MURRAY GARAGE
 A. D. BAKKE, Propr.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Baker, had the misfortune to be kicked by a horse which cut into his eye lid and also fracturing the bone, requiring the service of Dr. O. C. Hudson, taking five stitches to close the wound.

F. J. Bartonek of Ogden, Utah, and a brother of John Hobscheidt, assistant timekeeper of the Southern Pacific company has been visiting at the home of Mr. Hobscheidt for a number of days past and was also visiting with his friend, George Nickles, for a while early in the week.

While visiting at a place to see about the illness of one of the scholars last week, Professor James Marsell had a dog sneak up from behind and bit the instructor, who was unaware of the animal being about until he had been bitten. The wound was not so severe and is getting along nicely.

Mrs. Henry Schumaker, mother of Fred Schumaker and well along in years, some time since had the misfortune to sustain a fractured hip, which has caused this excellent lady much suffering, but who is getting some better now. She is staying for the present at the home of her son, Fred Schumaker.

The coal dealers are receiving much coal just now and many are putting away their winter's supply which is well as they are supplied and there is no more worry about the fuel. The lumber yard is receiving the celebrated Franklin county, Illinois coal while the elevator is unloading two cars, one of Red Dragon and one of Orient.

Phil Lambert who has been making his home in Council Bluffs for some time past, and where he sustained a fractured leg in a fall some time since, was visiting with his many friends in Murray on last Monday afternoon, returning to Omaha in the evening where he will make his home in the future. He was accompanied by his sister of Council Bluffs.

John Frans is painting the new portion of the Nickles Lumber yard, and which is adding much to the appearance of the structure. The rebuilding of the portion which has been made new has added much to the place as well as making it convenient for the carrying on of the work and providing a place for a portion of the stock of goods which is carried.

Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Stewart and Mrs. Will S. Smith, representing the Presbyterian Bible school, and Messrs. J. E. Byrnedel, W. L. Seybolt and E. W. Milburn were representing the Christian Bible school at the County Sunday school convention which was held at Louisville, Mrs. C. D. Spangler and Everett Spangler were also in attendance, though not delegated, but being very much interested in the Bible school, both were attending.

Will Feed Many Cattle.
 Parr Young was in Omaha one day recently and while there made the purchase of some 170 head of excellent steers which he shipped to Murray and has taken them to his farm where he has put them on feed for returning to the market when they are fattened.

Boedecker and Wehrlein received some two hundred porkers which they bought from the South Dakota regions, where their crops were very bad, and will put them on feed here. They also purchased some fifty very fine steers, which will arrive shortly for their feeding lots here.

Lived Here 39 Years.
 James E. Hatchett came here thirty-eight years ago, and the home which he now has was built two years before, and the barn along with it. During the forty years the barn has sheltered the family cow and has been used for storage purposes. During the past forty years the weather had eaten into the structure until it was about to fall down. But James, anticipating the collapse of his building, tore the structure down and using the lumber and some other, constructed another barn not quite so large, which serves him and the cow well. If this barn lasts as long as the other it will serve the owner well.

HAS EYE INJURED

Ray Baker, 10, residing southeast of Murray, suffered a very severe injury Tuesday when he was kicked in the face by a horse, the boy at the time being playing around the animal. The kick resulted in a very severe wound on the side of the face, and laid open the eyelid and flesh around the eye and for a time it was feared that the eye was in such shape that it would be badly affected. The boy was hurried here to the office of Dr. O. C. Hudson and the wound dressed and sewed up. The boy is reported as doing as well as possible and it is hoped will have no permanent injuries as the result.

Court Begins Study on Consent Decree

District of Columbia Tribunal Considers Whether Packers Shall Enter Retail Field

Washington—The District of Columbia began a study of the packers consent decree to determine whether packing companies shall be permitted to enter the retail field and sell meats direct to the consumers. Three witnesses, government employees called by the packers, gave data on meat packing establishments and their productions. John F. Daly, census bureau employe, testified the value 1927 was $1,000,000,000 and that 327 meat packing establishments in that year did more than a million dollar business each.

The packers consent decree, entered into by Armour & Co., Swift & Co., and other concerns in 1920, has been before the courts in one form or another since 1924. Prior to the consent decree, the government brought antitrust proceedings against the packers, charging they had a monopoly in certain meat products. The packers later brought suit to vacate the decree but it was upheld by the supreme court in 1928. A petition for modification followed and this is the basis for the hearing now under way.

The case already has been before the district courts for several months and a lengthy trial is in prospect. The way was cleared for testimony Tuesday when Justice Jennings Bailey denied the motions of the American National Livestock association and the National Wool Growers to intervene. They were permitted, however, to file briefs supporting the packers.

Many agricultural organizations favored the packers petition. They expressed belief that if the packers are allowed to sell meat at retail better prices would result from the ensuing competition. On the other hand, grocery organizations generally are opposed.—State Journal.

Nye Denies Tapping Wires

Will Confine Pre-election Activities to Nebraska and Tennessee—Date Is Not Set.

Washington, Oct. 7.—The senate campaign funds committee decided today to confine its pre-election activities to the states of Nebraska and Tennessee and possibly North Carolina.

Chairman Nye of the committee said it would be impossible to go to Colorado or to any other states before the general elections because of the lack of time and of help.

