

MURDOCK ITEMS

Mrs. B. Hite was a visitor for the day in Lincoln on Wednesday where she was the guest of friends.

The pilgrims attended church and Sunday school at the Congregational church of Weeping Water on last Sunday.

Ruth Bauer and friend, Mr. Homer Ebbitt of Omaha, were visiting for over Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. Bauer.

James Pilkington of Lincoln was in Murdock last week and was doing some brick work on the home of H. W. Tool.

Fred Stock, Sr., was looking after some business matters in Omaha on Wednesday of last week, making the trip via the Rock Island train.

Mr. and Mrs. Lem Mulliner of Lincoln were spending a few days during this week at the home of her parents, G. Bauer and family, last week.

With a large force of workmen and Frank Meivin in charge the new home of H. W. Tool is becoming a bee hive from the number of workmen there.

A. H. Ward has secured a car of gas which was on the tanks last Thursday and which he was unloading in the large tanks on the Rock Island road.

Miss Henrietta Bauer was a visitor in Omaha for over the week end where she was visiting with her sister, Miss Ruth Bauer, who is working in the city.

John Gakenier and wife and Lucy McDonald and wife were over to Lincoln on last Wednesday evening where they went to attend the show and see Amos and Andy.

O. E. McDonald is bustling during the corn picking season and getting out corn for a number of farmers. He was picking at Henry Kiehn's who completed his gathering early this week.

W. E. Newkirk and the good wife of Greenwood, who were staying for a time caring for the home of Dr. and Mrs. L. D. Lee while they were away, departed for their home in Greenwood on last Monday.

The sad news came from Lee Angelo that Mrs. Fritz Gehme, had passed away Oct. 29. She had been a resident of Murdock for a number of years, when the family moved to California some 6 years ago.

Jess Landholm is making his home at Fremont at this time, was a visitor in Murdock on last Wednesday, remaining for one night and while here was guest with his friends, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Kruger.

Mrs. Floyd McKee of Sargeant, was a visitor in Murdock for a time last week being guest at the home of her parents, Julius Kemke and wife, where she enjoyed the occasion very pleasantly and also visiting here with many friends.

John Eppings and wife were over to Murray on last Sunday where they went to visit with a brother of Mrs. Eppings, Earl Lancaster, who has been very sick for the past three weeks but who is reported as being some better at this time.

Mrs. Emil Lutz, who has been a sufferer from appendicitis for some time past was taken to the hospital at Omaha on last Tuesday where she underwent an operation for the removal of the diseased organ and is getting along fairly since the operation.

Last Sunday A. J. Tool and wife accompanied by their son Douglas, were over to Lincoln where they were guests for the day at the home of Attorney John Roberts, who they formerly were close friends and neighbors at Ackley, Iowa, some forty years ago.

Mrs. Fred Eryx has been troubled with the toothache for some time and while she was at Edwoud last week to get the molar removed, Mrs. John W. Kruger was looking after the business at the store. However, Mrs. Kruger is assisting also during the busy hours each day.

Robert Zee while working with his rifle had the misfortune to get one of his feet shot when the gun went off accidentally and unknown to Robert until he was shot. The injury was looked after by Dr. L. D. Lee and Robert is getting along, however, it will be some time before the wound is well again.

Extra Luchens, while he was turning some horses out of the barn was kicked by one of the top of the horse striking Eryx in the face, injuring one eye very badly and cutting his forehead. The eye was badly injured and it was thought for a while that the sight might be lost. It is hoped that it can be saved.

Albert Schroeder has a new Chrysler 70 and sure a beauty as well as one of great service and convenience. Albert looks when he is riding in the new car as though he should have some one to share the seat with him not necessarily as a back seat driver but you know, she could learn to drive and then be relieved of all the work driving.

Many callers came to the home of L. Neitzel Sunday afternoon, on account of the perfect day. Mr. O. J. Hitchcock and family of Havocok; M. O. Treiser and family of Lincoln; and Mrs. J. O. Hitchcock and daughter, Jenny and last but not least Dr. B. MacDiarmid and family of Omaha, who brought Eleanor Hartung home, who had spent Sunday in Omaha with Dolly MacDiarmid.

