Two of those former officials, Lyman E. Norris, vice president, and Harry Rosenblum, cashier, were arrested on warrants sworn by United States District Attorney Haveth E. Mau, which charged conspiracy to violate the national banking act. They pleaded not guilty and were held under $25,000 bond each.

As a real dirt farmer and a man who has given his years to the study of conditions which effect the welfare of every man who has to work, Mr. Schewe would make an ideal representative of the people and it is to such men that we must look to solve the questions which come to us in these days of complex business and political questions.

Fourth of July Will be a Quiet Day in This City

No Celebration to Be Held Here or in Immediate Vicinity—Stores Close at Noon

From Friday's Daily— The observance of the Fourth of July in this city will be a very quiet one from all indications and with but little aside from individual demonstrations to mark the anniversary of the national birthday.

The business houses of the city at the meeting of the retail section of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday voted to close the stores at noon in all cases where possible, allowing the business men and their employes at least a partial celebration of the day.

This year Glenwood, which usually stages an old time celebration, is not giving any public observance and the residents there as well as in this city must seek other localities for their days outing if they wish a general celebration.

The late years has caused the Fourth of July to be less a day of noise and demonstration and in many places ordinances against fireworks has caused a check on this part of the day which had endeared itself to the youngsters and not a few of the older celebrators.

There is no water service near the house, the nearest being at the M. P. station, and the fire gaining such headway that the chemical supply could not cope with the flames. The department was able however, to stop the burning of several telegraph and telephone poles near the house. The residence property is located along the Missouri Pacific right of way and had for some time been unoccupied. The property is owned by Iowa parties.

The cause of the fire could not be determined, whether from parties entering the house and causing the fire or from sparks from passing locomotives.
