L. J. Hallas Heads Shelton Bank.

L. J. Hallas, who has been with the Murray State bank for the past ten years, late last week purchased the bank at Shelton, and with Mr. Glen Boedeker, was at the bank on last Monday which was a holiday, and together they went over the affairs of the bank, and checked up the books and accounts. Mr. Hallas taking charge of the bank on Tuesday morning. The majority of the stock in the bank is owned by L. J. Hallas and his brother, A. J. Hallas, and the operation will be under the direction of Mr. L. J. Hallas, who will retain the present cashier, Mr. C. J. Hornsby. The town is situated twenty miles from Kearney and ten miles from Wood River and is an excellent country. With Mr. Hallas' business and executive ability the bank should be a most prosperous one. They will expect to move to Shelton within the coming two weeks. Mr. Hallas having sold his property in Murray to Mr. Harry Nelson, who will make it his home. The city of Murray is losing a most excellent family, but the town of Shelton will be enriched by having this very workable family as citizens of their town.

GAS KILLS MRS. DUPONT

Wilmington—Mrs. Eugene E. duPont, forty-five, was found dead in her studio at the duPont estate in Greenville, near here. Police, after a preliminary investigation, said death had been caused by carbon monoxide gas.

Mrs. duPont had driven to her studio and left her car, with the motor running, in the garage under the studio. In addition to her husband, she is survived by three daughters, Mrs. George Weymouth, Phyllis, and Nancy duPont, and one son, Merion. Mr. duPont is a director in E. I. duPont de Nemours & Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stokes departed this morning for Omaha where they will spend a few days in that city visiting with their daughter, Mrs. Charles Richards and family.

Awards Made in Quilt Exhibits at Colonial Tea

Many Fine Quilts as Well as Other Interesting Objects Are Shown and Judged by D. A. R.

The Colonial tea given at the Fellowship room of the Presbyterian church on Tuesday afternoon and evening attracted a very large number to enjoy the interesting showing of quilts, antiques and historical articles that had been collected from the homes of the community by the Daughters of the American Revolution.

During the afternoon and evening a very fine musical program was given and during the afternoon and evening serving was carried on by the group of young ladies in costumes of Tarleton served, they being Marjorie Shopp, Alice Crabill, Jean Hayes, Helen Clement, Margaret Shellenbarger, while Mrs. Charles Tunnel and Mrs. Henry McMaken in costume, poured.

Several of the members of the D. A. R. were in colonial costume and aided to the interest of the scene.

The judges were Mrs. H. G. McClusky, Mrs. Tom McCarty and Miss Margaret Hodget and whose awards were as shown below:

Old Quilts. First—To Miss Margaret Mapez, with a quilt made by her mother and designed by her father. The quilt was more than 75 years old. Intricate and beautiful.

Second—To Mrs. F. B. Shopp. The quilt 85 years old and a family heirloom.

Third—To Mrs. J. E. Wiles. Quilt 40 years old. There were many beautiful pieces of patch work, and exquisite quilting. It was with difficulty that the judges awarded the pieces.

Wool Quilts. First—A quilt pieced by Mrs. Ellen Peters, the mother of Mrs. John Gardner to whom it now belongs.

Second—Mrs. Robert Troop.

Third—C. L. Graves. The quilt made by his mother.

Silk Quilts. First—A quilt pieced by Mrs. James Patterson, now owned by her granddaughter, Mrs. L. O. Minor.

Second—A quilt owned by Bryon Golding, pieced by his mother.

Third—Mrs. E. H. Westcott, pieced by her grandmother.

Modern Quilts. (a) Patch work class.

First place to Mrs. Q. K. Parmele. The pattern called "Grandmother's Flower Garden." How like the name it did look!

Second—to Mrs. J. S. Livingston, the quilt pieced by her mother, Mrs. J. E. La Fountain.

Third—to Mrs. Phinney.

(b) Modern Applique Quilts: First—Mrs. Ray McMaken.

Second—Mrs. W. A. Royal.

Third—Mrs. Ray McMaken.

Mrs. McMaken's quilts were both pieced by her mother, Mrs. Dixon.

The old quilts were judged on pattern, piecing, quilting and age. The modern ones on pattern, piecing, quilting and combination of color.

Wool and silk quilts were judged on handwork, colors and age.

In a class by itself was the quilt made by Betsy Vincent Rude, great-grandmother of the late Mrs. M. A. Street. This quilt was solid black on one side and tan on the other, beautifully quilted. Mrs. Rude had not only made this quilt, she had sheared the sheep, carded, dyed the wool and wove the cloth from which the quilt was made. This quilt is over 150 years old.

