Henry Gakemeier sold his ranch of thirty-seven hundred acres of ranch land last week.

John Gakemeier who has been in the western portion of the state for some time where he was looking after some business matters, returned home on last Sunday.

John H. Buck and the family were over to Modale, Iowa, on last Sunday where they were visiting for the day at the home of Wm. Brakentiller who is a brother of Mrs. Buck. They found the roads fine and the day excellent and sure enjoyed the visit.

Henry A. Tool was during the past week enjoying a very bad cold. Did we say enjoying? Well we will have to crawl for he was a long way from enjoying it. However, he was getting over it in a way and does not want any more of them.

L. L. Horton still holds down the position at the Murdock market during the absence of Mr. Ostblom who has been so sick for so long but who is getting better now. Mr. L. L. Horton is giving universal satisfaction by his excellent service.

Matt and Victor Thingam were building a chicken house on the Vanderberg place south of Murdock during the past week making it possible for the people who occupy the place to lock the chickens in at night and prevent loss which cut out all profits in this business.

Elza Wiget and wife of Greenwood accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hoenshell also of that place, were in Murdock on last Tuesday and were calling on John Ostblom, who has been quite ill for some time but who is at this time making good improvement. Mr. Ostblom enjoyed the visit of his friends very much.

November 12th is a day long to be remembered, first, it was the 76th birthday of L. Neitzel, and in the second place, the birthday was duly celebrated. Mrs. Neitzel had a wonderful dinner prepared, to which everybody did ample justice. A J. Neitzel and family were the guests. The birthday cake with the figure "76" in pink candles, was the attraction and was duly cut by the celebrant. Dr. S. B. MacDiarmid and family came to offer congratulations, the Hitchcock family of Havelock sent congratulations also. It was a happy occasion.

Receive Severe Burns.

Last Friday when the lights at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Knaupe, were needed the most, they failed and as they had a carbide plant and it was located away from the house, Mr. Knaupe and son, Reuben, 22, taking a lantern went to investigate the cause of the failure of light, and as they turned over the cover to the pit in which the plant was located they were met with escaping gas, which was ignited by the flame from the lantern exploding and wrecking the plant as well as burning both gentlemen badly over the face and body. They were given immediate treatment by Dr. D. J. Neitzel and while the burns are very painful they are getting along as well as could be expected.

Rome XVIII

This letter of Pauls to Philemon, was written from Rome. In this letter we get an insight into Paul's heart, as nowhere else in his writings. The man that was so burdened with responsibility and at the same time a prisoner, finds time to write a personal letter to a beloved friend, concerning a runaway slave, who had caused his master some loss or damage.

Philemon is known to have lived at Colossae, with his wife Appia and son, Archippus, he was rich, and had slaves, was converted through the labors of Paul, and maintained a church in his house. Tradition has it, that Philemon was a Bishop at Colossae, and was martyred under Nero. One of his slaves, after committing some misdemeanor, for fear of punishment, ran away; he found his way to Rome, got into the presence of Paul, listened to his preaching, was converted and became a useful servant to Paul. This slave, Onesimus, had confessed to Paul his misdeed against his master. Here we see the tact of Paul, how he is preaching Philemon, for the reception of Onesimus; he counts the good qualities of Philemon, such as his own forgiving love and the faith in Christ and all the saints; and the joy and consolation it has brought to Gets Much Honey.

Oscar E. McDonald, who is a rustler when it comes to getting things done, has observed that a colony of bees were occupying his house which he uses for an amusement parlor, waited patiently until a cool day came when they would be numbed by the cold, carefully took a number of the siding boards away and took some of the bees and hundreds of honey which Oscar is taking advantage for the home of the bees, and as they were back on their rent they could not have any kick coming.

Paul; than he leads up to the matter that is on his mind, namely the case of Onesimus. Paul reminds Philemon that he himself owes Paul more than he asks of him, as he found through Pauls labors, the pearl of greatest price, and as Christ had pardoned his sins, so he should pardon his slave, who he is returning to him, not as a slave but as a brother, with this letter. Paul is also willing to balance the account of Onesimus. For a better understanding regarding slaves in those days we would here inject a "note on slavery." In Greece, Homers time, all prisoners of war were treated as slaves. The Lacedaemonian youth, trained in deceiving and butchering slaves, were from time to time, let loose upon them, to show their proficiency in stratagem and massacre, and once for their amusement only, they murdered, it is said, 3000 in one night. Alexander, when he raised Thebes, sold the whole people for slaves, 335 B. C.

