at the Elevator

Andy Moore of Weeping Water was a visitor in Union last Tuesday and was looking after some business matters for a short time.

Fleming Robb and the family were down last week for the sale, and remained for a visit on Sunday, returning home on last Sunday evening.

Mrs. Daniel Lynn has been rather poorly with the rheumatism and some affection like the flu, and has been kept to her home and bed on account of the malady.

Pirl Albin was a visitor in Omaha last week where he went and had a refractory tooth pulled and which had been giving this gentleman trouble for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Ehlers, living south of Union were guests for the day at the home of the parents of Mrs. Ehler, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Becker for the day on last Sunday.

Frank Bauer has not been feeling very well for the past week and has been under the doctor's care, and while he is feeling much better at this time, still he could feel better.

Mrs. W. E. Moore and the two kiddies departed last Wednesday for York, where they are visiting for a time and where treatment is being given their little daughter, Dorothy.

George A. Stites was looking after some business matters in Nebraska City for the afternoon last Monday. Cal Snavely was looking after the business at the elevator during his absence.

John Lidgett has been rather poorly for some time and has been kept to his home during the past week and while up a portion of the time is far from being well, but is showing good improvement.

Mrs. Charles Greene who has been at the maternity hospital at Nebraska City for the past two weeks was able to return home on last Monday morning, Mr. Greene driving down to bring the wife home.

The sale of Fleming Robb which was held last week was a very good one and the property which was sold was of good quality and brought good bidding and was a good sale, they being well pleased with the same.

Chris Matsen was shelling and delivering corn to the Union elevators on last Monday, the shelling being done by Otto Ehlers, and were making good headway when the rain started and the work had to be discontinued.

E. M. Hathaway was not feeling the best during the first portion of this week, but still he was getting around, and when it is sifted down it takes a lot to put Emery out of the running. He however is feeling much better at this time.

Mr. A. L. Becker was a visitor in Omaha on last Tuesday where he was looking after some business matters among which was the sale of a quantity of hard wood lumber, he having much hard wood timber which he can convert into good lumber.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Garrens of Kansas City were visiting for the week end at the home of the mother of Mr. Garrens, Mrs. Mollie Garrens of Union, they enjoying the time with the mother, until late Sunday when they returned to their home. Mrs. Garrens enjoyed the visit very much.

Ray Frans and Rev. W. A. Taylor were over to Plattsmouth on last Sunday where Rev. Taylor officiated at the funeral of the late James Rainey who for a long time was a resident of Union, and who passed away at the hospital at Omaha on last Saturday morning. Mr. Frans attended the funeral.

Mrs. Joseph Banning and son, Lucean, were over to Omaha on last Sunday where they found Mr. Banning doing nicely, and practically without suffering, the fractured bone knitting nicely and he is hoping to be able to return home in the near future.

future. However, it seems long enough for him as well as for the family.

Mrs. C. E. Withrow of Nebraska City was a visitor for a few days in Union and guest with her son, Elmer Withrow and family, and on her return on last Sunday was accompanied by Elmer who took her home and visited with the father, C. E. Withrow who conducts a paper at Shubert, while they make their home at Nebraska City.

Philto Rihn and Clifton B. Smith were over to Omaha on last Sunday where they visited at the hospital Messrs Joe Banning and Edgar Fletcher, who are convalescing, Mr. Banning from an accident which he had and when he sustained a fracture of his leg and injury to his shoulder, and Mr. Fletcher who underwent an operation for appendicitis. Both gentlemen are doing nicely. They also met Mar Spader who is in the hospital. He was formerly a resident of Union, but now making his home at Omaha.

Wholesalers After Chain Stores.

The wholesale houses in this portion of the country, whose salesmen make this territory are very active in what they are doing to put the chain stores out of business and have the trade come to the business houses where the owners are men of this community. This looks eminently right, and with the co-operation of the buying public and the business houses themselves the matter will not be so difficult. It will be noticed that the chain stores do a cash business and when some customers have taken a bill big enough with the local merchant they immediately when they have the cash, go to the chain stores to trade, leaving their unpaid bills for the merchants to worry about. If the local merchants all would adopt the cash plan, the matter would solve itself, for then they could out sell the chain store and would not be suffering great losses in their business.

