FARM BUREAU NOTES

Copy for this Department furnished by County Agent

Mother's Vacation Camp.
Nebraska farm women will rest and play in Mother's Vacation camp this summer, according to the schedule worked out by Miss Mary Ellen Brown, state leader of Home Economics Extension Work.

Miss Brown has arranged for music and stunt contests under the direction of Mrs. N. W. Gaines of Lincoln and some handicraft work with crayons with which the women will make wall hangings and sofa pillows.

Cass county women will attend Camp Brewster near Omaha, August 12 to 15. $4.75 will cover all camp expenses. If you haven't enrolled and wish to go make arrangements at the farm bureau office as soon as possible.

4-H Club Camp.
Yes, Otoe and Cass counties are making arrangements for a 4-H club camp July 30, 31 and August 1. 4-Hers should begin to save all their pennies for a real time at camp. Watch the papers for further notice.

Ideal Method for Canning Strawberries.

"Why do strawberries get so dark and lose their shape when canned," is a very common question. Try the following open-kettle method and see if the results aren't especially gratifying.
Gather the berries in shallow vessels to prevent crushing and can them as soon as possible after gathering. Sort the fruit and use the smaller, less perfect berries, for the preparation of juice which may be used in making syrup. Wash carefully and remove caps and stems. A strainer is useful for some berries to wash after stemming if lost. It is a good plan to have a pan of water at hand while stemming so that any berries which have specks clinging to them may be dipped into the water.

Add one-half cup of sugar to 6 cups of prepared berries. Heat slowly to boiling in an enameled kettle with lid. Cover and remove from stove. Allow berries to cool in the syrup several hours or over night. Heat again just to boiling temperature. Cover and allow berries to plump again in the syrup. Heat again and fill into hot jars, but do not process.

Rent Alfalfa to Hogs.

Hogs will pay $45 per acre rent per year for alfalfa pasture. This figure was arrived at from an average of eleven experiments at different cornbelt experiment stations. Corn was considered at 70c per bushel and tankage $4 per hundred in the experiments. An acre of alfalfa pasture saved an average of 1149 pounds of corn worth $14.32 and 468 pounds of tankage worth $18.72. In addition the alfalfa yielded over a ton of hay per acre worth $11.43 which makes a total of practically $45 per acre. In these trials an average of 19 pigs was kept on each acre of alfalfa. Another big advantage is that the pigs are ready for market much sooner than if they are fed in dry lots. Alfalfa is said to be the best hog pasture that can be grown in Nebraska. Sweet clover and sudan grass are the next best pastures.

Poultrymen to Consider Feeds.

The program of poultry field day June 12 at the agricultural college in Lincoln will emphasize feeds and feeding. Talks on the morning program will be about feeds and their effect on market quality, about feeding the breeding flock, and about the experiment work of the college poultry department. In the afternoon, the group will see these points in practice at the college poultry plant and at the Whitten-Wiperman poultry farm near Colby, Wis.

seven pounds of feed per month, it is clear that feed costs must be considered at the present time. If it takes five to six pounds to feed to produce a two pound broiler from a twelve cent chick, and death loss amounts to 20 per cent of the chicks started, the poultryman who used feed costing more than three cents per pound has very little left for his labor.

Feed is a powerful factor in the health of the flock. A good feeding program will also very materially lessen the damage and loss caused by worms. When chicks are properly fed there is less danger of them eating from places of filth where worm eggs and disease germs are plentiful.—D. D. Wainwright, Co. Ext. Agent, Jessie H. Baldwin, Asst. Co. Ext. Agent.

Otoe County Officers Protest Biggs' Clemency

Evidence Man Convicted in Otoe County Violating Law to Find Object to His Pardon.

There is developing a strong sentiment in Otoe county against the commutation of the thirty day jail sentence that was given Frank Biggs, state under-cover evidence man, who while in his work of trying to secure evidence of prohibition law violations, was convicted of having given liquor to one of his victims.

In speaking of the case, the Nebraska City News-Press has the following:

"At least three men, two of them county officials, another a former district judge, will be on hand June 19 in Lincoln when the board of pardons and paroles grants Biggs a hearing.

"Biggs was released after he had served five days of his sentence upon order of Governor Arthur J. Weaver.

"The two county officers who will oppose his commutation are County Attorney George H. Heinke and County Judge John M. Dierks. The former district judge is Paul Jensen, Nebraska City lawyer, who insisted that the charge of giving away liquor be filed against Biggs.

"Biggs, with the state men, was unusually active in Cass and Otoe county several weeks ago in helping to run down liquor evidence. Among his victims was Roy Bryant, who pleaded guilty to selling Biggs a half pint of liquor for $2 and paid a fine of $100 and costs. Mr. Jensen was his lawyer.

"After the Bryant hearing the charge was filed against Biggs. It developed that Biggs went to where Bryant was digging a well, talked for about an hour and finally bought the liquor, which was to have been drunk by Bryant while he was digging the well. Biggs gave Bryant and a companion, named Kelly drinks. He took a drink himself, Bryant said, and later turned the bottle over as evidence.

"Some time after the case was disposed of I was informed that the conduct of Biggs after securing evidence in Cass county, prior to the buy from Bryant, was even more contemptible than his conduct in Otoe county," Judge Dierks wrote to N. T. Harmon, chief probation officer of Nebraska.

"I have already passed judgment in this case and nothing has occurred to change my opinion in the least. I know of no reason why Biggs should receive favorable consideration by the Board of Pardons on his application. If at all possible, I will attend the hearing on June 19."
