Weaver Believed Leading Aspirant to Reserve Post

Nebraskan Heads List of Three Indorsed by Farm Bureau—Is Thompson's Choice

Washington, D. C., Jan. 8.—Early appointment of a "dirt farmer" member of the federal reserve board seems probable today when it was learned that President Hoover has received an indorsement of three of the leading aspirants from S. H. Thompson, president of the American Farm Bureau federation.

The three given the federation's approval are: Arthur J. Weaver, who retired Thursday as governor of Nebraska; Frank H. Funk of Bloomington, Ill., farmer and former representative in congress, and Ernest Moore of Cedar Rapids, Ia., banker and farm owner.

While all three were approved, it is understood that they were listed by Mr. Thompson in the order named, indicating that ex-Governor Weaver was first choice; Mr. Funk second choice and Mr. Moore third choice.

Among active candidates who failed to receive the federation's indorsement was Wayland Magee, farm owner of Bennington, Neb.

The "dirt farmer" place on the federal reserve board has been vacant since the death of E. H. Cavanaugh of Iowa. There also is another vacancy caused by the withdrawal of Roy A. Young, former governor of the board, who was credited to the Minneapolis federal reserve district. Illinois and Iowa are in the Chicago federal reserve district, while Nebraska is in the Kansas City district.

Under the law not more than one appointment may be made from any one district. The Chicago, Kansas City and Minneapolis districts are all without representation at present.—World-Herald.

YOUTHS SENT TO PRISON

Kansas City—Two members of a juvenile gang were in prison Thursday night, sentenced to serve their lives there, and authorities prepared to act against others whom they accused of affiliation with the Kansas City organization.

Everett Haldiman, seventeen year old slayer of John Seibel, Tyro, Kans., filling station attendant, began his sentence in Kansas state penitentiary. Officials said he probably would work in the twine plant or the tailor shop rather than the prison mines, because of his youth.

In Kansas City, Homer Baldwin, identified by police as a member of Haldiman's gang, was sentenced to life at Missouri state penitentiary for first degree robbery. "You appear an extremely odd looking young man to me," commented Judge Clarence A. Burney, "and I am going to sentence you to life in the state penitentiary."

Fern McNabb, fourteen, of Kansas City, Kans., who was arrested with Haldiman, Ray Willis Harley, seventeen, and Aletha Rush, fifteen, of St. Louis, Mo., in Dallas last month, were returned to jail yesterday, Thursday, to face juvenile delinquency charges. She had been brought to Kansas City to appear before a grand jury. Aletha Rush also was to face delinquency counts, the prosecutor's office said.

SEES BETTER TIMES AHEAD

New York—Paul M. Warburg, international banker, predicted Thursday that "a few years hence the level at which some of our securities sell today will look as incomprehensibly low as the prices paid for the same securities seemed unreasonably high long before the crash occurred in October, 1929."

Governor Bryan Offers 3 Plans on State Banks

Advocates Income Tax in His Address at Inaugural—Visitors Pack House Chamber

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 8.—Advocacy of a state income tax and offering of the idea of state owned savings banks as one of three suggestions in the bank problem were among highlights in the inaugural message this afternoon of Governor Charles W. Bryan.

The message followed inaugural ceremonies which found the vaulted chamber of the house of representatives far from large enough to accommodate the hundreds who crowded into the capitol. Many were turned away disappointed, unable to witness the program marking the change from the hands of Governor Weaver to those of Governor Bryan of affairs of the state government.

Bryan suggested the establishment and operation of state owned savings banks as one suggestion, expressing personal favor for re-enactment of the original guaranty fund law, and outlining also a plan to require banks to put up sufficient securities to protect their depositors, similar to requirements now made of insurance companies.

The state banking plan he described would be similar to the postal savings system of the federal government. Under such a system, he said, the state would become responsible for the safety of depositors' money. The state could then make loans to banks providing suitable security or invest depositors' monies in governmental bonds and securities.

For Many Gas Stations. Outstanding among the governor's other recommendations were the repeal of the code and intangible tax laws, the enactment of a state income tax, preservation and strengthening of the primary election laws, elimination of the party circle, governmental development of water power, jury service for women and a general enactment permitting cities and towns to establish municipal gasoline station with the co-operation of the state.