Whether the committee will go to North Carolina will be decided definitely tomorrow after Senator Patterson (rep., Mo.) has had an opportunity to confer with the committee investigators.

The date of the hearings in Tennessee and in Nebraska will depend, Senator Nye said, upon whether the committee goes into North Carolina.

The chairman has requested Senator Wagner (dem., N. Y.), to make an examination of campaign expenditures in the Massachusetts senatorial race to determine whether an investigation will be made there later.—World-Herald.

Harnessing of Ocean Thought Impractical

Scientists in America and Cuba Comment on Experiment by French Scientist.

Washington—Government scientists Tuesday described the feat of Prof. Georges Claude, French engineer, in harnessing the water of the ocean to generate power as "scientifically interesting but far from warranting the building of similar hydroelectric plants along the Atlantic seaboard."

Power experts at the bureau of standards said scientists have long recognized that utilizing the thermal difference in water to generate steam and run a turbine is a sound scientific principle but they doubt whether such a method of power production ever will be commercially valuable. The cost of extracting power by the Claude system, they said, makes the project economically unfeasible.

Havana—Some doubt as to the practicability of the experiments of Prof. Georges Claude, the French scientist who Monday gave a demonstration of his ability to make variations of gulf stream temperatures produce electrical energy, was expressed Tuesday by Dr. Luciano de Gotochea, dean of the department of electrical engineering of the University of Havana.

"My opinion," Dr. Gotochea said, "is that there seems to be some doubt as to the possibility of Professor Claude's production of cheap power—the chief advantage sought by the scientists." Professor Claude said Monday night, following his public demonstration, the conditions for the test had not been as favorable as he had anticipated but he was optimistic with the results he produced under these conditions.—State Journal.

WRIGLEY WILL PROVIDE HOME FOR 2,000 JOBLESS

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 6.—William Wrigley failed to see his Chicago Cubs become National league champions this year, but he became a champion in his own right today—champion of two thousand jobless men who will have a warm place to sleep because of the chewing gum magnate's efforts.

Wrigley, it became known, has put men to work cleaning up a building on the West Side in the heart of the district long known as the "port of missing men." When it is ready before the first snowfall, it will provide beds for two thousand men. Wrigley will heat the building and provide food and entertainment for its occupants.

70,000 Legionnaires Parade in Boston Tuesday

From Morning Until Dark Veterans March, Singing Wartime Songs—Suspend Business.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 7.—Streets that once echoed the tread of revolutionary heroes rang today with the tread of 70 thousand American Legionnaires in one of the greatest military spectacles New England has ever seen.

Before a crowd that packed every bit of available street space and peered down from the office buildings, the legionnaires and their auxiliary members marched through flag draped streets to the tunes of four hundred bands in a parade which started in the morning sunlight and ended after the darkness had fallen.

The Tunes of 1917.
 Feet that sloughed through the mud of Flanders, that packed down the snow of Archangel and paced the decks of battleships, sounded their cadence under a clear blue sky. From right and left came the cheers of the crowd and from overhead the navy dirigible Los Angeles and scores of small planes sent down the steady drone of motors.

There were the tunes of 1917, "The Long, Long Trail," "Hinky Dinky Parlez Vous," "K-K-K-Katy" and scores of others. It was thoroughly a veterans' day. The business of a national convention was forgotten in the riot of color, the bands and the cheering.

The parade route carried them past "the cradle of liberty," Faneuil hall; over the scene of the famous Boston massacre, past the old statehouse where spoke Hancock and the Adamses, along Boston's historic common and Lafayette hall and over Beacon hill past the present statehouse.

In front of the statehouse sat a group of white-haired men, their figures bent by the years, but extending a welcome and a salute to these vigorous men in the prime of life who filed past. They were of the legion that answered the call in '61.

McNutt Grand Marshal.
 At their head, as grand marshal, was Paul V. McNutt of Indiana, past national commander; Major General Edward of Massachusetts, war-time commander of the twenty-sixth "Yankee" division from New England, honorary grand marshal, and William H. Griffin of Massachusetts, past department commander, as chief of staff, and their aides. Behind them, first of nearly four hundred bands and bugle and drum corps, marched the champion Legion band of Electric Post 228 of Milwaukee, Wis.

Through Beacon street they climbed beneath festooned arches up to the slope of Beacon hill and past the statehouse, where the first of four reviewing stands stood. Here were gathered state officers. At the city hall was another reviewing stand for city officers.

It was the third reviewing stand on Tremont street that brought a

ATHLETICS ARE AGAIN CHAMPIONS OF THE WORLD

By Score of 7 to 1 American League Champions Win Today—Simmons and Dyke Hit Homers.

This afternoon at Shibe park at Philadelphia, the Athletics of the American League again annexed a world's title when they defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, the National league leaders by the score of 7 to 1.

George Earnshaw was the choice of Mack for the crucial game of the series and while he pitched the second A victory and all but two innings of the game Monday, he was again sent to the mound and held the red birds safely.

The home runs of Simmons and Dykes with the general smashing attack of the A's soon drove Hallahan from the mound and Johnson was sent in to relieve him only to have Simmons plant one over the stands for a homer.

The Cardinals scored their only tally in the ninth when Earnshaw momentarily weakened.
