Hoover Sees Effect of the Lack of Rain

President Observes First Hand Damage Done by Drouth in Trip to Summer Camp

Orange, Va.—President Hoover Friday observed at first hand a portion of the damage caused by the drouth as he drove from Washington to his mountain camp for a week-end visit, and as he rode thru the countryside he saw some of the blighting effects of the long dry spell. The chief executive and a number of guests looked out upon acres of stunted corn in dry fields and passed over a number of creeks from which the water had long since receded. President Hoover brought with him for study over the week-end two maps upon which he will plot information received by the weather bureau and the department of agriculture concerning the drouth. Arrangements had been to obtain this information promptly. Having taken over personal direction of relief measures, Mr. Hoover planned to devote a large part of his outing to considering the drouth situation. The trip from Washington was without incident. It was made under threatening clouds that seemed to promise immediate rain. On two occasions a few drops fell upon the presidential procession, but as they neared the camp the clouds broke and rain seemed a remote possibility.

Accompanying the president were Secretary Hurley, George Horace Lorimer, editor of the Saturday Evening Post, and Mrs. Lorimer; Ogden Reid, editor of the New York Herald-Tribune, and Mrs. Reid; Jeremiah Milbank and Mrs. Milbank of New York; Miss Gertrude B. Lane, Frederick S. Snyder of Boston; Edgar Rickard and Mrs. Rickard of New York; Joel T. Boone, the president's physician; Mrs. Stark McMullin of Palo Alto, and Lawrence Richey, the president's secretary.—State Journal.

LUTHERAN SESSION CLOSED

Toledo—The forty-ninth and final convention of the Lutheran joint synod of Ohio and other states closed its session Friday after speeding disposal of matters pertaining to home missions and student service. The adjournment came thirty hours before the scheduled time for closing the convention. The convention paid tribute to the late Dr. Henry Ernest, for years deary of the synod's theological seminary at St. Paul, Minn. Holding a memorial service at which Rev. E. M. Kenna, president of the Wisconsin district outlined the activities of the leader. The joint Ohio synod before adjourning elected scores of men. Chosen from the three synods merging into the American Lutheran church to serve on various boards of the joint synod of Ohio.

Quincy, Ill.—Questions of policy stirred spirited discussion Friday among delegates to the synodal conference of the Lutheran church of North America. Several resolutions, seeking to express the stand of the church on various points, were re-submitted to the committees that prepared them with instructions for amendments. They are scheduled to be presented again Saturday in their changed form. Those Chicago savants and scientists called in to determine the identity of two baby boys mixed up in a hospital shortly after their birth seem to be utterly devoid of imagination. Why not do the thing all over again from start to finish?

Gas Line Workers to Remain in This City

Arrangements Made Allows Men and Families to Reside Here as Work Advances in Iowa

A large part of the force which is engaged in the construction of the natural gas lines through this locality, will continue to make their headquarters here as the line progresses toward Council Bluffs. The Chamber of Commerce has assisted the men in seeing that it was possible for them to remain here instead of moving at once, many of them having their families here with them, the opportunity of being able to remain here being very much appreciated by the men and their families as they have been on the move for the greater part of the summer. The new Missouri river traffic bridge will make it possible for the men to reside here and drive back and forth to the work on the line which is now starting in Mills county and with Council Bluffs as the goal. Not only is the fact of the force remaining here a pleasure to them but it is also a benefit to the business interests of the city to have this large number of residents here.

