl E. Gray presided at the Development society meeting. He said that the society's agents had addressed more than 18,000 persons during the year and that the organization has done much to secure purebred sires for dairymen in the state.

More orderly marketing of fat cattle, finishing younger and light weight animals, and use of more economical feeds were the things that Prof. H. J. Gramlich of the college stressed in his address to the Improved Livestock Breeders association.

Winners of the stock judging contest were announced as follows: J. C. Adams of Lexington, first; William Snyder of North Platte and Mansel Phipps of Whipman, tied for second; Howard Rakekin of Rulo, fourth; Clifford Jorgensen of Minden, fifth; and Honor Schanser of Madison, sixth.—Bee-News.

Lawyers Claim State Banking is Threatened

Attorneys in Filing Motion for Rehearing on Guaranty Act See Only One Way Out.

Upholding by the supreme court of the Nebraska state bank guaranty law will mean the end of state banking in the state, attorneys for state banks declared in a motion for a rehearing on the bank guaranty case filed Friday with the supreme court at Lincoln.

"If the present decision upholding the guaranty law constitutional remains permanent it will mean the nationalizing of solvent state banks and the liquidation of the others," Leonard A. Flansburg of Lincoln and Frank H. Gaines of Omaha, attorneys for the bankers, set forth in their motion.

"No act of the legislature can help now," they contended. "It is too late. Already three assessments under the guaranty law have been levied and four more assessments will be due before an act of repeal can be passed."

The attorneys further insisted that an appeal to the United States supreme court would be ineffective even if favorable to the bankers because the state banking system would have broken down before the higher court could act.

They further argued in their motion that the conditions that existed when the law was originally upheld have no bearing on present conditions. They pleaded for an immediate rehearing.

BRAVE STORMS TO WELCOME RUBIO

Prescott, Ariz., Jan. 10.—Gathering from hundreds of miles around, Mexican residents of northern Arizona Friday braved a heavy snowstorm to welcome Pascual Ortiz Rubio, Mexican president-elect.

Ortiz Rubio, said to be fearful of assassins, was carrying a specially-made cane gun, with a fur-covered handle, according to information received from a railroad employe who accompanied the party to the grand canyon.

The Mexican president-elect is accompanied by two guards, similarly armed, it is said.

Ortiz Rubio canceled his planned visit to the Pacific coast with the assurance that Mrs. Ortiz Rubio's health would not permit.

He was hurrying southward thru Arizona to re-enter Mexico at Nogales.

Taylor Urges a State School Tax be Levied

In Favor of Special Commission to Study Revenue Problems Facing Nebraska.

Lincoln, Jan. 9.—State Supt. Charles W. Taylor made his annual report to Governor Weaver Thursday and again declared himself for a special state tax commission to study the school revenue problems of Nebraska. A state school tax should be levied, he said, and distributed among the districts.

He repeated a former declaration that the $50,000 appropriated by the legislature for state aid to weak districts under the Mallory act is inadequate to give such districts the amount of money allowed by that statute.

Shortage is $35,600. The shortage in this regard for the biennium of 1927-1929, he said was $35,600. Either the law should be repealed or sufficient money appropriated to carry out its provisions.

The total sum which the state paid for support of its common schools in 1929, Taylor reports, was $1,242,002. Of this amount $1,019,519 was represented by two regular apportionments, while $172,483 was allotted from the proceeds of fines and licenses collected and $50,000 was distributed as provided by the Mallory act.

Lists Board's Work. The following subjects are listed by Superintendent Taylor as outstanding elements in the educational work of Nebraska:

Library facilities; extra qualifications; certification; rural education; adult education; normal training; character education; physical and health education; safety education and financial support.

Adult immigrant education for the foreign born has begun three years ago on a systematic scale in a number of communities, in accordance with a legislative act of 1927. On Dec. 15, last, 638 adult immigrants were receiving instruction at the hands of 35 teachers.

The state pays the salaries of five teachers at Omaha and one each in Lincoln, Beatrice, Wahoo, and Gilead. All others are paid locally.—Omaha Bee-News.

LAUDS RECORD OF DEMOCRATS

Baltimore, Jan. 9.—The democratic party, responsible under the administration of Woodrow Wilson for establishment of the federal reserve system, through that banking policy saved the nation from paralysis of business in the recent stock market collapse, Jonett Shouse, executive secretary of the democratic national committee, said Wednesday night in an address at a Jackson day dinner, attended by 1,000 Maryland democratic leaders.

