This Is Refreshing, Sure.

We asked a young woman for some news. She answered, I have no news, but I have this to say: "I am enjoying the very best of health, business is good and if I looked around for something to crab about, I could not find it." This is the spirit when a young lady or gent either, feels that they are enjoying good health and all things are well with them, why should they be crabbing and looking for something to complain about? Her attitude strikes us as being fine.

Hauling Lumber.

E. W. Thimgan has been hauling lumber from Elmwood for the Tool Lumber company. Mr. Tool entering with the Talhurst Lumber company of Elmwood in purchasing a car, the car coming to Elmwood, Mr. Thimgan hauling the same to Murdock for the Tool Lumber company.

Wouldn't Put Out Fire.

A couple of men selling fire fighting apparatus were in Murdock and about the country surrounding and were very actively selling the fire fighting instruments. They sold some three hundred of the machines, which went at four dollars. After the demonstration on Main street it looked like they would surely work, but when those who had purchased the tin cans and wanting to know what was in them, tried them out they found that they would not put the fire out. A considerable hubub was created and much dissatisfaction prevailed. The next party who comes along selling this or a similar apparatus will get a cold reception.

Seed Corn For Sale.

Pure silver mine seed corn, 95 per cent germination, $2.00 per bushel.—G. V. Pickwell, Murdock, Nebr. a21-5tmp.

Hold Commencement Exercises.

The class of 1930 of the Murdock high school graduated on Thursday of last week, with a class of 16. Professor Lefler of the Lincoln schools gave the graduating address. With the long experience which the speaker has had as an instructor it put him in excellent position to deliver the words of advice to those who were leaving school to go out into the world.

The graduating class was as follows: Joe Guthmann, Jerry McHugh, Emma Eppings, Ralph Bornemeier, Turner Zink, Loyal Miller, Marie Ostblom, Bernice Reickman, Loretta Ruge, Marie Schweppe, Mary Westfall, Edna Luetchens, Isabel Gakemeier, Ione Weddell, Roy Oehlgering and Opal Knaupe.

Sets Fifty Hens.

Mrs. Carl Nickles, who believes the natural mother is the best, set at the same time fifty hens, and when the chicks hatched she had nearly seven hundred chickens of which she was able to save over six hundred and fifty. They are all doing well and they have a brooder house which will care for them as soon as they get started.

Class Enjoys Sneak Day.

On last Thursday the class of 1930 of the Murdock high school enjoyed their sneak day, and securing the wagon of J. Johansen and him as a driver, went to Omaha, where they first visited the stock yards and packing houses, and visiting and inspecting the Cudahy Packing house where they were piloted through the plant, and had all the processes explained to them. They then visited many other interesting places, and among which was a visit to the Woodman of the World building, where they had an excellent view of Omaha and vicinity. They also spent the evening at a show at the Orpheum, where they had a great treat. They caught a glimpse of the world outside of their home town and realized in a way that is over the hills from home.

Some Mountains of the Bible.

VIII—NEBO-PISGAH. Deut. 34: 1-5. Oftentimes the death of great men causes quite a disturbance in the world and nations. Their burial places become shrines for pilgrims. God Jehovah knew all this therefore he provided a leader for his people, in Joshua, and hid the burial place of Moses. The mind and the heart of men should not be turned to men, but God alone.

The history of Moses and his life are not like that of other men, he was unique. His birth and bringing up were very extraordinary, the great work Jehovah had for him, required such training, as his life, so was his death. He was the greatest man of the old testament times. Brought up by a devout mother until he was 5 years old, he was often told that Jehovah would bring his people into the promised land Canaan was the dream of his youth, for over a hundred years he had longed to see this land, to this end he had suffered a rebellious people; to this end he labored and lived; endured hardships; and in one unguarded moment, one act of disobedience robs him of all the anticipated hopes of entering the promised land. He entreated Jehovah to change the verdict, but to no avail. God's command must be vindicated. The soul that sinned must die. But God in his mercy told him he could not enter, but he would show him the land.

Moses calls the last great assembly. It is a wonderful sight; Israel in his tent city.

Moses reviews past history, up to the present day; then he in his prophetic vision tells the people what stations they will occupy, and at the close of his prophesy he breaks out in a mighty acclaim: "Happy art thou O Israel; who is like unto thee, O people saved by the Lord, the shield of thy help, and who is the sword of thy excellency." His farewell address delivered, God tells him to go up to Mount Nebo, unto a high peak—Pisgah, see the land and die there. He had only a few more hours to live; but with a firm step he begins the ascent; his eye is not dimmed, nor his natural force abated.

