Here they come!

ABOUT every four months the average man, woman and child buys a new pair of shoes—and in the picture we see the Jones family on their way to make another investment in footwear.

The Joneses are a good average type of American people. They are neither miserly nor extravagant. They like to dress well, but they are not going to waste their money.

They want stylish shoes, but they must be good. They expect from the shoes they buy the good lasting appearance and the solid comfort that only shoes made of all good leather can give.

And so they buy "Star Brand" shoes—yes, sir, for they've learned from experience that the International Shoe Company, the makers of "Star Brands", build good, all-leather shoes that wear well, look well and fit well.

They know that "Star Brand" shoes represent the greatest dollar value in footwear that they can buy.

On top of it all, they want their shoes properly fitted as to size and width—and they want to buy them at the store that likes to live and let live—

So the Joneses are coming to see us.
