Williams received the sad intelligence last week of the death of a nephew, Mr. Arley Grant, and departed immediately, and was met in Omaha by a sister, Miss Tillie Huff of Bone Suel, South Dakota, the ladies proceeding to Chicago together. When they had arrived there they found that the nephew had dropped dead while at his work in a garage. They arrived there in time for the funeral and as there were two brothers of the deceased, they remained for a visit with them while there. On Sunday they all drove to Milwaukee which is 90 miles away, via the direct route and via the lake shore 120 miles. They went the lake shore drive and returned the other way. Mrs. Williams is expecting to be home during the latter portion of this week.

HAD RHEUMATISM 35 YEARS; THEN KONJOLA WON

Farmer, Aged 75, Given Quick Relief by New and Different Medicine.

MR. CHAS. A. JONES

"I have found Konjola to be a wonderful medicine, the greatest I have taken in all my long life," said Mr. Charles A. Jones, R. F. D. No. 2, Mankato, Minn. "About 25 years ago I had an attack of rheumatism and it has hung on all these years. My joints became so stiff and sore I could hardly walk. I had trouble also, recently with my stomach and kidneys. Indigestion pains followed practically every meal, and due to kidney weakness my rest was broken by frequent night risings. "I had heard a great deal about Konjola and decided to use it. I must say it has done wonders. I have taken four bottles and can walk a great deal better, and am feeling better in every way. Konjola is, by all means, the best medicine I have found and I am going to keep right on taking it, for it seems to be helping me more and more each day." On such victories is the fame of Konjola based. Though Konjola is powerful in the obstinate cases of the aged, it may be given to the infant. A treatment of from six to eight bottles is recommended for best and thorough results. Konjola is sold in Plattsmouth by Mauzy Drug Company, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

fighters, the feeling still existed. Better have the insurance carry the risk. CREDIT TO MEXICAN ARMY

Nozales, Ariz.—Returning to the United States Monday, J. D. Bristow, San Angelo, Tex., oil and mining man, credited Mexican army officers with saving his life while he was in the hands of bandits in the mountains of Nayarit for more than a month. Bristow explained that while he was held captive, the Mexican army men did some "kidnaping" also, taking into custody the father and another relative of Cruz Delgado, the bandit chief, and holding them as hostages for the safe release of the American. "I think that saved my life," said the Texan.

Gen. Pablo Rodriguez, commander of the federal troops in Nayarit and Colonel Figaro effected the capture of Delgado's relatives. Bristow said that General Rodriguez, E. W. Eaton, United States vice consul at Mazatlan, and German consul Eugene Hildebrandt at Tepic did everything possible to obtain his release.

STATE HISTORY STUDY URGED

Lincoln, April 14.—New history for old is the latest innovation for Nebraskans suggest by George Jackson, state fair board secretary. Believing study clubs and civic organizations should devote more time and thought to consideration of the background of their own state, Mr. Jackson proposes to substitute a study of the ancient with the more modern story of early-day Nebraska.

His plan, he said, Monday, has been presented to numerous Lincoln study clubs who make a specialty of delving into the legends of ancient Rome and Greece and they have tentatively decided his theory is not far amiss.

To prepare a course of suggested study a committee composed of Mr. Jackson, Joe Alden, state publicity bureau head, and C. W. Taylor, superintendent of schools, will work together.

Jefferson is Hailed as a Liberal Crusader

Freedom in the Right of Religious Worship Eulogized—Is Supported by Senators.

Charlottesville, Va.—Thomas Jefferson, the crusader for the right of religious worship, was eulogized by representatives of three religious faiths and two major political parties observing the one hundred eighty-seventh anniversary of his birth, at Monticello Sunday afternoon. Senator Fess, Ohio, spoke from the portico of the mansion on the mountain top. After a procession to Jefferson's grave, there was a prayer by Bishop Collins Denny of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, protestant representative, and brief remarks by Rabbi Edward N. Callish, Richmond, representing the Jews, and the Rev. John A. Kelliher, Richmond, speaking for the Roman Catholics.

