Mr. F. H. McCarthy was suffering early this week from an attack of the grippe, which caused a considerable stiffness.

Ira Clark was a visitor in Nehawka for the morning on last Monday where he went to consult his physician and also to take a treatment.

Robert Eaton of near Murray was a visitor in Union on last Monday. He was looking after some business matters and also visiting with his many friends.

Come to the Bible school of the Baptist church next Sunday and join with the school in the study of the lesson as well as remain for the church services which will be well worth while.

Tony Sudduth departed last week for Fair Play, Missouri, where he will visit for a time with his parents and friends as well as look after some business matters for the remainder of his week.

Messrs. Ollie Atteberry and Ben Anderson and Misses Pauline Smith and Dorothy Clark were enjoying a very fine play at the Nebraska City theatre on last Sunday night, they driving over to the Otos city to attend the show.

F. H. McCarthy and four of the kiddies were over to Murray on last Saturday where they were calling at the office of Dr. G. H. Gilmore, regarding their vaccination, which they have been taking for prevention of small pox.

Sam Pugh who has been so very ill for some time is now out again and while he is a long way from being well, he is much better, and was over to Nebraska City on last Monday afternoon where he was called to look after some business matters.

Mr. H. Porter was a visitor in Omaha on last Monday morning where he went to deliver a load of stock, and afterwards went to the home of Ray Galloway, where he purchased some thirty-five head of hogs which he will fatten for the market.

E. E. Lersch sold to a man from near Avoca, Mr. Herman Bartholts, a very fine team for the farm on last Friday, and also fitted the team out with a set of harness, which put them in position to begin the spring work as soon as the snow is gone and the birds return.

Mrs. W. W. Claybaugh who has been in delicate health for some time, was quite ill for over the week end this week, and while everything was being done in medical service and excellent nursing, she did not show the improvement which was desired, and still remains very poorly.

Mrs. Wm. Craig who has been poorly for some time past and has been kept to her home and bed on that account, was feeling quite a bit more poorly during last Sunday and Monday. Her many friends here are very desirous that this good lady may be much better soon.

Melvin Todd was a visitor in Omaha on last Sunday and was accompanied by Lucean Banning, they visiting at the Methodist hospital. Mr. Joe Banning and Mrs. Ernest Rathe who are both patients at that place. They found both very ill, but being cared for the very best.

a new car and this time sure made a wise selection in the investment of a Chevrolet coach, which he secured through the Atteberry agency of Union, securing a good car from one of the finest of dealers. This car will give West great satisfaction. He is able to be about later in the day but was not feeling the best.

Mrs. Delbert Lindsay, who has been the Methodist hospital for some time past and where she underwent an operation for the restoration of her health, was very serious and so much so that there was a call issued for the coming of all her family. They all hastened to her bedside and were much pleased that she was slightly improved. She is however, a most seriously sick person. All are hoping for her recovery.

Wm. James Has Stroke.
Wm. James, living southwest of Union a few miles, just in the edge of Otos county, but calling himself a Union man, and a very loyal man to this city, on Sunday morning sustained a very severe stroke of paralysis, and again that afternoon a slight second attack. He was treated for the malady and on Monday afternoon was reported as being considerably better. His many friends and he has hosts of them, are solicitous for his welfare and are hoping he may soon be on the highway to recovery. He has but recently purchased a piece of property in Union with the intention of making this city his home. About a year ago Mr. James suffered a slight stroke and had apparently entirely recovered from the effects of the sickness, and it was hoped that he would not have a recurrence of the malady. He has been very active in farming and a very hard worker his. He is a member of the Union and also has conducted an orchestra, all of which has kept this hustling worker very busy. This excessive work may have had something to do with the stroke and it is the hope of his many friends and as we said before, they are many, that he may soon be on the highway to recovery. He was slightly better on last Monday.