Business Men's Club.

At the Union Business Men's club, Secretary P. F. Rihn, read a report of the financial condition of the club, in which it was shown that there had been twenty-seven dollars collected and some fifteen dollars and twenty-five cents expended. Dr. A. H. Ackenbach, who has been the president of the club, announced that he had been in Union for a year and had not received enough business during the time to make a living, and had to draw on other sources. He also said that with the coming month he would close the office in Union and return to Nebraska City where he would open an office, and would welcome what business that might come to him from Union and vicinity. He also announced that at the meeting the coming week there would be an election of officers for the coming year. All are requested to be present and select the best man possible for the various positions which there are to fill.

Miss Atteberry Arrives.

On last Monday afternoon, Miss Atteberry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Atteberry arrived in Union via the stork route and was happily received by the parents. The little lady is cherished greatly by the fond mother, and the smiling face of Charles is even more pleasant, if possible on account of the presence of the little lady. All concerned are doing nicely and happiness reigns supreme.

Will Hold Services Sunday.

There will be services at the home of Mr. Mont Robb and daughter, Miss Gussie, on next Sunday, February 9th at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. A cordial invitation to all members and all who so desire to come and worship at that time. The Rev. Luther W. Greber of Omaha will be there and conduct the services.

Happiness Followed by Sorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Green were made happy with the presentation of a son at the hospital at Nebraska City on last Wednesday, which lived but a short time, the loss causing much sorrow. The funeral was held and burial had at the Glendale cemetery near Cedar Creek on Friday afternoon, January 31st. The Rev. W. A. Taylor officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Green have the sympathy of a host of friends in Union and Murray, as well as Cedar Creek in their sorrow.

Will Hold Revival Services.

The Methodist church has concluded to hold revival services beginning with the coming Sunday, February 9th. The Rev. Beebe, pastor, will preach during the day and evening, then the work will be delegated to the Rev. Samuel Breckler of Lincoln, a very able evangelist. The work will be supplemented by Deaconess Miss Hannah Anderson of Omaha, who will work in this place for the entire month, she has been here for the past week and is making her home with the Whitworth family. Mr. Whitworth being superintendent of the Methodist Bible school.

NEW SWEETCORN PRODUCED

New Haven, Conn., Febr. 3.—Effective Monday your old sweet corn is as obsolete as last year's model car or the short skirt.

The Connecticut agricultural experiment station announces that Dr. Donald F. Jones has succeeded in crossing two distinguished old corn families to produce a new variety which not only will elude the arch enemy of the farmer—early frost—but will produce a bigger commercial yield.

The new corn is known as Canada-leaming. It is said to mature in 100 to 110 days.

Dr. Jones' intention was to develop a corn which would adapt itself to the unusual climatic conditions of New England.

Hot Debates on Dry Law Change are in Prospect

Enforcement Transfer Provision Is Reported for Consideration Thursday

Washington—The movement to empower the attorney general to dictate how industrial alcohol permits should be regulated by the secretary of the treasury received more attention in the house Monday as the prohibition enforcement transfer bill was reported for consideration Thursday.

The first of President Hoover's recommendations aimed to strengthen dry law enforcement appeared to face a stormy voyage in the house. A group composed of both wets and dries are determined to eliminate the provision to place the responsibility of administering industrial alcohol jointly with the treasury and justice departments.

Although given legislative preference by the rules committee, the way has been left open for the seven members of the expenditures committee who opposed the provision to bring before the house an amendment to place the sole regulatory power with the attorney general.

Minority for Transfer.
The seven minority members, consisting of five dries and two wets, held in their report Monday that the "illegal division of industrial alcohol under the existing enforcement provisions with dual responsibility, has caused the present deplorable conditions in the enforcement of the prohibition laws." However, they joined the majority in support of the transfer.

The house wets and dries said they would support the group led by Representative Gasque, dry of South Carolina, the ranking democrat on the expenditures committee. He predicted the amendment would be accepted by the house.

Another development in the prohibition tangle occurred before a senate judiciary subcommittee, where Jacob D. Walter, who was being examined as a nominee for United States marshal in Connecticut, replied "yes and no" when asked if he drank. Walter said he favored enforcing the prohibition law and his nomination was unanimously approved. He explained that he had no appetite for drink, but added that he had drunk.