"Our democratic senators, every progressive practically every member of the other party, succeeded in breaking down the conspiracy to put over in the country the exorbitant, discriminatory and altogether outrageous Smoot-Hawley tariff bill.

"We have raised the agriculture schedule to make the tariff helpful to the farmer, which is the one seriously distressed industry in the country.

"The most important feature of the democratic tariff program is reclamation by congress of the authority delegated to the president, under the present flexible tariff law, of altering rates enacted by congress."

Municipality League Measure Has Defect

Attorney General Rules City Electric Lines May Extend Fifteen Miles.

Examination of the original bill in the office of Secretary of State Marsh, enacted by the last legislature, for the extension of transmission lines from cities of the first class having from 5,000 to 25,000 inhabitants, discloses that the title of the bill permits extension into rural territory a distance of twenty-five miles, while the body of the bill limits the distance to fifteen miles. The conflict between title and body of the bill is taken advantage of by any city.

"The title of a bill can be broader than the body of the bill, but the body cannot be broader than the title, so this office has ruled that the body, providing for extension to fifteen miles, governs," said Attorney General Sorenson.

The bill contains provisions which are considered unworkable, in the opinion of city officials, and few cities are likely to attempt to work under it. The cities of Fremont and Hastings are the only cities reported as likely to enforce its provisions.

The bill is the only one of importance out of a long list of measures proposed by the Nebraska League of Municipalities, when the Nebraska legislature met one year ago. The extension into the country for the sale of electric light is conditioned upon the city's entering into contracts for electric light service with persons, firms, corporations or associations at rates which will produce an annual gross revenue to the city equal to not less than 15 per cent of the cost of construction of the line, and the city shall adjust such rates when necessary to produce such gross revenue.

In vetoing S. F. 223, another municipal league bill, he approved the principles in H. R. No. 19 and said the measure should have been passed in its original form. The senate bill restricted the warrant indebtedness of cities in cases where bonds could be voted instead of issuance of warrants for municipal plants. The vetoed bill applied to cities of the second class and villages.

HOOPER PLAN IS OPPOSED

Washington—Opposition to President Hoover's proposal for a joint congressional committee to investigate a proposal to concentrate the prohibition enforcement units under the justice department has developed among some house republican leaders. Chairman Snell of the house rules committee said on Thursday night that some of the republican leaders felt that the joint committee was not necessary to transfer the prohibition enforcement unit from the treasury to the justice department.

"We prefer," Snell said, "to legislate in the regular way; to let the regular committees handle the transfer of the units."

DONOVAN IS GIVEN $1,000 FEE ADVANCE

Lincoln, Jan. 9.—M. L. Donovan, Omaha attorney, was given an advance payment of $1,000 by Judge Shepherd of the district court Thursday morning to apply on the fee of Mr. Donovan in the case of F. E. Folts against the Globe Life Insurance Co. and the Woodmen of the World. Mr. Donovan asked for $2,000. Attorneys Don Stewart and George Hager, who were among the six attorneys representing the plaintiffs in the suit, appeared in court and objected to the payment of any money on Mr. Donovan's motion.

Seek Eielson's Fate in Reindeer Camps of North

Trappers and Herders Reported to Have Seen Craft Flying Low Over Foothills

Nome, Alaska, Jan. 9.—Reindeer camps in the black ice and snow covered hills to the east of the fog trading ship Nanuk, frozen in the ice at North Cape, Siberia, will soon become the stamping ground for searchers for Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, airmen last while trying to reach the vessel from Teller, Alaska.

That was the message radiocast to the outside world today by Miss Marion Swanson, Seattle girl, who is married with her father aboard the Nanuk.

"Tazret Berdief, driving one of the Nanuk's dog teams, returned today after being held out since Sunday by the blizzard," Miss Swanson radio said. "He brought to us what we think is the first definite clew as to the whereabouts of Eielson and Borland. Berdief was told by herders and trappers that Eielson's plane flew low over the reindeer camps in the foothills east of here.

"The campus, located by plane several days ago, seem the best place to center the search. We had thought so before and Berdief's word started definite plans to use the camps as a base.

"One man, Berdief learned, saw Eielson's plane and another heard it about 20 miles east of here over a lagoon November 9. It was reported as having frightened women and children at a place about 25 miles south of North Cape because, they said, "it was an evil spirit roaring in the sky."—World-Herald.