LIGHTNING AT ELMWOOD

On Tuesday morning this community was visited by a real electric storm and lightning struck in two places in town. At the Chas. Gerbeling residence a bolt of lightning struck a tree tearing the top out and entered at one side of the house tearing off quite a chunk of plaster from the ceiling. Mr. and Mrs. Gerbeling and a sister of Mr. Gerbeling were eating breakfast when the bolt struck. Charley described it in this way: "The house was just one flash like like a bunch of fireworks goes off and of course it gave us a jolt and it was an instant before we realized just what had happened." It did look like a close call and they are feeling mighty good that things are no worse than they were and that they escaped without injury or even a shock. Charley brought to this office some of the wire of the telephone line running into the house and about all there was left was the insulation, the copper wire having been completely melted out. The lightning struck a tree at the Farmers Elevator the same morning and splintered it up pretty badly. Several got pieces of wood splintered from this tree as souvainers and brot them along with them up town and were showing them to people who had not seen them. At the Emil Bornemeier farm on the same morning lightning struck a tree in the yard. Norman Bornemeier was just backing the tractor out of the shed getting ready to do some plowing and the shock was enough to make him fall from the seat of the tractor. The tree was somewhat splintered.—Elmwood Leader-Echo.

CHAUTAQUA HAS TROUBLE
From Saturday's Daily—The chautauqua which is now being held at Union, which has been proving a very entertaining feature of the community life, yesterday afternoon had some unexpected excitement when a very heavy wind-storm visited that section. The large tent which is used for the presentation of the various attractions of the company, was blown down by the force of the wind and fortunately no one was injured in the accident. It was necessary to hold the evening performance of the chautauqua company in the Union opera house until the tent could be reset and arranged for the performance this afternoon and evening.

WILL GIVE PLANE RIDES
From Thursday's Daily—This morning Hanly Cohn of Sheridan, Wyoming, arrived in the city with his plane, to visit with his brother and family here and also to conduct airplane trips for those who might desire them. He is using the field at the Ralph Wiles farm just southwest of this city as his landing and taking off station and this afternoon had a number make the trip with him into the air. Mr. Cohn is a licensed pilot and gives the air minded a real chance to see the world from the clouds at a very low price as his ad elsewhere in this issue states.

ENJOYING VISIT IN THE WEST
Mr. and Mrs. Will Evers and son, Billie, are enjoying a short outing from the heat of the summer season in the Yellowstone Park, motoring to that section of the west and where in the delights of the natural wonderland Mr. Evers can enjoy a vacation from the worries and cares of the superintendency of the Nebraska Masonic Home. They will enjoy the stay in the park with the W. A. Robertson family who are also sojourning in that great summer playground.

DEPARTS FOR THE LAKES
From Friday's Daily—This morning Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wiles and two daughters, Mary Katherine and Elizabeth Ann, departed by auto for Minnesota, they planning on spending their outing in the lake country of the northern state. They are planning on a very fine trip that will take them through a great deal of the interesting lake country as well as visiting at Minneapolis and St. Paul before they return to the home here.

STEP TO BLOCK CANDIDACY

Pierre, S. D.—The state democratic party Friday sought to block the independent candidacy of L. E. Corey, Wagner publisher, and democratic insurgent, for South Dakota's governorship at the November election. A. L. Putnam, chairman of the democratic state central committee, obtained the temporary injunction from the state supreme court, restraining Secretary of State Pyle from placing Corey's name on the ballot. Putnam, who brought the action on behalf of the party, alleged the petition which nominated Corey was "irregular, fraudulent and void." He charged the petition had been circulated and signed in blank and the heading filled in later by Robert E. Dowdell, Forestburg, who filed it Thursday. Added complications arose when it developed Miss Pyle had certified the names of the candidates, including Corey's to county auditors a few hours before the injunction notice was served on her. This is the last step toward preparing the ballots.

Bandits Free Farmer After Killing One

Flee Into Illinois Leaving Vigilante Slain in Iowa Town—Had Robbed Store.

