Mrs. W. O. Gillespie was a visitor for a number of days at Fairmont where she was the guest at the home of her brother, Mr. Wm. McNamara and wife during her stay there.

John Eppings and the family were enjoying a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lancaster of Murray for the day on last Sunday, they driving over for the occasion and also meeting many of their friends there.

Mrs. John Eppings was a visitor in Nebraska City on Tuesday of last week where she was to appear as witness in a hearing which had been staged in which the estate of Miss Bertha Lancaster, who was killed in an accident on the highway near Murray which occurred several months since, but as the case was settled by the parties she did not have to appear as witness.

The Pilgrims were guests at First Evangelical church last Sunday, where they received a royal welcome. Teaching the combined Sunday school classes, of the adult department. The occasion was greatly enjoyed by all. We preached at this church 46 years ago, but found only two members, who worshipped there at that time; others had moved away, and some gone home to their reward.

Louis Hornbeck is staying in Murdock for a time with an economic cut in the employes of the Rock Island he was eliminated from their clerical force. He is working with H. W. Tool for the present and is handling the advertising of the Kitchen Kob Cabinets which are selling quite rapidly at this time. Mr. Hornbeck was at the Henry Fields Jubilee with a number of the cabinets and received a number of orders from them.

Entertained Friends at Dinner. Dr. and Mrs. L. D. Lee entertained some eighteen of their friends at a very enjoyable dinner party on Tuesday of last week, which was also followed by a miniature golf party which was given at the park of O. F. Peters of Greenwood. There were eighteen of the party and included the members of the Murdock school and other friends. The dinner which was a very fine one was greatly enjoyed as well as was the ride and the golf party at Greenwood.

Visits Friends Here. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tool who have been making a trip over the east for some time arrived in Murdock early last week and visited for a few days at the home of Mr. Tool's parents, and also visited with many friends here, departed on Wednesday of last week for their home at Kingsley where Mr. Tool is employed in a bank at that place.

Has a Neat Place. Mr. A. J. Tool has changed the arrangement of his show cases and goods at the store and while it has saved some space in the new arrangement it also has presented the goods in a more appealing way. Better drop in and see the new arrangements and the fine display of radics which he is selling.

Rev. Knoepe at Hospital. The Rev. H. R. Knoepe, pastor of the church at Murdock, was taken last week very ill with an acute attack of appendicitis. He was rushed to the Bryan Memorial hospital at Lincoln, where he underwent an operation for the trouble and is reported as getting along nicely since. His many friends are hoping that he may soon be able to return to take up his labors with the church again.

Lightning Strikes Chimney. Lightning struck the chimney on the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Schmidt on last Wednesday morning doing a slight damage. The damage was covered by insurance which will adequately care for the damage done.

Enjoyed the Visit East. On last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Tool who have been at Boston attending the American Legion National convention, returned home. Mr. Tool went as a member of the Shriners band and Mrs. Tool went along as companion. Mr. Tool tells of a very fine time which they had while there and also of meeting Clarence Ledgway who was delegate from the Plattsmouth post. Mr. Tool went over the route taken by

Famous Cities of the Bible. XII—Rome

In our last article we gave a few historical facts concerning this city, today we want to point out the important part Rome played in the history of the church of Jesus Christ. The apostle Paul, in his untiring effort to preach the Gospel to all nations, had visited all the important centers of populations, except Rome. But how to get there? Dear reader, follow us, we will show you, how God in his mysterious way, guides and overrules everything to his glory, and makes his enemies pay the passage of Paul, and how he was safely escorted to his destination. One day, this restless preacher said to his co-workers, "after these things—I must also see Rome." Act. 19, 21; this was his desire, but the same was not realized very soon, he must learn patience, our ways are not always God's ways.

Nehawka Oil Drilling Equipment is Sold

Rig and Equipment Will Be Taken to Texas Where It Will Be Used in Oil Field.

Nehawka's lingering forlorn hopes that the test oil well here would be completed, went glimmering a few days ago when the equipment here was sold. Ralph Sturm of San Antonio, Texas, who purchased the rig from his father who bid it in at sheriff's sale a few months ago sold it to the Jay Hawk Producing and Refining Co., of Brownwood, Texas.

The new owners had men here the latter part of last week taking the equipment apart and preparing it for shipment. At this time it is almost ready for shipment and will be sent to Grand Island, Neb., where it will be used to complete a well started with a rotary rig. The one here is known as a standard rig and has better facilities for putting down a test well. It was about three years ago that the rig was shipped here from Texas when drilling was started. After the well had been put down a short distance the work was stopped due to insufficient funds. Drilling was resumed at different intervals after the first shut down, only to be stopped again for the same reason.

After a long period of idleness the two drillers and Herman Smith of this place, filed a claim against the rig and it was sold at sheriff's sale. The three men bid it in to protect themselves. However, it was not long until A. F. Sturm and H. Wessel filed their claims in District Court against the new owners and it was sold for the second time. A. F. Sturm purchased it on this occasion and about ten days ago disposed of it to his son, Ralph, who is a geologist in Texas. The new owner looked for prospective buyers and after a few days succeeded in disposing of it to the Texas firm.

Although the rig was here for three years, the well was sunk to a depth of only about 500 feet and at this time Nehawka is no closer to being an oil field than it was before the drilling was started.—Nehawka Enterprise.

GREENWOOD

Nebraska City Span is Formally Opened Friday

Governors of Two States Speak as Barrier of Ribbon Cut; Crowd of Near 6,000 Present.