Opposition to increasing the gasoline tax and the proposal that all road building supplies and materials be purchased by the state and thence supplied to the contractors, featured his discussion of state highway problems.

Commenting generally on the future highway program he said: "The question of good roads continues to more and more impress itself upon the minds of our people. The extension of the use of automobiles, buses and trucks, revolutionizing the means of transportation, makes it necessary for Nebraska to keep abreast of the commercial needs by providing adequate roads as rapidly as the taxpayers of the state feel they can provide the financial means."

Cites Wisconsin Tax Law. In recommending the enactment of an income tax he said, "I am not in favor of a state income tax for the purpose of finding new sources of revenue, but I do believe it is equitable and fair to enact a reasonable income tax law for the purpose of reducing the tax on farming and homes to the amount of the income tax collected. He referred the legislators particularly to the Wisconsin law which is based to a considerable extent on the federal law.

Urging the legislature to petition congress to build one or more reservoirs for storage of flood water in western Nebraska, he added that a law should be enacted permitting the development of water power by irrigation and governmental districts.

It is Indeterminate Sentence. Turning to "this apparent crime wave," which, he held, was largely aggravated by unemployment, Governor Bryan recommended increasing the penalties for major crimes. He urged that indeterminate sentences be abolished and that, for "crimes of violence," such as assault, robbery by violence and putting in fear highway holdups and bank robbery with firearms, the minimum sentence be fixed at 20 years in prison, for conviction under the "habitual criminal" law to 20 years in prison, instead of 10, as at present.

Stove Taken From House. Chicago—For centuries people have gone around taking things, but Thursday police detected a new wrinkle.

Omaha Auto-Aero Show to be a Big Feature

Promises to Be One of the Most Colorful Events of the Year in State of Nebraska

With the million dollar Omaha Auto-Aero Show just around the corner, business of almost every stripe is marking the last days of a gaunt 1930 with the firm conviction that the automobile show, by common acceptance, is the greatest of all business stimulators.

The public not only needs automobiles but it wants them and it is evident that 1931 will ring true in automobile sales the same as it has in previous years.

"The drawback and the disappointments of 1930 have all been forgotten," Mr. Waugh said, "and in its place lies a firm conviction that the new cars, new qualities and new prices will again restore the confidence of the hesitant buyer."

According to Mr. Waugh one automobile company recently completed their new series program which entailed the outlay of more than two million dollars for new dies, tools and machinery alone.

"This is simply an indication of the belief which is placed in the future motor transport business," Mr. Waugh said.

More money will be spent in advertising this year according to authentic reports that Mr. Waugh has received.

The Omaha Auto-Aero Show which will open January 19 for a six day run will be the most beautifully arrayed ever held in the middle west, according to Lee Huff, chairman of the board of directors of the Omaha Auto Trades Association.

"We have many added features in the million dollar Auto-Aero Show which will undoubtedly bring thousands of people to Omaha. Models of fine motor cars, airplanes, motor boats, trucks and accessories of all kinds have been brought from all parts of the country to the center of the United States so that the people of the middle west can see the strides that have been made in the past year in this car industry. The fact that enthusiasm has reached a voluble point is well proven when we say that there is not one inch of space available for display purposes at the new Ak-Sar-Ben Coliseum. Every space is now contracted," Mr. Huff said.

The Herzberg Style-Revue-Road Show will be under the personal direction of A. Herzberg, Faustsen Potts and Milton Rieck. The playlet will be the first one that has ever been attempted at the Omaha Auto-Aero Show. According to Mr. Herzberg the success of the presentation is assured due to the fact that some of Omaha's best talent has been arranged for the Style Revue-Road Show.

Edall's Royal Orchestra will furnish music at the afternoon and evening programs.

PROSPERITY BUYING PLAN Kansas City—Members of the Rotary club of Kansas City, representing more than 300 business classifications with nationwide alliances, voted Thursday to carry to their businesses and to upwards of 3,000 similar clubs in the United States and Canada the prosperity buying plan of Joyce Hall, Kansas City manufacturer. Born during a sleepless night in a Pullman, the Hall idea was put into effect by the manufacturer in his own business by issue of 240 orders, anticipating supply requirements of many months. These were sent to companies who requested to place their resulting supply orders, in connection with this business, on a similar basis.