Counterpanes and shawls were judged on beauty and age.

Counterpane. First—Mrs. C. A. Rawls, made in 1850, the date being woven in the corner.

Second—Mrs. C. C. Westcott, hers being a family heirloom of Mrs. Westcott's family.

Third—Mrs. J. D. Cross, Union, Nebraska.

Shawls. Many and varied, as well as beautiful.

First—Black lace shawl over 85 years old, now belonging to Mrs. Charles E. Bond.

Second—Faisley Cashmere shawl owned by Mrs. James Jenek.

Third—Silk shawl over 125 years old, owned by Miss Dora Fricke.

LOOK OVER WATER PLANTS

From Wednesday's Daily—

This morning Mayor Sattler and a number of the city council, all who could get away for the trip, motored to Beatrice and Hebron, Nebraska, where they were to look over water plants at these places, inspecting these plants in view of the agitation for a new plant here or for the city ownership of the present privately owned plant. Representatives of the Henningson Engineering Co., of Omaha, who have interested in the plants were with the party and to show the local officers the workings of the various machines and pumps that are used in the plant. Chairman C. A. Johnson of the fire and water committee, which has charge of the preliminary water plant plans, was with the party and with the other members of the council inspected the workings of the plants in the several cities visited.

PAINTING UP THEATRE

The exterior of the Parmele theatre is being given a touching up that is adding very much to the general appearance of the building. Charles Fulton, well known local painter who decorated a number of the business fronts last summer, is engaged in looking after the work.

Senate to Ask Hoover Board for Dry Facts

Views as Unit in Requesting Copy of All Testimony on Recent Report

Washington, Feb. 17. — Without a dissenting vote the Senate agreed to the resolution of Millard E. Tydings (D.), Senator from Maryland, asking for the evidence from the National Commission on Law Observance and Enforcement on which it based its proposals for new legislation.

Mr. Tydings' resolution was the modified form of an earlier bill in which he had proposed to call George W. Wickersham, chairman of the commission, before the Senate. The present resolution asks "that the commission be requested to send to the Senate, for its information, in drafting the legislation recommended, a copy of all the testimony heard by it and of all the evidence laid before it, except so far as such testimony or evidence may have been received under the pledge of secrecy."

The Senate further asks that "the commission be requested to send to the Senate, for its information, the reports of its experts who investigated the various phases of prohibition."

The resolution in general, and the second part in particular, refers to the so-called Sawyer-Dennison report which figures prominently in the individual statements of 11 commissioners. This report was made by Henry S. Dennison, of Massachusetts, manufacturer, and Albert E. Sawyer, investigator from the commission. The contents of the Dennison-Sawyer report have been revealed incidentally in the references made to it in individual commissioners' statements which were appended to the report proper.

Messrs. Dennison and Sawyer concluded that prohibition had never till recently had a fair trial. It was upon the facts as gathered in this document that the commission finally recommended much greater increases in dry personnel than are conveyed in recommendations from the prohibition committee, which has charge of the report that it gives statistical facts that would aid the dry side of the controversy.

Mr. Wickersham returned from London—General Dawes set at rest reports that he intended to resign as ambassador to the court of St. James and return to America, either in connection with the forthcoming world fair at Chicago or for political work. The fair, he said, was "a year ahead of itself" so far as preparations were concerned and everything was progressing so favorably that his presence at Chicago was not needed.

"Unless some unforeseen circumstances arise," he told the correspondent, "I expect to serve my full term as ambassador. (This would mean another two years.) I see no reason why I should have to leave here."

The general who has a host of friends here, seems perfectly satisfied with his present job, altho it is reported to be costing him $100,000 a year out of his own pocket. In announcing his intention to remain here for two more years, unless some unforeseen circumstance arises, he waved his underslung pipe, and said: "I am sixty-five years old. What more should I want to do?"

And the desire of the former vice president to remain here suits the British people perfectly. England, for the most part, has expressed a frank liking for the American ambassador.

Washington—The decision of Ambassador Dawes to remain in London has brought to an end the many rumors which have centered recently around the London post. A steady improvement in Anglo-American relations has marked the ambassador's tenure of office.

Of course times may be hard, and all that, but we do feel that the housewife who sold her canary as a measure of economy was carrying things to extremes.

Investments

The public is giving more attention to Life Insurance companies for safe investments every year. Money so invested will yield a fair rate of interest on the investment and can be made to pay in annual or monthly incomes to investor. Several contracts are available for the smaller and larger investor in the UNION CENTRAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, of Cincinnati, Ohio, with assets over 320 million dollars, organized in the year 1867. There is no life insurance in these contracts.