In this letter we hear the first voice of the church against slavery; it cannot exist in a Christian nation. Here you find speech, "seasoned with salt." Col 4. 6. We see also an example of christian love, for Paul takes the part of poor Onesimus, against his lord and owner. It is better before untrustworthy, Philemon will find him now, since he is converted, worthy to be placed beside Paul, verse 17. That is what the gospel of Jesus Christ produces; unprofitable man, becomes profitable, the profane, a man of prayer; the indolent will be active in the church for his lord and King; the changed man will "not walk in the council of the ungodly, nor stand in the way of sinners, nor sit with the seat of the scornful, but his delightful is in the law of the Lord, and in his law doth he meditate day and night," Ps. 1:1-2.

The beautiful characteristics of Paul displayed in this short letter, are well worth to imitate, for they are Christlike.

We shall have one more letter of Paul written in Rome, next week.

Washington—Word that congress would be asked to make available $125,000,000 of federal aid highway funds immediately after passage of the agriculture department supply bill greeted representatives of state drought relief committees Thursday as they met with the national committee to consider steps for alleviating distress this winter. Favorable action on the request would make the money available probably before March 4, when the short session ends, rather than on July 1, the beginning of the next fiscal year.

Following an all day session behind closed doors at which representatives of the several states outlined conditions and heard reports of the national committee members, a resolutions committee was elected to draft recommendations for necessary relief measures.

Forty Marooned by a Snowstorm in North Dakota

Motorists, Many of Them Women and Children, Prisoners—Fifteen Automobiles Stalled

Mandan, N. D.—Isolated in a small cabin five miles west of here, more than forty persons, who abandoned their automobiles during Thursday's snowstorm, were rescued late Friday when a snowplow opened up the road leading to their shelter.

St. Paul—Forty persons, many of them women and children, were marooned Friday night in a small cabin five miles from Mandan, N. D., unable to leave because of the sleet and snowstorm that swept the north-west and stalled their fifteen automobiles. While efforts were being made to free them, restoration of communication facilities continued in North and South Dakota and northwestern Minnesota, disrupted by the unseasonable weather that indirectly was responsible for two deaths and early Friday.

Word of the plight of the marooned group near Mandan was received there when several men arrived after traveling thru the deep snow on foot. Efforts to reach the party were unsuccessful. Motorists abandoned the cabin, which is inhabited by a highway maintenance foreman. The Mandan Red Cross prepared to give any aid that may be necessary when the party is reached.

On North Dakota highway No. 10 from a point three and one-half miles to seven miles west of Mandan forty automobiles stalled in drifts caused by the nine inch fall in that section. A plow was ordered to the highway by Morton county officials. Crews brought in from sections that did not feel the fury of the sleet, snow and wind aided already weary workers who in parts of North Dakota and northwestern Minnesota were restoring service disrupted by the Sunday storm when the second one struck.

So crowded was the cabin that even the floor failed to provide sufficient room for sleeping quarters during the night. Women and children were given preference. Word of the party's plight was taken to Mandan by several men who made their way over the snow covered road into the city. The board of county commissioners immediately ordered a snowplow to the rescue.

Some Districts Snowbound.

Chicago—The northwest plains struggled to restore communication and order Friday in the regions isolated by snow and wind. As the storm in a calmer mood moved into Minnesota and Wisconsin, the Dakotas and western Nebraska found themselves snowbound, communication lines torn down by the wind and transportation impossible in many sections. Twenty-four hours after the peak of the storm many communities had no gas, been heard from, but the reports that had trickled thru the crippled communication lines told of two deaths, trains delayed, roads blocked by huge drifts and thousands of poles and miles of wire leveled by the sudden blast.

Temperatures thruout the middle-west were lower, but the snow was confined mainly to the upper great lakes region. The storm center had apparently shifted into Canada, where Winnipeg reported transportation services demoralized and business at a standstill due to the deep snowdrifts. The weather bureau expected colder Friday night in all of the Chicago forecast area except the extreme western sections and colder Saturday in the upper great lakes and Indiana.

Ford Shows Faith in Future by World Wide Construction Program

Top—The Ford plant at Edgewater, N. J., opposite New York City. Center—The new plant at Long Beach, Cal. Bottom—A model of the plant being built at Dagenham, England.

THE Ford Motor Company's faith in the future of business, and especially in the future of the automobile, is evidenced by the fact that it is spending more than $60,000,000 for new plants and improvements in the United States and in foreign branches and associated companies.

The company has nine new plants under way throughout the world, while plans are being formulated for several others not yet announced. Wherever possible the new plants are being erected on sites accessible to both rail and water transportation so that, with each form of transportation supplementing the other, substantial savings will be effected.

Five of the new plants are in the United States, as follows:

Long Beach, California—This plant, recently completed to serve Southern California, has a capacity of 400 cars a day. Operating at capacity it employs 2,600 men.

Edgewater, New Jersey—The Edgewater plant, one of the company's largest assembly branches, has just been completed to serve New York City and surrounding territory. It has a capacity of 600 cars a day and employs 6,000 men.

