

Put Your Oats Crop on a Paying Foundation by Seed Treatment with CERESAN

Now is the time to choose between a good stand and big acre yields of oats this season, or poor germination and a short, smutty crop.

By seed treatment with Du Bay Ceresan you can control both loose and covered smuts before you plant.

Controls Smuts—Increases Yields

By preventing crop damage from oats smuts, Ceresan increases yields per acre. The Illinois Agricultural Experiment Station said in a bulletin that Ceresan gave perfect smut control, increasing the yield on smutty 60-Day Oats by 13.8 bushels per acre, and on smutty Big 4 Oats by 19.1 bushels per acre over the yields from untreated seed. These increases were about double the increases obtained by formaldehyde treatment.

Wisconsin Circular 133 states that Ceresan has given very good control of oats smuts. The Plant Disease Reporter for August, 1929, reported that dust treatment with Ceresan gave "good control" of oats smuts in Iowa, and in Kansas, Ceresan dust treatments gave "excellent control" of oats smuts.

For Barley and Other Grains

Used on seed barley, Ceresan gave perfect control of both covered smut and stripe disease and produced a yield increase of over five bushels per acre. Ceresan is also effective in controlling many seed-borne diseases of spring wheat; rye; sorghums, such as kafir-corn and milo-maize; millet and cotton.

Dust seed treatment with Ceresan is quick, easy, inexpensive and harmless to seeds. Only three ounces required per bushel of seed oats, barley or cotton; two ounces per bushel of seed wheat, rye, sorghums or millet. Treat seed now or before sowing. In all sizes from one to 300 pounds. Five pounds, $3.00; twenty-five pounds, $12.50.

Use Semesan Jr. for seed corn; Semesan Bel for seed potatoes; Semesan for vegetable and flower seeds and bulbs.

HIGH SCHOOL RESERVES WIN

From Wednesday's Daily—

As the preliminary to the Florence game last evening the Reserves of the high school took on the reserve strength of the Athletics and hung a defeat on the non-school team by the score of 29 to 16. In the doing of the defeat Henry Donat, center, appeared in the stellar role with Forbes, Yelik, Hirz, Begley and Robinson adding their part in the winning both in scoring and in the fighting floor game that held the Junior Athletics.

The school team led from the start. Forbes and Hirz scoring in the opening period while for the Athletics Henry Krejci received the only counter and at the close of the period the count was 6 to 2 for the school force.

In the second round Rainey, Donat and Begley each rang up a field toss and Gib Hirz a free shot to extend the school lead to 13 to 5, Homer Spangler having secured a goal and Fitch a gift shot.

The contest was marked with much roughness and despite the leniency of Bob Hartford, the man with the whistle, the Junior Athletics drew many fouls and Patterson, one of their star defense men, was sent to the showers while Spangler accumulated three personals.

The third period gave the Athletics a narrower margin as they scored eight points while Henry Donat with two field goals represented the school points.

The last period demonstrated that youth must be served, when the school forces ran rings around their opponents and two baskets each were won by Donat and Yelik while Arn and Robinson each scored one. For the Athletics Keil with one field goal and one free toss represented his team scores.
