Union, Nebr.

The ladies of the Methodist church served a very fine dinner to the Union Business Men's club at the library building.

Earl Merritt who was so poorly for so long was able to return to his work, painting on last Friday and is improving with every day.

Miss Dorothy Foster who recently returned from school at Columbia, Mo., was spending this week in Omaha visiting with relatives.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. John Shearer was blessed on last Monday by the arrival of a very fine baby boy at their home and all are doing nicely.

At the school meet which was held on last Monday evening, W. B. Banning was selected as moderator, thus completing the members of the board of education.

Wayne Propst of Tecumseh and Nebraska City was a visitor in Union for a few hours on last Tuesday and was looking after some business matters while here.

D. B. Porter and Harry Niday were over to the river fishing last Sunday and met with not the very best luck, but are willing to wait until fishing it better before going again.

Glen Todd from near Murray was a visitor in Union on last Tuesday and was getting a load of wheat at the Stiles elevator, as well as looking after other business matters in town.

Rev. W. A. Taylor and wife were over to Nebraska City on Monday of this week to look after some matters of business, they driving over to the Otoe county town in their car.

George A. Stiles was a visitor in Omaha where he was called to look after business, he having shipped a number of very fine hogs to the market there and also some to Nebraska City.

D. C. LaRue was over to Omaha this week where he was called to look after the settlement for the damage which occurred to him and his car by reason of the wreck of last week.

E. G. Osborne of Plattsmouth was a visitor in Union for the day last Tuesday for a short time and a guest at the Business Men's dinner, also visiting his friend, R. D. Stine, while in town.

Orville Hathaway and wife who have been visiting at Missouri Valley for a number of days returned home on last Sunday and took up his work on the mail route again the first of the week.

Miss Ora Clarke was a visitor at Greenfield, Iowa, for a number of days extending over the week where she was the guest of a cousin, returning home on last Monday after having enjoyed a very fine visit.

Thomas McQuinn who recently purchased a new mower with which to make hay with, and believes in having labor saving implements which will enable him to get the most out of the work which he performs.

Mr. E. G. Osborne when speaking before the Union Business Men's club on last Tuesday said that he did not know anything about making a public address but he did know when he sat down to a good meal and he had just done that.

Henry A. Chilcott and W. B. Banning who were out to Arriba, Colo., for about a week returned home on last Saturday night and report that they found the crops very spotted, some places good, some not so good and some very bad.

M. R. Gehard, representing the Nebraska Power company, who was looking after some business in Union said at the end of the dinner of the Union Business Men's club that he had not eaten as good a meal for the past year as he received there then.

Miss Anna Bauers departed on last Monday for Ponca City, Oklahoma where she will visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nickles for some time and enjoyed the visit with the folks and with the kiddies, who are great friends of herself and Frank. Eugene Roddy has traded his car in and gotten a new one from the Cole Motor company of Weeping Water, and sure has a nifty one this time. He is well acquainted with the Model A and likes it well. His driving every day of one has given him a good idea of the relative value of cars.

C. H. Whitworth, and the family who have been visiting for the past two weeks at the home of their parents, Rev. J. O. Whitworth, his father, and Thomas Brennenstahl and wife, her parents, returned home on last Monday morning and immediately began his work again. J. H. Whitworth of Kansas City and W. August Whitworth of Topeka were here visiting while Mr. C. H. Whitworth and family were here. They have a sister at Marysville, Mo., but she was not able to get home at this time. Claude Metcalf of Council Grove, Kansas, a brother-in-law of Mrs. Waitworth, was also there which made visit very fine.

Has House Repaired.
Rev. W. A. Taylor has been having the house repaired which he has for rent, the work being done by the eminent workman, Joe Bauer, while Joseph Dare, has also been constructing some concrete walks about the place. The repairs have been made in order for a home for David Andrews, who has been rooming in the Dr. Achenbach offices. The boys were joking Dave about moving and he said their guess was not soon.

Carol Now King of the Country that Exiled Him

Parliament Returns Dynastic Rights and Proclaims Him Monarch —Vote 301 to 1

Bucharest—Carol Carolman, citizen, Sunday became King Carol II of Rumania by a vote of the Rumanian parliament which lacked only one of being unanimous. Thus the first successful airplane coup d'etat in history became a spectacular and constitutional conclusion. A man who renounced his royal rights Jan. 4, 1926 and went into exile with a woman companion, now wears the crown of his fathers; his son Michael, the boy king who has ruled with a regency council, returns to his sandbox and velovpede with the status of crown prince, and there are indications that King Carol's divorce from Princess Helen, mother of Michael, will be annulled for reasons of state.

