

They Could'nt All Be Wrong!

Did you see the large crowds at our store last Saturday—in fact every day for the past couple of weeks since the roads have been good and people could get to town easily? Did they look as if they had made a mistake, as you observed them quickly helping themselves to the things they wanted and had jotted down on their lists? Our continuous growth in volume of sales, indicates the people are strong for our method of doing business and the "low-price—high-quality" reputation we have so justly earned. Come in Saturday with your big list. Plenty of competent checkers and more space provided to get your bill tabulated and goods sacked promptly. We strive to serve you most efficiently.

GAMBLE TO BE KWKH TALKER

John W. Gamble, Omaha manufacturer and civic worker and former Plattsmouth city school superintendent, will speak on "What Price Chain Stores?" over W. K. Henderson's radio station, KWKH, at Shreveport, La., Friday evening at 10:15 o'clock central standard time. Gamble had been invited several times previously to talk from the station, but declined.

44-HOUR WEEK FOR POSTOFFICES PASSED

Washington, April 1.—April providing a 44-hour week for all government workers except those in the postal service and government printing office was passed Tuesday by the senate. It now goes to the house.

LICENSE IS REFUSED TO THE FORD COMPANY

Washington—The radio commission has refused to renew the license of station WAV, operated by the Ford Motor company, at Dearborn, Mich., to maintain communication with its ships on the lakes. The license expires Wednesday and the Ford company has been granted a hearing here April 8 on the question of renewal. The commission contends the station is a private enterprise not complying with the public service requirements of the radio law. Public utility radio companies, the commission declares, can furnish the required service.

Free Lecture on Missouri River Navigation

Opportunity to Learn Much About This Timely Subject—Four Reels of Pictures.

For years—yes, centuries, there has gurgled and swirled past us on its way to the ocean a never ending stream of turbulent water making its swift way to the lower Mississippi enroute to the Gulf of Mexico.

In these countless years about the most important thing folks living along this mighty river have learned about it is that it is a demon of waste when it gets unruly and goes out to find new channels—and that it has to be bridged with strong and costly structures in order that people may get back and forth.

These facts have given it a proverbial black eye in the minds of many who live along its banks or in so-called river towns.

But, now, government engineers are proclaiming the possibility of putting it to tremendous good use in aiding the transportation problems of the middle west and congress is appropriating money to pay for this great work. Already it has been harnessed below Kansas City and its channel straightened and deepened so that heavily loaded boats ply up and down its banks.

Right now soundings are being made below this city, in the vicinity of Omaha and further up, to secure data for use in blue printing the task of harnessing it as far north as Sioux City. The coming year will see work done as far as Omaha.

That's why the Chamber of Commerce has an active Docks and Harbors committee, headed by Judge Begley, and is making every effort to get our people more navigation-minded—more able to see in this "Big Muddy," as it is often called, a power for good—a natural advantage to our growth instead of merely the agency of destruction and hindrance to vehicular traffic it has so long been condemned as being.

To this end the Docks and Harbors committee has arranged for the engineers of Woods Brothers corporation, of Lincoln, to come here on the evening of April 10th, with their four reel moving picture and illustrated lecture depicting river work and its results. This firm has had large contracts in the south, along the lower Mississippi and elsewhere, and is qualified to give authoritative and interesting data on the possibilities of navigation and adequate inland waterways.

Their lecture will be devoid of any advertising or stock selling promotion and is given solely to the end of better acquainting people in river towns with the advantages that are here waiting to be developed and capitalized upon—an undertaking that the government will finance and carry out in the next few years.

The American Legion is donating its building, believing that the subject is worthy of study, and the attendance of the public—both men and women is urged.

Local Ext. Clubs Hold Achievements.

Three of the women's extension clubs have completed the year's work on "Accessories for the House," and for a closing meeting entertained their husbands and children.

All three clubs, the Golden Rod of Weeping Water, Center and Morning Glory of near Elmwood, have finished more than the required quota of goals.

The programs consisted of recitations, playlets, readings and musical numbers, both vocal and instrumental. The large exhibits showed that the women have applied a great many of the principles demonstrated.

4-H Clubs.

Four new 4-H clubs have sent in application blanks during the past week. They include the Eagle Live-wire pig club with Keith Alt-house as leader, a dairy calf club of Eagle under the leadership of Watson Norris, the Nimble Thimble clothing club of Nehawka with Mrs. Paul Murdock as local leader and Mrs. Chas. Green's clothing club of Union.

The present enrollment consists of twenty-nine clubs with 316 members.

Feeders Day at Lincoln.