Very Badly Injured.
Last Thursday morning about 8 o'clock, when Joe Banning, the livery hardware and implement man, went to his barn to do the milking, and had entered the barn with the milk pail, the cow which was by nature a little shy, belted and in turning around struck Mr. Banning, knocking him to the ground and breaking one of his legs, and also injuring one shoulder. Mr. Banning who was injured thus severely, succeeded in getting to a window and pounding with a pitchfork handle, pounded on a window in the barn until he succeeded in getting it open, when he shouted towards the homes of D. R. Frans and W. B. Banning, just at that moment W. B. Banning came to the door to see how cold it was by the thermometer, and heard Joe call and rushed to the barn, finding his condition, endeavored to carry him on his back to the house, but in his condition was not able to get him on his back. He then shouted for Ray Frans who came and they together got Mr. Banning to the house. Dr. Claybaugh was called, and also Dr. G. H. Gilmore, both of whom advised the taking of Mr. Banning to the hospital. Mr. Banning being the family physician, and arrangements were immediately made for the taking him to Omaha where he entered the Methodist hospital at that place, and where he is at this time. It was found that the cause of the injured leg was a broad square of, and also one shoulder broken down and both had to be placed in a cast and bound. This places Mr. Banning in a very serious position as he cannot use a crutch to aid in walking, as the shoulder will probably be as long as he is in bed, and will be the leg. This puts a lot of work and worry on Mrs. Banning as she has to look after the household duties and at the same time take part time at the store with Lucean, their son, as he has to be at the filling station a portion of the time, notwithstanding he has Melvin Todd assisting with the work there. The many friends of this excellent citizen are sorry to know of his misfortune and are hoping for as speedy a recovery as possible.

For Sale.
Duff Orlington Cockerels which have been culled and blooded. Prices reasonable.—Mrs. Chas. Garrison, Union, Nebr. 19-67w.

Mrs. Rathe Very Sick.
Mrs. Ernest Rathe, making her home north of Union, has been in a very delicate condition of health for some time and as her health was losing she was taken to Omaha on last Friday and early Saturday morning underwent an operation for the restoration of her health. The condition following the operation was so serious that she was kept partly under the influence of opiates to alleviate the pain. During the day on Monday she was suffering from excruciating pain altho still very severe. All is being done to alleviate the intense suffering and promote as early a recovery as possible.

Too Cold for Union.
The weather which has visited here for the past week and which has been very severe, has tested the Union Water Company and has frozen a portion of the city's mains outside the service out of commission in many places. Every effort has been expended to restore normal conditions but on Monday many places and among which was the Union schools, were suffering from a lack of water supply.

Attended Annual Meeting.
Miss Gussie Robt was a passenger to Omaha on last Monday afternoon where she went to meet with the Auxiliary and Diocesan council of the Episcopal at the Trinity Cathedral, of that city, where the annual meeting of the church is held on January 21st and 22nd. Miss Robt was the representative of the church at Wyoming.

Will Establish Feed Yards.
George A. Stites, proprietor of the Union elevators, and who is a real dirt farmer and a feeder of cattle, has begun the establishment of a feed yard south of the home of W. L. Stine, where he will feed cattle for the market and will make a cattle market, purchasing what is offered for sale which is not ready for the market and will finish them and ship.

CENSORSHIP LAW LACKING
Cleveland—Thad H. Brown, general counsel of the federal radio commission, before leaving here for Washington Monday, said the commission has no means to curb W. K. Henderson of station KWKH, Skraport, La., against whose broadcasting complaints have been made.

"Radio jurisprudence," said Brown "is still in its infancy, and as yet there is no law to prevent Henderson from saying what ever he happens to choose. He has informed the commission, via radio that if his radio station is ever put out of business he will open a new one in Mexico and operate on every frequency imaginable."

Brown said there was no immediate prospect of legislation to establish a board of radio censorship.

Speech by King Marks Opening of Naval Parley

Ramsay MacDonald Made Chairman of Conference on Nomination by Secretary Stimson.

