MODERN LIFE

"Why buy a home?" she asked. "I was born in a hospital ward, reared in a boarding school, educated in college, courted in an automobile and married in a church. Nowadays I get my meals at a cafeteria, live in an apartment, spend my mornings playing golf, my afternoons playing bridge and my evenings are for dancing or the movies. When I'm sick I go to the hospital and when I die I'll be buried from an undertaker. All I need is a garage and a bedroom."—Exchange.

Back Damewood for G. A. R. Head

Expect T. J. Majors to Nominate the Former Adjutant of Lincoln

F. A. Damewood of Lincoln, formerly department adjutant of the Nebraska G. A. R., is a candidate for department commander at the coming state encampment, which will be held May 20 to 22 at McCook. He is said to have a good chance of election, as a good many prominent members of the organization are giving him their support.

Mr. Damewood succeeded the late Harmon Bross as adjutant of the state G. A. R. when the latter died a few years ago. He held the position until shortly after the state encampment in 1929, when he resigned. Since that time he has not been officially connected with the organization, but has continued to take a personal interest in its affairs.

A year ago the newly elected department commander, T. J. Smith of McCook, overturned the customary way of doing things by coming to Lincoln and taking charge of the headquarters himself, instead of leaving the G. A. R.'s business detail in the hands of the state adjutant. It was shortly after Smith made this change in routine that Damewood quit. C. P. Lomax of Lincoln was then named by Smith as adjutant.

It is rumored that Adjutant Lomax also intends to seek election as department commander, and that he may have Smith's backing against Damewood. Another possible candidate is Matt Leach of Kimball.

Col. T. J. Majors of Peru, a former department commander, is expected to place Damewood in nomination for that office at the McCook encampment.

FUNERAL OF MRS. RHODE

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Helene Rhode was held Tuesday afternoon at the Sattler funeral home at Fourth and Vine streets and where the members of the family and a group of the old friends and neighbors gathered to pay their last tributes to this estimable lady who at the close of many years of life had laid down her burden to enter into the last rest.

The services were in charge of Rev. O. G. Wichmann, pastor of the St. Paul's Evangelical church, who paid a tribute to the memory of the departed lady and gave to the members of the bereaved family words of consolation and hope.

At the conclusion of the service the body was borne to the Oak Hill cemetery to be laid to the last sleep beside the husband and sons who had preceded her in death.

Helene Katrina Mortensen was born in February 1846 at Hamburg, Germany, and spent her younger years in the old home and where she was married to Andrew Rhode. The family came to America and settled in Plattsmouth some forty-five years ago. Mr. Rhode building the home on South 10th street which is still occupied by the members of the family circle. The home was erected by Mr. Rhode personally and was endeared to the wife and children as the handiwork of the father. Mr. Rhode passed on some thirty years ago and since which time Mrs. Rhode and her stepson, Gotthard Rhode, have made their home at the old residence.

TECUMSEH ISSUE CARRIES

Tecumseh—At a special election here Tuesday, the $100,000 bond issue for a new junior high school carried by fifty-four votes. The count was 498 to 444. Thirty-five mail ballots are yet to be counted, but since only 51 per cent of the total vote is necessary the new school is assured.

At the regular April election the bonds won by less than 2 per cent and the school board called another election. The vote Tuesday was approximately 20 per cent greater than at the April election.

Work of tearing down the old grade school structure which is to be replaced by the junior high will start at the close of the school term. Architect's plans for the new building are in the hands of the board of education.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

With the presentation of "New Brooms" by the Senior class of Plattsmouth high school at the Parmele theatre on Friday night, the traditional commencement activities will have begun leading to the climax on commencement day. With the annual Senior Day and Banquet past, all interest centers now on the Senior play. This presentation this year promises to be in keeping with the high standard of plays maintained by graduating classes of the local high school for some years past. The play itself is one that will be of interest to everyone. It is a story that will make an especial appeal to fathers and sons because it deals with the contrasting business ideals and ethics of a father who is a wealthy broom manufacturer and his son. While there is ample humor to add to the interest of the various situations, the play is not of the shallow, farcical type. Its parts demand good characterization by the members of the cast and the audience can't help but appreciate the play.

The play has been under the direction of Miss Mary Jane Tidball whose work with "Smilin' Thru" and "The Lion and the Mouse" won high praise during the last two years. Miss Florence Beighley, the class sponsor has been assisting in handing arrangements for the production with Frank Schnackneis in charge of the business management and Warren Farmer, Ira Mumm and Geo. Sayles in charge of the stage. All of these people have been working hard to get the play in shape for the curtain on Friday night.

Reserved seats will go on sale at the Mauzy Drug Store on Thursday morning at eight o'clock. Prices are: Parquet, 75 cents, all others 50 cents and all seats will be reserved.
