

Noted Orchestra Coming to Plattsburgh Tuesday Evening, May 6th

Frank Tracy (at left) and James N. Brown, who are bringing their famous Tracy-Brown Columbia Recording Orchestra to this city to play for American Legion dance next Tuesday night, May 6th.

The Tracy-Brown orchestra which will play for the American Legion dance in Plattsburgh next Tuesday night, is well known throughout this part of the country, having played in Omaha before leaving for the east two years ago. They played here for the opening dance in the new Legion building almost three years ago, which was attended by the largest dance crowd ever assembled at a dance in Nebraska, outside of the larger Lincoln and Omaha auditoriums and coliseums. It was the size of the crowd they played to here then that induced them to allot one of their few days' spare time while en route from Pittsburgh to play a summer engagement at The Casino, Lake Okoboji, Iowa, to playing a dance engagement here. These boys have stepped up the ladder of musical success since they appeared here three years ago, in that they are one of the most popular orchestras of the east and during the winter season when they play regularly at the William Penn hotel in Pittsburgh, they are heard over Station KDKA at frequent intervals and are now considering a series of chain broadcasts over one of the big networks.

Responses are Coming in on C. of C. Invitation

Henry Field Among Those Signifying Intention to Attend Luncheon and Bridge Dedication.

Every mail is bringing in one or more responses to invitations now being mailed out to mayors, newspaper men and prominent officials and cities of towns east and west of Plattsburgh along the route that will be served by direct connection over the new Plattsburgh bridge, to attend the complimentary luncheon and dedication program of the bridge here on Friday, May 16th. Among the latest responses to arrive is one from Henry Field, well known radio man, of Shenandoah, who says, "You bet, I'll be there." Governor Weaver, of Nebraska, a personal representative of Governor Hammill, of Iowa, who is on a campaigning tour and cannot spare time to attend in person, together with members of the Iowa Highway commission, highway engineers of Iowa and Nebraska and other prominent officials will be among those present. Plates will be laid for 200 at the noonday luncheon, which is to be followed by the parade of decorated cars and floats to the parking space being provided at the east end of the bridge on the Iowa bottom. The dedicatory program will begin at 2:30 in the afternoon. A free bridge throughout the day and evening will permit of the greatest intermingling of Iowa and Nebraska citizens during the afternoon and at the dance in the evening at the Legion community building. Efforts are being made to have the 17th infantry band here to lead the parade and to play a concert during the course of the afternoon. A 4-column mat picture of the head of the organization, served with the 35th Division during the world war, and was organizer of the first Radio Post of the Legion, which was formed and conducted over Station KFFF at Oklahoma City in 1925. Membership in this post was open only to veterans living in towns where there were no Legion posts. The Radio Post won national publicity and their broadcasts were followed with interest by Legionnaires throughout the country. Tracy himself is a member of Oklahoma City Post No. 35, and several members of the Tracy-Brown organization belong to other Legion posts throughout the country.

One of the featured artists with the orchestra is "Little Wayne" Vargason, known as the "Singing Marine" for the reason that he served with the 5th Marines during the world war. "Little Wayne" who is a towering giant in size, has sung many a song for dance crowds over the country since he started with the orchestra in 1923, and is a most popular entertainer.

Tickets for this dance will cost $1.25 per couple, all extra and unaccompanied ladies, 25c, and gentlemen spectators, 50c. Remember the date—Tuesday evening, May 6th.

bridge and advance news story of the dedication is being mailed to nearby newspapers throughout the closer counties and to every county seat as far west as Hastings and east to Burlington. Superintendent Baird of the Burlington shops has requested permission to close the shops on Friday afternoon instead of Saturday of that week, so that shopmen may participate in the celebration. Other important announcements will be made from day to day, and the co-operation of Plattsburgh organizations and individuals is asked, to the end that this may be made one of the biggest events in recent years.

Aulden Turk, Long Time Resident of County

Sketch of Life of Loved Resident of Near Elmwood for His Lifetime—Burial at Old Home.

