Pioneer Laid to Rest. A. L. Jardine was born near Cedar Creek, Nebraska, on August 15th, 1867, where he resided until he was near 28 years of age, after which he came to the vicinity of Greenwood to make his home, purchasing the farm where he has resided for the past 26 years.

He was married to Matilda Busche near Louisville about forty years ago. They made their home there for a number of years where they were engaged in farming. They resided for a while near Louisville before coming to Greenwood.

The union of this excellent man and woman was blessed with three sons and two daughters, they being Earl M. Jardine of Lincoln, Mrs. Verna Bates of South Dakota, Vere Demmitt and Leonard Jardine of Greenwood and Everett Jardine on the farm. Mr. Jardine was a member of the Modern Woodmen of America and the Methodist church. He deceased passed his life at his home on the farm near Greenwood at 1:30 Sunday morning March 15th, the funeral being held from the Methodist church at Greenwood and the services conducted by the Rev. Robert E. Speer, pastor of the church.

BALDWIN SCORES VICTORY. London.—A. Duff Cooper, Lady Diana Manners' husband. Won a by-election in the St. George's division of Mayfair, polling 1,242 votes against 11,532 for Sir Ernest Bouverie, running as an independent conservative. It was a victory for Stanley Baldwin, whose leadership of the conservative party had been challenged by the Beaverbrook and Rothemere Press, supporting Sir Ernest. The election had focussed the attention of the whole nation and not the least interesting of its features was the fact that the servant vote was regarded as likely to determine the result, since in Mayfair the servants outnumber the masters by a considerable margin.

BARLEY AND HAY. Wisconsin pedigreed seed barley, 50c per bushel. Also hay for sale.—C. H. Kirkpatrick, Alvo, Nebr. m16-2tw.

Church Council is for Limiting Size of Family

Representatives of Many Religious Bodies for Birth Control—Legal Bans Opposed

New York.—The "careful and restrained" use of measures to regulate the size of families was endorsed by an organization of representatives of twenty-seven American Protestant churches having a total membership of approximately 23,000,000. The endorsement was given in a majority report on birth control submitted by the committee on marriage and the home of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America. It was issued with the approval of the council's administrative committee.

The committee agreed that, because of economic considerations and, in many cases, the welfare of the mother, "there can be no question as to the necessity for some sort of effective control of the size of the family and the spacing of children."

Legal Bans Opposed. The committee agreed that whatever the final decision of the church may be, "the church should not seek to impose its point of view as to the use of contraceptives upon the public by legislation or any other form of coercion, and especially should not seek to prohibit physicians from imparting such information to those who in the judgment of the medical profession are entitled to receive it."

A minority refused to sanction the use of contraceptive measures and called upon the church, "when control of conception is necessary, to uphold the standard of abstinence as the ideal."

The committee consists of twenty-eight members, among whom are several distinguished clergymen and a number of influential laymen, including George W. Wickersham and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., twenty-two signed the majority report, three signed the minority report, and three expressed no judgment either way.

Chairman With Minority. The committee's chairman, the Rev. Mr. Howard Chandler Robbins, professor at General Theological Seminary and for many years dean of the cathedral of St. John the Divine, signed the minority report, together with Mrs. Robert E. Speer, president of the national board of the Young Women's Christian association, and Mrs. Orin R. Judd, president of the Council of Women for Home Missions.

The three who signed neither report were Dr. Ben E. Lacy, president of Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Va.; Mrs. W. A. Newell of Greensboro, N. C., chairman of the bureau of social service of the Women's Missionary Council of the Methodist Episcopal church, South; and Bishop Charles K. Albert, suffragan bishop of New York.

The majority report opens with the statement "the majority of the committee holds that the careful and restrained use of contraceptives by married people is valid and moral."

Bishop Deprecates View. "They take this position," the majority report continues, "because they believe that it is important to provide for the proper spacing of children, the control of the size of the family, and the protection of mothers and children, and because intercourse between mates, when an expression of their spiritual union and affection, is right in itself."

The pronouncement on birth control was deprecated in a statement by the Right Rev. John J. Dunn, vicar general, bishop auxiliary of New York.

"The essential difference between the Catholic teaching and that contained in the statement of the federal council," he said, "is that according to the former, contraception is intrinsically wrong, wrong in itself, and therefore, can be justified by no set of circumstances whatever."

Lutheran Gives Answer. Declaring that "no Lutheran appears among the signers of the statement nor among the members of the committee on marriage and the home," the national Lutheran council made public a comment on the report by the Rev. F. H. Knobel, president of the United States Lutheran Church of America.

"It is of prime significance," Dr. Knobel said, "that the present agitation for birth control occurs at a period which is notorious for looseness in sexual morality. This fact creates suspicion as to the motives for the agitation and should warn true minded men and women against the surrender of themselves as tools for unholy purposes."—State Journal.

EDUCATORS FEELING PINCH. Chicago.—Rapidly increasing enrollments along with practically stationary budgets have created an "embarrassing situation" for educators, Merle Prunty, president of the North Central Association of College and Secondary Schools, said in his annual address. The result, he added, is a popular demand for reduction of teachers' salaries. Such action, he said, should be taken only as a last resort and financial deficiencies should be made up either by increased incomes or reductions in other school operating expenses.

