While we cannot guarantee continuation of present butter prices, we did sell at these figures throughout the present week, although "Saturday Special" stores everywhere raised the price to several cents above us Monday morning. As long as the market is down we will continue to give you the advantage.

Pacific Junction Man Killed in Auto Wreck

A. R. Talbot, Night Roundhouse Foreman Hurlled Through Windshield of Car.

Death again lurked near the little bridge on the Bartlett road, south of Pacific Junction claiming its second victim within a year when on Sunday Lee Gammon, boiler maker for the Burlington railroad of Pacific Junction driving his Ford sedan, accompanied by his friend, A. B. Talbot, night roundhouse foreman in Pacific Junction, en route to the Bob Hunter home near Percival shortly after noon Sunday crossing the bridge at what was apparently a high speed and the car swerved first to the west and then diagonally across the road to the east, went into the ditch and tore along several feet, the hub scraping the bark from five trees before the car crashed into the sixth tree, throwing Talbot through the windshield, breaking his neck and driving the motor back into the car, breaking Gammon's left hip and dislocating the right hip.

The Raynor ambulance in Glenwood was called and rushed to the scene of the accident. Both men were quickly loaded and the run for the hospital was started, but the phantom of death was not to be cheated and Talbot passed away in the ambulance just as they reached Glenwood, while an attending physician stood by the side of the car. Mr. Gammon was given first aid treatment and taken on to the Mercy hospital in Council Bluffs where it was reported Monday noon he was doing as well as could be expected considering the seriousness of his injury. The right hip was dislocated, the left hip was broken in four places and it is feared that he is injured internally.

Funeral services for Mr. Talbot were held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Methodist church in Pacific Junction and burial in the Glenwood cemetery. He was born April 23, 1875 in Marion county, Ill., and moved with his family to Pacific Junction about seven years ago from Centralia, Ill. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Maud Talbot, two sons, Raymond of Council Bluffs and Joseph at home; also one daughter, Gladys Faulkner of Pacific Junction. He also leaves two sisters, Luia Maltimore and Ada Pike, both of Centralia; also two half-brothers, Alfred Gore of Centralia and Clarence Gore of Belmon, Ill.

NEBRASKA COTTON

Douglas Brooks, a young lad of this city, brought to the Journal today a fine specimen of a cotton plant, which was raised from cotton seed sent from Texas. The cotton was planted some three months ago and the bolls are formed on the plant for the cotton, and had the seed been planted earlier a fine output of cotton could have been realized.

New York Banker Purchases a Large Farm Here

Jay D. Rising of New York City Purchases Former Henry Creamer Farm Near Murray

Jay D. Rising, one of the vice-presidents of the Chase National bank of New York City, has added to his large land holdings in this county, closing the deal for the purchase of the 400 acre farm southeast of Murray which was formerly owned by the late Henry Creamer.

This farm was secured for the price of $150 per acre and added to the other land holdings of Mr. Rising will give him some one thousand acres in the most fertile section of the west.

Mr. Rising already owns the section near Cedar Creek known as "the Dovey section" which he has placed in the very best of shape by the addition of many improvements including the remodeling of the house and the building of barns and corn cribs and he is making this farm one of the most modern in the entire county and which in time will make a real country estate.

The large holdings of this eastern banker represents a confidence in the future of the west and the lands that make up Cass county, as the large investments are made after careful consideration and represents the best judgment of a same and conservative investment.

Mr. Rising has been for the past few days en route with Mrs. Rising for the west coast where they are to spend the winter and where Mr. Rising will look after some business interests.

WILL PRESENT COMEDY DRAMA

A clever three-act comedy-drama, "West of Broadway" will be presented at the Parme theatre, September 30th and October 1st. It is being sponsored by the Catholic Daughters and produced by permission of the National Producing Co. of Kansas City, Missouri.

"West of Broadway" has an interesting plot which deals with a New York stock company. Because of a bridge washout the company is forced to remain in a very small western town. Endeavoring to amuse themselves the company condone a stage "tryout" and discover talent when they meet the depot agent's niece.

The manager of the stock company states that the actors will give a show in the old opera house that evening giving the little girl they have discovered a better chance to prove her ability.

The Mayor objects to the show but he is overruled by the small town citizens.

Clever specialties between acts entertain. Some of the present popular airs will be featured. The Befy Coed chorus always gains applause as well as the seven modern maids singing "Minnie the Mermaid." An additional treat will be several solo dances and a pretty pageant.