Results of Election Day. With the clearing away of the flood of ballots last Tuesday which were necessary to express the will of the people, it was found that Wm. Bourke was elected as assessor for Edwoud precinct and Louis Schmidt for road overseer, while the office of justice went to John Woods of Wabash.

Bull For Sale. For sale, a short horn bull.—Gust Gakenier, Murdock. n3-21w.

Injured in a Wreck. While Mr. and Mrs. Roy Slinker the proprietors of the cream station on the south side were driving on the O street road near Lincoln a car shot out from an intersection, striking the car in which Mr. and Mrs. Slinker were riding, turning it over and throwing Mrs. Slinker some fifty feet, injuring her very seriously. She has been in a hospital in Lincoln since and is in a very serious condition.

Will Play Basketball. The first game scheduled between the Murdock team and another is to be on the home floor, and between the Murdock team and the Union team and will be on November 21st. Remember the date and come and root for the home team.

Gasoline 6 Gallons A Dollar. I am selling gasoline 17 cents per gallon or six gallons for dollar.—Geo. Utt, Murdock. n3-21w.

Hurt in a Fall. Uncle George Skyles, while at his work about the home, slipped and fell and in doing struck his side against something in the fall, giving this aged but wholesome general citizen a very bad wrench which has caused a great deal of suffering. However, he is able to be down town and meet his many friends.

Celebrated Anniversary This Week. L. Neitzel was born on November 12, 1854 in Germany and while yet young came to America and resided in South Bend, Indiana, where he was united in marriage, and later coming to Nebraska, and later to Edwoud and Aurora, coming to Murdock in 1891 and engaging in business and has continued here ever since. With his more than three quarters of a century he is enjoying good health, many friends and a good business. Congratulations.

Happy Homemakers. The Happy Homemakers met on Oct. 29 at 1:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Clara Zierott. Fourteen members and one visitor were present. Our president, Mrs. Wm. Schewe called the meeting to order. Mrs. Dorothy Mills gave the report on the club convention in a very pleasing way, after which the leaders, Mrs. Mills and Mrs. Kupke gave the lesson. The topic was, "Making Ironing Day Easier." We learned that we can, by a little thought and careful planning, have proper equipment. By knowing just how to fold a man's shirt to avoid wrinkles is an added help and time saver. Our social leader, Mrs. Lee Riddle being gone, Mrs. Bornemeier led in the games which proved very amusing. Mrs. Paul Schewe offered her home for the next meeting, Nov. 26 at 1:30 p. m. Visitors are always welcome.

Bazaar a Success. The bazaar the Ladies Aid held at the home of Mrs. W. A. Gillespie, on November 4th served dinner and supper, seventy-eight being present for the supper. The ladies realized a neat little sum of $30.

Swastika Club Notes. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Fred Stock, Jr., Oct. 24th. The meeting was called to order by the president. We first sang our song for last month and practiced the new song for next month and as our music and social leader was not able to be present, Mrs. Kenha acted as leader and Mrs. Norenberg assisted at the piano. Mrs. Norenberg also played a listening number about Halloween this being the season, and was very appropriate. Next the minutes of last meeting were read by our secretary and approved.

The Chintz Cottage. The Junior class of the Murdock high school will present The Chintz Cottage on November 14th. The play being given at the high school building and when they will give many lunches for the time which you will spend with the class in this their initial entertainment. This will be a three-act comedy and there is also provided for the intermission between act of some ninth provoking number. Remember the date, November 14th and at eight o'clock at the school building. The following is the cast of characters: Minty—Evelyn Kuehn; Fannie—Wilma Knapp; Grace—Irene Beckman; Peter—James Miller; Miss Tilling—Martha Gehlenberg; Edith—Violet Roseow; Mr. Kent—Harold Beckman; Mrs. Dent—Bernadette Lawton.

Make Your Dollar Work. The campaign known as the Red Cross Roll Call will begin on November 11th and will continue for the remainder of the month. Remember and keep a dollar out for the purpose. For the Red Cross is making good and is a most benevolent association doing good at every turn of the page. See your Red Cross officer

Make Your Dollar COUNT

Your dollar for the Red Cross roll call, which begins on Armistice day will add some one who is very badly needing help. You could not put a dollar in a better earning position than to invest it in a membership in this great humanitarian organization that accomplishes so much good all over the world. Do it NOW, at the beginning of this 1931 Roll Call!