Enrollment in secondary schools in the north central territory, Prunty said, have doubled in the last six years, while enrollments at colleges and universities have practically doubled in ten years. Meanwhile, however, no provision has been made for increasing budgets with the result that a financial crisis faces education.

MORE ROAD FOR LESS MONEY. The organized farmers of the United States have, for several years, been making a drive to obtain good roads for themselves. They have pointed out that at present less than five per cent of farmers have access to roads that can be relied upon at all times of the year and under all conditions.

On the other hand, public expenditures have been increasing alarmingly, and businesses and citizens, including farmers, are seeking ways to curtail governmental expense.

Under modern conditions, two traffic lanes are necessary. The problem is, then, how to get more road for less money. This, according to Bernard E. Gray of the Asphalt Institute, can be achieved by the use of low cost local materials—top-soil, sand, shale, cinders, crushed stone, and so on. It is true that experiments in the past with these materials have not been wholly successful. But in recent years engineering has developed bituminous treatments for such surfaces that prevent dust and mud, reduce wear to the minimum and give smooth, non-skid roadways.

Every community which seeks good roads—and that, it is safe to say, includes a majority of American communities—should investigate the possibilities of scientifically treated, low-cost road materials. Only by using them can full-width, weather-proof, farm-to-market roads be built without inflating the tax rate.

Sunday School Lesson

International Sunday School Lesson for March 22 THE USE AND ABUSE OF GOD'S GIFTS Luke 12:16-21, 41-48 Rev. Samuel D. Price, D.D.

Though the lesson text does not deal directly with the subject, the quarterly temperance lesson must be pressed with special earnestness. Therein we have one of the liveliest topics of the day. Test this out by reading the daily paper for a week seeking down to date news on this subject.

In parable form Jesus tells the people of Paros about the man who thought only of his personal gratifications and desired to do as he pleased regardless of any influence on others. In story form a rich gourmand was portrayed. This man was headed for the gout, judging by his obesity. He had productive fields which yielded far more than enough for his needs.

When the climax was reached all were startled by the question which Jesus asked, "What will you do with more things when thy soul is required of thee this night? That inquiry brings each one face to face with the Judgment Seat of God.

Peter brought forth the next story and we have the parable of the steward who was unfaithful to his trust while he thought the owner was far away. Thinking power was taken away by the indulgence in strong drink. When in that condition the supposedly trustworthy man harmed his fellow servants and also himself. Society can never be safe when righteousness is taken away by any habit forming drug. The corrective is made very clear in the Golden Text: "Be not drunken with wine, wherein is riot, but be filled with the spirit," Ephesians 5:18. The Government will be increasingly effective in stopping commercial violations of the law. The Sunday School must make the most of commercial violations through education.

Drouth Campaign Goal is Attained

Two Months and Five Days Needed to Secure the Ten Million Dollars

Washington.—The Red Cross campaign to raise $10,000,000 for drouth relief reached its goal. John Barton Payne, chairman, announced $10,000,528 had been contributed and that the organization's record of never failing in a campaign had been kept intact.

It took two months and five days, however, to raise the money which Chairman Payne told a congressional committee should be obtained in two weeks.

During the bitter drouth relief controversy in congress, Red Cross officials complained the organization was seriously embarrassed by senate proposals that congress appropriate and give money to the Red Cross. Refusing to accept a government appropriation, the Red Cross continued its appeal to the public.

Expresses Appreciation. Expressing appreciation for contributions Judge Payne said in a speech before a committee of the senate that he was a matter of deep gratitude to me as chairman, and to all of my thousands of associate members in this organization, that the response of our citizens, as always, has been generous.

"It must be a source of satisfaction to the Red Cross relief fund to know that they have helped their fellow citizens.

"Never before has our society faced so great a task of relief. On March 1, our chapters in 359 counties in two states were giving food, or other types of relief to 2,000,000 persons."

Contributions by states included: Colorado $ 67,606 Illinois 767,699 Iowa 166,666 Michigan 229,800 Minnesota 126,200 Missouri 264,500 Montana 16,100 Nebraska 69,400 North Dakota 17,000 Oklahoma 59,100 South Dakota 47,700 Wisconsin 95,100

AMERICAN FREE ON BOND. Santiago, Chile.—Larry K. Bethune, American manager for the General Motors Acceptance corporation in Chile, was free under bail Thursday. Ambassador Culbertson, however, sent for foreign minister two formal notes asking an official investigation into the circumstances under which Bethune was held incommunicado for two days in connection with a $2,000,000 civil suit against his firm.

Bethune was arrested Tuesday night in connection with a suit by a Chilean distributing firm involving commissions on automobiles sold for General Motors. The ambassador was not permitted to see him and Bethune was submitted to extensive questioning by a Chilean judge without recourse to an attorney. The ambassador's notes, outlining these circumstances, asserted that the United States took the position that Americans detained abroad had the right to consult their diplomatic representatives.