Richmond, California—Work was started recently on a plant at Richmond, to be completed next year. It will have a capacity of 400 cars a day and will employ 2,400 men. It will supply cars to the San Francisco area.

Buffalo, New York—This plant will have a capacity of 400 cars a day and will employ 2,500 men.

Seattle, Washington—A site has been acquired and plans for a plant are being drawn.

A new manufacturing plant being erected at Dagenham, England, eighteen miles from London, to supplant the present works at Manchester, will be completed next year. It will be the largest automobile factory in the world outside the United States. Its capacity will be 200,000 cars a year.

An assembly and manufacturing plant is being built at Cologne, an assembly plant at Antwerp, and a service plant at Stockholm. Two branches—one at Perth, Australia, and one at Port Elizabeth, South Africa—were completed.

In addition the Ford Motor Company is spending several million dollars to increase the power capacity of the Rouge plant at Dearborn, Mich., and several million more in miscellaneous improvements.

Kruger Shot by Own Pistol, Says Moore

Any suspicion that Detective Fred Kruger was shot by Chester Gore, bandit companion of Horace Fletcher Moore was cleared Thursday in a statement made by Moore before he died.

"Kruger and I were grappling," he said, "and the detective's gun went off. That's why they found a .38 caliber bullet in his body."

Moore died at 5:27 p. m., at Covenant hospital, Omaha. Doctors had given up hope of saving his life since Monday night after he was shot.

A coroner's inquest was held Thursday night.

Inspector of Detectives Paul Haze arrived at Covenant hospital shortly before Moore died.

The state of Nebraska will not have to take Fletcher Moore's life for the murder of one of the best-liked men on the force.

Shortly after Moore died his father arrived at the hospital and asked Inspector Haze if his son had said anything. Haze told him that Moore had died.

"That is what I wanted him to do," was the father's only reply.

Meanwhile, four major developments in the case were recorded. They are:

1. Carl Rose, 21, Greeley, was captured by a posse at Greeley and confessed, according to officers, he was in the robber band led by Moore in a raid on a Hiawatha (Kan.) bank. 2. Chester Gore, 19, Moore's partner in the gun battle, insisted to police questioners he will "escape the murder 'rap'" in Omaha and go to Kansas to face charges of bank robbery.

3. Moore, dying, at last admitted he knew Gore, and asked to see him. He said he also knew Rose. He did not implicate either.

4. Mrs. Pearl Buckles, who fled in an automobile with Gore after the shooting, gave police a new version of the affair. Her latest account is "most plausible." Chief of Detectives Paul Haze said.

Gore, in a confession to Omaha police, named Rose as a third member of the bank robber gang.

Take Rose Unarmed.

Rose was captured in an automobile on the outskirts of Greeley by a posse. Sheriff Frank Moran and R. M. Ellis, a Burns detective, organized the pursuit. Rose's two brothers, John and Edwin, were in the posse.

Rose saw Sheriff Moran approaching his farm home and fled. He was unarmed when possmen came upon him and surrendered without resistance.

Relatives of Rose said that before Oct. 9, date of the Hiawatha robbery, Rose always had been short of funds. Shortly afterward, however, he bought a new automobile and had plenty of money, according to the sheriff.

In further conversation with police, Gore said Robert Titus, under arrest at Hiawatha, was not a member of the robber band. Rose is said to have told the sheriff Titus took part in the holdup.

Gore told Chief of Detective Haze he is positive he will "escape this murder rap."

TO EXPAND ROAD BUILDING

Pittsburgh—Plans of state highway officials of the nation to expand road building programs as an unemployment relief measure had the endorsement of President Hoover Thursday. At the annual convention of the American association of state highway officials here Wednesday, a resolution was adopted asking a substantial emergency federal appropriation be set up and expended under the existing federal highway legislation. A substantial emergency fund also was asked for the states, to be used for matching federal funds and to be repaid later by the states. In a telegram to Samuel Reekels, chief highway engineer of Pennsylvania, who is the retiring president of the association, President Hoover said: "I will be obliged if you will express my cordial greetings to the meeting of state highway engineers and officials, and my best wishes for all success in your co-operative efforts to carry forward the road building program which is of such vital importance in the state stabilization of employment and business."

LABOR REGIME CENSURED

London—A formal motion censuring the MacDonald labor government "for its failure to formulate any effective proposals for the extension of foreign trade and its refusal to consider offers made by the dominions" was signed by five prominent conservatives Thursday. The motion probably will be discussed at an important session in the house of commons next week.

The leaders who signed the paper are Stanley Baldwin, L. S. Amery, Neville Chamberlain, Sir Laming Worthington-Evans and Lord Stanley.