Friday, April 18th will be the annual feeders day at the college of agriculture, Lincoln. A meat cutting demonstration is one of the features. Some of the subjects that will be discussed are: The wintering of a better grade of cattle, summer feeding and selling in the fall when the market is stronger; creep feeding calves, ratios for fattening heifers, and results of experimental work at the college.

A program for the farm women is being planned in connection with the regular program. A meat cutting demonstration is one of the features. It is hoped that the livestock feeders will bring their wives along and enjoy the program that has been arranged for them.

1930 Corn Yield Contest.

Now is the time to enter the 1930 corn yield contest. "There were 234 entries in the state contest last year and there is expected to be between three and four hundred this year," says P. H. Stewart, extension agronomist.

Of the twelve members in the 100 bushel corn club of Nebraska, four of these are in Cass county. In 1928 Otto Schafer of Nehawka won the eastern section and state when he produced 108 bushel. Nelson Berger of Nehawka, was second with a yield of 101 bushel. In 1929 Eugene Day of Weeping Water had the high yield in the eastern section with a 107.4 bushel yield and Lee Paris of Union was third with 104.7 bushel.

This is certainly sufficient proof that Cass county farmers can grow corn and to maintain this record they should join the 1930 contest. The men completed the project in Cass county last year and the goal is fifteen for this year.

Rules for the 1930 contest are:

1. The corn yield contest is open to any person farming in Nebraska, who is more than 18 years of age.
2. The field entered must contain at least 10 acres and be in one piece, but may be a part of a larger field. Yields of corn should be determined sometime between October 20th and December 1st.
3. Yields where the records from the whole fields are not available are to be determined by the contestant and a local committee of two as follows: In at least ten representative areas in different parts of the 10-acre field two adjoining rows five rods long are to be husked and weighed and their weight in pounds recorded on the record blank together with the number and length of rows husked, and the distance between the rows. If the field is uneven more than 10 of the above described areas should be husked.
4. The scoring of the contestants will be on the following basis. Yield per acre 65 per cent, profit per acre 25 per cent, quality 10 per cent.
5. The committee when determining the yield shall secure a representative unselected lot of ear corn weighing exactly 20 pounds net weight. This must be shipped to the College of Agriculture where the moisture and shelling per cent will be determined. All yields will be figured on the basis of shelled corn calculated to a uniform moisture content. These samples will also be used in determining quality. The shelled corn from these samples will be entered in a shelled corn class at the winter show of the Nebraska Crop Growers Ass'n and judged on the basis of market corn. Adequate prizes will be paid.
6. For this contest the state will be divided into central and western regions with all irrigated corn regardless of location put into a separate class.
7. Contestants producing more than the goal for their section on the contest field will be given a Certificate of Achievement by the Agricultural College. For each year the goal is equalled or passed by a contestant, he will be presented with a seal and when five such seals have been won, the contestant will be given special recognition as a corn grower. The presentation of certificates, seals, and reports on the corn growing contest will be made a part of the annual program of the Nebraska Crop Growers Association during Organized Agriculture at Lincoln.
8. Man labor will be figured at 35 cents per hour and horse labor at 20 cents per hour which also covers machinery cost. Tractor costs will

Auburn to Have Service from Texas Gas Line

Great Enthusiasm Over New Line That Will Cross Missouri River Here

The residents of Auburn are very enthusiastic over the coming of the natural gas line from Texas and which will cross the Missouri river at this place on its line to Chicago.

The Auburn Herald in speaking of this important development for this section of Nebraska has the following to say:

"Nothing is asked in the way of a bonus or guarantee, but on the other hand the company will depend entirely upon business secured through the sale of gas. So far as possible mains are laid in alleys and the gas piped to the property line and meter installed at the cost of the company.

"The gas comes from McPherson and Barber counties field in Kansas, although lines are to be constructed that will take gas from the Amarillo field in Texas. The pipeline enters the state a short distance southeast of Fairbury and will cross the eastern part of Nebraska to Plattsmouth. A branch line serves Grand Island, Hastings and Kearney and other parts of the state."

Auburn is to be served with a 22-inch main. The Herald says, "assuring us of a never-failing supply at proper pressure. The coming of natural gas to Auburn will mean the beginning of a new era of prosperity. Not only will homes be supplied with this modern means of heating and cooking and all other domestic uses to which gas can be put, but it will be ample and cheaper fuel available for manufacturing purposes. The lack of fuel has always been a handicap to manufacturing in this part of the country."

ACHIEVEMENT PROGRAM

The Social Circle club will give their Achievement program on April 8th. They will also hold a bazaar and a 5c per item lunch. The public is invited. m31-lsw