A score of wreaths were placed on the grave, among them a simple design of palms and magnolia leaves sent by President Hoover, placed on the monument by Senator Fess. An airplane circling overhead, dropped flowers.

Sunday was the second of the three day observance commemorating the birth of Jefferson. Saturday at the founders' day exercises at the University of Virginia, he was remembered as Jefferson the educator; Monday, in an address over a nation-wide radio hookup, Dr. Edwin Anderson Alderman, president of the university, will eulogize Jefferson the statesman.

"It would be difficult for us to overestimate the supreme importance of Jefferson accomplishments and the liberty of a great people," said Senator Fess. "The enfranchisement of the human intellect in matters of freedom of thought, including the freedom of religion, is perhaps the greatest boon to the human race. We may properly regard his labors as the foundation of that progress in civilization which finds its truest flowering in a spirit of toleration that has made America the home of the oppressed world. Jefferson never meant more to the freedom loving people of the earth than he does today."

Senator Fess characterized the Virginia statute for religious freedom as "the greatest yearning of the enfranchised human mind that we have in history at this time."

Senator Dill said: "If we were to write a new declaration of independence under the inspiration of Jefferson's principles we should write it in the terms of 1920. The new declaration should not be a repudiation of monarchy, but a vote against the rule of money. It should not be a breaking away from feudalism, but an overturning of monopolies and mergers, whereby a few individuals exploit millions of people by profiteering practices that defy the government. That new declaration should be a clarion call to a revolution with ballots to prevent our becoming a nation of employees under an oligarchy of money kings."

DOWN IN BIRMINGHAM

"Every city should have an annual paint-up campaign. March is a good time to begin, but April is the regular time in this part of the country. Let's make the coming month notable as a fresh paint festival. Every building should have its new dress of paint annually, but the quality of the paint should be of the best. But if a year is allowed to pass by without this needed attention, the alternate year at least should witness this 'shining up.' Paint not only heightens the esthetic attractiveness of a home, but is a wonderful preservative. No economy is more obvious. Within the next few weeks all the house painters should be working overtime. If this be the rule, Birmingham, by the early summer, will seem in the pink of condition; especially if with this 'paint up' we have a general clean up campaign. Now is the time for rejuvenation. Let's go to it."

President Urges Entrance Into the World Court

Address Before Meeting of Daughters of the American Revolution Plans for Court.

Washington, April 14.—Before the Daughters of the American Revolution, traditionally opposed to foreign entanglements, President Hoover Monday night urged American adherence to the permanent court of international justice of the League of Nations.

The address came as a complete surprise. Following close upon the Illinois primaries in which Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, of the league court was victorious on that issue, there was an impression in official circles that the president might not renew his efforts for United States adherence.

"Paves Way." The president devoted his entire time to a discussion of international affairs. He declared that the "success" of the London naval armaments conference and the Kellogg-Briand pact for the renunciation of war had paved the way for the United States to go into the league court, on the theory that all American disputes with other nations should be peacefully settled by the international tribunal.

"Such a court—the world court—has been established at the Hague with the aid of American jurists," the president said. "It has been accepted by 90 per cent of the civilized people of the earth. It is established and no other court is practicable."

"Adherence to that court by the United States has been earnestly recommended by every one of our presidents and every one of our secretaries of state living since its inception."

The president emphasized the opinion that even should the senate finally approve American membership in the League of Nations court, there should be no alliances for the use of force or coercion.

neighbors, but each of our governments will direct its thoughts toward securing the peace of the world."

The president reviewed the efforts of the world to attain a limitation in naval armaments and declared that for the first time the United States and Great Britain have reached what he declared to be an absolute parity, or equality.

He declared, however, that for a long time to come, or until the international court has been thoroughly tested, the United States would have to maintain adequate national defenses.—Omaha Bee-News.