Famous Cities of the Bible. —Rome XX— This is the third letter Paul writes from Rome: it is to the church at Philippi a city of Macedonia. In this letter we see the expression of the deepest Christian love and exhortation, generally to a life in accordance with the spirit of Christ. This Epistle may be regarded as the Apostle's farewell Epistle to the gentile world—it contains a compendious summary and brief recapitulation of what the apostle had already delivered to the church in his other Epistles. So eloquent was the Philippian in Paul's esteem that not one censure or complaint is found in the Epistle. All is commendation and praise. Fervent, affectionate, and in parts pathetic—no Epistle written by the inspired apostle is pervaded with a better tone of cheering exhortation; in none is the pressing forward for the prize set forth in language of greater animation of his own love for his Master urged upon his converts in strains of holier incentive. Analyzing this Epistle we find: (1) the salutation and thanksgiving and his deep concern about their welfare, Chap. 1. (2) This is every true pastor's desire, that the flock may abound in love more and more, in knowledge and judgment. (3) Statements about himself 12-26. He finds that "all things work together for good to those that love God" Romans 8:28, while 1:12. How this must have encouraged him in his work for the Master ever his bonds became very conspicuous in Caesar's court and other places; with what a lofty purpose he enters into his work, "Christ shall be magnified in my body" 1:20. See what self-fulfilling he manifests for the church. (4) Let your conversation (as a Christian) be as in vain, as many do. Some day all men will bow to him, and acknowledge him as "Lord," to the glory of God and father, 2:11. (5) His fatherly warning against deceivers 3:1, 4:1. How useful this is today, to be firm, steadfast, know whom we have believed, not casting away, wisely-weighed, tried, and which is hated by God and despised by men. What a boon are the steady, even tempered, dependable members to a pastor.

(6) The exhortation to strive for the goal 3:12-14, which is the crown of righteousness, that is held out to the runner at the end of the race. Paul shows here by his own example, that he runs with all his might, forgetting the things that are behind, and reaching forth, pressing toward the mark, with all his energy as strength to win the prize. Here look at the bad example some members set to others, 3:18-19; then behold the contrast, 3:20-21. The climax of all his endeavor, which includes the Philippians is summed up in 3:20-21; "our citizenship is in heaven; from whence we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ; who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able, even to subdue all things unto himself."

For all this writing, Paul could only find the time, while held a prisoner in Rome. We will review the letter to the Colossians next week. L. NEITZEL.

The Murdock Ladies Aid held their annual bazaar with dinner and supper election day at the hotel. The ladies were well pleased with the returns of the day, and wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. Gillespie for the use of their home.

Mrs. Myra McDonald of Murray was a visitor at Murdock and guest at the home of her son, E. O. McDonald, for a number of days returning to her home at Murray Saturday night.

Junior Class Play. The Junior Class of the Murdock high school will present "The Chintz Cottage" a three act comedy, on Nov. 14, 1930 at 8:00 p. m. in the high school auditorium. Admission 25 and 35 cents. Reserve seats at the Murdock Mercantile store.

Has Hand Injured. Last Saturday while Mrs. Oscar McDonald was washing and was in the act of operating the electric wringer one of her hands was caught in the wringer with the belt between the rollers of the wringer and could not be extricated. Mrs. McDonald endeavored to get her hand loose, and when she could not called for help, her cries were heard by her son, Robert, who was about a block away who ran to his mother's rescue. He secured assistance and liberated the mother from her painful and dangerous position. The doctor was called and dressed the injured hand and found the bones broken and the hand crushed. She is suffering greatly from the injuries.

BROTHER'S WIFE DIES IN WAUPUN, WISCONSIN

August C. Pautsch and sister, Mrs. Mary Schieffert received a message last Friday announcing the death of the wife of their eldest brother, William F. Pautsch, a pioneer resident of that city and a retired farmer. Death came following a long illness and was not unexpected. She leaves, besides her husband, an adopted daughter, and many loving relatives and friends.