While it was known that his condition was very serious and that he could not live very long, the death of Aulden Turk comes with great sorrow to this community. He was liked by everybody. Funeral services were held from the Splain & Schnell Undertaking parlors at Lincoln, on Tuesday afternoon and the chapel was filled with friends to pay their last respects to Aulden Turk. The services were conducted by Rev. Kratzer of the Christian church of this city. In his sermon he paid high tribute to the deceased—dwelling especially upon his kind and gentle care of his mother and of his father. His life was a life of unselfish service. Rev. Kratzer's sermon was filled with consolation for the sorrowing relatives and friends. After the services the remains were brought to Elmwood, where they were buried in the grave by the Masonic Order. Following is an outline of his life:

Aulden Turk was born on a farm near Elmwood, Nebraska, Sept. 13, 1867, and passed to the Great Beyond at 5:00 p. m. Sunday, April 27, 1930, having attained the age of 53 years, 7 months and 9 days.

He spent his entire life in the community where he was born until April 10th, when he with his father moved to Lincoln, hoping that a complete rest might stay the ravages of the disease from which he was suffering and let him remain awhile longer with the father who needs his care so much. But seemingly his mission here below is finished and there remains only the hallowed memory of a dear son.

The deceased was the only child of James and Josephine Turk. His mother answered the final summons March 1, 1925. While she lived her care and comfort were ever uppermost in his mind. He sacrificed his own pleasures and desires that she might be made happy.

On April 30th, 1928, his father was stricken with paralysis. Since then he has devotedly cared for him giving of his strength, not thinking of self, but doing everything that he could do to make time pass pleasantly for the stricken father. His life was one of service to others.

He graduated from the Elmwood high school with the class of 1896. Then attended the State University for two years, being a member of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

For several years he was one of Cass county's most successful teachers, but gave up that profession to resume farming. He was a loyal and devoted member of the Elmwood Lutheran lodge. His upright life, honest dealing and helpfulness have endeared him to his neighbors and friends.

The entire community will mourn the loss of an upright citizen, a neighbor and friend who was ever ready to lend a helping hand and deeply regret his untimely passing. Those left to cherish his memory are his father, a number of relatives living elsewhere and a host of friends. The sympathy of the entire community is with the sorrowing father.—Elmwood Leader-Echo.

SHIFT IN FORCE

From Thursday's Daily.—Today the shift was made in the city forces that eliminated the office of street commissioner as an independent unit and combined it with that of the chief of police, Jess Elliott being given the job of being the daylight guardian of the law for the city and also seeing that the streets are kept in good shape and the work ordered by the council or mayor carried out in the proper manner.

The members of the council have viewed the matter that the greatest danger to the city from robbers or other law violators is at night and that on the daytime the chief can have time to look after the street work as a side line to the policing. The members of the council realizing the need of keeping the full force of night police on duty selected Officer Joe Libershal, veteran of the department as the assistant chief to be a part of the night force as well as Officer Dave Pichel. The shift in the offices and the abolishing of the office of commissioner as a separate unit has led to the retirement of M. B. Allen, former commissioner, and Office Joe Habraba.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Henegar of Near Weeping Water Observe Occasion at Their Home

The farm home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Henegar was the scene of a very happy family gathering Sunday, April 27th, when all of their children, with exception of Harvey Henegar and family of Veteran, Wyo., gathered at their home in honor of their parents' golden wedding anniversary, which occurred on Thursday April 24th. Mr. and Mrs. Henegar had the privilege of presiding at the long table surrounded by their children and grandchildren, to enjoy one of the largest and most delicious dinners within their memory. Everything that the women of the family could prepare was had in abundance and the table was fairly heaped with good things to eat. Two large wedding cakes (more to "look at") beautifully decorated, held the center of attraction, surmounted by other delicious delicacies (made more so by Mr. and Mrs. Henegar were presented with a beautiful Aladdin floor lamp as a gift from the children, and they surely could not have chosen anything more useful or more to be appreciated.