Nebraska City, Neb., Oct. 17.—Waubesaie bridge, another great engineering achievement spanning the Missouri river here, and linking the interstate highway transportation of Nebraska and Iowa was freed for the day from tolls in effect since last Sunday, and in comprehensive program continuing throughout the day and evening, Thursday, officially opened to the traveling public.

At 11:30 a. m. Governor Weaver of Nebraska and Governor Hammill of Iowa, attended by their respective retinues, advanced from either end of the bridge and, meeting mid-stream under a huge United States flag, solemnly removed their hats and clasped hands over the billowing ribbons stretched across their pathway.

"On behalf of the state of Iowa, I congratulate you, Governor Weaver, and the great commonwealth you represent," said Governor Hammill. "I am representative of the state of Nebraska. I am most happy to accept your congratulations, Governor Hammill," replied the Nebraska executive, "and to extend to your state, from the citizens of my own, a most sincere appreciation of the great service rendered in the successful completion of this undertaking."

Miss Ruth Weaver, daughter of Nebraska's governor, and Miss Margaret White, of Ames, Ia., daughter of Fred White of the Iowa state highway commission, quickly stepped forward and loosed the ribbon barriers. Sixty feet beneath this new structure of steel and concrete, the muddy waters of the Missouri swirled about the great piers whose foundations were on limestone, almost as many feet beneath the surface. Engineers from Nebraska, Iowa, Missouri, Illinois and Colorado hovered near. Other citizens, representatives of many professions and trades, packed the road-bed of the bridge, one-half mile in length. On the Iowa side closely parked cars stretched away for a great distance, waiting to cross and join in the day's festivities.

Nearly six thousand people witnessed the ceremony. The governors and others who stepped before the microphones spoke briefly in tribute to those who had participated in building the bridge.—World-Herald.

PERISH WITH HELP AT HAND. Regina, Sask.—Five men marooned in a blizzard were frozen to death Friday, though had they known it, help would have been at hand and warmth, and shelter. In the past three days almost two feet of snow has fallen in this district. Thursday night the wind swept it into great drifts and the temperature dropped to within 15 degrees of zero. Ted Evooy, who has a farm on the outskirts of Regina, left his house lighted all night to guide travellers lost in the storm to safety. But Friday morning when he arose he found two automobiles stalled in the ditch 100 feet from the farm gate. In one were five men dead and another weak and hysterical. In the other car were four more men unable to move.

The survivors were carried to the house and a doctor, summoned by telephone, said they would recover. They told of a night so thick with swirling snow that they had not seen the farmhouse light even though they left the chills shelter of the car and huddled about in the drifts for a time in search of shelter. The identified dead were: G. R. Doswell, Leslie Hallworth and Walter Tyndall, all of Regina. The others were believed to be Thomas M. Houston and H. M. Savage, also of Regina.

DAVIS ATTACKS DEMOCRATS. Washington—Secretary Davis Wednesday night accused the democratic party of deliberately hindering the administration in its efforts to restore business stability and urged the re-election of a republican congress as a means of accelerating recovery from the present depression.

If the democrats should gain control of congress, he said, they would immediately attempt a downward revision of the tariff. This would force the tariff issue into the presidential election of 1932, he added, and result in tariff discussion and uncertainty for the next three years.

The cabinet member said the depression of 1921 was ended largely by the operation of the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill and he predicted the Smoot-Hawley act would have the same effect upon the present slump.

He termed the present slump "nothing to the panic we would have had but for the president's action in calling conferences of industrial financial and labor leaders for the purpose of maintaining confidence."

AMERICAN WILL SEE RITES

Assisi—One American is almost certain to witness the ceremony uniting in marriage Princess Giovanna, daughter of the king and queen of Italy, and Boris, bachelor king of Bulgaria, on Oct. 25 in the historic cathedral of this place. This favored individual is a Franciscan monk known as Father Thomas, whose family name is Braitsch. He was born in Philadelphia, and became a Franciscan at the Franciscan Institute, Syracuse, N. Y., in 1886. His last thirty years have been spent in Italy, sixteen of them in Assisi.

The wedding will be a short ceremony followed by low mass in the presence of the couple. Thomas was being prepared in the cathedral for the royal guests. The wedding will be about noon. It is not certain who will perform the ceremony. It will not be Cardinal Maffi who married Crown Prince Humbert and Princess Marie Jose in January.

Plea is Made for Farmers on Dirt Roads

Trunk Lines Is Said to Get An Undue Proportion of Rural Benefits

Madison, Wis.—A plea for the farmer on the side road, who has been "almost overlooked" in the nation's tremendous expenditures on trunk highways, was voiced in the closing sessions of the American Country Life conference here Oct. 10. "Not less than 80 per cent of our farmers, in the best agricultural sections of our country, still live on dirt roads which are impassable for a large portion of the year," said K. L. Hatch, director of the University of Wisconsin Agricultural Extension Service, who emphasized the need for more adequate agricultural roads, if the farmer's social and economic status is to be improved.

The need for unification of rural thinking was emphasized by L. J. Taber, master of the National Grange, who urged steps to bring greater representation from the South into the association, which, he held, though had they known it, help would have been at hand and warmth, and shelter. In the past three days almost two feet of snow has fallen in this district. Thursday night the wind swept it into great drifts and the temperature dropped to within 15 degrees of zero. Ted Evooy, who has a farm on the outskirts of Regina, left his house lighted all night to guide travellers lost in the storm to safety.