Mr. Pautsch and wife had visited here a good many years ago and the many friends of the family will sympathize with him in the loss of his companion.—Louisville Courier.

Composition of Next Congress Still in Doubt

Late Returns Point to Almost a Tie Between the Two Parties—Uncertain in Illinois.

Associated Press returns from congressional districts at 1:30 (c. s. t.) on Oct. 29, for the 435 seats in the new house of representatives showed:

Republicans elected 217 Democrats elected 217 Farmer-Laborers elected 1 Still Doubtful 1 Necessary for majority 218

The balance of political power in both the senate and the house pitched on narrow margins early Friday morning as the nation awaited the final counts from Tuesday's election to learn the composition of its next congress. Late returns pointed to almost a tie in both branches. Whatever the outcome, however, the control of either body may shift through official recounts of the ballots, resignations and deaths before the new congress meets in December, 1931.

Senate control seems to rest with the republicans, who have forty-eight votes in this body. Re-election of Senator Schall of Minnesota was announced Thursday night after returns from outlying precincts had shaved away what looked to be a commanding lead for his opponent, Elmer Holdreid, democrat, in Kentucky. Judge M. M. Logan, democrat, seemed assured of election over his republican opponent, J. M. Robison, on the basis of returns from nine-tenths of the precincts. Assuming Logan's election certain, the democrats will have forty-seven senators.

The lone remaining seat is held by Shubert of Minnesota, farmer-laborer, who was not up for election.

Uncertainty in Illinois. Early Friday morning the democrats counted 217 representatives unofficially elected and the republicans 216. Paul Kvale, Minnesota farmer-laborer congressman, was re-elected. Complete but unofficial figures from the eighth district in Indiana showed Claude Ball, democrat, had a lead of three votes over Albert Vestal, republican.

In Illinois, Richard Yates, republican congressman-at-large, swung ahead of Walter Nesbit, democrat, as votes from the county precincts drifted in. It was in these sections that the democratic tidal wave fell short, and observers believed that Yates would retain his seat.—State Journal.

DISABLED SHIP GETS AID

Seattle, Wash.—Four small fishing vessels took the liner Northwest, disabled by the loss of a rudder in southeastern Alaska waters, in tow Thursday and headed for the sheltered anchorage of Dundas bay. No danger was felt for the twenty-one passengers and crew of sixty. The S. O. S. called the coast guard cutter Halda but quiet seas made her aid unnecessary.

The rudder was lost early Thursday two miles off Cape Spencer, off the Straits, with the ship bound from Juneau to Cordova. Captain A. C. Glascock, manager, notified the Alaska Steamship company the ship would anchor in Dundas bay until the arrival of the Alameda, which sails from Seattle Saturday. Passengers and cargo will be transferred and the liner towed here to be dry-docked.

GERMAN STREAM IS RISING

Frankfurt-on-Oder, Germany—The swifling waters of the river Oder Thursday night had risen eighteen feet, the highest in seventy-six years, with soldiers and townsmen working frenziedly to prevent a disastrous flood. One man has been drowned so far. Emergency dikes, hurriedly reinforced, hold in most places but an invading stream crept thru to the Riverside section where only tops of street lamps were visible above the water.

In this section schools have been dismissed, street cars are stalled on the tracks where the water stopped them. Boats are the only means of transportation. As the waters of the Oder rush downstream they carry countless dead and rabbits, chickens and other creatures overwhelmed in the water sheds.

Legislative Contests Found to Be Close

Neubauer, Democrat, Takes Lead in Twenty-Eighth Senatorial by the Margin of 47

With several races for the state legislature closely contested, the election of more than one representative and senator will not be certain until mail votes are counted.

Returns from unreported precincts late Thursday covered the lead in several races, while the margin between other candidates was lessened. An unofficial report from the twenty-eighth senatorial district indicated that E. M. Neubauer, democratic candidate, had taken the lead over Ralph E. Kiplinger, republican opponent, by forty-seven votes with seventy-five mail votes to count.

