Former Wabash Bank Cashier Receives Sentence

Pleads Guilty to Embezzlement and Forgery—One to Five Years in Penitentiary.

From Thursday's Daily—
This morning in the district court Ray Ward, 36, former cashier of the Farmers State bank of Wabash, which went into voluntary liquidation in July, was given a hearing in the district court on a complaint filed by County Attorney W. G. Kieck, charging him with embezzlement of the sum of $10,800 and also the forgery of a note of $2,000.

On the reading of the complaint the defendant, who had plead not guilty in the county court of the charge of forgery, changed his plea to that of guilty on the two counts and accordingly was sentenced under the indeterminate sentence law to from one to five years on each count, the sentence to run concurrently.

The young man stated to the authorities that he had taken the money of the bank and had purchased stock of a concern in Chicago, later finding that the stock was worthless and since the time of Mr. Ward's purchase from the company, they had been closed by the state of Illinois for fraud.

Mr. Ward was cashier of the Farmers State bank of Wabash from July 10, 1929 to August 1, 1930.

ASHLAND COMING STRONG

The local school officials have received word from the superintendent of schools at Ashland that their school would send at least 100 rooters to the football game and stadium dedication on next Friday, October 17th. The local school will give the visitors a royal reception and treat them fine—a lot of course the blue and white are going to disappoint the Ashland bunch by taking the game.

Every business house in the city is expecting to be represented in force at the athletic field dedication and with the local rooters and the Ashland visitors a very large crowd should be in attendance.

Bank Bandits Get Forty Years Each in Genoa Robbery

Ask No Leniency from Court—Confess Other Crimes—Murder Charges Said Possible.

Fullerton, Neb., Oct. 10.—John Giles and J. E. Fisher today pleaded guilty in district court here to charges of robbing the First National bank at Genoa, Neb., of six thousand dollars last September 22 and each was sentenced to serve 40 years in the state penitentiary.

Brought before Judge Lightner by State Sheriff W. C. Condit, neither man displayed any emotion, although Giles, after sentence had been passed, arose to his feet and tried to clear Fisher of complicity in a score of crimes which Giles had admitted.

In passing judgment, Judge Lightner told the men he believed the sentence he meted out "was light."

Might Have Been 50 Years.
"However, according to the insurance tables of life expectancy, the sentences will be sufficient, he added. The sentence might have been 50 years, according to Condit.

The judge further advised both men that they could have been returned to face murder charges in connection with the slaying of Martin Johnson, chief of police at Ray, N. D.

The return journey to the penitentiary at Lincoln was started by Condit with his prisoners at once.

Admit Crimes.
Condit revealed a detailed confession he said was made by Giles and Fisher in which more than a score of crimes was admitted by them.

While neither of the men admitted slaying the North Dakota officer, Condit said, both admitted taking part in the attempted robbery in which the officer was fatally wounded.

The crimes admitted, he said, include the theft of about 25 cars, possibly $3,500 in cash, jewelry, clothing and other merchandise over a period in which they said they operated in Nebraska, the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin. This amount did not include approximately six thousand dollars taken at Genoa.

The two men, Condit stated, were questioned separately but their stories coincided. Giles' story detailed the fact that at the time of the killing, he had gone to Ray with two other men early in the morning. He could not recall the date.

Meant to Tie Officer.
Their intention, Giles said, was to hold up the watchman, tie him and gag him, and then rob the hardware store. The munitions they expected to obtain, he admitted, were to be used in a "bank job."

Meant to Tie Officer.
Their intention, Giles said, was to hold up the watchman, tie him and gag him, and then rob the hardware store. The munitions they expected to obtain, he admitted, were to be used in a "bank job."

As they drove into the village, Giles said, they encountered the watchman. After driving around the block they believed he had dropped from sight. As they parked their car, the officer suddenly appeared. They told him they were looking for a hotel. The officer accompanied them to the place, saying he registered late guests for the night clerk.

At that point Giles said he pushed the muzzle of his weapon into the officer's back, telling him it was a "stickup."

The officer resisted, he said, and as he made a dash from the car, Giles told the others to "let him have it." The officer, he related, fired as he ran from them.

According to Fisher's story, Condit said, he did not join Giles until just before the Ray slaying. The Genoa robbery was the first in Nebraska.—World-Herald.

BOYS HAVING FINE TRIP

Bob Nichols, who has been enjoying an automobile trip through the south in company with his friend, Charles Howard, of Murray, is now with his aunt, Mrs. T. H. Moats and family, at Harrisville, West Virginia. The boys also drove to New York City, Boston, Washington, D. C. and many other points of interest in the east.

Mr. Moats has a general store at Harrisville, and the boys have been helping him at odd times. They have made several drives through the timber country of that vicinity and find everything very interesting. The hill people do not come to town very often, many coming only once a year to lay in their store of supplies and market day for them is quite an event and the boys have enjoyed observing the different ways of doing business there.

They have been guests of honor at many social events where their musical talent has made them especially popular and welcome, Bob being an expert on the saxophone and Mr. Howard on the clarinet. Mrs. Moats' daughter-in-law is a conservatory graduate and the young people furnish first class music at the many different places where they are entertained in that country noted for its generous hospitality.

They are prolonging their stay with the Moats family and are not expected home for another two weeks or more. Bob is one of Louisville's well known young business men, son of F. H. Nichols, a pioneer merchant here, and his friends are looking forward to the reports he will have to make on his extended trip, which is stretching out into a period of about two months.—Louisville Courier.

John R. Quinton is Laid to Rest at Old Home

Member of Prominent Family of Southern Cass County Died at Home in Colorado.