The people, still under the spell of his last words, watch in silence, until he disappears from view. Now he is alone with God, all the mist is rolled away, that might have covered that fair land; and there it lay outspread. He saw the smiling green meadows at his feet, between the Jordan swiftly flowed; and to the right his eye glanced along valleys and woods and bright waving corn fields, stretched away into the dim distance, where rose the purple, snow-crowned hills of Lebanon. To his left he saw the mountains swelling like mighty billows of the sea, all struck into stillness; and perhaps as he looked upon these some angel voice whispered in his ear: There will stand Jerusalem, the city of peace; there shall be the temple, where for ages and ages Jehovah shall be worshipped, and see yonder amid the hills, on that little speck in the landscape, a cross one day shall stand, and the Son of Man shall die to save the world.

After this view Jehovah takes Moses into his arms, and with a kiss he passes into his rest. The archangel Michael buries him for a season; but soon his wish is granted, and Elias awaiting the resurrection of the Lord. So the forepart of March, 1892, B. C., this man of God is laid to rest in a depression on Mount Nebo, in the country of Moab. What a death! What a burial!

Get Farms on National Land

Bill Providing Allotment of Government Tracts Made Effective

Mexico City—Allotment of farms from national property to Mexican peasants is provided in a decree signed by President Ortiz Rubio. This is a departure from the disputed agrarian policy of expropriating lands from former large ranch properties to give to landless peasants, a law which is, however, not affected by the new decree.

Accusations have been made in the past that large productive holdings were being broken up while millions of acres of good land lay idle over the country. The governors of the various Mexican states were recently requested to submit reports designating the extent, location, character and means of communication of all national lands within their jurisdictions. It has been President Ortiz Rubio's express desire to increase employment by colonizing idle lands and at the same time improve the insufficient agricultural production of the country.

This new Mexican homesteading policy is seen as the answer, and the provision of the new Mexican decree whereby land was acquired in the sparsely settled American frontier states in the past. Mexican national lands parceled out to "poor but willing" farmers will be such as are suitable for agriculture, cattle raising, or agricultural industries of other kinds with the stringent provision, however, that no toxic plants be cultivated or intoxicating drinks produced.

This may be interpreted as directed against medicinal hemp or "Marihuana," and "Pulque" from maguey. The land grants are personal in character and the tracts acquired must be cultivated by the applicant himself or with the aid of members of his family. The amounts assigned are to vary with the character of the land but enough will be allotted to provide a living for the applicant and his family.

Irrigated lands will be parceled out in tracts no greater than 124 acres and first-class non-irrigated lands depend on seasonal rainfall are limited to about 370 acres. Land adjudged "second class" unirrigated is to be allowed in as high as 1200-acre lots. Third class is considered grazing land.

The Mexican Government wants to realize the benefits of irrigation and reclamation by various dams recently built and applications for such lands will be preferably attended. The land petitioned is to be adjudged for assignment and the applicant must sign a five-year contract with the Government, although he may renew a yearly contract instead.

If at the end of five years he has fulfilled requirements he is given title. He must however, not sell this to another person for at least another five years. During the five probationary years he must cultivate the land, if he fails to pay the taxes, does not cultivate or utilize it consecutively without justified cause such as general droughts, if he grows toxic plants or produces intoxicating beverages, or if he does not cultivate the land and tries to transfer it to another person.

St. Paul, May 7.—John F. Selb, registrar for the Minnesota state railroad and warehouse commission, Wednesday filed for the republican nomination for United States senator on a "wet" platform. This move, on the final day for filing, caused a surprise in the Minnesota legislature. United States Senator Schall and Gov. Theodore Christianson also seek the republican nomination in the June 16 primaries.

Ernest Lundeen of Minneapolis, former congressman, filed for the farmer-labor nomination for United States senator. Knud Walden, of Moundsville, also a former congressman, has filed for the farmer-labor nomination. Einar Hoidale, Minneapolis, is the only candidate for the democratic nomination.

Selb issued a statement saying he favored modification of the prohibition law where Lundeen and Walden of the people should settle the wet and dry issue.

The usual last minute rush brought a host of candidates for other state offices.

For the athletically inclined graduate—a tennis racket; tennis balls; a baseball glove and all kinds of other sporting equipment can be secured thru the Bates Book Store.

Roberts Nomination to Committee Today

No Formal Opposition Filed and Dry Fears Seem Quiet; Week's Study Is Seen.

Washington, May 11.—The nomination of Owen J. Roberts of Philadelphia to the supreme court will be taken up tomorrow by the senate judiciary committee with no formal opposition to him filed so far.

Adopting the regular procedure of the committee, Chairman Norris will refer the nomination to a subcommittee, which he has not yet selected. This course will make it unlikely that the nomination itself will be reported to the senate before another week.