The accession of the former crown prince occasioned a widely enthusiastic popular demonstration. Amid splendid weather the city was gaily decorated, and 200,000 cheering subjects lined the two mile route from the royal Cotroceni place to the chamber of deputies when the prodigal prince moved in a state procession to take the oath as Carol II.

Royal Rights Restored.
King Carol's royal rights were restored by a special session of the senate Sunday morning. Then, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the national assembly of the senate and chamber of deputies was solemnly opened to consider the proclamation as king.

The first speaker was Prof. Nicholas Jorga, once Carol's tutor, his friend thru prosperity and adversity. With his voice choking with emotion, Professor Jorga declared the deed of Jan. 4, 1926, which banished Carol, was a monstrosity. "It was wrong from the late King Ferdinand, the victim of intrigues, by Carol's enemies, and signed by the king with trembling hands and tear filled eyes," he exclaimed. "The act was also illegal because the prince could not renounce the succession, which had not yet been opened. Today reparation is due Carol. It is also due Rumania for the fate of the country and the dynasty."

The entire house arose and cheered, and when a ballot was taken on the restoration of rights 182 favored it. Only one negative vote was cast, this by M. Bratianu, liberal leader. —State Journal.

FORD'S WORKERS BARRED

New York—Henry Ford's plan to have a fourteenth century English cottage set up in Dearborn, by skilled foreign workmen was interrupted today when immigration authorities detained two workmen on technicalities concerning visas. C. T. Troughton and W. H. Radcliffe, master mason and carpenter, were engaged in England for the job and arrived here on the liner Tuscania. Immigration officers found they had only visitors' visas, which barred them from engaging in their trade while here. It was expected, however, that a representative of Mr. Ford would call at Ellis island soon and post bonds to insure the men's departure by the time their visitors' permits expire.

Delegation Favoring Rodman as Governor

Says Group Opposes Weaver—Mysterious Conference Is Solved by the Statement.

The mystery surrounding a political conference in room No. 265 at the Lincoln hotel Monday afternoon attended by State Senator James A. Rodman of Omaha and others, was solved by A. A. Mizegradis of Talmadge, believer in the doctrine of the "Constitutional Sentinels"—abolishment of democracy and return to representative form of government, although this doctrine was not a subject for discussion at the conference. "The main thing we want is Jim Rodman for governor," said Mr. Mizegradis, as he came out of the meeting place accompanied by B. R. Zastera, also of Talmadge. "We called the meeting and it was attended by several prominent men from over the state whose names I do not care to mention. We are opposed to Governor Weaver and his policies. We want Rodman to run for governor. Rodman, mind you, has not promised to run, but we intend to file his nomination by petition. We will start Wednesday circulating a petition for him in Omaha. It will be filed with the secretary of state and Rodman can accept it or let it alone before the time expires. He has the matter under advisement. We like Rodman and his theories of government. "Others not connected with our meeting expect to start circulating a petition in Richardson county nominating Governor Weaver for United States senator. We are not behind that movement. My first choice for senator is General Pershing, and I have petitions for Pershing which I intend to send to him in France to obtain his permission for filing. Those who propose to nominate Governor Weaver for senator, I assume, are to do so in the hope that he may change his mind and run for senator. He would have petitions on file which he could accept if there is such a thing as his changing his mind. "There is another group of ex-service men bent on filing a nomination by petition for Dr. E. C. Condra of Lincoln. We want State Senator Wherry of Pawnee City to run for congress. Of course there is no use trying to tie up Wherry and Rodman in the same campaign, with their divergent views on banking and other things, but we want Wherry for congressman and a petition is probably to be circulated to nominate him for congress in the first district, just to have it on file leaving nomination. He is talking of running for state senator."

WILL NOT HOLD UP MERGER
Washington — Members of the house from northwestern states disclosed Monday that they had been written by Chairman McManamy of the interstate commerce commission that the commission would not hold up negotiations toward consolidation of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railways. A delegation of house members from states traversed by the two lines appeared before the commission last month to urge that it defer action toward consummating the consolidation until further legislation was enacted.

McManamy wrote that "so long as laws provide for consolidation of railroads remain on the books we must continue to administer them in accordance with their provisions. Therefore we cannot consistently respond affirmatively to your suggestion," he added.

V. F. W. HEAR OFFICERS

McCook—The afternoon session of the convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars consisted of open meeting at which national and state officers were introduced all of whom spoke briefly. M. C. Reeds, McCook, junior vice president made the address of welcome for the local post. Mrs. John Matte, Palisade, gold star mother just returned from France, gave a short talk. An American flag was presented by Mrs. Malinda Burr, Omaha, past department president, to R. B. Somerville of the local Red Cross chapter. Relief funds and hospitalization were the subjects discussed. The annual parade was headed by three color squads and the McCook high school band. Three hundred members participated.

43 Counties Lost During Last Decade

Possible Figure Will Reach Goal If Two Big Remaining Districts Show Increase.