WARMING UP TO CAMPAIGN

Chicago—Cook county democrats denounced Cook county republicans Monday and vice versa as both parties held their conventions. The democrats declared against American adherence to the world court, urged repeal of the Jones law, Volstead act and Illinois search and seizure law and favored consolidation of all Cook county taxing bodies.

HERSHEY LOSES IN POPULATION

North Platte, April 14.—Hershey, a village about 13 miles west of this city, has a population of nine less than it had in 1920, according to the recent census made there by the federal government. In 1920 the population was found to be 482 and this year it is 473. Marsten Van Doran, Hershey merchant and community head, made the survey.

Birdwood precinct, which is north-west of Hershey, has been covered by the enumerator. The precinct has 40 farms and ranches with a population of 196, five more than were counted 10 years ago. There is some speculation here concerning North Platte in reference to its holding the position of the state's fifth city after the census has been completed here.

Fraud Charges Followed Up by Prompt Action

Alleged Corruption in Postoffice Leases to Be Investigated—Favorable to Inquiry.

Washington—Investigation by the senate of government postoffice building leases, of which there are more than 1,200, was virtually assured Monday. Administration leaders permitted a resolution by Senator Blaine, Wisconsin, to be referred to the committee on audit and control, for approval of expenditures, without the routine procedure of going first to the postoffice committee. The resolution calls for a broad inquiry into charges of corruption and fraud in connection with the leases.

Chairman Deneen of the audit committee, said later he would call a meeting for consideration of the measure "immediately" after it was received—probably Tuesday—and that he would call for an early report to the senate.

Favorable to Inquiry.

The committee chairman said he could not forecast the committee's action, but it was generally expected that the report would be favorable. The resolution, introduced at the beginning of lengthy discussion, calls for an appropriation of $10,000 for the investigation.

Claims Fraud and Corruption.

Wholesale charges of fraud and corruption were leveled at the postoffice department by Blaine while the senate was considering appropriations for the department. Blaine asserted that the department had been "criminally negligent" and that the justice department had withheld records of reports connected with transactions of the St. Paul and other leases.

Attacks on the St. Paul Lease

Attacks on the St. Paul lease centered on charges that the rental of $120,000 a year was excessive; that the building had been condemned by municipal health authorities; and

REFERENDUM ON DRY LAW

Chicago—The Illinois Association Opposed to Prohibition issued a statement Sunday night reviewing the results of the primary election and regarding the contest between former Senator J. Hamilton Lewis and Representative Ruth Hanna McCormick for the United States senate as tantamount to a referendum on the prohibition question.

"The nomination of a distinguished champion of liberty and of an outstanding supporter of prohibition for the United States senate," said the statement "provides the voters with an opportunity to register their convictions next November. If the voters place their devotion to freedom and good movement above party allegiance the result cannot be in doubt."

Statement, signed by T. Thiels as state director, said that "liberal" strength in the lower house of the assembly will be sustained.

"Four years ago," it read, "the liberal forces secured control of the Illinois house of representatives. The liberal lead in that body will be maintained during the session of 1930. The closest estimate possible at this time indicates a liberal membership of eighty-four against sixty-nine drys."

SUPERINTENDENTS IN STATE SHOULD ATTEND THIS MEET

The superintendent and principals' conference scheduled for April 26th at Lincoln, should be a most important professional meeting in the state, here conferences can be to Nebraska education what the N. E. A. Department of Superintendence is in the nation's educational program. It's work is largely concerned with strictly professional and technical matters and might well serve to secure a desirable measure of unity on current practices in school administration.

It is recognized that there are many educational meetings which school men are called upon to attend. Naturally, it is impossible and frequently inadvisable for everyone to attempt to attend all of them. However, the automobile and good roads have made it possible for teachers in administrative positions in all parts of the state to attend such meetings as this with a minimum loss of time and at minimum expense.

President R. E. Bailey is proposing a program that will discuss problems right off the firing line.—The Nebraska Educational Journal.

There is a chance to save some real money in school supplies in the cleanup sale of school tablets at the Bates Book & Gift shop.
