HINDENBURG AIDS FARMERS

Berlin—President Von Hindenburg again departed from his traditional reserve in matters political by signing the hotly contested German-Polish liquidation agreement to advance a proposal for farm relief. Realizing that Germany's eastern provinces are fighting for their very lives and that they stand or fall by agricultural relief, he proposed in a message to Chancellor Mueller, accompanying his signature, that industry should turn over part of its reserve for farm relief—thereby establishing a certain equilibrium between industry and agriculture. "Commercial treaties concluded in the last few years and the new German-Polish commercial agreement," he said, "have, in order to provide Germany industry with new possibilities in trade, imposed great sacrifices upon agriculture by admission of imported farm products and have caused in many sections—especially in the east—the interpretation that intentional neglect of vital agricultural interests is involved."

High School Basketball Team Banquet

Delightful Event Held at the High School Last Evening—Chet Wiles Elected Captain

From Wednesday's Daily—The high school banquet to the members of the basketball squad the school who have just completed their season of work, was held last evening at the home economics room of the school and was in every way a wonderful affair.

The girls of the home economics department had charge of the preparation and serving of the banquet and which in its preparation and handling was perfect in every detail. The decorative features of the banquet were in keeping with the St. Patrick's day theme and the green shamrocks were used in many ways in the tasteful arrangement of the banquet room, the programs of the evening being in the form of a shamrock booklet. The tables had centerpieces of the small Blarney castles with the Irish flag while at the speakers table the traditional basketball was placed.

Carrying out the St. Patrick's day coloring the bevy of attractive young ladies serving the repast wore white headresses with the large green shamrocks.

The dinner was one that reflected the greatest credit on the girls of the home economics department and their able instructor, Miss Theresa Haley, they preparing and serving the following menu:

- Fruit Cocktail
- Spanish Steak - Mashed Potatoes
- St. Patrick's Salad
- Buttered Peas Hot Rolls
- Pistachio ice cream
- Relish - Mint Jelly
- Shamrock wafers
- Coffee

While the banquet was in the course of serving the songs and cheers of the boys and girls were mingled with the snappy and much enjoyed piano numbers that Charles Nowacek, the senior piano wizard, produced for the occasion, and as R. Foster Patterson, the toastmaster, expressed, the school is going to miss very much this talented young man who graduates this year.

The toast list was presided over by R. Foster Patterson, principal of the high school, who made a very clever toastmaster and with an array of original jingles started the rounds of fun that lasted until the conclusion of the evening, bringing forth many humorous stories on the various members of the banquet party.

The toastmaster made the presentation to Roy Turner, one of the outstanding members of the high school team, of the national honor given to the high school letter men that had a scholastic average for three semesters that was higher than the average of the school. The retiring basketball captain is the only one so far this season to gain this honor, although the school has had other members in the past, Robert Hartford, Joe Hartford, Robert Fitch, Lyle Lawton, Warren Farmer, Ira Mumm and Robert Hartford.

The members of the team were largely heard in the toastmaster's responses in that the senior members of the team, Roy Turner, Ira Mumm and Hershel Dew, expressed their regret at the close of their high school basketball career and wishing success to the team in the future. For the coming season, Sam Arn promised to place on the first team next season. For the team members that remain for next season, Chet Wiles expressed the thought, "Till We Meet Again."

In the musical features of the evening James Bagley was heard in two very fine vocal selections, the accompaniment being given by Charles Nowacek and in these James was at his best. David Robinson also added to the pleasures of the evening with two well rendered musical selections that were much enjoyed.

Coach Fred Rothert talked of "Seven Years of Basketball," and in which he reviewed the teams of the past and the present, the fine record that the school has achieved in being in the highest ranks of state basketball for season after season and while the present year had not been the best the promise of new material promised much for the future. In his gallery of outstanding players of his service here, Coach Rothert designated Joe Krejci, Russell Wasley, Sterling Hatt, Edgar Wescott, Bernard Galloway and Roy Turner as having made records that had gained them state wide recognition.

A serious thought in the evening of fun was that of Superintendent R. E. Bailey, who took the game of basketball as his theme to weave into it a practical talk on the playing of the game of life by the players when they are out into the world and participating in the affairs of the world—the clean sportsmanship of the court being carried into the affairs of the individual in his life.

Brief acknowledgments of the occasion and well wishes to the players were given by Mrs. John F. Gorder of the board of education and Dr. O. C. Hudson, who has served as medical aid for the team in the past several years.

The banquet also honored Frederick Wehrlein and Edward Howard, cheer leaders, who were presented with special letters for the service that they have given and special tribute paid to Fred who is retiring from his work as leader this year through graduation.

The award of the letters were then made by Coach Rothert, the letter men selected being Roy Turner, Chester Wiles, Ira Mumm, John Galloway, Robert Hartford, Garland Mc-

The election of the honorary captain for the past season and the new captain for this year was taken up and the selection of Roy Turner for the past season was made while for the coming season Chester Wiles, left guard of the team, was made by the letter men.

The Reserves who have made a real record this year were also given the opportunity of selecting a honorary captain for the past season and for which the members of the team selected Clarence Forbes, one of the hard workers of the team for this honor.

SENATORS VISIT HOOVER

Washington—Early action on the public buildings and federal road act measures in the senate was assured President Hoover Thursday at a conference with senate republican leaders—Watson and McNary. Discussing the legislative program at a white house parley, the senate leaders informed the president they believed it would be five or six more weeks before the tariff bill could be sent to adjournment of the session before June 25 was held to be unlikely.

Senator Watson has promised to give right of way in the senate to the Muscle Shoals legislation as soon as the tariff is out of the way. However, he believes that the emergency public buildings and federal road act measures can be quickly disposed of as a part of the employment program.

After Muscle Shoals, Watson expects prohibition to get the senate's attention. The house bill to transfer the prohibition unit from the treasury to the justice department will be the basis of the senate's wet and dry discussion.