In ten days, Hall told the Kansas City Rotarians, the idea had spread from coast to coast and it had been necessary to put to work a special staff to handle correspondence in connection with the idea.

DEMPSEY STILL Keeps His Well Known Punch

"Taps" Wrestler Who Became Rough When Hold Broken—A Double Flip.

Dallas, Tex., Jan. 9.—Nearly 10 thousand sports fans tonight had visual proof Jack Dempsey, although out of the ring more than three years, had kept his punch.

Jack, making his first official appearance in Dallas as referee of a wrestling match between Billy Edwards, Kansas City, Mo., and Jim O'Dowd, Chicago, resented being hit by the jaw by Edwards and retaliated with a sharp right-hand wallop to the chin that sent Edwards for a double flip.

Edwards had refused to break a headlock he had clamped on O'Dowd, scissoring arms and legs, and in token of victory in the third and deciding fall. He had dived O'Dowd in 16 minutes in the decisive fall.

Left Lead, Short Right. Dempsey snatched him off his opponent and Edwards took a swing that grazed Jack's right cheek. In a flash, Dempsey stepped in with a left hand and snapped a short right to Billy's chin, lifting him off the floor and sending him head first to the canvas while the crowd roared its approval.

Dempsey had been warned in advance by a number of fans that he had been having trouble in similar matches here.

He Aroused. "I don't want any trouble," he said, "and I don't want to hurt anybody, but I'm not going to stand up in front of a crowd like this and let some fellow punch me around. I'll tap him back."

His ire was aroused during the second fall when Edwards tormented him with a headlock. He became more irritated during the third fall when Edwards began tugging at his silk undershirt, and all but pulled it off him.

Before the building was cleared, a crowd of women made a mad scramble to obtain Dempsey's torn shirt and tore it into smaller shreds for souvenirs.—World-Herald.

CONVICT TO AID SIZER SEARCH Wayne, Jan. 9.—Mystery surrounding the disappearance Nov. 5, 1926, of Miss Merle Sizer, a Mont Vernon, Ia., school teacher, may be solved soon, county officers here believe.

Wallace A. Andrew, the officers said, has announced that the school teacher in 1927 ended her life and that he buried her in a shallow grave near Wayne. A search for the grave is expected to start Monday.

Sheriff Archie Stephens of Wayne county is bringing Andrew back from McAlester, Okla., where he recently finished serving a penitentiary sentence for the theft of eggs. He is charged in Wayne county with breaking into a store, stealing an automobile and robbing the Porter garage at Carroll.

Assistants of Sheriff Stephens said he has a written statement from Andrew concerning Miss Sizer's death. On Sept. 28, 1927, he escaped from the Wayne jail, where he was serving a 60-day sentence for chicken theft, and walked to Carroll. There he is alleged to have stolen the car and committed the robbery.

He had in his statement that Miss Sizer was with him the night he escaped jail. While traveling with her near Carroll and Pierce, Neb., he asserted, he stopped the car to examine it. He was doing so when Miss Sizer shot herself, he said. He buried the body in a grove of trees, he continued, and went to Oklahoma where he was arrested soon afterwards.

NEW YORK BANDITS SOUGHT New York—The only description police had Thursday of the four men who robbed Lita Gray Chaplin and Georges Carpentier early Thursday was Carpentier's: "They were drugstore cowboys."

"Drugstore cowboys" or not, the four young gunmen escaped with $14,000 worth of jewels belonging to the actress, divorced wife of Charles Chaplin. Carpentier, one time light heavyweight champion of the world and now, like Mrs. Chaplin, a person of the footlights, was more fortunate. He had only $50 with him. Mrs. Chaplin also lost $15 in cash.

The shock of the holdup, which came as the climax of a brief kidnapping, left Mrs. Chaplin distraught and hysterical. The robbery occurred in Mrs. Chaplin's automobile, commandeered for the purpose by the thugs.
