The wets get cheers in Congress but not the cheer they seek.

Wonder if Shearer is hiding around in dark corners at London.

All the summer birds seem to be here, and busy as little bees.

Senator Vest was no myth. But we always suspected the dog was.

We suppose that even Chicago used to think Jesse James was tough.

The bootlegger does not dare adopt the slogan "good to the last drop."

As a spring month, February has given March something to shoot at!

The wets still have before them the great task of drying up Brookhart.

Did it ever occur to you that many modern ancient works of art are merely busts?

Would be correct to refer to the chief executive of a sugar water camp as a sap head?

What is the use of self-analysis when the neighbors can tell you just what you are?

It's easy enough to find the entrance to debt, but the exits are few and hard to locate.

The question of the hour is what were all the radio announcers before they quit working.

The poor Chinese soldier never knows whether he will get paid next month or be a rebel.

The opinion the others usually have of the gent who thinks he is the life of the party is that he is dead from the neck up.

Gold once more has been discovered in Alaska. Where it's forty below, the witty ladies no doubt continue to dig in warmer climes.

If styles go back to those of the gay nineties the girls are going to find going to bed a heap more complicated than it has been.

Up in Michigan they've revived the old "sign the pledge" movement which proves that prohibition is growing more successful every day.

What would the Supreme Court of the United States be like if the Senate had full power to set up and enforce the standard of qualification?

A woman complains that too many drinking scenes are being shown in the movies. People go to the movies to be entertained, not to become thirsty.

On the front page of a Boston paper a speech of Count Karolyi's is reported, in which he says we are living in a state of socialism, but we don't know it.

Senator McKellar says Mr. Mellon never tried to enforce the dry law. There are times, we imagine, when the Secretary of the Treasury must weary a bit of those fulsome compliments.

With so much trouble in the world, Spain may have felt herself entitled to a share of it.

Once the rich went to Europe to get cultured; now the cultured come to America to get rich.

Mr. Norris opposed Mr. Hughes because Mr. Borah had an off day and wasn't opposing anything.

Spring, said the editor glumly, is made for poets. And every one of 'em tries to make my pages.

One manufacturer says he will soon produce a fool-proof airplane. Shucks. Give us a fool-proof automobile first.

Even the man who looks as if he would be harder to love than a cootie hasn't any more chance than a rabbit.

Politics and prohibition are becoming so entangled that it is difficult to distinguish one from the other.

Census taking is about to begin, so you'd better decide how much of a lie you're going to tell about your age.

February has been too good to be true, and we are afraid she simply has turned all her rough stuff over to March.

"There stands Massachusetts" may now be revived by the dries into "There staggers the old Bay-rum state."

Considering its demand for naval tonnage the French Chamber, in local politics, seems particularly light-headed.

You won't believe it, but you probably are happier with what you have taken than you would be with what you crave.

Scientist declares that many animals laugh. Well, why shouldn't they? They don't have any easy payments to make.

Ever since Chicago stopped paying her policemen the cops have been pestering the gangsters half to death, but there's nothing so unusual about that, it being commonly known that a hungry hound makes the best hunter.

The subject of caution in automobile driving has been repeated many times. Yet pedestrians who have narrow escapes, and the careful drivers who are almost smashed up as the result of some speeder's "scorching," will not want the newspapers to stop talking about this thing. They will want the subject dinned into the ears of the public indefinitely.

There are some drivers who are impervious to criticism. About the only way to deal with them is to file a complaint against them, take away their license or otherwise penalize them.

The majority of drivers, however, should be accessible to reason, and should realize that the highways are becoming more crowded every year adequate a few years ago, is no longer enough.

Many operators have constantly been doing things which would create an accident if they did not have good luck. If they attempt to pass a car on a curve where their view is hidden, they are likely to have a smash if a car is coming around in the opposite direction at that particular moment. They may do it a number of times and avoid a smash. But the number of cars has doubled in their locality in the past few years, as it has in most sections, the chance of a collision when they perform that stunt has precisely doubled within that time. If they keep doing that thing, it is practically certain that they will have a smash-up in the year future.

It is a most distressing experience to go through an automobile accident. Those who have injured other people bitterly regret their carelessness if they have been at fault. It is infinitely better to show a pleasant spirit of courtesy, take things easy on the roads, and avoid the regret and loss that must come from a serious accident.

THE VANISHING MULE

It is reported by the busy statisticians that the mule is vanishing, that he is to become as the dodo—a memory. It is declared that the modern tractor is pushing him, crowding him, even as the white man pushed and crowded the red masters of the land in the long ago.

Let us be permitted to doubt this cold and calculated prediction. We need the mule. We want something left that we may cuss at and appreciate.

The mule is kindly—unless crossed and abused—and he is patient and useful and ornery. We need him to laugh at, and furnish a vehicle for odious comparison. We know him to be a hybrid; but so is an "irreconcilable" in Congress, and we like the mule better than his congressional likeness, who is neither kindly, patient nor useful.

The mule is faithful and hardy and he can and does kick. So do many people who have less brains than the jackass, and anybody with a sense of the fitness of things would rather ride a mule than a splintered rail.

Anyhow, the jackass is a part of our history. We've never fought a war without him, and without him we couldn't have fought one successfully; and we have never lost a war, the credit naturally, and very largely belongs to the mule.

But perhaps the long-eared and well-heeled best-known representatives from Missouri will not have to go—we hope not—for Robert Freeman, of St. Paul, Minnesota, has organized the first Jackass club. These clubs will be supposed to bray for the farmer and kick dirt into the face of the congressional gentleman who, not so long ago, sneeringly and sarcastically referred to the "sons of the wild jackass;" and it reasonably may be suspected that these militant new crusaders will not go back on the docile and maligned animal whose only real objection is that he consistently and faithfully heads the Democratic ticket. And, as we have pointed out, that is not his fault.

