This section will have a new recreation center and pleasure resort in a very short time as the announcement is made that Louis Naeve, well known resident of southern Sarpy county is to open his dance pavilion and recreation park on Saturday June 7th.

The new park is located just at the north side of the Platte river bridge and ideally situated for a wonderful outing place in the summer season for the people of Omaha as well as this city and other of the nearby communities.

Mr. Naeve has gone to a great expense in making this new park as complete as possible, and giving his patrons every possible advantage in the way of pleasure. He has twenty-five acres of beautiful wooded land and blue grass in picnic grounds. The place is as clean and as sanitary as can possibly be made. The drainage is excellent so no stagnant water is allowed to accumulate.

The dance pavilion 150x60 feet has just been completed and is said to be one of the finest dance floors in this community. There are 9,000 square feet of space under cover for the use of the dancers. The floor is of hard maple, which experts say is the ideal material for this purpose. The dance hall will be open every Saturday and Sunday night.

Enlarged Power of World Court Under Review

Committee Submits a Report Suggesting Three Alternative Solutions

Geneva—A committee has been sitting in Geneva this week to consider a proposal put forward by the Finnish delegation at the League of Nations Assembly last September to make the Permanent Court of International Justice a court of review in respect of arbitral tribunals established by the states.

The Finnish delegate at the Assembly drew attention to the fact that in the present state of international law there was no general provision without a special agreement between the states enabling parties to a dispute to appeal against the award of the special tribunal instituted between them.

The Assembly invited the League Council to examine the question of the procedure to be followed by the states desiring to enable the court to assume in a general way as tribunal of the finality of a tribunal of appeal from international arbitral tribunals in all cases where it was contended that the arbitral tribunal was without jurisdiction, or had exceeded its jurisdiction.

The Council appointed a committee of jurists to study the proposal, and this committee has just completed its labors under the presidency of Professor Bardevant of France. In its report, which will be submitted to the next session of the League Council, the committee suggests three solutions which are not necessarily mutually exclusive.

The first is that the states should be recommended to insert into their arbitration treaties clauses providing for the jurisdiction of the Permanent Court.

The second proposes the adoption of a special protocol open to the accession states which would make the court competent to decide as to the validity of the arbitral awards.

The third recommends that the states should vote an Assembly resolution by which they would declare it their duty, should the validity of the award be disputed to bring the case before the court.

Claim Hoover Ready to Sign Tariff Rates

Washington, May 29.—A statement by Senator Watson of Indiana, the Republican leader, that he "imagined" President Hoover would sign the tariff bill even though he preferred a different flexible provision climaxed a heated debate in the senate over an earlier action by the conferees in revising the presidential rat-zing clause.

The Indiana's assertion was in answer to an inquiry by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic floor leader, and came after Senator Smoot (R.), Utah, had presented a new flexible clause broadening the President's powers and restricting those of the tariff conferees as provided in the original conference draft.

Declaring the President was "hungry for more power" Senator Harrison (D.), Mississippi, attacked the new provision.

Replying, Senator Watson said the Democrats were responsible for the new proposal since one of their number had raised a point of order against the original compromise which had restricted the President's power and which Mr. Hoover was ready to accept.

The revised flexible clause, approved earlier in the day by the conferees, is patterned along the lines of the present law. Under it the president could take all the time he wanted to act on an increase or decrease in rates up to 50 per cent as recommended by the tariff commission and the rate would not become effective until the executive proclaimed it and 30 days grace were allowed.

The conferees struck out the original proposal that the President be given 60 days in which to approve or disapprove a commission finding and the provision that a commission rate change would automatically go into effect if the executive took neither affirmative nor negative action within the 60-day period.

Denies Greed It was on the latter provisions that Senator Barkley (D.), Kentucky, based a point of order last Tuesday which was sustained by Vice President Curtis and sent the supplemental report containing the flexible provision back to conference.

Senator Watson denied that the President wanted more power. He said in every talk he had had with Mr. Hoover on the flexible controversy the President emphasized the need of a power to fix rates.