Maquoketa, Ia., Aug. 4.—After robbing a Davenport store of $15, killing R. G. Sproat, Cedar county vigilante, kidnaping Robert Moore, farmer near Tipton, Ia., and commandeering his auto, three bandits shortly before midnight Friday released Moore in East Dubuque, Ill., and fled in a rented auto toward Galena, Ill. Moore appeared before Sheriff Dell McElroy of Jackson county to tell of his release. He had driven back from East Dubuque to Maquoketa in his own car, which the bandits had compelled him to drive after enlisting his aid on pretext of taking one of their number to a hospital, saying he had been injured when their own car was ditched. Victim Shot Three Times. Sproat had accompanied Sheriff C. H. Elwood and Constable John Carr to a point three miles east of Tipton this morning to arrest the bandits, who, they had been notified, were heading west after holding up the Lage drug store in Davenport. The officers attempted to stop the bandit car but its occupants began shooting. Three shots struck Sproat in the back. With Elwood and Carey in pursuit, the bandits sped through Tipton and turned north. Near Wald their car overturned in the mud. They went to Moore's farm, asking him to take them to a Cedar Rapids hospital, because one of them had been hurt in the wreck. Think One Was Wounded. As Moore complied the bandits forced him into his car with a gun and started away. Authorities believe that one of the bandits was wounded by a bullet fired by Sheriff Elwood after Sproat was shot. Sproat, a veteran of the Spanish-American war, was unmarried. The car which the bandits abandoned was brought to Tipton. It bore Pennsylvania license plates and was registered in the name of John C. Mercer, Philadelphia. Police believe it was stolen at Davenport. Governor John Hammill of Iowa today offered a five hundred dollar reward, in the name of the state, for the capture and conviction of the three men.—World-Herald.

WESCOTT'S

Builds New Barn, but Retains Old

Oris Schlieft will Turn It Into an Implement Shed—New One to Cost Around $3,500.

Oris Schlieft, living one mile west of Manley, reports the completion of a new barn on his farm in which he feels a great deal of pride. He realizes how much more convenient it is going to be over the old barn which he has had moved to another location. The new barn just completed is 36x52. It will store 45 tons of hay and has bin room for 2,000 bushels of small grain. It will house eight head of horses and three milk cows. It is absolutely rat proof, the floors being constructed of concrete thru-out. The carpenters were Henry Brand and Harold Dumke, of Louisville, and Mr. Schlieft expressed himself as well pleased with the construction. All of the dimension lumber was cut at the lumber yard with an electric saw and then transferred to the farm, thus expediting the work. The job was completed in six weeks. The cost is in the neighborhood of $3,500. The new barn is painted white, Chester Eiseleman, of Murdock, doing the work. The old barn, which is 30x20, was moved to another location and will be used to store machinery. Mr. Schlieft is one of Cass county's most substantial young farmers. He has no desire for the much discussed Farm Aid, believing that the best aid a farmer can have is hard work and conservative buying. He owns the farm once the property of his uncle, August C. Fautsch, of Louisville. He has a fine residence also and all of his farm buildings are well built and attractive in looks. His brother, Arnold Schlieft, lives on the old home place of his mother, Mrs. Mary Schlieft, who now lives in Louisville.—Louisville Courier.

JUDGE McNEALY HERE

From Friday's Daily—Judge Robert McNealy of Louisville, a candidate for the republican nomination for county attorney was in the city today, stopping here on a tour of the county to visit friends and get acquainted with the voters. Mr. McNealy is the police judge of Louisville as well as the representative of the legal profession in the cement city where he has made his home since boyhood. This is his first venture into the political game and he has been very busy in the past week in visiting the various places over the county.

MOVING BACK HOME

From Friday's Daily—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Barthold arrived this morning via auto from Sioux City, Iowa, where they have been for several months and they are now locating in the family home on Wintersteen hill to enjoy themselves in the familiar scenes of home and among the old time friends in this city. Driving back from Sioux City they stopped over night at Springfield to be the guests of friends there for a few hours.

CARD OF THANKS

We are deeply grateful for the many kind and thoughtful expressions of sympathy.—The Cecil Family.

Since the government has announced it will not pay for liquor dispenses in United States embassies, American diplomats can no longer be expected to begin their toasts: "It's on the house."

When the Water Boils

An overheated engine not only indicates the need of oil, water or mechanical adjustment to prevent damage—it is a "fire signal" that should not be ignored. Keep the engine cool—the gasoline, wood and cloth in your car are easily ignited.

There are other common causes of fire, some of which cannot be easily detected. Even a minor blaze in your car or garage means an outlay of cash for repairs. It is wise to insure your car against such loss.

Get automobile insurance here covering fire, theft, collision, liability and property damage.