John R. Quinton was a native son of Cass county, his parents coming to Nebraska in 1857, was born on the Quinton homestead, July 7, 1858, at Avoca, Neb., and died Oct. 3, 1930, at Sedgwick, Colorado, aged 72 years, 2 months and a few days. He passed away in his sleep of acute heart trouble.

He was married March 15, 1885, to Mary A. Wright, who preceded him in death only a short time—July 26th of this year. He laid her to rest in the beautiful cemetery at Weeping Water, on July 28, 1930, where he was so soon to be laid beside her. "So in life; so in death."

Soon after their marriage they moved to Imperial, Nebraska, where they lived about 20 years. Afterwards they lived a short time in Madrid and Brule, and for the past six years at Sedgwick, Colo.

The wife was practically an invalid the past two years or more, after an operation for cancer, and for the last three or four months was bedfast and helpless.

He was a kind and devoted husband, caring for her through those months of suffering with unquestioned love and patience. His health was such that his physician had given him only six months more to live.

The body was accompanied from Sedgwick, Colorado, to Weeping Water by Mrs. J. C. Peters, adopted daughter. Funeral services were conducted at the Hobson Funeral Home Oct. 6th, at 11 a. m.

Rev. G. A. Moxey, pastor of the M. E. church, officiated. There was a short, beautiful song service, and many lovely floral gifts were in evidence. Followed by relatives and friends, the body was laid to rest beside that of his loved wife in Oakwood cemetery at Weeping Water.

Left to mourn are the adopted daughter, Mrs. J. S. Peters, of Roscoe, Neb., C. D. Quinton, of Lincoln; a brother, and two sisters, Mrs. J. M. Palmer of Nehawka, and Mrs. J. M. Dunbar of Avoca, Neb., and relatives and friends.

MILLER FAMILY REUNION

Some fifty years ago four brothers from a family of nine brothers, two sisters decided to seek their fortunes and establish homes for their families in the west. John, Hiram, James and Oscar Miller with their wives came from Kent, Illinois, to Nebraska, locating in the vicinity of Elmwood, where there was an Elmwood store. They all bought land and reared families, till now the ancestors of the four, original Miller families now number 100 or more persons.

The only living brother of the nine, George Washington Miller, of Lena, Ill., known as Wash Miller who is 73 years old decided to once more come to Nebraska, to visit his brothers children.

The nieces and nephews decided to give him a little surprise and get the whole Nebraska bunch together and which they did. Meeting at the home of Mrs. Jostie Miller, after church services they gathered at Mrs. Miller's and Rol Miller who had taken him to his mothers home. To say that he was surprised would be putting it mildly, when he saw 62 of his relatives lined up to welcome him. He soon recovered from the shock and entered into the occasion to do his best, especially when the call for dinner was given, for the table was loaded with good things to eat to which all did ample justice.

He said he surely enjoyed and appreciated the surprise. He did not link that his relatives would pull such a stunt.

Those from a distance were: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Warren and family, Donaphin; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Miller and son from Hastings; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Miller, Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. Very Miller from Omaha.

This was an occasion long to be remembered and enjoyed very much by all present.—Elmwood Leader-Echo.

companied cut, and were sure a fine lot of hogs. The majority of the sales were made to people residing in Cass county and the larger ones going to adjoining counties. One went to Iowa, one to South Dakota and two to Missouri.

Women Pick Fremont for 1931 Meeting

Decline to Denounce Fag Use by Teachers, as Suggested; Indian Needs Told.

Alliance, Neb., Oct. 9.—Fremont will entertain the 1931 state convention of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs.

An invitation was extended at the closing session of the convention today by Mrs. Thomas H. Beeson, secretary of the Fremont club.

Mrs. A. F. Nuquist, federation president, responding, announced official acceptance of the invitation will be made by the state board within a few days. No other city was bidding for the convention.

Attempts to place the federation on record in denunciation of the use of cigarettes by women of the state, particularly school teachers, failed to gain recognition when the convention late today reconsidered a resolution dealing with school activities, and indorsing a campaign of education on the harm of narcotics.

No Smoking Reference.
While various members of the federation this morning expressed the belief that the convention should amend the proposed resolution in opposition to cigarette smoking by women, not a delegate offered to debate in behalf of the proposal this afternoon, the federation adopting the original resolution without reference to the morning discussion.

It was indicated by various officers of the organization that it was out of order for the federation to go on record in the matter of that nature, several expressing regret that the issue reached the floor of the convention, and was mentioned by the press of the state.

The federation this afternoon turned its attention to consideration of Indian affairs, hearing reports from Mrs. I. M. Rice, Valentine, chairman of the state committee on Indian welfare, and Dr. E. A. Bates, formerly of the Indian department at Washington, now associated with Cornell university at Ithaca, N. Y.

Tells of Saving Eyes.
Through nursing facilities provided by the federation, Mrs. Rice reported, the eye sight of 12 Indian girls had been spared.

Dr. Bates, declaring the government had turned to a new policy of Indian affairs, said no further attempts should be made to make white men out of Indians, but to make them better Indians.

"The Indian, your neighbors, were here 32 generations before the first covered wagon came over the trail," he continued, saying the Indian was a much better man before the white man came.

In his attitude toward Indian affairs, the American nation, he said, would do well to think of the Indian maxim, "never criticize the other boy or girl unless you have walked a mile in his moccasins."

The Nebraska federation, Dr. Bates urged, could best serve the Indian of today by dedicating itself to the establishment of scholarships or endowment funds for the training of Indian girls in nursing, that they might help build up the health of their people.
