Col Phil L. Hall of Greenwood, New Head of Lincoln Post of Veterans of Foreign Wars

The following is the address delivered by Col Phil L. Hall of Greenwood, before the Charles A. Fraley Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at the installation at Lincoln on which occasion he took the office of commander.

Tonight, and for the next two days the Nebraska Bankers Association will be in session in Omaha. This organization is made up of the National and State bankers of Nebraska. Tonight there will be what is known as the Past Presidents' Dinner at the Fontenelle Hotel. There will be two vacant chairs that I know of, one the chair of my father, who was president of that organization and who has gone to the great beyond; and the other is my chair. My chair will be vacant for one reason, and that reason is that I cannot discharge the debt of gratitude that I owe to the members of Charles A. Fraley Post for the high honor you have so generously bestowed upon me.

We are gathered here to install your new officers for the ensuing year.

Each year the duties of the Ex-Service Mens organizations and patriotic societies are becoming more and more burdened with responsibilities. As the years roll by since the trying days of the World war the public mind is gradually being swayed away from the debt that it owes to those who made the supreme sacrifice, and who served. This is shown by the tendency to feel that we are secure and should disarm in the face of European nations at the present time preparing for war. It is a false security builded upon the patriotic effort made by those who served during the civil, Spanish-American and World wars.

One who has never been placed in company with others where life itself was at stake, cannot appreciate the bond of friendship that is there created; a friendship that never dies; a friendship that is often misunderstood by the public. There is a responsibility upon the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Disabled Men's organization, the Veterans of the Spanish-American War, and the members of the American Legion, to ever keep the public reminded by our constant efforts and devotion to those who are lingering in our hospitals, and to those who are convalescing on the streets of our cities, and to the widows and orphans of our comrades who have passed beyond.

This Nation, at present raked with crime, filled with unemployment, class legislation, and an ever-increasing monopolistic tendency to control the wealth of the Nation by a few, must revert back to a Republic "For the People, by the People and of the People" if we are to long endure.

There is today a call for service from all American citizens. It is not the shrill toxin of war, but more important, it is a call for better citizenship, and you men who served under arms are included in this call. We must have leadership in our public offices; men whom we can trust to foresee and forestall national and state calamities, such as panics, unemployment, graft and crime. It is up to every Ex-Service man in the Nation to again "Snap" into that cadence, (that one-two-three-four) that moved four million men as one individual, co-ordinating and co-operating for one purpose, and that purpose was to win the war; to create a victory that would let the world know that the United States of America still throbs with devotion and patriotism.

This Post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars was named after Charles A. Fraley, a man who gave his life at Cheamont, France, that you and I and every other American citizen might enjoy the privilege of being a part of a Republic whose flag is loved while others are feared; a Republic where every citizen is a sovereign, but no one wears a crown. As your new Commander, I am going to issue my first command; and that command will be a charge to every member of this organization; and that charge will be to conduct yourself as a one hundred per cent American citizen, so that by your example you will remind the public that although foreign nations are paying us a debt caused by the War, we as a people owe a debt of devotion to the Disabled Veterans and the widows and orphans of the war, and every consideration should be shown the unemployed Ex-Service men.—Phil Hall, Commander Charles A. Fraley Post 1456, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Lincoln.

RENDER FINE SERVICE

From Thursday's Daily.—Ten days ago the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wallinger was sorrow stricken by the death of the husband from an attack of meningitis, leaving the widow with the corn crop of the farm still in the field and which it was necessary for her to her to have gathered and placed in the cribs.

This problem which was a real task of Mrs. Wallinger in her sorrow stricken condition, was solved yesterday by the friends and neighbors residing in the community between South Bend and Ashland. Early yesterday morning men and teams commenced to arrive at the Wallinger farm and by the hour when the shucking could be started, there was assembled eighty men and forty-two teams and the work of gathering in the corn crop started. The field was filled with the men, and teams and the sound of the corn ears falling in the wagons was like a great hall storm over a period of several hours, the men keeping two elevators busy in handling the 3,000 bushels of corn as it was brought in.

The ladies of the community, some twenty-one in number, arrived later in the morning with baskets of the good things to eat and which at the noon hour when the corn was all gathered furnished a fine banquet and at which the shuckers, appetites whetted by the work of the morning found a real feast awaiting them.

This was a splendid demonstration and neighborly feeling and one that certainly will long be pleasantly remembered by the Wallinger family.

Among those who at the event were Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Becker of this city, the latter an aunt of the late Mr. Wallinger.

SILVER CITY STORES ROBBED

The town of Silver City in Mills county, north of Glenwood, had another visitation from a gang of burglars and robbers on Wednesday and which looted four of the stores of that place and realized a very large amount of goods but not a great deal of money.

The F. W. Anderson general store, which was robbed less than a week ago, was again the target of the operations of the robbers and here they made away with a large amount of goods, ammunition, cigars, silk underwear and hose being among the main articles taken.