The dinner table had been cleared, the groom enjoyed a mock wedding, which was planned and carried out as a surprise. Mrs. Ed Henegar as the blushing bride, was joined by the groom, Miss Gladys Henegar, by Mrs. Gordon Henegar, who assisted as the minister. The bride and groom were comically attired, and the bride carried a huge bouquet of onions, while the groom wore an onion buttonniere in (her) his coat lapel. James Henegar, Jr., and Howard Henegar as the flower boys, and Mrs. Charles Oren and Mrs. Lee Henegar as the bride's parents, and Miss Mary Henegar who played the wedding march "The Me to Your Apron Strings Again," all added their bit to make the affair most comical and long to be remembered.

Susan L. A. Bonham and James H. Hagedorn were married at Taylorville, Tenn., April 24, 1880, and lived in Smith county, Virginia, until 1888 when they came to Cass county, Nebraska. They have resided near Weeping Water continuously since that time, and are well known and highly respected citizens of this community. Their home was blessed with ten children, two of whom have passed away. The eight remaining children, now grown to manhood and womanhood, are also known and respected in this community, although several have located their homes elsewhere. It is with great pleasure we congratulate this pioneer couple on the occasion of the passing of the 50th milestone of their marriage, and wish them many more years of health and happiness.—Weeping Water Republican.

Local Legion and Auxiliary Members and Friends Enjoy Dinner—Dance With Neighbors

From Thursday's Daily.—Last evening the "Melting Pot," post of the American Legion of South Omaha served as the hosts for a return inter-community meeting of the Legion and Auxiliary posts of the two cities as well as a number of the invited guests of the two posts. The very successful meeting held here sometime ago had led the South Omaha organization of live wire service men to promote a return gathering and accordingly the event last night was the culmination of their plans and it proved all that could be wished in the fine dinner and the dance that followed. A very fine delegation from this city comprising the Legion Auxiliary and their invited friends motored to the scene of the festivities which was held at the German Home on South Thirteenth street.

The dinner was one of the rarest delight and prepared and served in a splendid manner that left all of the party in a fine mood for the great time that followed. Genial and clever Louis Cinek, one of the boosters of the South Omaha post and well known business man of the South Side was the toastmaster of the evening and introduced the various features of the evening.

The addresses of the occasion were informal. E. H. McCarty of the South Omaha post making the address of welcome to the visitors from the Platte city while the response was made by W. R. Holly for the Plattsburgh delegation. After the speaking had closed the first part of the evening the remainder of the time was spent in the delights of the dance and which continued until a late hour and at the close the visitors returned home feeling that the South Omaha post had proven royal entertainers for the get together.

Cooling Tank Demonstration to be Held

Method of Aiding in Raising Standard of Cream and Milk to Be Held Wednesday

Getting the most from cream is a matter of keeping it in such a condition of purity, after it leaves the separator, as will insure the producer securing the highest market price for the butter fat.

This important matter will be the keynote of the cooling tank demonstration that County Agent D. D. Vaincoett will hold at the John Hobscheid farm, two miles south of the Murray corner on Wednesday, May 7th, starting at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The keeping of the cream at the proper temperature greatly retards the development of bacterial life, and trials have shown that cream quickly cooled will keep sweet longer than when cooled gradually. In demonstration of this fact the showing will be made next Wednesday with the most practical and economical manner of quickly cooling the cream and maintaining low temperature for a period of days, is by keeping the cans containing the cream immersed in tanks through which a stream of cold water is continually passing.

Everyone who is interested in getting the most out of their cream or milk and the advancement of the dairy industry is urged to be in attendance at the meeting at the Hobscheid home. VERY PLEASANT EVENT The announcements have been received here of the birth at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. Warren at Oakland, California, of a daughter, Jean Louise, born on April 15th. All are doing nicely. Fred Warren is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Warren of this city.