A DEMOCRATIC YEAR

There is something of more than passing significance in the election of W. J. Granfield as member of Congress from Massachusetts to fill the unexpired term of Congressman Kaynor, deceased.

Mr. Granfield is a Democrat. His predecessor was a Republican.

The district from which he was chosen has hitherto been a Republican stronghold. It is the home district of Alvin Oelgide. It is also the home district of Senator Gillett, former Speaker, and Mr. Gillett represented it many years in the lower house.

Nevertheless Mr. Granfield was elected over a strong Republican opponent by a large majority, and the chief issue of the campaign was the Hoover administration—its utter failure to make good the pledges of the last campaign, and to maintain normal business conditions.

There are going to be a lot of results like these when the ballots are counted in the regular congressional election next November.

The American voters are dissatisfied with the Hoover administration and disgusted with its impotency. Multiplied thousands, yea, millions of voters who supported Hoover are now wishing they had voted for the Democratic nominee, who, regardless of all things derogatory that may be said about him, is a man of action who knows how to carry out the principles and policies he proclaims.

Yea, it looks like this is going to be a Democratic year; that chances are more than good to gain a majority in the lower house of Congress.

ORDER OF HEARING and Notice on Petition for Settlement of Account.

In the County Court of Cass county, Nebraska, State of Nebraska, Cass county, ss. To all persons interested in the estate of Mary J. Sullivan, deceased:

On reading the petition of Arthur N. Sullivan praying a final settlement and allowance of his account filed in this Court on the 15th day of February, 1930, and for discharge of Administrator and assignment of estate:

It is hereby ordered that you and all persons interested in said matter may, and do, appear at the County Court to be held in and for said county on the 14th day of March, A. D. 1930, at 10:00 o'clock a. m., to show cause, if any there be, why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted, and that notice of the pendency of said petition and the hearing thereof be given to all persons interested in said matter by publishing a copy of this order in the Plattsmouth Journal, a semi-weekly newspaper printed in said county, for three weeks prior to said day of hearing.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and the seal of said Court this 15th day of February, A. D. 1930.

VALUE OF PUBLICITY

There is nothing so deadly to corruption and mismanagement in governmental affairs as publicity.

Chicago's financial mess dates back to favoritism and incompetence that prevailed in her tax assessments. For many years the assessments were kept secret; and so, though they were amazingly unequal and unjust, no one knew it, and those who were being fleeced never protested.

A couple of years ago, however, the States Tax Commission ordered the assessment published. And then the trouble came. Chicago citizens rose in wrath, and while the present period of bankruptcy is mighty unpleasant it will end in a much fairer, more efficient assessment, and Chicago will be much better off.

Shady political exploits are always pulled off in the dark. If the light of publicity is kept shining all the time graft and incompetence can't get very far.

NOTICE TO UNKNOWN AND NON-RESIDENT DEFENDANTS

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

In the District Court of Cass County, Nebraska

In Re Application of J. A. Capwell, Administrator d. b. n., of the Estate of David J. Hoenschell, Deceased, for License to Sell Real Estate.

Now on this 15th day of February, 1930, there was presented to the Court the petition of J. A. Capwell, Administrator d. b. n., of the estate of David J. Hoenschell, deceased, for license to sell that part of Lot 7 in Jones' First Addition to the Village of Greenwood, Cass county, Nebraska, described as follows: Beginning in the northeast corner of said Lot 7, and running thence west 20 rods, thence south 2 rods, thence east 20 rods, thence north 2 rods to the place of beginning; also the undivided one-half of Lot 10 in Jones' First Addition to the Village of Greenwood, Cass county, Nebraska; also all of Lot 24 in Jones' Second Addition to the Village of Greenwood, Cass county, Nebraska, for the purpose of paying the costs of administration of said estate.

And it appearing that there is not sufficient personal estate in the hands of the Administrator d. b. n., to pay the costs of said administration; and—

It is further appearing that the personal property collected by said Administrator d. b. n., amounts to $56.27 and that the costs of administration will be approximately $500.00 and that an order should be entered directing all persons interested in said estate to appear and show cause why license should not be granted to said Administrator, d. b. n., to sell said real estate.

It is therefore ordered that all persons interested in the estate of David J. Hoenschell, deceased, appear before James T. Begley, Judge of the District Court within and for Cass county, Nebraska, on the 31st day of March, 1930, at 10 o'clock a. m., at Chambers, in the Court House, in the City of Plattsmouth, Nebraska, to show cause, if any, why a license should not be granted to J. A. Capwell, Administrator d. b. n., of the estate of Katie Hoenschell, deceased, to sell that part of Lot 9 in Jones' First Addition to the Village of Greenwood, Cass county, Nebraska, described as follows: Beginning in the northeast corner of said Lot 9 and running thence west 20 rods, thence south 2 rods, thence east 20 rods, thence north 2 rods to the place of beginning; also the undivided one-half of Lot 10 in Jones' First Addition to the Village of Greenwood, Cass county, Nebraska; also all of Lot 24 in Jones' Second Addition to the Village of Greenwood, Cass county, Nebraska, for the purpose of paying the costs of administration of said estate.

It is further ordered that a copy of this order to show cause be served upon all persons interested in said estate by publication of this order for four successive weeks in the Plattsmouth Journal, a newspaper printed and of general circulation in the County of Cass, Nebraska.

By the Court. JAMES T. BEGLEY, Judge of the District Court. f17-4w