The Watson-Harrison exchange led to a general round of argument with the Indiana's asserting that "if we accept the utterances of Governor Smith at Louisville, the Democrats mounted so high on the protective tariff platform that they almost pushed us old standpatters entirely off."

General Hagood, Commanding Officer of Seventh Corps Area, is Pleased with Results.

Omaha, May 23.—General Hagood, the Commanding General of the Seventh Corps Area, announces that 5,500 applications have already been received for the Citizens' Military Training Camps to be held in the Seventh Corps Area this summer, and since the quota is only 5,300, he urges young men who desire to go to camp to apply at once, before all vacancies are filled.

General Hagood says that these camps are a force for good citizenship, for they instill in the young man who attends loyalty, patriotism and obedience and respect for his superiors.

"The Citizen's Military Training Camp movement," he says, "stands today for the Boy Scout movement and the R. O. T. C. movement in our colleges and universities."

"The Boy Scout movement has for its purpose the building up of citizenship and has no connection whatever with the military or national defense. You will find Boy Scouts not only in America and Europe, but in China, Japan, and the Philippine Islands, all wearing the same uniform, irrespective of their national dress, absorbing the same instruction, and following the same ideals. The whole world recognizes the advantages of this kind of training."

"In the C. M. T. C. we go further. We seek the same type of fine, clean-cut youth; but we take older boys and seek to instill in them an appreciation not only of their general duties in connection with good citizenship and loyalty to the better things of life, but to impress them with their duty to their country. In other words, the C. M. T. C. is the Boy Scout movement plus Americanism."

"We give the boys military training not so much because of the immediate value which they might have in time of war, but because it instills in American youth ideas that would be useful to the United States in case of any national emergency. The soldierly qualities and character developed in the camps are fundamental and unchangeable."

"I believe every boy who goes through a C. M. T. C. will come out a better boy mentally, physically and morally."

Applicants for the C. M. T. C. in the Seventh Corps Area will be sent to one of six camps: Fort Crook, Nebraska; Fort Des Moines, Iowa; Fort Leavenworth, Kansas; Fort Lincoln, N. Dak.; Fort Snelling, Minn.

Further information and application blanks may be obtained from the C. M. T. C. Officer, Headquarters Seventh Corps Area, Omaha, Nebraska.

SCRUTINY OF CURTIS CASE

Chicago—The propriety of the legal practice of Harry K. Curtis, son of Vice President Charles Curtis, remained under the scrutiny of the state's attorney's office Thursday as Patrick Roche, chief investigator, summoned thirteen contractors for a conference Friday concerning their dealings with Attorney Curtis. Roche said he desired to learn from the contractors the nature of the work Curtis undertook for them, after which he said he probably would ask Curtis to submit records of the work and fees charged.

The investigation was undertaken as a result of unofficial charges that Curtis had accepted fees from certain contractors for promises to aid them in securing government contracts. The son of the vice president acknowledges he had been approached by Mike Malloy, representing some of the contractors, with such a proposition, but said he refused to consider it. Later, he said, he did agree to serve as legal counsel for the group of contractors.

BARNES CONFIRMS RUMORS

Washington—Julius H. Barnes, chairman of the board of directors of commerce, confirmed Thursday night the reports from Duluth that his grain dealing firm, the Barnes-Ames company, was retiring from active grain business.

"The Barnes-Ames company is not liquidating," Mr. Barnes said. "She is retiring from active grain export business. It will retain its interest investments in other than grain lines. The grain exporting field for several reasons has not been attractive to me in recent years, and I have taken opportunities to enter into other activities that promise greater returns for the application."

Mr. Barnes refused to comment on reports that the policies of the federal farm board had decided his course. He was last week elected president of the General Bronze corporation.

County Treasurer and Mrs. John E. Turner and daughter, Dorothy Jean, were at Lincoln and Elmwood yesterday to spend a few hours and looking after the decorating of the family lots in the cemeteries.