The entire cast will be announced later. Reserve seat tickets will be 50c.

The company representative and the director of "West of Broadway" is Miss Gertrude Prather of Kansas City, Missouri. Miss Prather is a graduate of Stephens College at Columbia, Missouri and also of Nebraska University. Chautauqua work as well as play coaching have given her extensive experience in the field of dramatic art.

Wheat Prices Break After False Reports

Fake Dispatches Related Canadian Pool Was Insolvent—Review Quiz Today.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 23.—Already confounded by short-selling investigations and world competition by Russia, the sagging grain market today bent further under the demoralizing weight of false reports from Canada.

Hastily denied and corrected, the reports, which alleged insolvency of the Canadian Growers' Pool, nevertheless sent wheat, corn and every other grain tumbling to unimaginable lows, unmatched in 24 years. September wheat reached bottom at 77 3/4 cents.

The incident added a third investigation to the market. The business conduct committee of the board of trade and the United States grain futures administration began immediate inquiry to find the authors of the forged messages. They were signed with the name of a prominent Winnipeg broker. A telegraph company joined the search.

Probe Reopens Today.

The board of trade committee will reopen its investigation tomorrow into Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde's charges that Russia abused grain hedging facilities to depress wheat prices. The committee has received the specific information it requested from Secretary Hyde.

Representative Hamilton Fish, who suspects a communist plot behind the short selling of wheat by Russia, will bring his congressional investigation to Chicago next Monday. Officials of the board of trade have promised to appear and several brokers, it is understood will be subpoenaed.

Russia's activities abroad continued upsetting to the local situation. The Soviets undersold North American wheat in Europe and announced vessels had been chartered to carry out 55 million bushels of grain, most of it wheat.

Further bearish news was that the world's stock of wheat in sight increased 27,322,000 bushels last week, bringing the total to the staggering figure of 413,343,000 bushels. Last year at this time the world's visible supply was 393,493,000 bushels.

The Hyde charges against Russian participation in the local market continued to furnish gossip fodder among traders. It was said by some of them that Hyde's statement to the effect that Russia could "obviously not import wheat over our 42-cent tariff" was not pertinent to short-selling on the Chicago market, inasmuch as it would be possible for Russia to hedge here as insurance against transactions abroad.—World-Herald.

GIFTS FOR LIPTON CONSOLATION PRIZE NOW OVER $1,000

New York, Sept. 22.—Contributions to a consolation prize for Sir Thomas Lipton, whose fifth attempt to win the America's cup ended in the same failure that marked his earlier attempts, passed one thousand dollars today.

A hundred letters were received today by Baron Collier, secretary of the fund, containing contributions ranging from 5 cents to $2. Many of the letters were from women. In almost all of them the yachtman was referred to as the world's best loser, the world's best sportsman or the greatest man in the world.

One of today's contributions was from A. P. Meade of New York, whose father sailed on the yacht America when it won a race in England many years ago and started the international races.

Boston Fund Started.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 22.—A Bay state campaign to raise funds for the purchase of a loving cup to be presented to Sir Thomas Lipton received its official impetus today when Mayor James M. Curley opened the drive with a donation of a dollar bill. At the close of the first day of the drive $180 had been received.

The idea of such a presentation was originally suggested by Will Rogers, and was put into execution by Mayor James J. Walker of New York.

NAVY WILL CUT EXPENSES

Washington—In line with the recent demand of President Hoover for economy, the navy department Tuesday directed that flight operations through the naval aeronautics organization be reduced to an absolute minimum consistent with approved operating schedules and efficiency.

At the same time, Secretary Adams directed that the naval station at Key West, Fla., be placed in an in-operative status not later than Nov. 15. Plans previously announced said a saving of $200,000 would result from closing the station. Sixty-nine service men and 125 civilians will be affected.

Categories listed for reduction in flying hours were familiarization and practice flights, transportation of personnel, administrative flights and cross country training.

KEARNEY READY FOR YEGGS

Kearney—Bandits who may attempt to raid Kearney's two banks will find a warm reception awaiting them.

When it was reported that the automobile in which bandits escaped who robbed the Genoa bank Monday, carried a Buffalo county license plate, steps were taken to guard the two banks here by having several deputized as a shotgun squad.

As a further preventative against robberies, the Fort Kearney State bank and the Farmers State bank have posted a reward of $500 for each dead bank robber slain while in the act of robbing the institution.