London, Jan. 21.—The thickest fog of the winter enveloped London today as the five-power naval limitation conference convened. Traffic in all directions was badly hampered but the misty curtain seemed densest around the Westminster palace as the conferees gathered for the opening.

When the formal opening addresses, which were broadcast by a world-wide hookup, had been completed the conference adjourned to reconvene Thursday morning at 10 o'clock in St. James' palace. Tomorrow the delegates will spend an informal discussion to clear the way for Thursday's meeting, which will be private.

The opening addresses were almost paraphrases of one another so well had the ground been prepared to avoid injection at the outset of the conference of any note of discord or militant nationalism.

The King of England formally opened the five-power naval conference this morning with a six-minute speech broadcast over a world-wide radio hookup. He pledged Great Britain's co-operation in the conference effort to limit navies, and expressed a hope that an agreement would be reached which would prepare the way for a general disarmament treaty.

It was his majesty's first public appearance since his illness of last year. His face was ruddy, his step firm, his voice rich and full of confidence—loud enough to carry even to the corridors outside the gallery of the house of lords where the delegates and a few invited guests convened.

MacDonald Made Chairman.
Immediately his address was concluded the conference was organized formally with nomination of Ramsay MacDonald, premier of Great Britain, as chairman by Colonel Stimson, American secretary of state, and delegation head.

His majesty's speech was translated for the benefit of the foreign delegates.

The French interpreter finished at 11:19 a. m. The delegates again rose to their feet and the King retired. Ramsay MacDonald, British prime minister, took the seat of his majesty vacated and became the chairman of the meeting and began his own address, urging the necessity for heightening the spirit of confidence among peoples and thus paving the way for an agreement to halt competition in naval construction.

"The whole world," he said, "expects that we shall deliberate and negotiate on the assumption that Great Britain and the other powers of peace will mean to respect our signatures."

The British prime minister gave President Hoover credit for initiating the present conference. "After several attempts had been made unsuccessfully to get such an understanding between the United States and ourselves as would make a wide international agreement possible," he said, "President Hoover through his newly appointed ambassador to London, proposed to me that we should explore our differences once more."

Stimson Speaks for U. S.
Colonel Stimson addressed the assemblage when Mr. MacDonald had concluded his speech, remarking that the present effort at naval limitation was not to be regarded as final by any means. "Naval limitation is a continuous process," he said, "we regard disarmament as a goal to be reached by successive steps by frequent revision and improvement. A solution reached today, however perfect, may not respond to conditions at a later date."

Colonel Stimson pledged the co-operation of America to further endeavor in behalf of disarmament, both in naval and in other fields, and efforts to contribute to the success of endeavors in other fields will continue unabated," he said.

Other delegation heads followed in alphabetical order.

Commonwealths Speak.
Colonel Ralston for Canada spoke without a manuscript. With his hands at his sides, he made his point by turning from side to side and speaking to individuals around the table. Each of the British commonwealths added its word to the general chorus of conciliation, the first of the representatives being J. E. Fenton of Australia.

Andre Tardieu, French premier, read his speech with tumbling rapidity from manuscript prepared in his native tongue. He spoke without gesture and with only occasional turning of his full, round face from side to side. The newest political figure on the international stage, and a former newspaperman, M. Tardieu writes admirably and he showed today he also can speak well.

He was followed by the Indian delegate, Chatterjee, who said he spoke for a peace-loving country. His speech was brief, in English, and almost without accent.

The Irish Free State delegate, Smiddy, followed, and then Italy's youthful statesman, Dino Grandi, foreign minister, took the floor.

Grandi, one of the youngest men at the table and a right-hand assistant to the Italian dictator, Benito Mussolini, presented Italy's statement in English. He said he recognized some of the difficulties which would beset the powers seeking an agreement, but expressed his belief and hope they would be surmounted.