There is considerable talk at the capitol over the attitude of Mr. Roberts on prohibition, but the statement yesterday by F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, was believed to have stilled the fears of the drys to some extent.

McBride asserted Roberts should be confirmed if he measured up on "integrity of character, legal qualifications, intellectual honesty and capacity to deal with legal questions from a strictly judicial viewpoint without bias created by personal predilection."

Both Senators Norris (Neb.) and Borah (Idaho), republicans, who led the fight against confirmation of Chief Justice Hughes and Judge John J. Parker of North Carolina, have indicated their support of the nomination, pending further study. Without the leadership of these two veterans, opposition to Roberts is not expected to get very far in the senate.—World-Herald.

FIGHT WITH FISTS IN AIR

New York—A two minute fight 3,000 feet in the air between an airplane pilot and an intoxicated man who wanted to fly the plane ended Sunday in victory for the pilot, whose skill in upturning probably saved six lives. With five passengers, including two women, Tex Anding took off from the Gates flying field in Jackson Height. He did not know that one of the men had been drinking until the passenger tried to jerk him away from the controls. While the others watched in terror and the plane swayed dizzily the pilot and passenger fought furiously until finally Anding knocked his opponent unconscious with a blow to the chin.

He landed immediately, and the man, reviving (scurred away, flinging a stone as he left. He was not apprehended.

BOMB WRECKS GARAGE

Chicago—A black powder bomb shattered the windows of a west side delicatessen store and another of the same make wrecked a truck in a south side garage on Sunday. No one was injured. Police and operators of the place were without a clue as to motives.

Alvo News

John B. Skinner and Phillip Coatsmen were unloading a car of lumber for the John W. Banning lumber yard on last Wednesday.

Mrs. Clo O. Schfer was quite ill last week and it was found necessary for her to go to Lincoln to see a specialist regarding her health.

Mrs. Edgar Edwards and Miss Dorothy Peterson were over to Lincoln on Thursday of last week where they were shopping and visiting with friends as well as usual.

Roy Coatsman was staying at the postoffice for the day on last Wednesday, relieving Mrs. Pauline Rosewood, who is postmistress and desired to look after some other matters. Mr. Coatsman is assistant of substitute mail carrier and is used as a substitute at the post-office.

Miss Belle Mayer, whom it will be remembered was a teacher of the Alvo schools a number of years ago, but who is teaching at Lincoln at the university, was a visitor at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Skinner on last Wednesday and last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Dinges entertained at their home in Alvo on Mother's Day and had as their guests Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Hill, Dr. Trause and Dr. and Mrs. Claude Temple of Lincoln. The friends enjoyed the day very nicely and appropriately celebrated the passing of Mother's Day.

W. H. Warner, the veteran corn planter and as that general farmer assisting in the planting of corn at the home of John Elliott southeast of Alvo last week. The matter of not the best of weather for putting in the corn crop is hurrying many who have a large number of acres in getting their crop in.

Joseph Armstrong has been planning to get the work done which he has before him. He has been making concrete walks and steps for Simon Rehemen and at the same time the garden has been hollering, "Uncle Joe, come here, the weeds are about to take me," for he has laid off and then went back to the work on the walks and steps.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Skinner departed last Friday for Fullerton, where they will visit for over the night with the parents of Mr. Skinner. Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Obors of that place and the following day will go to Albion, where they will get Mrs. L. Muier and daughter, Miss Carmine, the latter having just closed her school year at that place, whom they will bring home.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist church of Alvo were meeting last week at the home of Mrs. J. D. Foreman, where the ladies looked after the business which came into their hands and also enjoyed a very sociable afternoon, with a very worthwhile program. The afternoon was made the more enjoyable by the very fine luncheon which the capable and genial hostess served.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Casey of Lincoln were visiting in Alvo on last Wednesday and also looking after some business. Mr. Casey is soon to depart for Rochester, Minnesota, where he will undergo a clinic at the Mayo Brothers hospital at that place. Mr. Casey has not been in the best of health for some time and seeks to get relief and also a restoration of his former health.

Will Observe Memorial Day.

Memorial day will be observed on Sunday May 25th with a Memorial service conducted by the Rev. Street of the Methodist church, the services to be at the church, which will conclude the morning service. At two o'clock in the afternoon the service men and citizens will meet at the flag pole and form a procession to the cemetery north of town where prayer will be offered and following which Misses Ethel and Pearl Coatsman will render a number of musical numbers which is to be followed by the address of the occasion by Marcus Potette which will conclude the program at the cemetery.

Will Change Front. The front of the building which is occupied by Art Dinges for a garage has suffered the ravages of time and the front is so cracked that it was thought that it was better to take down the back part of the building with a light material, making it succo. The present front, should it fall, would create much damage and in event of anyone being in the building might also cause much injury to occupants and the removing the dangerous front is a fine thing. Work was begun last week on the making of the change.