Wet Block to Meet.
The house wet bloc will meet Tuesday to formulate its plan to contest for 2.75 percent beer, repeal of the eighteenth amendment and modification of the Volstead act when hearings open before the house judiciary committee on Feb. 12.

Representative Clancy of Michigan, announced he had received a telegram from Horace W. Bigelow of Parke Davis & Co., a large industrial alcohol consumer, opposing the Williamson bill on the ground that it provides dual control of the permits.

"No legitimate user of alcohol should be required to operate under the supervision of two government departments," the telegram read. It advocated that "unrestricted control of the permit system under the national prohibition act" be given to the treasury department.

Clancy said the house would carry out President Hoover's request for the transfer, but that he would make an effort to keep the permit authority under the treasury.

Wickersham to Be Heard.
Appearing before the rules committee to ask for legislative right of way to house action on the transfer measure, Chairman Williamson held that the rule should allow for amendments. He said that he wanted all matters germane to the proposed legislation to be given consideration, but that only amendments dealing with the transfer should be brought up. The majority report explained details of the bill, pointing out that it did not change the law except just so far as was necessary to effect the transfer.

"The duties, powers and functions imposed upon the secretary of the treasury by the act of Nov. 23, 1921," it said, "creating the bureau of prohibition with respect to prohibition enforcement are transferred to and imposed upon the attorney general." The house judiciary subcommittee will hear Chairman Wickersham of the law enforcement commission Thursday on the Christopherson bills to empower United States commissioners to conduct summary trials of slight and casual prohibition violators, to which considerable opposition has developed on constitutional grounds.—State Journal

CONSPIRACY IS CHARGED

Stuart, Fla.—Charges of conspiracy to defraud in connection with the sale of a $1,000,000 St. Lucie inlet district bond issues to Brown Crumpler company, bond firm of Wichita, Kas., were contained in indictments against two defendants made public here Monday. Seven other defendants were named in similar indictments returned by the county grand jury last Saturday.

Those named in the indictments made public Monday are T. K. Little, an official of the firm of C. A. Steed & Co., paving contractors of West Palm Beach, Fla., and T. H. Getzen, former attorney for the inlet commission. Little is charged with accepting $25,000 from the district funds thru alleged transfers of commissions, and Getzen was charged with "aiding the conspiracy."

Lawmakers Urge Income Tax for Iowa

Revenue Committee Deems Step Advisable; Consider 1 Per Cent Per $1,000

Cedar Rapids, Feb. 3.—The Iowa legislative committee on revenue and taxation, in a meeting held at Cedar Rapids Saturday, discussed the matter of drafting a legislative bill setting up a state income tax and "rather generally agreed that such plan is advisable," Senator C. F. Clark, chairman of the committee, said Monday.

No action toward drafting the bill was taken, Senator Clark said. Assuming that an income tax bill was satisfactory to the committee, he said, no bill would actually be drafted until after the next report to be made in about three months.

1 Per Cent Per $1,000.
Another member of the committee in Des Moines Monday said the income tax bill discussed would contain few exemptions and that the rates very probably would be on the basis of 1 per cent on the first $1,000 of income.

One per cent would be added, he said, for each $1,000 of income up to $5,000, when a flat rate probably would be established.

The corporation tax, he said, was left open for further investigation as to whether it was preferable to have it incorporated in the income tax bill proposed or be a tax of another nature in a separate bill.

The committee set March 7 at Des Moines, as the time and place for the next meeting.—Omaha Bee-News.

MARRIAGE IS SANCTIONED

Washington—With a bridegroom whom her father has never seen, Margaret Couzens, nineteen year old daughter of the Michigan senator, will return from her honeymoon on Friday to a genial family welcome. For her father, caught in a web of his own weaving, has given his sanction to elopement and marriage by William Francis Chewning, twenty-six year old bank clerk. "She took me at my own word,"

Senator Couzens said with a smile Monday, "when many times in the past, I expressed my distaste for the details of big weddings."

He confessed, furthermore that he admired the pluck of the girl in her romance. He even recalled, with affection and a bit of humor, that once half in jest, while another daughter was planning a wedding, he remarked he might have been well pleased with an elopement.