AUTOISTS $100,000 LOSERS
Falls City, Neb.—The traveling public lost $100,000 by using the detour south of Falls City while the Nemaha bridge was under construction, according to estimates by Chairman John Hutchings of the county board.

This figure exceeds the cost of the Nemaha span, the Pony Creek bridge in the same vicinity and the accompanying road work. Hutchings arrived at his total by assuming that 1,500 cars pass over the road daily, as a recent traffic survey indicated. It cost each car twenty-five cents, he estimated, to make the extra mileage.

River Development is Urged by Weaver
Huron, S. D.—Comparable in its potential benefits to the developed Ohio river channel, the Mississippi as a navigable stream, and the great lakes, will be the Missouri river when it becomes a charted water highway thru governmental development, Governor Weaver asserted here Monday night.

The Nebraska executive predicted a new era for the middle west when the dream of inland waterways advocates becomes a reality.

He was speaking before the South Dakota chamber of commerce which was also impressed with what the future may hold in store as predicted in addresses by Governor Bulow of that state, and W. R. Dawes of Chicago, president of the Mississippi Valley's association. Confining his remarks to the possibilities of the "Big Muddy," the Nebraska governor declared the middle west held a valid challenge to the federal government in demanding Missouri river development.

"The necessity is apparent when we know that ten Missouri Valley states produce 46 per cent of all the food and feed grains raised in the United States, that these states produce 55 per cent of these grains entering into interstate commerce; and that half of these interstate shipments go south of the Ohio river and east of the Mississippi," the governor declared.

President Hoover's policy in regard to the Missouri river system, Governor Weaver asserted, is heartening to the west Army engineers, he said, have approved the project without equivocation and the Missouri river is no longer regarded as an outlaw.—State Journal.

NORRIS EAGER TO HAVE COURT DECIDE
Washington, Jan. 20.—Commenting on an announcement from Lincoln that Willard Clapp had filed a protest against his certification as a candidate in the Nebraska senatorial primary, Senator Norris (R.) of Nebraska late today issued the following statement:

"I am not finding fault with Mr. Clapp for filing a protest. It's perfectly proper and I am anxious to have it decided. If officials of the state are going to decide that a man can't select his own political party then it's time I found it out. I've assumed I have a right to decide that question for myself."

"If I haven't the right, the quicker I know it the better. If my record in official life is such that on account of it I must be expelled from the republican party then not only I but millions of other people want to know it."

VOLKER IS BEING SOUGHT
Omaha—An oversight on the part of someone in the clerk of district court's office here ten years ago has permitted George "Dutch" Volker, now out under bond of $1,000, to evade charges of criminal libel, to evade serving of a one to seven year sentence in the state penitentiary, records revealed Monday. And Volker apparently intends to continue to evade it as he has kept out of sight since Friday, when the sheriff's office was ordered to arrest him with the ten year old mandate of the supreme court affirming his sentence. Volker is an associate of Gene Livingston, who has been called Omaha's "alcohol baron."

In 1919 Volker was tried and found guilty of charges of receiving stolen property. He appealed to the supreme court and was freed on a $5,000 bond. The supreme court affirming the sentence a year later, but a body notified the sheriff's office to re-arrest Volker and until last week the matter apparently never was thought of again.

The bond still is good and will be forfeited if Volker does not show up in police court Friday for a hearing on the criminal libel charge, County

CONNIE MACK GETS SET FOR HIS TRIP TO SOUTH
Philadelphia—Connie Mack, sixty-seven-year-old manager of the world champion Philadelphia Athletics, started south Monday for his annual vacation before preparing to lead his team in another campaign for the baseball championship. He will spend most of his time at Plymouth, Fla., golfing and resting. He declared he believed his team would win again, altho it was in for "a tough fight."

Mack announced that Chick Galloway for seven years a shortstop with the A's until released to Detroit in 1927 would be with the Athletics in spring training. Galloway has been disabled since he was struck on the head by a pitched ball in batting practice two years ago. Detroit has released him unconditionally.