Alvo to Have Doctor. The city of Alvo has been without a physician since the demise of the late Lawrence Muier, and on last week the household goods of Dr. Fenterman who was formerly located at Wymore, arrived and were moved to the Mrs. Sogard home where Dr. Fenterman and family will reside. Alvo is to be congratulated on the securing of Dr. Fenterman, they have needed a good physician for some time.

Enjoy Club Gathering. The double four club of 44 club met on last Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tony King where they enjoyed the afternoon most pleasantly. They first looked after the well appointed program and business which called them together. This was followed by the social hour, and by the very excellent luncheon which was served by the genial hostess, Mrs. King. Ice cream and cake were served.

Graduated Tuesday Evening. The exercises for the graduation of the eighth grade of the Alvo school was held at the auditorium of the Alvo Consolidated schools on Tuesday evening of last week, when the members of the eighth grades passed and will those who continue to attend school be promoted to the high school. There was a good sized class and it is the hope that all continue with the four grades of the high school.

Many Are Sick of Family. At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Stout, sickness has claimed three of the members of the family. Mrs. Stout was the first to be stricken and her mother, Mabelle, who cared for the mother and looked after the general house work, was also stricken, being about worn out with her labors, and then came the illness of another sister, Miss Elsie, who has been making her home at Lincoln, thus making nearly a house full. They are, however, getting getting along and it is hoped they will all be out soon.

Were Quite Busy. At a recent meeting of the Knights of Pythias of Alvo, Edgar Edwards and Lyle Miller, were selected as the delegates of the lodge to attend the grand lodge which convened at Lincoln last week, but on account of their being behind with their corn planting on account of the continued bad weather they were not able to attend. The delegates of the Pythias Sisters were not able to attend and Alvo went without a representation at the grand lodge.

All Enjoyed Mother's Day. Mother's Day was observed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Armstrong last Sunday where all the family gathered to congratulate one of the best mothers that ever reared so excellent a family. There was the family of Glen Armstrong of South Bend; Roy Armstrong and family of Wahoo; Ovan Armstrong and wife and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Barritt of Havelock. They enjoyed an excellent visit and one of the very best of dinners and made the parents both happy by their visit.

Alvo School Closed. The Alvo school closed on last Friday with a picnic in the Boyles grove. The study really ceased on Wednesday but a few concluding exercises were in store for the remainder of the week. With the closing of the school year there has gone out from this institution of learning a number of young men and women who are to take up their places in the world, and we are certain will make good records. With the coming year the school will be supplied with a number who are just entering school and will take the places and in the course of time will make up the graduating classes of future years.

Members of Three Faiths Make Plea

Hold Seminar Program at St. Louis—Catholic, Protestant and Jew Speak

St. Louis—Apostles of three faiths, a Protestant, a Jew, and a Catholic, spoke from the same banquet table Wednesday night and each pleaded for dissipation of religious prejudices.

They spoke on a similar program described as a "religious prejudice disarmament conference," attended by some of the nation's outstanding leaders in all three faiths. There was no disposition to reduce all faiths to a lowest common denominator, but rather to bring about a better understanding and appreciation of the different beliefs.

Says Comity Urgent. Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr of the Union theological seminary, New York, said that "nowhere in the world is the task of creating some degree of comity between various religious communities more urgent than here in America." He urged creation of comity by enlarging upon common possessions, aspirations and traditions, and by an honest analysis of differences.

He saw a common faith between the Jew, the Catholic and the Protestant in their ethical theism, their hope in a better world. He was of the opinion that much of what passes for religious prejudice is merely "the religious sanctification of race prejudice."

The Rev. John A. McCloy, S. J., of the University of Detroit, deplored the "dogma of religion." He described culture in America but said religion must be added for virtue in life. Religion, he said, has fallen into desuetude and has been rejected largely because of the infection of personal speculation, private opinion and political views of differences.

Asks Finer Sympathy. Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of the Free synagogue of New York pleaded for higher intelligence and finer sympathy to dispel prejudice and ill will. He said that "a policy of calculated unfriendliness toward the Jew" must be fought, but that the weapons to be wielded "be not against the outward, but inward and spiritual."

Such prejudice, he said, "represents a world attitude which centuries has stimulated the Jew's spirit for forbearance toward them that wronged us." The processes of education, he said, must arrest the Christ killing he about the Jew and affirm anew the Christ bearing truth of the Jew in the world.

A survey of relations between the three faiths was begun at round table discussions Wednesday and will continue thru Thursday.

The issues of war and bolshevism in religion were ruled out at the opening session as not within the scope of the seminar.—State Journal.