Des Moines, June 9.—Iowa's 1930 census, now nearing completion, probably will fall several thousand short of the 2,500,000 mark, figures made public by supervisors for 83 of the state's 99 counties indicate. Unless the remaining counties show an increase greater than those already reported, the state's population for 1930 will not exceed by any great number 2,450,000. In 1920, Iowa had a population by the federal census of 2,404,021.

Want Secret Papers on the Navy Treaty

Senator Borah Says Adoption of Such a Resolution Not Censure of President.

Washington—The senate foreign relations committee is prepared to assert in a formal resolution its rights to the notes denied it by President Hoover. Just how far the adoption of this resolution, which is generally expected by the committee members on Thursday, will go in the row over ratification of the London naval treaty is problematical, but there were indications Tuesday night that some members would insist that action on the treaty be deferred until the papers have been received. The papers were exchanged among the various powers in negotiations prior to the parity.

Senator Black, Alabama, who has been counted among the supporters of the treaty, proposed the resolution asserting the committee's right to the secret papers. There is more than a possibility that Mr. Hoover's refusal to give up these documents may be made the excuse of several senators in opposing prompt action on the pact.

Meanwhile, both those circulating petitions asking a delay in consideration of the treaty and those soliciting signers to one asking the members to stay here until the pact is voted upon, claimed twenty-five signatures Tuesday.

Young Guard Feels Secure.
The "young guard" republicans who started their petition proposing to keep the senate here for the treaty debate seemed willing to let the matter rest where it is, confident they have checked the move of the republican old guard "irreconcilables," led by Senators Moses of New Hampshire and Hale of Maine for postponement until next fall.

Senator Watson, of Indiana, the republican leader, was signed up on the round robin of the "young guard" proposing the senate stay in session this summer until the treaty is voted upon. With the names treaty advocates were confident they could muster a majority if necessary.

Chairman Borah, of the senate foreign relations committee, announced after a second day's discussion of the protest of Senator Johnson, California, against Mr. Hoover's refusal to turn over the secret papers, that the committee appeared to be ready to state its attitude in a formal resolution.

However, Borah was of the opinion the action of the president in withholding the papers was "conclusive." He remarked there was "nothing" the senate could do about it "except impeachment, and that is too slow."

Opposed to Secrecy.
The committee asked Senators Borah, Black and Moses to redraft the Black resolution. While the text of the resolution was not made public, it was stated it set forth the view that the senate is authorized by the constitution to "advise and consent" with the president on treaties and that therefore it has a right to any paper dealing with the treaty.

"I am opposed to secrecy in diplomacy," said Senator Black, "and I think the senate not only has a right to all papers in connection with the treaty, but has the right to determine which ones shall be made public."

The committee will meet again Thursday to take up the treaty. Senator Borah is confident a vote will be reached in the committee this week on reporting the pact to the senate. Whether an attempt will be made to have the senate on record in the Black resolution was undecided. Senator Borah and other treaty advocates, who are prepared to support the resolution setting forth the committee's view, do not consider that it is a censure of the president in any way.—State Journal.

gain for the group during the decade of 30,327.

1.605 Per Cent Gain.
This increase is equivalent to 1,605 per cent, which, if not exceeded by the remaining 16, would give the state an increase in population since 1920 of 40,606 persons or a total of 2,444,625.

Supervisors, seven of whom have completed the enumerating of populations for all census divisions in their districts, have indicated that most of the remaining 16 counties will be completed this week.—Omaha Bee-News.

EIGHTEEN REPORTED CITED

St. Paul, Minn.—A two weeks investigation of the Ten Thousand Lakes Fur Farms corporation by a federal grand jury was climaxed Monday by the reported indictment of eighteen persons for using the mails to defraud in furthering the affairs of the company. Federal government officials refused to discuss the matter, but it was said two former state officials and two former officers of the defunct fur corporation were among those named in the indictment which carried twenty counts.

M. F. Kinkade, assistant district attorney, said no details of the indictment would be given out until all those named in the true bills had been apprehended. Most of those indicted are believed to live in St. Paul and are expected to surrender. Losses to investors thru failure of the corporation in 1929 were estimated at $600,000. More than seventy witnesses, including Governor Christianson, were heard by the grand jury in its inquiry which was started subsequent to the collapse of charges violating the Minnesota blue sky laws filed in state courts against Robbins and O'Malley.

Father's Day is Next Sunday

FATHER is a great institution. In fact, he is one of the necessary evils, or otherwise. Ever since Adam, there have always been fathers. Nearly all of us have had one at some time or other.

Now they have set a day apart for him—for his very own. He is the big guy in his own house for the day. . . . Let's all give our dad something to make him happy—a nice shirt—a tie—a box of socks.