Similarly in the thirtieth representative district Julius Glesien, republican, was given a slight lead over W. A. Fowler, democrat, and there were 120 mail votes not counted. The outcome by the secretary of state and the state canvassing board by Nov. 24.

A survey Thursday night, supplemented by late returns and corrections, showed the following to have been elected or to be lead in the legislative contests:

Turkeys on turkey ranch of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Moffit at College View

TURKEY RAISING A PARTICULAR BUSINESS IN NEBRASKA

In colonial days, Goodman Penny-feather loaded his blunderbuss with powder and bullets and went out the door to get the main part of his Sunday dinner. The woods teemed with wild turkeys. Even at the close of the Civil war, wild turkeys were so numerous in some parts of the country as to constitute an actual pest. They raided grain fields with devastating effects. Now the wild turkey is practically extinct. One would think the periodical demand for turkeys created by our national feast days would cause poultry raisers everywhere to devote more attention to raising turkeys, but there are some conditions about the business that have to be learned and mastered before one can profitably engage in it.

One of the first things to be learned is that turkeys, especially young turkeys, demand the right diet and strict sanitation. Meat, greens, grain and buttermilk are chief items of diet. Absolute cleanliness of grounds, frequent changes of pens and a considerable range of ground are factors in successfully getting young turkeys from the egg to the market stage. Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Moffit, who operate a turkey ranch near College View and find it a very profitable business venture, say the "trick" in raising turkeys is hard work. "Yes," remarked Mrs. Moffit, "turkeys are hard to raise. But everything that is a success calls for hard work and the knowing how." Last year the Moffits raised and sold 3,000 turkeys and this year they have 2,000 that will be ready for the Thanksgiving and Christmas markets. Their loss in raising young turkeys runs about ten per cent.

Turkeys cannot be raised with any other fowls. They require exclusive segregation. Chickens and turkeys are an impossible and disastrous combination for turkeys. Many Nebraska poultry raisers have tried raising turkeys, some only to quit, the business in sheer disgust, others to find by costly experience that good care, proper feed, wide range and careful sanitation will produce profitable results.

Turkey raising in Nebraska is a slowly developing industry. Interest fluctuates with the price. A shortage in 1928 created a November price of 28 cents a pound. Next year the production increased and the November price dropped to 22 cents. Reports of the state and federal division of agricultural statistics for 1929 show a decrease of about ten per cent in turkeys raised over the figures for 1928. During a sixteen year period the December price has been as low as 13 cents and as high as 29 cents, with an average price for the period of 22 1/2 cents.

Nebraska normally ships 25 to 30 cars of turkeys. The Thanksgiving and Christmas boards of the state are not robbed either to get that exportation.

"Although you were not elected to the senate, I recognize that it was your leadership and the campaign that resulted therefrom, which had much to do with the election of four democratic congressmen and a democratic governor in Nebraska.

"I know that you did not want to make the fight for the senate but became a candidate solely because you regarded it a party duty.

"You made a magnificent fight and performed a service of great value to the party.

"I cannot fail to mention also the intelligent and devoted support of the ticket given by your great newspaper, The Omaha World-Herald. It properly ranks among the outstanding papers of the country and its position on behalf of democracy and on behalf of liberalism has a far reaching effect."

Nebraska Fight Draws Praise at the Capital

Democrats There Credit Hitchcock's Leadership as National Help—Shouse Wires Note

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—The states of Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas and South Dakota are being thanked by democratic party leaders here for furnishing the main props by which the battered organization of 1929 has regained its feet and has placed itself in position to make a strong bid for control of the national government two years hence.

Former Senator Gilbert M. Hitchcock was singled out today by J. Bennett Shouse, party leader, for a personal tribute of appreciation for his "magnificent fight" and his "performance of a service of great value to the democratic party."

Party leaders here are enthusiastic in their praise of the Nebraska democratic organization which made such a strong comeback in the face of divided opinion and internal difficulties which made it appear earlier in the contest that Nebraska would be lost to the republicans.

"Altho you were not elected to the senate, former Senator Hitchcock came in for considerable commendation as the leader of the democratic forces, who stood out against an undecided and nonaggressive democratic course and threw us back into the battle for the purpose of keeping the party alive in the state.
