REPLACING WATER LINE

The Plattsmouth Water Corporation is busily engaged in the replacing of the water pipes that supply the north half of the block on Sixth street from Vine to Main streets, the pipes now in use being those which were placed at the time of the laying of the mains almost forty years ago. The pipes have become worn with age and the corporation decided that this would be a most appropriate time to have the replacement made, the water corporation feeling that in the event that this street was repaved that the replacement could be done better now than in the future.

NOTICE TAXPAYERS

The state law covering the intangible tax requires that every taxpayer of the state make a return on the intangible tax blanks whether they possess intangible property or not.

There are many who have so far failed to comply with the law which has set May 26th as the date for the filing of the returns, despite the fact that an extension of time was granted to the taxpayers to make the returns. Failure to make the return according to law fixes a penalty of a fine of not less than ten dollars or more than two thousand dollars.

All returns must be in positively by Tuesday, June 24th at the office of the county assessor at Plattsmouth or it will be necessary to make a final report and submit the names of the taxpayers who have failed to comply with the law.

W. H. PULS, County Assessor.

Oil in a Can is Like a Race Horse in a Stall

Lubricating Oil in a bottle or a can may look fine—so may a race horse in a stall. But put the horse on a track, make him run a half mile and he may prove all looks and nothing else. The same is true of Motor Oil!

Looks, Color and Extravagant Claims Mean Nothing at All

It is the test of actual performance that shows up poor horse—and poor oil. Mona Motor Oil does not break down under the most intense heat. Try a Crank case full.
