Saw Andre Sail.

Our townsman, A. D. Bakke whose name is Andre Dorf Bakke, was a little urchin living in Christians, Sweden, in 1897, five years old, and witnessed the rising of the balloon which carried Andre, the explorer, away at that time and of whose death there was nothing known until a very short time ago, when his body was found in the frozen north. Christian Bakke, father of our townsman, was a very close friend of Andre, the explorer, and it was in his honor that Mr. A. D. Bakke was named. Oscar Nelson of Nehawka, father of Harry Nelson, was also a very close friend of Andre when they were both school chums in Sweden, many years ago.

DEATH OF MURRAY PIONEER

Mrs. W. E. Dull, one of the long time and beloved residents of Murray, passed away Sunday at the home where she has resided for so many years, death coming at the age of seventy-nine years. Mrs. Dull was one of the best known residents of that section of Cass county and since the death of the husband she has resided alone in the old home. While childless, Mrs. Dull reared several foster children, one of these being Joe Mrasek of this city and who led in the passing of this splendid lady all of the sorrow of the taking away of a mother, as she had tenderly cared for them in childhood days.

NO STRIKE DISORDERS

RECALLS ANDREE SAILING

The finding of the body of Salomon Auguste Andree, daring Swedish balloonist, with that of members of his party, frozen in the arctic wastes where they were stranded thirty-three years ago, recalls vividly to the mind of one resident of Murray the incidents of the sailing of Andree. This man is Andree D. Bakke, who was named in honor of the great explorer and balloonist, the families of Mr. Bakke and that of the explorer being very intimate and Christian Bakke, the father of A. D. being one of the closest friends of Andree. At the time of the start of the Andree expedition Mr. Bakke was a lad of five years of age and can vividly recall the incidents of the great balloon leaving on the ill fated trip, sailing out over the unknown sea and into a fate that was to be a quarter century until accidentally revealed to the crew of a sealing vessel.

Another who has had acquaintance with the great Swedish explorer is Oscar Nelson of Nehawka, the father of Harry Nelson, well known Murray merchant. Mr. Nelson was in his native land and from his recollection of boyhood days can recall the associations with the man that dared the north in the hope of floating over the north pole in a balloon and landing on the American continent.

TO START MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

The Plattsmouth Woman's club is starting this week an intensive drive for membership for the organization, the campaign being made in the hope of making this the most successful year in the history of the club in recruiting the membership for the fall and winter series of programs which open soon.

The club has been divided into wards for the campaign and each section will have a chairman and members of the club to serve in the recruiting of the membership for the year. In the first ward Mrs. E. J. Richey will be chairman, in the second, Mrs. C. H. Westcott, in the third, Mrs. James G. Maury, in the fourth, Mrs. George L. Farley and in the fifth, Mrs. James T. Begley.

The club is presenting their program to the women of the community and hope to have a greater interest created in the work of the club in this section of the county.

SERVICES FOR MRS. GRANT

West Point—Mrs. Frederick Dent Grant, daughter-in-law of president Grant and widow of a Major General in the United States army was buried beside her husband Monday in the Grant plot in the West Point cemetery. The funeral party arrived in a private car from Washington, was met by officials of the United States military academy, and the cortege proceeded at once to the cemetery, where Chaplain Kinsolving of the academy read the services at the grave.

Washington—The will of Mrs. Frederick Grant, filed in the District of Columbia supreme court for probate creates two trust funds to continue thru the lives of her two children, their children, and for twenty-one years beyond the lifetime of her youngest grandchild. No estimate of the value of her estate was made. The daughter is left $50,000 outright and the son gets Mrs. Grant's Massachusetts Avenue home.

BRIBERY CHARGES DENIED

Seattle—William M. Whitney, suspended assistant prohibition administrator, continued in federal court here Monday his denial of bribery and corruption and explained that his nominal ownership of the speed boat 494-M, alleged to have been used in rum running, was only a save Alfred M. Hubbard, then prohibition agent, from embarrassment during litigation.

Whitney, with Roy C. Lyle, former administrator, and Earl Corwin and R. L. Fryant, former agents, are on trial accused of accepting more than $100,000 in bribes from bootleggers in 1925 and 1927. Hubbard a prosecution witness, had testified that while the 494-M was registered under Whitney's name, it had been used for rum running.

WATERWAY CHIEF REPORTS

Aboard Boat on Mississippi—Secretary Hurley, continuing his trip of inspection down the Mississippi Tuesday night received from Major General Ashburn, chairman of the Inland Waterways corporation, on a comprehensive report on river traffic over the father of waters and its tributaries. Most important among things stressed by the general in his report to the war secretary was a recommendation for the standardization of tow boats, barges and terminals for the government operated water carrier system.

The barge type which the general recommended be made the standard for the river was the one recently adopted to carry 1,000 tons on the six foot channels and 2,000 tons on the parts of the river with nine foot channels.

Secretary Hurley, who resumed his trip down the river early Tuesday morning from St. Louis after a trip to his native state of Oklahoma, announced Tuesday night he would fly over he projects in the vicinity of Shreveport, La., Chattanooga, Tenn., New Madrid, Mo., and Bonnie Carle, La. The only stop between St. Louis and Thebes, Ill., where the Mississippi tied up for the night, was at Chester, Ill.

NOT MOVING VETS' BUREAU

Omaha—Gordon Beck, regional manager of veterans' work, announced here Monday on his return from Washington that the regional veterans' bureau will not be moved to Lincoln as previously planned, at least for the present.

Beck made the announcement after he had been in conference a week with Col. George E. Ijams, director of the bureau, who he quoted as saying that it is not the feeling of General Hines, administrator of veterans' affairs, that it is an opportune time to move the office.

Decision to retain the office in Omaha was prompted, Beck explained, by the large volume of additional work which will be placed on the regional office because of new legislation bearing on disability allowance claims.

It had been planned to move the office to Lincoln and have it operate there in conjunction with the new veterans' hospital.
