U. S. Shipyards Now Employing 40,000 Workers

Annual Wages of $60,000,000 Represent Eighty Per Cent of Cost

New York—A shipbuilding program giving employment to more than 40,000 men, whose annual wages aggregate $60,000,000 is in progress in the United States, according to a report just sent to President Hoover by the National Council of American Shipbuilders here. The sum paid in wages represents 80 per cent of the total cost of $75,000,000 for the ships, the report stated.

While the report was compiled to refute rumors indicating a cessation in activity in American yards, it served the double purpose of showing the number of men who have been given work on new maritime construction subsequent to the passing of the Jones-White Marine Act, to which the council of shipbuilders attributes the new era in American shipping.

The liberal loan provisions of the act and the mail contracts available under it have given an impetus to shipbuilding which will soon provide the United States with a merchant marine comparable with those of other powers.

Contracts exceeding $140,000,000 in value for the construction of new merchant ships have been executed, the report stated, and with additional orders totaling $135,000,000 will mean an expenditure of $275,000,000 during a five-year period ending in 1935.

Farmers Organize to Protect from Thieves

Resident of Near Nehawka Plan Move for Protection Against Stealing Stock and Fruit

For many years residents of the country districts have suffered a great deal from the ravages of parties of people in trucks and cars who come from Omaha to the country for the purpose of securing walnuts, grapes, apples or other natural products that are found on the farms and which the visitors feel free to appropriate whether the farm owner is willing or not.

Not only have the farmers suffered from the loss of the walnuts and grapes but hunting parties have shot, maimed and injured hogs and chickens and other stock and have been known to carry the trophies of the hunt away with them to the loss and anger of the owner.

The farmers north of Nehawka have grown tired of these invasions and decided to take some definite steps to see that future visitations are checked. The farmers are not of a warlike disposition and when the proper kind of people visit their places are not opposed to allowing them reasonable liberties if they are asked about it, but do not favor the visitors coming in and helping themselves as they have frequently in the past.

A meeting was held Sunday and an organization of some thirty-five of the farmers formed from the Nehawka neighborhood and steps taken to act in conjunction with the office of the county sheriff in checking the thieving and destruction of property. As the county officers are largely engaged on Sunday in rushing from one auto wreck to another to investigate, and cannot cover so wide an area as they might wish, the organization of the farmers propose to have a special constable appointed who can patrol the highways on Sunday and check up any depredations, arrest the parties and check the progress of invasion on the country side.

Most of the depredations are committed on Sunday and a close check will be kept in the future on the residents from the cities who come out to enrich their larders at the expense of the farmer.

Another test on the feeding of wheat to cattle is under way at the present time at the Nebraska experiment station. Two lots of three year old steers are being fed for 65 days. They will be shipped to the government experimental station at Beltsville, Md. for slaughter and carcass study. Representative carcasses will be exhibited at the International Livestock Show at Chicago in December. One lot of the steers is getting shelled corn and alfalfa hay, the other lot, two-thirds ground shelled corn and one-third ground wheat and alfalfa hay. The steers weighed about 1200 when started on test and came from the government livestock range at Miles City, Montana. The two lots of steers will be one of the attractions at Rooters Day, the annual hog feeders program, October 17th.—D. D. Wainwright, Cass County Extension Agent; Jessie H. Baldwin, Ass't. County Extension Agent.

Safe Seeding Date for Wheat
"Farmers can seed their wheat now, as most of the fly has emerged," reports O. S. Bare, Extension Entomologist of Lincoln, who has been in charge of observation station at Weeping Water.

The few flies that are yet to emerge will no doubt be out before wheat that is sown now is up. Cass county has been one of the last counties to announce the date. This is due to the cool, dry weather the last month.

Rooters Day.
October 17th is the Annual Rooters Day at the Agricultural College at Lincoln. Three experimental tests with hogs will be of great interest. One of them deals with feeding wheat instead of corn, another with the age and size at which it is most profitable to market hogs, and the other is a high protein feed comparison. Over 200 head of pigs are in the experimental tests, making the tests among the most extensive ever conducted at the college.

4-H Beef Pleases Buyers.
Not a kick in $40,000 worth of baby beef is the record made by 4-H club members and their baby beefs at the Nebraska State fair. Without exception, the buyers of the beef were pleased with the carcasses. Several of them said they wished they had bought more. One packing company has ordered only two-thirds of their orders on the day of the auction sale. Several companies shipped all of the carcasses out as soon as they were graded. More than fifty per cent of the carcasses graded choice to prime. Only two were bruised and those not seriously enough to change the grade.

Simple Way to Mix Feed.
One of the simplest ways to purchase and mix the high protein concentrates of a good poultry ration would be to buy and mix the protein feed or concentrates and then add it to the grain. One hundred pounds of alfalfa meal, 250 pounds of meat scraps, 50 pounds of dried skim-milk or dried buttermilk and 20 pounds of salt may be mixed together.

