Council Hears Report on State Muny Convent'n

Councilman Johnson Gives Impressions of the State Gathering at Alliance on Last Week

From Tuesday's Daily—
The city council at their session last evening enjoyed a very short session and which was largely given over to the review of the recent convention of the League of Nebraska Municipalities, of which organization this city is a member and was represented at the meeting at Alliance by Councilman C. A. Johnson and who gave a very interesting account of the meeting.

The streets, alleys and bridges committee reported that on the investigation of the complaint that persons had part of Sixteenth street fenced in, that the committee had visited the scene of the dispute and the owner of the premises in question had claimed to have a survey of his property made by County Surveyor Fred Patterson, according to this the property was all right but that of the complaining persons as well as the sidewalks farther north were not on the proper line. It was decided that in order to have some definite matter to work on that the city engineers on their first visit here on other business make a survey to find out what was the real status of the properties along that street.

Councilman C. A. Johnson of the fire and water committee reported that he had written to the engineers at Kansas City relative to some estimates of the cost of light plants but had not had time to receive a reply. The councilman told of the many interesting discussions at the state convention, of the many cities that had in operation successful water and light plants and citing the fact that Plattsmouth, Nebraska City and York were the only cities in the state where there were private owned and operated water plants. The places shown by the former mayor as to rates showed a minimum of $1 on their water rates and the fire hydrant rental of $45 as against $75 here in this city. He told of the work of Alliance where the plant has been very successful, the city owing both the light and water plants as well as naming other cities of the state where a much lower rate is in service. Mr. Johnson warmly endorsed the idea of a municipal plant and his visit at the state convention had sold him on the plan.

The question of transportation for the police at night was again brought up by Chairman Allen of the police committee who urged that there be some means that could be provided for the night police getting out to calls rather than having to wait on taxi service. The proposition had been made by Officer David Pickrel that he would furnish a car and keep it in a warm garage at night for use of the city for the sum of $10 per month. Councilman Bestor thought that the police should have some way of getting around without the necessity of having to hire cars each time and that the amount offered would make it much cheaper for the city to pay the police for the car use rather than other service. The transportation problem was settled by the motion of Councilman Webb that the city pay Mr. Pickrel $10 per month from October 1st to April 1st and $8 per month from April 1st to October 1st. This was also approved by the mayor as being a much cheaper arrangement for the city under the circumstances and assuring the city having prompt service in case of calls for the police from the residential sections of the city.

The following claims were ordered paid by the city council:

Farmers State bank bond for security	$100.00
Plattsmouth State bank, same	100.00