The robbers knocked off the combination of the safe in the Carlson garage and took $12 in cash while at the Pickenbaugh pool hall they secured $13 in cash for their trouble. While at the T. J. Talbot drug store the robbers aroused Mr. Talbot, sleeping in the rear of the store, who frightened them away and they fled, leaving a flashlight and a taped hammer in their flight.

AN APPRECIATION

To my friends over Cass county I wish to express my deep gratitude for the fine vote that I received and the assistance in the primary and general election. The kindness that they have shown will always be a most pleasant remembrance of real friendship.

C. E. LEDGWAY.

Rush Louisville Bridge to Completion

Concrete Workers Following Close Behind Pile Driver Laying Reinforced 20-Ft. Floor

By the end of the week all of the piling will have been driven for Louisville's splendid new auto bridge across the Platte river. The hundreds of visitors who have watched the progress of the construction of this bridge marvel at the rapid progress of the work as done by the Omaha Steel Works, the contractors in charge. The neatness and durability of the structure elicit much favorable comment on the part of everyone. Very little time has been lost on account of bad weather and the small army of workmen have been able to work almost every day since the construction work was begun.

Following closely upon the heels of the pile driver crew is another crew that finishes as it goes, putting on the heavy reinforced cement floor, erecting the banisters, etc., so that within a very short time the public will be able to cross and recross the Platte in safety without fear of getting into a traffic jam, which is so common in crossing on the old one-way wagon bridge now in use.—Louisville Courier.

Burlington Employees Urged to Aid Needy

Officers Plan Fund to Aid the Former Employees of the Railroad in Present Crisis

From Saturday's Daily.—Burlington Railroad forces have united in a system-wide relief movement for the benefit of the road's former employees who may be in temporary need, now or later on, due to the unemployment situation.

Officers of the road and representatives of all departments met in Chicago yesterday and formed an emergency relief organization which is to function immediately through a Central Committee headed by vice president, E. P. Bracken, together with regional committees comprised of division superintendents, storekeepers and master mechanics, and local sub-committees appointed in every city and town on the railroad.

To an Emergency Benefit Fund, each of the 35,000 individuals in the Burlington service will be offered an opportunity and solicited to pledge a voluntary contribution in money each month between now and the first of May 1931, such contributions to be deducted from salary or wages, and utilized for the purchase of food, clothing, fuel, or other requirements of the unemployed or their families.

In order that the most beneficial results may be realized, the local committees on all parts of the railroad are authorized and expected to take immediate relief action in deserving cases.

The movement has the full support of the Burlington management, and the facilities of its commissary, store, purchasing and medical departments will be used in "seeing through" all members of the Burlington family who may be in need of aid, until employment conditions improve.

CASS COUNTY BOYS BAG FINE WYOMING ELK

Glen Terryberry and Arthur Hill of Eight Mile Grove precinct, returned recently from a month's hunting trip in the vicinity of Lander, Wyoming. They both had the thrilling experience of shooting an elk in the Jackson Hole country.

They enjoyed a visit at the home of Henry Boedeker, a pioneer of that county, but before that a pioneer of Cass county. They also visited at the home of Mr. Hill's uncle, Julius Beck, of Newcastle, Wyoming, where he owns and operates one of the largest ranches in that state and also owns several flowing oil wells.

They hunted for elk in the mountains where the snow was from twenty to thirty inches deep and were lost one night in a snow storm, their guide finding it impossible to locate the trail. The boys are enthusiastic about the "wild and woolly" west, the generous hospitality of the people and the many opportunities for recreation at all seasons.—Louisville Courier.

ARREST MEN AFTER CRASH

Alliance—Four men, occupants of a hit and run auto that crashed into and overturned a machine driven by John Gasseling, were lodged in jail here Friday night. The men were arrested at an Indian camp northwest of Hemingford, after the collision north of Hemingford Friday.

The four gave officers their names as James and Gilbert Couttier, Frank Rulo and Robert Fromon. Officers said the first three are part Indian. All are middle aged.

Gasseling with his wife and infant son, was on his way from the farm north of Hemingford. Gasseling told officers that the machine occupied by the four men crashed into his auto at an intersection. His car rolled over several times, Gasseling told officers, and finally came to a standstill upside down.

Physicians who examined injured members of the Gasseling family said the baby's tongue was nearly severed. They took many stitches in it in the hope of being able to save the child's speech. Mr. and Mrs. Gasseling were cut and bruised. Officers said the men were intoxicated at the time of the accident.

MINE DEATH LIST SWELLED

Milledale, O.—The deep tunnels of No. 6 mine of the Sunday Creek Coal company gave up the bodies of four more miners late Friday, bringing to eighty-three the known dead in last Wednesday's explosion. Discovery of the bodies was made by fellow miners and inspectors of the federal bureau of mines. Search for these four men was started after a check-up revealed they were unaccounted for in the explosion. Previously it had been thought the toll would stand at seventy-nine, including the nine company officials who met death with their employees during an inspection trip into the tunnels.

Altho rescuers expressed the belief that the bodies found Friday were all that remained in the mine, search of the tunnels will be continued by miners and inspectors, working in eight hour shifts, until every section has been gone over and all debris removed.