This amount will balance 800 pounds of yellow corn meal, 400 pounds of ground wheat, 200 pounds of bran, and 200 pounds of pulverized oats or barley to make a ton of laying mash for hens.

Hens getting this mash in a self feeder should be given from 8 to 10 pounds of whole wheat per 100 hens per day. Most people like to scatter the whole wheat in a straw or other litter, which is a good practice provided the litter is clean.

Wheat Feeding Experiments.
Chancellor E. A. Burnett of the University of Nebraska had charge of the first Nebraska experimental work in feeding wheat to cattle. A test was run in the winter of 1901-02 and reported in station bulletin No. 75. The bulletin has been out of print for several years but was recently revised as Animal Husbandry Department Circular No. 165.

In the first half of the test 29 acres, Lot 1 and Lot 3, received a grain ration of 80 per cent wheat and 20 per cent bran. Lot 2 and Lot 4 received 80 per cent of corn and 20 per cent bran. All lots received alfalfa hay for roughness. In the second part of the test all four lots received 70 per cent wheat, 15 per cent oil meal and 15 per cent corn as their grain ration. Roughness was made up of one half alfalfa hay, one fourth prairie hay and one fourth wheat straw.

Conclusion No. 4 in the revised circular states, "This experiment indicated the feeding value of wheat for cattle was 5 per cent greater than that of corn."

Fire Destroys Business House in Avoca Today

Building Owned by C. W. Fahenstock and Occupied by S. M. Mapel Burned to Ground

From Monday's Daily—This morning at 3:30 the frame building at Avoca occupied by the S. M. Mapel cream and produce station was discovered to be on fire and soon the structure was a roaring furnace and burned to the ground, all of the contents being lost in the burned building.

The town has no fire protection beyond the bucket brigade which was formed by the citizens and who did splendid work in responding and due to their efforts the fire was held confined to the one building although the heat charred a part of the sides of the buildings of William Morley and A. J. Johnson, the blaze was prevented from making further inroads on the structures.

The loss of the building and contents is estimated will be in the neighborhood of $2,500 and is the most serious fire that has occurred in that place in a number of years.

CARS HAVE SMASHUP
Sunday morning a small auto wreck occurred near the Rock Creek filling station east of Murray when the car of Roy Gerking, well known farmer of that section, collided with a car driven by a tourist named Sharp. Mr. Gerking was turning off near the station and his signal was not apparently seen by Mr. Sharp who was coming south on No. 75 and the result was the cars crashed, both being damaged up to a greater or less extent. Mr. Gerking suffered an injury to one of his ribs that has proven very painful.

Mynard Community Club Resumes Fall Meetings

After Summer Vacation Live Wire Social Organization Starts Its Activities

After a vacation of two months, the Mynard Community Club held its September meeting on last Friday evening. Mrs. S. W. Cole led in the regular "sing" which begins each meeting. The business session followed with C. L. Wiles presiding. After the reading of the minutes by the secretary, Mrs. John Valley, the treasurer reported a fund of $40.62. The chairman of the house committee, C. C. Barnard, reported the need for a vestibule over the steps leading down into the hall. Suggestions for raising funds for this purpose were given and it was decided to hold a chicken-pie supper with a program either during or after the supper. The president called upon Rev. McKelvie, the new United Brethren minister, to make a few remarks which he did very pleasantly and humorously. The remainder of the meeting was presided over by Mrs. E. H. Spangler, chairman of the "east-side" program committee. The music for the evening was furnished by Cecil and James Comstock of Plattsmouth. They gave a stirring march as a piano duet, two trumpet solos by James accompanied by Cecil and a piano solo, "The Evening Star" by Cecil. These two young musicians show much promise and ability and their music was highly appreciated by the Mynard folks and their guests.

The scholars of District No. 3 directed by their teacher, Miss Frances Livingston, put on a dramatization of the story of "The Little Red Hen." The children filled their parts well and the costumes were very good, and it was enjoyed by both the little and big folks. Miss Helene Perry gave a couple of humorous readings in her usual finished manner. Last but not least came "The Fashion Show," contrasting modern styles with those of years ago. While Mrs. Roy Cole played appropriate music the models paraded before the audience, two at a time, one modern dress, and one old style. The titles were read by Mrs. Spangler.

the stage while Mary Ellen Valley sang the verses of "Love's Old Sweet Song" with all joining in the chorus. The old fashioned apparel afforded much amusement and most of the audience agreed that the modern manner of dress was the best.

The "kitchen" and "table" committees held a meeting after the crowd had dispersed, and decided to have the supper next Friday evening. Also the cooks demanded some permanent means of cooking as they were "tired of borrowing stoves." The club has gotten its equipment a little at a time as one buys for a home, and now, the ladies decided, was the time to buy a cooking stove and so it will be done.
